Dr. Divinsky is University of Manitoba champion and former champion of Manitoba. He was a spare with the Canadian team which participated in the international chess championship at Amsterdam in 1954. He is spending the summer in Toronto at the University on a research fellowship and his visit to Belleville was arranged through Stewart Jackson, a Queen's student and a friend of Leonard Hart, tournament chairman of the local club, who, with President Martin Hamelink, organized the exhibition.

The 19 players were seated at tables arranged in a square. Dr. Divinsky, in the inside of the square, walked from table to table, making most of his moves almost instantly, while his opponents had the period in which it took him to make a round trip to study their moves. Play started at 8.45 p.m. and Dr. Divinsky scored his first victory a few moves later, but it was 1 p.m. before he disposed of the last two players, offering a draw to Willi Hinderks after a neat combination which trapped Bill-deria's queen and left him with rook, bishop and pawns against queen and pawn, and then winning as end game with Howard Jackson.

Japs Believe Nuclear Weapon Again Tested

TOKYO (Reuters) — Observatory officials said today a series of abnormal vibrations recorded at 15 observatories indicated the United States had tested another nuclear weapon at Bikini Atoll in the Pacific Ocean.

Officials said the shocks lasted about 20 to 30 minutes and were the highest amplitudes registered at any Japanese observatory since the 1954 hydrogen bomb explosion.

Fire Chief Vance Completes 35 Years With Department

Popular conception has it that the days of the horse and buggy fire hall are long gone, but there's back happy, carefree memories.

To Gerald Vance, Belleville's fire chief, the days of the horse drawn vehicle also bring back memories of hard work, and camaraderie dashed through city streets to rescue life and property.

For Chief Vance joined the department in the days when it was horse drawn and ended with horse-drawn reels.

That was back in 1921. Now the chief has just marked his 35th year with the department.

"I have seen our fire department grow from three teams of horses to eight pieces of fire-fighting equipment," the chief said today.

At the time when Chief Vance joined the department it had its three horses divided between the two old firehalls at either ends of Front Street. The year after he became a firefighter, the first big change was made in the department. Ordinary trucks were purchased and converted into hose wagons.

Over thirty years later the same department today is one of the finest fire fighting forces in existence, and has three mobile radio units, with a master station at No. 1 firehall.

The situation of the firehalls has changed considerably. Gone now is located at opposite ends of the city and since they are at opposite ends of the city. Gone now is located at opposite ends of the city and since they are at opposite ends of the city.

But if the department has expanded so has the community it serves and the way it serves it. A good yardstick to the growth of the district is the number of alarms turned in today against those reported when he first joined the department, the chief recalls.

ONLY 48 ALARMS IN YEAR

"In 1921 the year I joined the department there were only 48 alarms turned in for the whole twelve months. Last year we had 615 alarms."

Now the department not only serves the city but the surrounding municipalities as well. Whenever a request the Belleville fire department will take off to help fight fires, in Sidney, Thurlow, Thurlow and Tyendinaga.

Chief Vance received his promotion to assistant chief in April 1930—following the death of Chief W. J. Brown, killed in 1929 when fighting a fire at the old Springer Hotel on Dundas.

On the retirement of Chief W. J. Lynch, Chief Vance was assigned to head up the department in 1942.

The city fire department has fighting. Today it stands only third from the top in fire prevention ratings across Ontario for communities of the size.

Besides his professional service to Belleville and its neighbors, Chief Vance's department also takes interest in the community's social life, and the men are well-known for their contributions to minor sport in the city and many other community activities.

Chief Vance also has a son in the department. In 1949, Allan Vance joined the service and now drives the aerial truck. Besides Allan the chief has two other boys, Robert, still at high school and Lawrence who works at the Trenton air station.

Start in August On Canada's First A-Power Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — Work at the site of Canada's first venture into industrial atomic power is expected to start in August, it was disclosed here today.

The annual report of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., tabled today in the Commons, also said Canada is designing a new-type heavy water unit for the treatment of cancer.

The company, which operates the Chalk River atomic energy project, said work on the detailed design of a demonstration power plant to be built near the village of Rolphton, Renfrew County, northwest of Ottawa, is well advanced. Tenders had been called for all major components.

The demonstration power plant is being built jointly by Atomic Energy of Canada, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the Canadian General Electric.

The plant, expected to be in operation in mid-1959, will not produce electric energy economically. However, it is expected to give scientists the industrial knowledge they will require in considerations able to compete with plants powered by regular thermal fuels, the report said.

NEW USES FOR ISOTOPES

The report said the company's commercial products division in Ottawa is planning two additional therapy units for the treatment of cancer. It now produces three types of units in which Cobalt 60 is the energy source.

The units are made to use Cesium 137 as the source in one of the new units being planned. The other will use Cobalt 60.

Cesium 137 is a radioactive fission product produced in experimental atomic energy reactors, such as the NRX pile at Chalk River. This is an instance where a fission product, a waste substance from atomic piles, is being put to commercial use.

However, Canada at present has no supplies of Cesium 137. The first of the new units will use Cesium 137 obtained from the United States or the United Kingdom. Later supplies of the source will be obtained from Chalk River.

Cesium 137 is not as powerful as Cobalt 60. However, it will retain the strength it has for periods up to 30 years. Cobalt 60 lasts approximately five years.

The commercial official said Cobalt 60 still will be the source of therapy units for treatment of deep cancers. The new units will be suitable for treatment of cancers close to the surface of the body.

ROCKY RUPTURES DISC

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Retired heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano, taken to hospital Friday when he fell pain in his back while playing with his cheese-year-old daughter, suffered a ruptured disc in the lower part of his back.

Dr. Nathaniel Gould said Marciano will remain in Brockton hospital for at least two or three more weeks to undergo treatment, but it was not intended seriously."

King and Queen Of Greece Tour Stricken Island

ATHENS (AP)—King Paul and Queen Frederika toured Thira in a jeep today to comfort survivors of the Aegean earthquake which centered on that island. The official death roll has risen to 54. Slight earth tremors persisted as the king and queen made their way through Emporion, Pyrgos, Vothon, Messaria and Fhyra, talking with the villagers. The two rulers were accompanied by their 17-year - old daughter, Princess Sophia.

Damage reports mounted. A monastery on Patmos Island, where St. John is believed to have written the Apocalypse, was almost completely destroyed. Word from that island, 85 miles from Thira, said 39 houses also were damaged and 75 fishing boats were sunk or wrecked.

Premier Premier Constantine Karamanlis last night said there is in a position to handle the relief effort. Besides the U. S. Sixth Fleet destroyer is at Thira and a U. S. Navy seaplane, said a second destroyer is on the way to the island by in case help is requested.

Canadian Defence Minister Campbell declined offers of assistance from the governments of Britain and the United States. He said he told U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon that there was no need for U. S. help "because at this time we are in a position to deal with the situation." He added that Greece might ask for American help later, if the necessity arises.

Toronto Cat Lovers Incensed Over Ball Ad

TORONTO (CP) — The advertisement read, in bold black type:

WANTED—DEAD or ALIVE
Black Cats
FRIDAY, JULY 13

It appeared in Toronto newspapers Tuesday in an advertising gimmick devised by Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League to promote a Friday the 13th game with Rochester Red Wings.

Free admission was promised to fans accompanied by a live black cat. Spokesmen for the club denied once, and free fish for the cats.

Chief Inspector Robert Johnstone of the Toronto Humane Society today reported the city's cat lovers to be "very upset." He said he's received 30 calls protesting the fun day. The park said it had had 69.

But Johnstone called the idea "ridiculous, outrageous, stupid."

"Children will go out stealing and killing cats," he said.

Callers had demanded action and the society's investigation officer would decide whether further action will be taken.

A baseball park official said, "as it was Friday the 13th we decided on a gimmick. We also decided to send free invitations to the game to any persons named Black.

"It is quite possible we could have used a little better judgment but it was not intended seriously."

Town Prepares For Orange Walk

TRENTON (Special) — Preparations are underway to accommodate an expected record crowd starting to move into town for the 12th July 12th Victoria Day Orangemen commemorating the Battle of the Boyne will assemble at the High School grounds at 1.15 p.m. From there the parade swings along Dundas St., and across town to the Gilbert Hotel corner. At that point they turn to King St. east at Dufferin turn again to proceed to Hanna Park where the official ceremonies will take place.

Local Protestant clergymen, Orange dignitaries and prominent citizens including Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, M.P., Senator W. A. Fraser and Mayor Ross Burtt will participate.

Another British Automobile Firm Lays off Workers

LONDON (Reuters) — Vauxhall Motors, British subsidiary of General Motors, Tuesday night followed other British automobile companies in announcing cuts in production schedules due to home and overseas sales restrictions.

The company said the cuts would cause an "excess of labor" of 600 to 700 workers.

This announcement came a few hours after Austin, another subsidiary of General Motors Corporation, the Amalgamated Engineering Union.

Leaders of 15 unions called Monday for a strike starting July 23 in all the corporation's 13 factories in protest against the firing of 6,000 workers and reduced home and export demand.

This strike call has to be endorsed by the executives of all the unions concerned, and Tuesday the chiefs of the most powerful body, the 950,000-strong Amalgamated Engineering Union gave their approval.

Vauxhall's decision to cut production followed similar action by Standard, Rover and the British Motor Corporation.

Works as Mechanic

SOLIHULL, Eng. (AP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend, the Royal Air Force hero Princess Margaret decided not to marry, went to work as a mechanic at an automobile factory Tuesday.

The job will last a week or so. It pays no salary.

Townsend got the job in order to learn all about the automobile he plans to drive on a solo round-world tour starting in a few weeks. His trip is expected to last about 18 months.

30 Canadian Experts Match Duke's Interest at Meet on Human Problems in Industry

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OXFORD, England (CP) — The Canadians at the Oxford conference on human problems in industry have the same dedicated glint in their eyes as the Duke of Edinburgh has.

The duke, president of the three-week gathering of 200 men and women from around the Commonwealth, is enthusiast No. 1. But right behind him are the 30 Canadians, keen and confident that the talks will be more than worthwhile.

"The duke has thrown us the ball, and if we lose it from here on in, we'll have nobody but ourselves to blame," said a young Montreal economist, P. H. Threlfall.

"Trouble is it's a big ball."

The Canadians, plus English-men, Indians, Africans, West Indians and others, have plunged wholeheartedly into their task. They are setting out to see if they can "understand why man works and what effect his job and his bosses have on his enthusiasm."

Their subject — officially "The human problems of industrial communities within the Commonwealth and Empire"—is not one that will produce easy, obvious results. The participants generally admit that.

Lord Citrine, a former union leader and now chairman of the Central Electricity Authority, forecast a new kind of manager evolving from the community—an "industrial statesman." Some men would combine for the good of all the workers' contentment and the company's successes.

Baghdad Pact Defensive One Declares Shah

MOSCOW (AP)—The Shah of Iran in effect told his Kremlin hosts Tuesday night that the Western-powered Baghdad pact is a defensive alliance his country joined because of "past experience and the general international situation."

The ruler of the Soviet Union's southern Asian neighbor was replying to a thinly veiled criticism by Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov at a gala Kremlin banquet. The shah and Queen Soraya are here on a state visit.

Proposing a toast to the visiting monarch, Voroshilov said the Soviet Union "wants to see Iran strong, independent and prosperous, but we wish that the territory of Iran will never be used to threaten our southern borders."

The shah replied that his government "has never joined any agreement directed against the Soviet Union and never will."

Find Thousands Of Dead Fish In St. Lawrence

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Thousands of dead fish have been washed up on the banks of the St. Lawrence river 100 miles downstream from Montreal.

Residents speculate that the fish were poisoned or died in polluted waters. They say dead cats and birds have been found near partially eaten remains of dead fish.

Many types apparently have been hit by the maidy—perch, carp, pickerel, bass and sturgeon. One report said that sturgeon weighing up to 100 pounds had been found rotting on the banks.

Nickle Family Marks Stampede In Quiet England

LONDON (CP)—Perhaps for the first time, the Calgary Stampede was held indoors, restrained, western style, in the quiet pasture lands of southern England.

The holidaying Nickle family of Calgary observed the hometown rodeo with a rousing, Stampede-eration chorus of western songs as their touring bus rolled merrily along a country road.

"Our Scots driver was a bit amazed—he's used to the shouts and hollering that go with Calgary songs," recalled Nickle, Conservative member of the Canadian Parliament. He missed this year's Stampede for the first time in 23 years.

Thursday, he and 17 others here on a 74-day family tour, fly to Amsterdam to begin the European part of their vacation back. By plane and chartered coach, they'll see France, Italy, Germany, Austria and Switzerland before returning to Scotland in September.

The man footing the bill—said to be about £25,000—is Samuel Nickle, father of Carl and grandfather of the younger members of the party. He is in Calgary now but hopes to join his family later this week in Amsterdam.

Heavily Fined For Fast Driving

BRADFORD (CP) — Before he fined Lawford Hepperstall, 22, of Niagara Falls $115 for careless driving, Magistrate Gordon Porter told him Tuesday he had endangered the lives of his wife and baby by driving at more than 100 m.p.h. on Highway 400.

He told Hepperstall, who pleaded guilty, that his driving was "outrageous." Hepperstall's licence was suspended for six months.

Gunmen Attack Police Station In Cyprus Town

NICOSIA (Reuters)—A Greek-Cypriot and one Armenian were found shot to death by terrorist gunmen in their car today and an official statement said the killings were "believed to be political."

A police patrol discovered the bodies of George Indjidjian, 33, and Sofronis Christodoulou, 31, slumped on the front seat of a car parked on the side of the road. It was thought they were stopped by the terrorists, who then opened fire.

During the night terrorist gunmen attacked Evrykhou police station, 32 miles west of Nicosia, with machine-guns, shotguns and bombs. Police and British troops drove them off.

Meanwhile, British troops and police rounded up 200 youthful Greek-Cypriots in a swoop on "murder mile," the Nicosia Armenian walled city. The authorities sprang the dragnet in the hopes of bagging one or more commanders of the EOKA underground waging the campaign of violence to unite Cyprus with Greece.

The British received a tip that EOKA's second-ranking leader was holed up in the Nicosia inner walled section of the capital. They threw cordons around the area. Marines Draksos, rightlhand man of Colonel George Grivas, the former Greek army officer the British believe is leader EOKA.

RETEST APPEAL

The troops swooped down and cordoned off Ledra Street, main thoroughfare in Nicosia's inner walled section of the capital. They then proceeded to search the area house by house.

Ledra Street, lined up all Greek Cypriot men between the ages of 18 and 30, searched them for weapons and hauled about 200 off in army trucks to an interrogation centre.

The Cyprus Supreme Court Tuesday refused to commute the death sentence passed on a Greek-Cypriot convicted of firing a revolver at two British airmen. The court dismissed the plea by Stelios Mavromatis, 22, that his sentence be changed to life imprisonment.

CUT COPPER PRICES

NEW YORK (AP)—Anaconda Copper Company today cut its price for copper to 40 cents from 46 cents, joining other major producers in reducing the United States price for the metal.

Duke Creates New Style

LONDON (AP) — The 20-year-old Duke of Kent, often accused of looking frowzy in public, was acclaimed today as the creator of a new style: plaid pants with a long-tailed morning coat.

The Queen's gay young cousin wore the outfit Tuesday at the wedding of the Marquis of Hertford and the Countess Louise de Caraman-Chimay. He looked elegant.

Sidney Twp. Council

Wallbridge, Ont., July 3, 1956.

The council of the township of Sidney met pursuant to adjournment on the above date. All members present. The minutes of meeting of June 4, and special meeting, June 6, as read, were adopted.

Mrs. McKenzie interviewed council members re Home Trailer Cabins, asking for permission to park trailer beyond the time period stated in By-law No. 1330. Permission to do so was refused by council members.

Messrs. Ross and Robins waited on council members re Memorial Gardens on Lots 17 and 18, Con. 1. No action was taken as members of council wished to deal with this later.

The call for tenders for the excavating and laying of 6-inch water main extension on Avondale Road, Wright Avenue and Glen Road, were read and the contract price submitted by J. D. Vanaltine Construction Ltd., of Trenton, Ontario, was accepted.

The following by-laws were passed:

A by-law to amend the extent of the water area in Sidney township.

A by-law to designate an area of sub-division control.

Council adjourned to meet on August 7, at 7:30 p.m. at Wallbridge, Ontario.

J. W. Bailey,
Clerk, township of Sidney.

Beer Parlors Will Be Closed For One Hour

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba beer parlors Monday will start closing their doors for one hour during the supper period and a week later will begin serving sandwiches, fruit juices and soft drinks to patrons.

The requirements are included in the province's radical new liquor law, proclaimed Tuesday at a meeting of the provincial cabinet when an order-in-council was passed appointing two of three members to the liquor commission.

Under the act, scheduled to become law July 16, beer parlors will also be permitted to install radios, juke boxes and television sets, to be operated by placing coins in a slot. This provision is effective Monday.

A separate drinking rule for beer parlors requires that they close between 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. local time each day. Indians will be permitted to drink in parlors beginning Monday but will be barred from off-premises drinking in accordance with federal law.

REPUBLICANS GET GOOD NEWS

An announcement by Senator Knowland that President Eisenhower will run for a second term will skyrocket the prospects of the Republican party in the coming election. The skilful management of General Eisenhower's precarious health problem by the Republican party demonstrates the art of public relations in its ultimate form.

The party, which had been consistently defeated since 1932, was swept into power on a wave of Eisenhower popularity. Despite an outstanding performance in office, the government could have been just as quickly ousted if the health of the military hero, who has given his country such distinguished service in war and peace, had been sufficiently impaired to prevent him carrying out his momentous tasks.

While Eisenhower is doubtless inspired by a high sense of duty and patriotism in continuing as leader following his heart attack and operation, there is also good reason to credit clandestine reports that he has been encouraged in this brave decision by the GOP in the conviction that the life of the party is of greater significance than any single member.

It is hoped that optimistic medical reports indicating the recent ileitis operation will clear up old troubles, making the President fitter than he has been for some years, will prove to be true, but it is still too early to accept them as an assured fact.

Reports on the President's health have been rigidly funnelled through Press Secretary James Hagerty, who in contending with the insatiable clamor of the nation's press, has been entrusted with the Republican Party's most vital and nerve-wracking public relations assignment.

Without putting public credulity to too great a test, he must never, as long as the President is "operatable," allow any doubt to be cast on Ike's ability to lead the nation.

This necessity has contributed to optimistic reports on the President's health in the past and it is hoped that medical advice, seldom if ever given to ordinary citizens who have suffered a serious heart attack and undergone major surgery, does not prove harmful to his personal welfare.

While it is perhaps wishful thinking to suggest that a President in a state of convalescence is as capable of contending with a recession as with a heart attack, the heart as is a leader in good health, his presence is a vital factor not only to the success of his party but also to world peace and stability.

CYPRUS UNCOMMUNION

Sometimes a nation is caught in a crisis demanding a choice of alternative decisions, either of which leads to trouble and is only less disastrous than the result of indecision.

Such is the predicament of Britain in Cyprus.

The first alternative decision, yielding to clamor for Cypriot general elections and self-determination, would have signalled its victory for the 400,000 Greek-speaking majority seeking unity with Greece.

Britain might have been more amenable to self-determination had the Archbishop Makarios agreed to allow the headquarters of the British Middle East Command to retain military and foreign policy control of the Island; and had she been assured that unity with Greece would not mean the persecution of Cyprus' 100,000 Turkish minority which might plunge those NATO partners, Greece and Turkey, into all-out war.

Had Britain acquiesced to the uncompromising demands of the Greek Cypriots for autonomy, this $500,000,000 jet bomber and communications base would have been neutralized as a factor protecting her vital oil interests, her prestige and dwindling life line to the middle and far East.

Obvious Communist support of Cypriot aspirations emphasized to Britain the necessity of gaining tighter control of the situation.

The Greek Cypriots, seeking more instead of less freedom, reacted with resistance, bombings and other acts of violence.

The British Government then adopted a tougher policy including reinforcement of the 18,000 man garrison, banishment of Archbishop Makarios and neutralization of 150 hard-core rebel leaders.

The purpose of this return to old time colonial policy is "to create a political vacuum from which new moderate Cypriots will emerge. It is not the government's position," said Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd "that the principle of self-determination can never be applicable to Cyprus."

Unfortunately, acts of violence invite violent countermeasures.

One hundred Britons and native sympathizers have been killed. Two Cypriots have been hanged, 200 jailed and hundreds of homes razed to the ground for defiance of the curfew and other infractions.

The hate, which was at first confined to the leaders, has now spread throughout the island to engulf the formerly peaceful population in a fierce bitterness which may linger indefinitely.

Responsibility lies neither with the natives for seeking self-determination nor with Britain for asserting her rights as legal owner of the Island—but with a strange fate of geography which today, as 3,000 years ago, subordinates the destiny of this guardian of the East Mediterranean to the demands of inexorable militarily and political strategy.

SUMMER STORM

Still the air and calm the sea,
In the distances thunder rolled
Where the black clouds seemed to be Plumed as warriors of old.

As the forces met and massed
All the trees stood pale and weak,
Turned stricken and aghast,
At the danger rushing on.

Howling, shrieking as they neared,
So that humans turned to flee,

Suddenly the lightning flashed,
Spitting, burning through the air.

Then a peal of thunder crashed
As if death were everywhere.

But when fury's force was spent,
Nature's beauty shines again;
When the forward flees appeared,
God had sent the cleansing
White with rage they seemed rain!

Road Maps Unreadable

(By Harry McNeil in the Windsor Star)

Into our possession the other day came an interesting little booklet put out by one of the major American-Canadian insurance companies for the amusement and instruction of motorists.

The primary object of the booklet, is of course, to sell a few of the firm's business but the stress on safety which runs throughout most of the articles it contains makes it a valuable adjunct to the various safety campaigns that are under way both here and in the United States.

There is an article entitled, "How to Drive Your Way Out of an Accident," the accuracy of which the somnolence of someone else's carelessness or recklessness has driven you into it.

Another well-written piece offers advice on how not to get peeved when buying a used car. An article called "Ghost Roads and Highways" it is not out of place that there should also be an article on how to make a wall desk.

The purpose of this article being written right now is to take issue with the author of a piece on what we consider a ridiculous waste of space, namely three pages devoted to "How Intelligent Are You to Read a Road Map."

Practically everybody knows that road maps are unreadable no matter what, and no amount of "how-to" articles are going to be of help to those to whom they will forever remain a closed book.

Road maps appear to be printed with only one object in mind — to confuse the public.

There is only one thing more calculated to confuse and to get peeved when buying a used car. As the booklet so

Teen-Age Girls Complete Camp Activities at Hyanto

The Diocesan teen-age girls' camp, Camp Hyanto, Lyndhurst, under the direction of the Girls' Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada, has just completed its season for 1956.

There were 30th approximately 60 girls and their leaders from all parts of the Diocese of Ontario encamped at camp in the spirit of good fellowship for 11 days of worship and recreation together.

When everyone had settled in their tents or cabins of their choice, the activities for the week commenced. The first evening was spent in getting acquainted with each other as well as the regulations as specified by the camp director, Miss Margaret Poole, of Belleville.

Saturday started off with a busy outlook which did not seem to be noticed by anyone as they cheered for flag raising and morning prayer. After breakfast everyone attended to her own daily duties, after which the girls were divided into six separate groups for extra duties, such as dishes, health, camp-fire and camp newspaper.

These groups alternated duties until all learned how to work together to make camp life pleasant.

Mrs. A. S. McConnell of Belleville, helped the girls complete the six churchmanship badge requirements during the study period in the morning. Two campers completed their churchmanship interviews, which was most gratifying to their leaders.

The camp nurse, Mrs. C. McCallum of Kingston, gave the girls a course on Home Nursing which proved interesting and beneficial to all campers, as was noted by the marks each received on the test paper written on July 7. These tests will help the G.A. members receive their Home Nursing badge when they complete their practical study of nursing this coming fall in their respective branches.

BIBLE STUDY PERIODS

The chaplain, the Rev. Charles Read of St. George's Cathedral Kingston, took Bible study periods with the girls at one of the three instruction periods each day.

The swimming periods were under the direction of Mrs. Tod Gordon of Kingston, who is a Red Cross instructor. She was assisted each day by camp councillors, Janis Wallbridge and Gail Hanley and by Mr. Foston, each weekend. Most of the campers attended and passed their swimming tests according to their ability—beginners, juniors, and seniors. The girls, who had already received their senior swimmers' badge before coming to camp, were organized into a synchronized group, and after a week's training, performed beautifully for the camp on the last Saturday evening.

Handicrafts were taught during the swimming periods so that the groups who were not swimming at the time were kept busy until their turn in the water. Mrs. A. Bongard of Belleville, had arranged for each girl to finish a complete molded set of the manger scene, leather / change purses, felt belts, butterflies, and several other kinds of molded ornaments and an autograph book.

HOLY COMMUNION

On the first Sunday morning, the campers joined in the celebrations of Holy Communion with the congregation of St. Luke's Anglican church, Lyndhurst. The celebrant was the rector of the parish, Rev. R. Boothy. Two celebrations of Holy Communion were held during the week, Tuesday and Thursday at 8 a.m., in the grove in camp, at which the camp chaplain, Mr. Staples, was the officiant.

Evening and evening prayer on Sundays were taken by Mr. Foston under the trees where the campers could feel and see the wonders of God's love.

The house mother, Mrs. W. D. Saunders of Belleville, made the dining hall duties pleasant, for the girls with her cheery ways and no one seemed to mind those previously dreaded dishes.

Dominion Day was celebrated on Monday with a birthday party at supper time. Each girl joined with the other girls whose birthday month was the same as her own, and they decorated their table to represent some special significance in relation to that month.

The campers and their leaders were pleased to welcome some members of the Diocesan W.A. executive on Tuesday afternoon; Miss Winnifred Burns, president; Miss E. McCormick, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. R. Thompson, treasurer; Miss B. Comber, prayer partner secretary; Mrs. E. Exford, literature secretary; three of the leaders were also part of the executive, Mrs. A. S. McConnell, Miss Margaret Poole and Mrs. C. McCullum. All spent a happy afternoon together and the visiting members of the executive kindly donated two watermelons that were enjoyed by the campers at their bike-hiking on Thursday.

A 'Variety Night' was arranged for Wednesday evening, with each group participating. Everyone was pleasantly surprised at the talents of the various campers and leaders.

Two films were shown and enjoyed during the week; one on the Japanese work and the other on Indian work. A nature study group was organized for special hikes by one of the councillors and the girls found many interesting items to learn about on study.

Friday's special event was 'Sports' Day'. Dashes and novelty races were arranged and all campers participated and enjoyed the events.

AWARDS PRESENTED

On the last evening in camp, the awards were presented. Eighty-five per cent of the campers received badges for churchmanship and certificates for home nursing to be handed to their G.A. leaders stating that they had passed the written test and could receive their badge when the practical training had been completed.

The swimming awards were presented by the instructor and awards were given for the best kept tents and cabin. The winners were 100 per cent and 99 per cent neat in all their duties and were presented with camp crests by Mrs. C. D. Fuman of Belleville, camp registrar, who inspected tents and cabins every morning, assisted by Mrs. Saunders, camp mother.

The camp director had a difficult task to decide which G.A. group should take the banner home for contributing most to camp, and after much consideration, it went to Christ church, Belleville.

The girls assembled at the water's edge where each one lighted a candle on a wooden cross, and as the campers sang "Abide With Me", the cross was taken out into the lake where it shone until all campers were tucked into bed.

Monday was spent in packing for home, and there were many heavy hearts as the autograph books were signed with names that will always hold happy memories of youth.

Weddings

McCOSKY—FOX

St. John's Anglican church, Stirling, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, June 23rd, at 12.30 o'clock, when Miss Constance S. Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fox, of Belleville, became the bride of Robert J. McCosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. McCrory of Stirling.

Red and white peonies and ferns decorated the church for the occasion. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Secker, rector of St. John's Anglican church.

Miss Fox was attended by Miss Barbara Henderson of Belleville, as bridesmaid.

Mr. Donald Campbell of Stirling, was best man.

The bride was attired in a waltz-length gown of bridal white, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley. Her father gave her in marriage.

The bridesmaid wore a waltz length taffeta blue gown with yellow and white flowers.

A reception was held at the Sterling hotel.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a dress of pink and grey shot with white accessories. Her corsage was of white and pink carnations.

The couple left for a honeymoon to Toronto, Niagara, U.S.A., and points west.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Belleville, Trenton, Myrersburg, Toronto, Peterborough and Campbellford.

Women of the Moose Hold Installation of Officers

The Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 423, held the last meeting of the year on Thursday evening, in the Moose Hall with Senior Regent Mary VanDusen presiding.

The meeting was called to order by the Sr. Regent with the officers, escorts and committee chairman, taking part in the opening ceremony.

Recorder Hilda Scrymgeour called the roll call of officers, escorts and committee chairman.

Three candidates, Isabelle De Pose, Lillian Hansbell and Anna Hepperle sponsored by Grad. Regt. Selena Isles, were initiated into the defending circle. The new co-workers were escorted to the altar by the guides, where the recorder presented them with their general law book.

Grad. Regt. Selena Isles was escorted to the altar where the Sr. Regt. congratulated her on bringing her friends into the defending circle.

The minutes for the previous meeting were read by recorder Nellie Scrymgeour.

Thank-you card was received from co-worker Alice Woodcock, thanking the group for flowers sent to her while in the hospital.

Co-workers Edith Meeks and Marian Madden thanked the chapter and the co-workers for the flowers and cards they received while ill in the hospital.

Reports were given by Chairman Clara Seames for draw and euchre held at her home, proceeds turned into the chapter; co-worker Florence Caruthi gave a report on the 'social evening' for the month; co-worker Gladys Bitch gave a report on tickets sold on candlesticks and candy dish. She also thanked girls for selling the tickets.

William Burrows reported ill in Kingston Hospital; Kenny Brooks in Trenton Hospital and family Jeffery at home.

Installation of officers was in order with installing regent Kay Donovan; installing chaplain, Selena Isles; installing guide, Marie Thrasher; installing pianist, Irene Reed and installing chairman Lena Connell.

The following officers were installed— Senior Regent, Nellie Scrymgeour; Jr. Grad. Regent, Mary VanDusen; Junior Regent, Ruth Mintz; Chaplain, Mabel Lozier; recorder, Grace Bartlett; treasurer, Nellie Shandrew; guide, Mary Peacock; asst. guide, Gladys Bitch; sentinel, Clara Seames; Argus, Helen Reddick.

Following the installation of officers, the following escorts and committee chairman were installed: Escorts—Irene Gamble, Helen Keller, Annie Youngs, Nellie Bird, Irene Fraser, Ida Lake, Nora McQuaid and Madeline Argent; Chairman—Athmeas, Marguerite Wright; Publicity, Nellie Burke; Library, Ina Lloyd; Moosehaven, Bernice Priuthe; Child Care, Kathleen Pitt; Ritual, Florence Caruthi; Social Service, Luella Downes; Homemaking, Ida Miles; Hospital, Lena Connell; Membership, Irene Priuthe.

Junior Grad. Regt. Mary VanDusen thanked the officers and co-workers for all the co-operation she received last year and congratulated her friends into the defending circle.

GIFTS PRESENTED

Gifts were presented to the officers by Grad. Regts. Ruth Mintz and Selena Isles; to the escorts by Guides Marguerite Wright and Nellie Shandrew; to the chairman by Grad. Regt. Bartlett.

Co-worker Elizabeth Simpson was escorted to the altar by the guides where the Sr. Regt. presented her with a gift for selling the many tickets on the "penny sale".

Junior Grad. Regt. Mary VanDusen brought the meeting to a close wishing everyone a fraternal goodnight.

The next meeting is to be held in two weeks.

Lunch donated by Lillian Osborne was won by Luella Livingston; the door prize was won by Isabelle De Pose.

Prior to the meeting, the co-workers sat down to an enjoyable supper convened by the ladies of St. Margaret's church.

Some Delegates Double as Journalists

By CAROLYN WILLET

MONTREAL (CP)—Some of the busiest women at the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's congress this week are those both making and writing convention news.

Of the 370 delegates and observers from 18 countries include some top-ranking Plyers' officers who double as journalists.

Taka Mrs. Marta von Greyerz of Berne, new president of the Swiss federation who is gathering information during her stay here for a magazine article on Mounted's Swiss colony. She heads the eight-woman Swiss delegation at the conference, which continues today.

Mrs. von Greyerz probably would feel at home in Ottawa. In her own Swiss capital city, she writes about the social activities of the diplomatic circles, does book reviews and fashion reports.

GOOD COMBINATION

Mother of two law-student sons and wife of a Bernese newspaper man, she told a reporter that combining homemaking and a writing career works out well — "when you have a journalist husband."

One of her most adventurous topics in a country where women are "anything but slaves," she set last year as a "sex break."

She was invited to do radio work in 1933 by Mussolini, but objected to totalitarianism and fled to the U.S.

NICE COOKIE

Maureen Morin, "Miss Northern Affairs, 1956", tries a vitamin-packed cookie developed by the federal health department to balance the diet of Eskimo and Indian children in the Canadian north. It is hoped the cookies may add to height of children now living on poor diets. (CP Photo).

Now she is a leading American news analyst and lecturer, and the winner of many awards including the French Legion of Honor.

Also in the writers' ranks is Mrs. Dorothy Thiebaut of Slingshampton, N.Y., chairman of the International federation's radio and television sub-committee. She is a former newspaper columnist, radio commentator and short story writer.

Most recent arrival at the congress, which opened Saturday, was Mrs. James West of Albany, N.Y., who combines teaching with writing a daily newspaper column.

Congress sessions continued today with an all-day business meeting and a banquet at which Health Minister Martin is guest speaker.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

MONTREAL:

As mentioned in the last paragraph of last Saturday's column, we are in Montreal attending the seventh International Congress of Business and Professional Women's clubs and acting as Belleville delegate to the Canadian National Conference immediately following.

May we first, however, mention our journey down, since we had to pass through the area of that monsterous upheaval—the seaway development. From Prescott to Cornwall, this work is the paramount interest as will be attested to by the number of sight-seeing buses to the site. We will not attempt to comment on the actual river work—the dredging, the mountains of earth etc.—but is for engineers.

On land, the share that will be affected is another matter. With apologies to Goldsmith, "Iroquois might be called "The Dislocated Village" by Progress. Here the change is most in evidence because most of the actual moving has been done. For the rest of the distance along the river, there is a resigned atmosphere of waiting. To a person who has lived many years in that district, remembering the turbulent beauty of the rapids, the strong currents, and the whirlpools, the change is a bit difficult. The other communities and the farms and the orchards have a doomed look with the number plaqued on all buildings, houses, barns, sheds and shacks. There must be difficulties in the midst of packing for moving with the moving date vaguely in the future.

But this picture has another side, which we hope to give you within a month. A great deal of thoughtful planning has been going on for a long time as to the best method and use of the new area. We are fortunate to have an invitation from Ontario Hydro to tour the area and learn some of the development plans, with special emphasis on parks and historic sites. We feel that the look into the future will be pleasant and heartening.

Now to Congress. It is expected that the total registration will be from 1,000 to 1,200 with nineteen countries represented, England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland being counted as one. Speaking with delegates from the United Kingdom, we learned that apart from their ticket cost, they could bring only $330 each. Travelling that distance to a strange country, with emergencies that might arise, they felt there was far too much margin and they are budgeting closely. Some intriguing addresses of U.K. delegates are: Chester-Le-Street; Petts Wood (Kent); Largs, Ayrshire; Newton, Walker, Belfast, N.I.; Ambleside, Blayden-On-Tyne; Lundin Links, Fife.

Canada has the largest delegation naturally, with the United States and then the United Kingdom following. Other countries represented are Australia, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Sweden and Switzerland.

We must confess to harboring some thoughts that conferences were large social get-together,

Of course, partly this is true but the agenda is terrifying to underpaper. Opening day, July 26, will be United Nations seminar on the status of women. Workshop groups are from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. every morning, after which we have the regular business session. Sunday morning is the one day group the particular chairwoman of our group is Miss Gladys MacGill, author of the well known book; "My Mother Was a Judge". She is an outstanding Canadian woman and one to whom we owe outstanding sociological engineers.

Sitting next to us, we were delighted to find Mrs. Jean Cooper-Foster of Belfast, who is a delightful and radio personality. We had learned of Mrs. Cooper-Foster's visit to Canada through a Belfast newspaper sent to us by Hazel Pugh. Mrs. Cooper-Foster will take part in a CBC broadcast on "Women of the World" during her stay in Canada.

This gives only a slight idea of the beginning of our work. The interchange of ideas and the forceful discussions are stimulating and most informative. The morning for instance, I learned that women in Switzerland do not vote but that they are considered much-better off than the women of France.

We could not let Wednesday's column pass by with no mention of shopping. Sales in Montreal fall showings are in full swing even though we are still away in summer. The word in fall fashions is every color that is to be found in the autumn leaves.

In Saturday's This & That we will have more news from here and there originating again in Montreal at the Congress.

SHOT 31 TIMES

SPARTANSBURG, S.C. (AP)—Elias Meadows, 60, was shot to death as he lay in his bed here Tuesday night. Police said 31 slugs entered his body. Officers said the victim's 35-year-old Casper J. Meadows, admitted the slaying.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOUR HUSBAND IS GIVING HIMSELF AWAY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My husband and I have been arguing a certain matter and we've decided to ask your opinion on it.

He is the type that is very outspoken even to the point of telling people what he thinks of them and of what they do. He says people like those who are frank and honest.

I don't agree with him. I think it is rude to criticize people and I think they resent it.

Which of us do you think is right?—Irene P.

Dear Irene P.:

If your husband has that curious quirk of personality which makes him enjoy pointing out other people's faults, then I'm certainly not on his side of the argument. Of course people like friends who are frank and honest, but when frankness and honesty are carried to the extreme of saying unpleasant things, it's something else again.

The fact is, of course, that the person who likes to point out other people's faults has an inferiority complex. Because he feels inferior he wants to believe that others are not any better than he thinks he is himself, and so he gets satisfaction out of letting them know it.

Any one who has proper self-confidence will never run anyone else down, either to his face or behind his back.

If your husband could come to understand that all he accomplishes by acting as he does is to give himself away and make it perfectly plain to others that he has an inferiority complex he'd probably change his attitude fast.

HERE'S WHAT I'D SUGGEST —

WILL YOU DO IT?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and my boy friend is 17. I love him desperately which you may think is puppy love, but I'm sure it's not.

We're pretty serious about each other, and he insists that we get it a way. I know is wrong, but it thrills me.

What would you suggest we do? J.T.

Dear J.T.:

I'll suggest that you two behave yourselves and act like decent, self-respecting young people in-

Just a Line to Let You Know...

By Mary Moore

When I hear myself talking to you when I'm alone in the kitchen some action has to be taken. Either the family will have to put me away for expert observation and consultation or I'll have to collect my random thoughts and put them on paper. Then my mind will be settled and I can talk Gary for a walk around the block in the dark.

I have a new list of letters already my name: Mary Moore (S.O.G.F.I.T. (silly old grandmother pictures in purse). Speaking of Gary—as if I didn't talk about him all the time—a little rash broke out on his face and the doctor blamed it on gelatin so we switched to barley cereal. The rash did not clear up so the doctor said to change to rice cereal. We did and while the rash stopped spreading it did not clear up. Then, the other evening at the 5:00 dinner the kid told you about one of Marianne's friends said her baby had developed a rash after drinking her first apple juice. Marianne's and Herbie's and my eyes met at one man—for Gary loves the stuff, very dilute of course. No medicine in it. We cut that off his menu and his rash is disappearing. This does not mean that apple juice is good for babies at all, but it is not fer-stead of crazy kids in search of thrills.

And the way to make sure you'll control yourself is to spend most of your hours together in the company of your friends, joining with them in your teenage activities, instead of going off going off by yourselves as it would be easy to do wrong.

No matter how serious you may be about each other at the moment or how sure you may be that your present feelings are not "puppy love," the probability is that both of you will be feeling that the same way about somebody else before too long. That's life, in the teens, whether you choose to believe it right now or not.

Finally — and again no matter how serious you may be about each other — if you are the sort of young people you should be, you will have the character, and the will power, to do nothing you will ever look back on with regret.

So now you know what I suggest, Gary.

LEFTOVER EGG YOLKS

Marianne made an angel cake for Herbie's birthday and he applied the white mountain frosting. We had a lurful of egg yolks to cope with so we made mayonnaise with some of them and French toast with the remainder. To 6 yolks I added salt and pepper and 1 teaspoon sugar and nearly 1 cup milk, and beat them well and soaked 5 or 6 slices of whole wheat bread cut into halves in it until all the liquid was absorbed. I fried them in butter until golden and served them with smoked beef bacon and sliced tomatoes for Sunday morning's breakfast.

Since I am still in Calgary as I write this (but will be home by the time this goes to print) I want to say that the altitude here (approximately 3400 feet—is forcing me to change my oven temperatures. We baked our angel food cake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes then reduced the temperature to 325 deg. for 15 minutes longer, and the cake rose 1 1-4 inches above the top of the tube pan. Ordinarily the cake was so high and tender I think I'll raise my oven temperature for angel food cake at home, even though we are closer to sea level, and see what the results are.

Do you remember me passing on to you some yarns my cousin Dotty told me? One was about tourists being stopped by State troopers for examination of cars for fruit being carried across state lines. I read now that down in Florida the Medfly has somehow jumped over the Caribbean and Florida fruit growers are panicky. So all cars travelling in Florida are being searched for fruit that might be infested—and it is confiscated willy-nilly. The report says that one couple ate nine melons on the spot!

I've often wondered when I have been clearing up the dishes after a meal and a choice piece of cauliflower or small serving of salad is leftover—is it better to waste it in the garbage can or eat it and add it to my waistline?

Never mind answering that. I'll walk it off as I push the buggy.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

COMPLETE MAKE-UP CHART. TODAY: LIGHT BROWN HAIR; FAIR SKIN

Lovely girl with the light brown hair—you're the romantic type, about whom songs are written. You exquisite fair skin is enhanced by the parlet shades of blue, pink, green lavender and by the soft, misty shades as well. For dramatization and a change from the romantic, try clear, geranium reds which you wear surprisingly well.

Your flowers are pink roses, corn flowers, forget-me-nots, pink camellias and, for that touch of drama in your costume, especially when you are wearing dark colors, vivid red roses or camellias. Here is your make-up chart:

FOR DAYTIME WEAR

Foundation: If your skin is normal, a liquid foundation, either colorless or tinted to give the skin tone you want or cover up flaws in the skin texture or in the contour of the face.

If your skin is dry, sallow, muddy or aging, cream or paste foundations which cover the skin more completely than do the liquids.

If your skin is oily, a dry cake foundation, a vanishing cream type, or a liquid foundation with an astringent base.

Color: As a rule, choose a foundation of the same tone as your skin but a shade darker. However, if you have a fine alabaster skin, match it exactly with a colorless liquid foundation. If your skin is sallow, choose a pink-toned foundation; a peach or ivory-toned foundation if your skin is too white.

Powder: Rachel for creamy complexion; Natural for flesh-colored.

Lipstick: Coral or rose, soft cherry red, or vivid red. Ruby red with dark colors. Harmonize shades of lipstick and rouge with colors you wear. Drape chosen color about neck and face close to skin and try different shades of lipstick and rouge to find the one which goes best with it.

Rouge: Coral, rose or soft cherry red (shade of lipstick). Cream or liquid rouge before powdering or dry rouge after powdering. Or make rouge from lipstick by blending it with cream.

Eye Shadow: Mint-blue for blue eyes; gray-green for gray of hazel eyes, light brown for brown eyes.

Mascara: Deep blue, purple or brown.

Eyebrow Pencil: Light brown or black.

Nail Polish: Same as lipstick or lighter or darker shade of same.

FOR EVENING WEAR

Foundation: Same as day.

Powder: Rachel or shades of apricot or peach if skin has yellow tones. Magnolia, orchid or pale green for fair coloring.

Lipstick: Same as lipstick. Accessorize: Geranium red, orange, cherry or raspberry.

Rouge: Same as lipstick. Accent color for artificial lights by dusting color rouge over powder over if you have used cream of liquid rouge.

Eye Shadow: Blue or violet for light or dark blue eyes, Dark green for hazel eyes; brown for brown eyes.

Eyebrow Pencil: Light or dark brown.

Mascara: Green, deep blue, purple or brown.

SUN TAN COSMETICS

Foundation: Sun Tan.

Powder: Golden sun powder over.

Lipstick: Coral or vivid red.

Rouge: Coral or vivid red.

Eye Shadow: Sea Green.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ARE GIFTS TO THE GRADUATE PROPER?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please advise me on the propriety of giving gifts to High School graduates. The graduate is our neighbor's daughter, and she is a friend of our family. The gift I had in mind to give her was a small gift of jewelry. Would this be proper? Really I am more concerned with whether it is proper to give a gift to the graduate than I am with the type of gift that should be given.—Reader.

It is indeed entirely proper for Mascara: Sea Green.

Nail Polish: Orange red or brownish.

a friend of a graduate to give her a graduation present. And it would be a most delightful and generous gesture for you to make to this girl who is your minister's daughter, and a friend of your family. But do choose the piece of jewelry with special care, with sure taste as to its appropriateness and its becomingness to this young lady.

TODAY'S CHIC FLOWER GIRL WEARS SHORT WHITE GLOVES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know if the little flower girl in my church wedding should, or may, wear gloves. So far I have had several different opinions . . . some say the flower girl never wears gloves, others say that it is entirely a matter of preference, and that today little girls wear short white gloves more than ever before. (Incidentally, some other attendants will wear gloves.) C.

Please give that little flower girl the joy of wearing short white gloves . . . today these short white gloves are practically a must for what the well-dressed flower girl is wearing"! Such chic they give to this very young lady, who has

SPRINGBROOK W.A.

July meeting of the Wo- Association of Springbrook Church was held Thurs- ernoon at the home of Mrs. McCoy, Bonarlaw. There 9 members and two visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Clayton Boritt, opened the meeting.

Mrs. Percy Mumby took charge of the devotional period, the theme being "The Loving Kindness of the Lord." The Scripture, taken from Proverbs 15: 13- 33, was read by Mrs. Ed. Bateman.

Psalm 103 was read responsively, others taking part in the devotional were: Mrs. Floyd McKeown, Mrs. Reg. McKeown and Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. G. Webb, and correspondence read and discussed.

Mrs. H. Beare was named delegate to attend the "School For Leaders," sponsored by the W.M.S. of the United Church to be held at Whitby in August.

Reports were given from sick and shut-in committee; plans were completed for the lawn social to be held in Springbrook on July 20.

Mrs. George Thompson reported for the parsonage committee, that new floor covering was being purchased. A discussion on the decorating of the church followed. It was decided that Mrs. D. Fleming discuss the color scheme and designing with Mr. Maurice Bell, decorator of Stirling, with the decorating to be done in the month of August.

This concluded the business of the meeting and the following program was enjoyed:

Topic on Psalms, prepared by Mrs. George Williams was read by Mrs. B. Bateman; readings by Mrs. T. Webb, Mrs. F. McKeown and Miss E. Peake were given; a piano duet by Mrs. J. Wellman and daughter Linda.

The hostess and her assistants served cake and sandwiches.

Collection $4.64. The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Bateman, Springbrook.

MARSH HILL MISSION BAND

The Marsh Hill Mission Band met for its regular meeting with 14 members and five mothers present.

The president, Marilyn Finkle, gave the call to worship, followed by the singing of the hymn, "Holy Are Things, Woods Are Ringing", and prayer.

Elaine Lindenfield read the Scripture followed by a story by Mrs. Leslie Finkle.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle opened the program with the hymn "Praise Him".

Gary Mayell read "Jesus Was Once a Little Child."

Bonnie Hagerman sang "Jesus Loves Me", and Carol Lindenfield, read "God is Near". Elaine Lindenfield gave a piano solo, "Hark the Tiny Cowslip Bell".

Rickie Little gave a reading.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle gave two chapters from the study book, "Tippy Find Friends", and "What Happened at Family Night".

Harold Finkle closed the meeting with prayer.

TOP TO TOE

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

New garnish for new fashions and to dress up clothes that have already seen service includes a nice selection of hats that are for casual wear but that are extremely well done, as is this one. It is of white or natural rough straw and has a dark brown or black grosgrain band and streamers. Good with slim summer suits and sheath dresses. Here is the latest version of the basket handbag, this one with brown leather for the handle and strap. The bag is of wicker and is leather lined. It's ideal as an escort for simple cottons and suits. White crushed leather with dark brown or natural pigskin is used for a pretty pump with perforations outlining the darker leather inset.

Sunday School Picnic

WESLEYAN METHODIST S.S.

The annual picnic of the Wesleyan Methodist Sunday school was held on Saturday, July 7, At 9:30 a.m., the bus left the church with the usual crowd of excited youngsters, followed by a motorcade of cars which travelled to Little Lake, north of Brighton.

The forenoon was filled with swimming and a jumbo sized ball game. The winning team was captained by the Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Floyd Cummings.

The participants sat down to lunch at 1 p.m. and after a capacity load of salads, ice cream and cold drinks, each entered into the contests.

The winners were as follows:

Three and under mixed—Paul Hall, Margaret Denike; 5 and 6 mixed—Terry Young, Kenneth Locklin; 7 to 10 girls—Brenda Coles, Hazel Locklin, Norma Cooney; 7 to 10 boys—Peter Morris, Raymond Bonisteel, Bobbie Young; 11 to 14 girls —Mary Spearman, Brenda Carter; 11 to 14 boys—Garnet Blakely, Don McIntosh; 15 to 17 girls—Barbara Simpson, Joyce Masill; 15 to 17 boys—Jim Mitts; 18 and up women—Ruby McIntosh, Nora Elliott; 18 and up men—Bill Mitts, Lorne Elliott; sack race—Brenda Carter, Don McIntosh; three-legged race —Bill and Jim Mitts; Brenda Carter and Mary Spearman; shoe kick — Floyd Cummings, Jim Mitts; paper sack blow—Carol Warley, Mary Spearman; married women's race—Nora Elliott, Ruby McIntosh; married men's race—Ted Latham, Ira Spearmen; youngest baby present — Mary Louise Latham; largest family present—McIntosh family with seven present; watermelon weight guess—Alex Glover.

Roslin

GOLDEN WEDDING

ROSLIN — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burleigh observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday June 30th.

Mrs. Burleigh the former Margaret Teabay and Mr. Burleigh were married in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, June 30th, 1906.

They have two sons, Granley and Edgar and one granddaughter, Mrs. (Betty) Reid, and two great grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh observed the day quietly at their home and a number of friends and relatives called during the afternoon and evening.

The July meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William Gillespie.

The president, Mrs. S. Stirk, presided, and Miss A. Stirk gave the Scripture reading.

An invitation was received from Moneymore Ladies' Guild to attend their meeting on July 26.

Plans were made to hold a dinner in the hall on July 18th.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Stirk for her donation to the P.A.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social time enjoyed.

Dr. J. D. and Mrs. Empson, Heather, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Empson, of Casselton, are spending a vacation in Calgary, and expect to attend the Calgary Stampede.

Dr. James Tweedy, a native of the Odessa district, has joined the staff of the clinic of Doctors J. D. Empson and J. N. Hartt at Roslin. Dr. Tweedy graduated from Queen's University, last year, and has just completed a year interning at Hamilton General Hospital. He and his wife will take up residence in Roslin in the near future and are living temporarily in Dr. Empson's home.

On Sunday the Rev. C. P. Heaven, who has been rector at Wellington until his recent retirement conducted services in the Roslin Anglican Parish. Next Sunday the new Rector, Mr. Woodward, of Campbellford, will conduct services.

Services will be at St. Paul's Church, Roslin, at 2:30 p.m.

Miss Ann Stirk, of Brampton, spent the past two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stirk.

Stirling W.I. Holds Most Interesting Meet

STIRLING — Mrs. A. Gordanier, Mill Street, opened her home for the July meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute on Wednesday evening.

The president, Mrs. R. Foster, conducted the business portion. A "Dairy Product for Ontario" was named as roll call.

The bills, letters and minutes were read, given by secretary, Mrs. E. McMurray, which included W.I. holiday at Kemptville; discussion followed with the plans left to the president to further act as appointed time.

"Trail Blazed, August 2 to 5—knowing it would be interesting and well worth while, the housewife finds it too busy a time to be spent away from home for that amount of time, so no action was taken on this item.

Mrs. Wood, convener for Education and Citizenship, was given literature from the Provincial Radio Council concerning radio and television program.

Mrs. Leslie Rodgers, West Hastings District president, was appointed to compile a Tweedsmuir book for the local W.I.

Mrs. Foster, Mrs. W. C. West are the buying committee with Mrs. S. McMurray alternate.

A valued member, Mrs. Mabel Williams, has been ill and wished to extend her thanks to the members for cards, fruit and calls.

Mrs. W. C. West will be the reporter for the remaining year on highlights of the "Home and Country," as she sees the most interesting items it contains.

Secretary Mrs. S. McMurray distributed the '56 and '57 W.I. programs, and was authorized to send for more "Home and Country" copies so as to have the proper number on the mailing list.

The continuation of the W.I. creed was agreed upon with Mrs. Luella Bronson reporting for it; also sending out greetings from the Friendship Circle and corresponding with overseas pen pals as well as press reporter.

CURRENT EVENTS

Current Events proved most interesting, such as copper mined at Bancroft; Deloro Smelting on strike; 900 children attending in one day at Campbellford's celebration; the sewage question in Stirling and Belleville.

The program, under the leadership of Mrs. E. Foster, was based on Dominion Day.

All joined in the singing of the "Maple Leaf" with Mrs. R. Stapley as song leader.

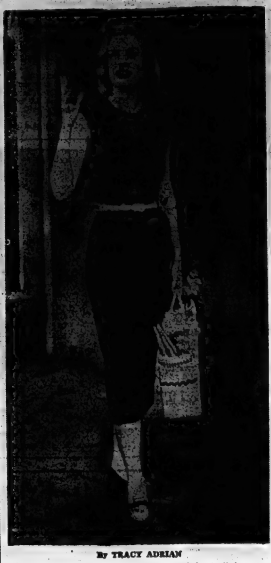
Nancy Pitcher of Montreal, and Nancy and Judy Ashley, of Trenton, sang several numbers, including "Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue."

Lt. Cmdr. Philip Netten, a dear Canadian officer, thinks a new Canadian anthem, named "Canada My Land," should be revised.

"God guide you, guard you, bless you, great land of destiny,
Abode of peace with plenty and law with liberty,
I thank my God who fashioned you so fair, so strong, so grand,
I live for you, I'd die for you, Dear Canada, my land."

This was well presented by Mrs. S. McMurray.

Mrs. Ward gave a worthwhile reading by Edgar Guest, entitled "Take Care." Mrs. R. Stapley sang "My Cathedral."



"Our Flag" was the chosen topic for the patriotic program by Mrs. E. Foster.

"A piece of cloth, fashioned in three colors. It has no life of its own, but nothing is more alive; it has no voice, but nothing is more eloquent; it stands supreme for our beloved Canada; it is a flag that floats proudly over a free nation, where the will of the people is law of the land; it is a flag, whether you are in the most luxurious palace or a dugout, you are proud to claim, for it spells freedom for your family, friends and splendor and the promise of the land, hopes and the dreams of liberty, hopes of freedom of worship and of speech."

Mrs. Blanche Reid, delegate to the District Annual, gave a well-compiled report of the day's proceedings.

The trio of girls favored the ladies with two closing numbers, "The Bible Tells Me So," and "I Met Jesus at the Crossroads."

Fun Afoot

By TRACY ADRIAN

Teen-agers as well as the younger married set all favor comfortable flatties for wear both day and evening. And even the older sisters and married mamas have taken to this type of shoe when they are out to relax and have fun.

The shoes shown are of the ballerina variety with the popular flat heel and an instep strap. They have a washable sail cloth upper and a lightweight shoes which makes them perfect for shopping in the city, vacation or travel.

Canadian Girls Take Lessons In Curtsying

LONDON (CP) — Forty-two Canadian girls took tea Tuesday with a diplomat's wife and learned the rights and wrongs about curtsying to the Queen.

"Try to relax and don't be too stiff," was the advice given by Mrs. Betty Robertson, Netherlands-born wife of Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London.

Under her trained eye the Canadian debutantes practised curtsying and listened to lectures on court protocol, all designed as a prelude to Thursday's presentation party. On the big day, the girls will curtsy to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh in the ballroom at Buckingham Palace, and then join in a jam-packed garden party on the palace lawns.

Little Benny's Notebook

I went to the public lyberry today and took out a book called Supersonic Spaceship instead of one called 40 Days in an Atomic Submarine, and after dinner I said to pop, Heck, why did I have to take that book instead of 40 Days in an Atomic Submarine?

Why indeed? pop said, and I said, Good night, I should of had more sense. I looked at the pictures in 40 Days in an Atomic Submarine, and they looked swell, and I read some of the words in the middle, and they were swell too, I said.

Then for Pete sake why didn't you take it? pop said, and I said, Aw, just because some guy said it was junior. Heck, I'll probably never find that book in the lyberry again, because it'll always be out, I said.

Well, it's difficult to know how much to listen to critics, in litterture as well as in life, pop said. Of course some critics are better equipped than others to influence our judgment in the right direction, and perhaps your friend was a profound student of undersea navigation. Who knew? pop said.

Darn if I know, I said, and pop said, Do you mean you got into a conversation with a stranger boy and took his word for it?

No sir, I never even saw him, I said. He was some guy that took the book out some other time, and he wrote on the first page, This book is mine, I said.

You gotta never listen to any guy with no more sense than to deface a book that's not his property, pop said, and I said, Well believe me I wont after this.

Which believe is a word.

NOT A RESIDENCE

KITCHENER (CP) — Magistrate A. D. Barron ruled Tuesday that a cottage rented as a place to hold a party where liquor or beer is served is not a residence under the Liquor Control Act.

Five of 17 persons at a pre-wedding party in a rented cottage were fined $10 and costs for consuming beer in a place other than their residences.

CONVICT STAR'S SON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jury convicted Billy Anderson on two counts of narcotics violations. He is the son of radio and television comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson. Judge Thurmond Clarke set Aug. 6 for probation hearing and sentence.

Stylish Silks

By ALICE ALDEN

One silk is splendid, but two silks are something special —or so say some of our leading designers. And who would argue the case? Brassil uses two silks for a most attractive afternoon into informal evening costume, the color navy blue. Silk chiffon borders and lines the little taffeta jacket. With it is a sleeveless, full-skirted chiffon dress with cummerbund waistline. There is lots of fine work and detail in this design by a leading New York couture house.

"BEAUTY PAGEANT IS HAPPY OCCASION"—BUT WHEN?

LINDA HAGEN

It's seldom that the Miss Canada beauty contest is held without some argument or disagreement, but this time temperatures reached an all-time high. It all began when Linda Hagen, 24, a native of Vienna, Austria, let it be known that she considered Canadian girls something less than intelligent by comparison to European girls. After that remark appeared in print, she says she was informed by Mrs. Radcliffe Weaver, wife of the operator of the show, in Hamilton, Ont., that she was disqualified. However, she entered the contest and went on stage at Hamilton and did not place among the first three. Now Miss Hagen claims discrimination and Mrs. Weaver says she never should have been in the pageant. "The pageant is a lovely, happy occasion, and my feeling is the girls should only say happy things," says Mrs. Weaver. Above, Linda, left; Mrs. Weaver, centre, and S. Radcliffe Weaver, right, engage in a conversation (and far from happy one), with Mrs. Weaver taking time out from admonishing Linda to berate the photographer who took the photo. (Central Press Canadian).

The vote came after John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) attacked government policy—particularly the tight-money policy—and other measures had their say pro and con on where Canada is going.

Mr. Diefenbaker described as "staggering" the newly-announced increase from two to 2½ per cent in the interest rate on savings accounts in the country's chartered banks.

He said the government talked of helping the Canadian investor invest in his country, but "this most niggling, staggered increase can have no serious influence in causing Canadians to have more money available for investment in Canada."

Mr. Diefenbaker also said that even as Trade Minister Howe had been refusing John Bracken's motion in the Commons, four Maritime provincial premiers—three of them Liberal—were meeting in Fredericton and pointing "the accusing finger of condemnation at the federal government" for doing nothing for the Atlantic provinces.

Elmore Philpott (Vancouver South) said the Progressive Conservatives seemed to be raising the old cry of the 1911 general election—"no truck or trade with the Yankees." But the Yankee dollars they seemed to fear might develop Canada and made her a U.S. satellite were providing jobs for a fifth of the Canadian working force.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) said Canada's trade is dependent on the "whims of Washington" and the policies of other importing countries like France and Germany. Canada had great opportunities to develop her own manufacturing industries but had taken no advantage of them.

WMS Hears Talk on Purity, Makes Presentation

IVANHOE. — The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. John McInroy was well attended.

Mrs. Harry Benson presided and opened the meeting by reading a poem.

The roll call was answered by a verse of Scripture containing the world "Pure". Mrs. Harold Thompson read the minutes and a short business session was held.

The Scripture lesson 1st John 3:1-11 was read by Mrs. W. H. V. Walker.

The Rev. W. H. V. Walker gave a fine talk on the sixth beatitude "Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."

"In Philippians 4:8 we read "Finally brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

"The pure in heart are sincere, not self righteous. Many souls are so blest that when evil comes in the world God's angels close the shutters and bid evil regone.

"We cannot be pure on our own strength. The pure of heart are not jealous of those who are praised. Unmixed water and air are pure if there is nothing in them out of harmony with their nature.

"We should daily offer prayer for purity of heart. Man is a religious being, one who is challenged to practise pure religion and undefiled. It is his duty to visit the sick, the fatherless, and widows in affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world.

"We must keep Christ in our homes. If our hearts are pure and right we will be strengthened in faith."

The president called on Mrs. Barton Haggerty, who presented Mrs. J. C. Sills with a leather bound revised version of the Bible and a leather bound "America's Best Poems".

Mrs. Haggerty said this gift was in gratitude to Mrs. Sills for the many things she had done for the W.M.S. and for the community and particularly mentioning the framing of life membership certificates. Mrs. Sills, who has been away for the past few months expressed pleasure at being home again and gratitude for the gift.

Miss Dorothy Fleming told the story of a man of India, 80 years of age learning to read by the Frank Laubach method. Millions of illiterates in 80 different countries speaking 247 languages have learned to read in this way. The work of the W.M.S. is to see that these millions receive the right literature.

A musical selection was given by Mrs. A. Hassall.

Mrs. Donald Haggerty read of the work carried on by the church at "Armagh". A poem "Sculptor" was read by Mrs. J. C. Sills. Mrs. John Wright gave a reading "From Crime to Christ".

Mrs. Harry Thompson thanked Mrs. McInroy for opening her home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Gore

GORE—The ice cream social at Centre, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Mission Band was largely attended. A good program under the chairmanship of the Rev. W. K. G. Dovey was enjoyed. Much credit is due Mrs. Ronald Giles, Mission Band leader, and the leaders themselves for the pleasant evening.

The July W.M.S. meeting—was well attended Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Melvin Palmer. Baby Band members were guests.

Congratulations are extended to the Misses Beverly Trounce and Jean Waterhouse, grade 8 pupils of Victoria School, who were successful in their exams. The girls will be entering collegiate in September.

Upon their return from their honeymoon trip around Lake Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Dempsey (nee Maude Calnan), were given a rousing charivari at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Calnan on Thursday evening. Folks gathered from Belleville, Wellington, Consecon and all intervening communities with vocal noise-makers and really made a job of the charivari—none was too old and none too young to help the fun along. Perhaps the oldest one present was Mr. Steve Vancott of Ameliasburg village—well over 90 years young who invited the bride to step dance with him. The crowd was invited in as far as the house would hold and all were treated to ice cream and cake. All join in wishing Morley and Maude the best.

Mr. L. B. Brickman, Miss Audrey Brickman and Miss Irma Bonter were guests of Mrs. Rogers of Philadelphia and Mr. E. Adams, Belleville, at the Brickman cottage, Wellington, on Thursday evening.

Mrs. J. Wilson has returned to her home here following a visit at the home of her son at Leamington. Mr. and Mrs. L. Trey of Leamington, spent several days here with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Trey's sister, Mrs. G. Trounce and family.

Mrs. William Gerrits and little Elizabeth, Oshawa, have been holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Redner.

Mrs. D. K. Redar, former resident of the Campbellford district, attended part of the Old Home week activities at Campbellford.

Deseronto

DESERONTO.—Mr. Bruce Pennell of Kingston, visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pennell.

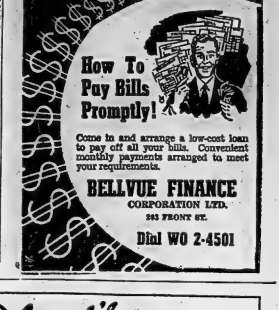
Mr. and Mrs. W. Thompson and son of Brantford, visited with her aunt, Mrs. Annie Shuryer.

Miss Louise Patrick of Toronto, was a recent visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pennell.

Mrs. M. Rogers of Toronto, is spending the summer months at her home on Green Street.

Mrs. Carrie Brant is visiting with relatives at Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tutt and children of Toronto, were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cochrane.



Mr. James Starrit of Kingston, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Harris and family of Kingston, spent Sunday with Mrs. Harris' mother, Mrs. Charles Beyette.

Mrs. Edith Budreau of Port Hope, visited with her mother, Mrs. Jos Clare and Mr. Clare.

Miss Patsy Simpson of Belleville, spent the weekend with Miss Merlyn Green.

Mrs. Howard Sager and children, with relatives at Rochester, N.Y.

Tweed

TWEED.—Mrs. Price of Actinolite, wife of the late Major Merrick Price, returned home last week from a trip to England, where she has been visiting her mother and other relatives for the past several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Fisher and son, Robert and Mr. and Mrs. John Foster Jr., and son, Frankie, spent Sunday at Algonquin Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Miss Emma Wallace and Miss Margaret Kerr took a drive to Governors Park at the head of Mazinaw Lake, on Sunday.

A LAW FOR POLICEMEN TO ENFORCE

How short can shorts be before becoming too short? Albert Crookes, former deputy reeve of Cookeville, Ontario, says they shouldn't be less than 24 inches and that policemen should be armed with tape measures to see that the figure was enforced. One council member suggested that there would be a rush to join the police force if the idea was made law. The 24-inch measurement would, obviously, land Lynn Fitzgerald in the clink if enforced, while Lois McKay would escape official attention. In spite of Mr. Crookes, no limit was put on the length of shorts. (Central Press Canadian).

TRIP FOR PRINCE, GRACE

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace slipped away Tuesday on a train trip to Paris. The man who announced their departure told a questioner about the possibility of a royal heir: "Unfortunately, I have nothing new to tell you on this subject. Everything is very calm."

UNHURT BY TRAIN

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — William McIntyre, 75-year-old deaf pensioner, was hit by a Canadian National Railways freight train Tuesday while walking along the track. He dusted off his clothes and continued his walk after assuring the startled train crew he suffered only a bruised ankle.

CAMPBELLFORD

Driver Killed, Passenger Hurt In Car-Bus Crash

CAMPBELLFORD — One person was killed and another seriously injured shortly before noon on Tuesday in a car - bus crash on Highway No. 7 at a level crossing three miles east of the village of Havelock.

Dead is Alfred H. Downing, 69, of Mount Elgin, Ont. His wife, Florence, a passenger in the car, is in Peterborough Hospital suffering severe shock and lacerations and abrasions to her face, elbows and knees. Her condition is reported as fair.

The accident - occurred when a Colonial Coach Lines bus, travelling empty, stopped before proceeding across the railway tracks at the level crossing three miles east of Havelock. Downing, travelling behind the bus, apparently failed to see it stop. After skidding more the rear of the bus, driving the than 80 feet, the car plunged into huge vehicle forward about 25 feet. The front of the car was completely demolished. The bus had to be towed back to Peterborough. Downing is believed to have died of chest injuries, suffered when he was thrown forward against the steering wheel of his car.

The bus driver, Gerald Milligan, age 32, of 3 Rochester Blvd., Peterborough, was not injured.

OPP Constable Archy Eady of the Campbellford Detachment, investigated, Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton of Peterborough, investigated at the scene and said an inquest would be held. No date for the inquest has yet been set.

$800 Damage Sustained in Car Accident

CAMPBELLFORD — About $450 damage was sustained by two cars when they collided on the Springbrook road, about 7 miles northeast of here on Monday.

A car driven by James Watters, 64, of RR 4, Campbellford, was backing out of a driveway on to the road when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Harry W. Hooks, 43, of Columbus, Ohio. Police said Hooks had just broken over a knoll and failed to see the Watters' car in time to stop. Damage to the front of the Hooks' auto amounted to about $600 and about $250 damage was suffered by the Watters' vehicle. There were no injuries.

OPP Constable Archie Eady of the Campbellford detachment investigated.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By CHRIS LEGGAT

At the closing meeting of the Foxboro Group the Cub colors were dedicated by Rev. R. F. Davis of Foxboro United church. Cubmaster Jim Churchill presented the following badges — "Athlete" to Cubs Ted Waller, Jim Johnson, Brian Skinner, Bobby Skinner, Larry Seol, Ricky De Mille, Gregory Moore, Dennis Gould, Teddy Arthurs, Ronnie Purvis, Murney Bradshaw and Wayne Wilkinson. Cub Wayne Wilkinson was awarded "Artist" and "Toymakers" badges. "House Orderly" to Cub Lloyd Johnston. "Observer," "Guide" and "Gardener" to Cub Brian Skinner. "Gardener" to Cub Teddy Arthurs.

District Commissioner O. C. Owen presented Queen's Scout Jimmie Churchill with his "Gold Cord". Jimmie is one of the five Scouts who has a "Religion & Life" badge, recently awarded to him by Archdeacon J. B. Creegan. At this meeting District Scoutmaster T. L. Boyle presented "Naturalist" and "Xcooters" badges to Jimmie. These make a total of 11 very difficult badges won by Scout Churchill, 18 are required for the high award of a "Gold Cord". D.S.M. Boyle also presented Scout Donald Priest with his "Laundrymans" badge.

The Buffalo Patrol of the 1st Foxboro won the Frank S. Feilwell trophy this year. Patrol leader John Skinner was a very proud Scout when he received this trophy from the district commissioner.

Foxboro have 25 Cubs (under Cubmaster J. Churchill and 17 Scouts under Scoutmaster Harry Ashton. Not a large group but very active. The leaders must feel very pleased that their boys are bringing such great credit to their group.

Mr. R. D. Arnott, Q.C., and Mr. O. C. Owen have also brought honor to Belleville Scouts by being elected to the General Council.

The local association are in favor of a district council. This means that places within boundaries of Tweed, Melrose, Belleville, Picton and Wellington can if they desire, be formed into a district under a district council consisting of elected members from each group.

One hundred Cubs are getting ready for the annual camp at Quin-Mo-Lac. Mrs. Ashley is again taking charge of this camp for the sixth consecutive time. Plans are nearing completion and everybody is looking forward to another successful Cub camp. They will leave Belleville on Saturday, August 11th, returning the following Friday evening.

Minister Will Be in Hospital For Two Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — Agriculture Minister Thomas of Ontario will remain in Toronto General Hospital for at least two weeks for study and observation, Dr. K. G. McKenzie, a Toronto brain specialist, said Tuesday. Mr. Thomas underwent an exploratory operation Tuesday morning.

"Preliminary tests have indicated there is no reason for any further surgery," Dr. McKenzie said. "There should be no spectacular change in his condition for the next couple of weeks."

He said it will be at least 10 or 12 days before attending surgeons know exactly the cause of the minister's illness. Hospital officials said Tuesday Mr. Thomas is in good condition and resting easily after his operation.

Mr. Thomas collapsed in Winnipeg last week while attending an agricultural conference. He was reported responding to treatment here, but was transferred to Toronto for examination by brain specialists.

He has been in poor health for some time. He also suffered head injuries in a car accident near his home in St. Thomas six months ago.

Melrose

MELROSE — Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John English were: Mr. and Mrs. George Cole and baby, also Mr. Lyns Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hurst spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Goodfellow.

Mr. William Milligan and friend, Toronto, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Milligan.

A successful lawn social was held on the evening of July 4th. Tables were set in the township hall and the program given in Melrose United Church.

The July meeting of the W.M.S. was held in the church on Friday afternoon. Members of the Mission Band assisted with the program.

Friends will regret to hear Mrs. Lorne Wesse is a patient in Belleville Hospital where an appendectomy was performed on Friday night.

Mrs. Arthur English is convalescing at her home, since Wednesday. Mrs. Maracle will be with her for a few weeks.

Miss Evelyn Embury, of Toronto, has been holidaying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Embury. She leaves on Monday to a vacation in Florida and Cuba.

The newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macfarlane, (nee Pascoe) were invited to meet their friends in the township hall on Friday evening where they were presented with a purse of money, from the community, and a hostess chair from the Sunday School and Y.P.U. Both Don and Marjorie graciously expressed their thanks for the many gifts they had previously received as well as the gifts of the evening, and warmly invited their friends to visit them in their home.

Dancing was enjoyed before and after the presentations, the music being supplied by the McAvoy — Rivers orchestra.

Mrs. Pearl Holmes attended the Memorial Service at Melrose on Sunday morning and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. John English.

Mr. and Mrs. J. English and Mr. Arthur English attended the funeral of their cousin, the late Sam Winters, in Napanee, on Monday last.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Allison and family, Carmel, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jeffrey.

First Melrose 'Cub Pack, with their assistant leader, Mr. Theodore Howard, are to be complimented on their recent activities. They have constructed and placed two "Melrose" sign boards, one off the No. 2 Highway on the Shannonville gravel, and the other off the gravel, on the third concession road. Mr. Clarence Hagtrman played a part in the work by donating the materials.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Emma McConnell, who passed away at her home in Port Hope, recently. A former resident of the district, she was well and favorably known by the older families here.

Miss Beatrice Macfarlane, now of Belleville, spent the weekend at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodfellow are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Arnold Reilly, who is attending a summer course in music, in Toronto, has been home for the weekend.

John McLaren celebrated his 12th birthday on Saturday. Some of his chums had supper with him and spent the evening.

BLAST ROCKS LIVERPOOL

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — This seaport city was rocked Monday night by a series of underground explosions. At least 40 manhole covers blew up. Seven persons, including six children, were taken to hospitals for treatment after being struck by debris.

Music Critic Praises Work Of Glenn Gould

NEW YORK (CP)—Glenn Gould 23-year-old Toronto pianist, was "the hero of the occasion" at Monday night's opening of the Stratford Music Festival in the opinion of New York Times music critic Ross Parmenter.

Writing of the first of 15 musical programs held in conjunction with the Shakespeare Festival in the Ontario city, Parmenter says that "no paper it looked world," beginning with Sweelinck, ending with Alban Berg, with a string quartet by the young Canadian coming in the middle.

"But it turned out to be an absorbing evening, largely because Mr. Gould is as gifted a musical thinker as he is a pianist."

Parmenter also praises Gould's conducting of Arnold Schoenberg's Ode to Napoleon Bonaparte from the piano and his program notes.

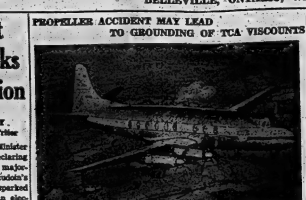
The Times critic calls Gould's quintet "a moving and impressive work."

Strike Losses 4,500,000 Tons Steel in Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Even a quick end to the United States steel strike would leave a gap in iron and steel users in the furch, Iron Age, the weekly metal industry trade magazine, says today.

By the end of this week, strike losses will reach 4,500,000 tons, the magazine says. "Metal-working precisely will feel the effects through the balance of the year," it adds.

Iron Age says consumers "dependent on plates and structurals already see the handwriting on the wall, despite 'comfortable' stocks in the hands of a few."



The federal government is "plainly worried by talk of a six to eight week strike," Iron Age says. "The administration has no intention of letting the strike drag on too long. Washington observers figure six weeks is the absolute limit. And strong pressure will be brought to bear long before then."

PROPELLER ACCIDENT MAY LEAD TO GROUNDING OF TCA VISCOUNTS

Possibility that the TCA Viscounts will be grounded rests with the outcome of an investigation into the loss of a propeller in mid-air on a flight over Flat Rock, Mich. The propeller passed through the fuselage, killing one passenger and injuring four others.

Passing through the fuselage, the propeller almost decapitated Mrs. Robert Lippert, who was in the seat shown her with her 15-month-old son. The propeller went through the fuselage, causing a loss in air pressure.

Mrs. Lippert, shown in her wedding photo, had been returning to her husband's bedside at an eye clinic, after a visit to her home in Kitchener, Ont. (Central Press Canadian).

Federal Mediators Confer With Steel Firms' Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators confer today with officials of the United States steel industry as they continue their attempts to end the country-wide strike which has left 730,000 workers idle.

The government officials arranged a "preliminary" meeting here with a group headed by John A. Stephens, vice-president of U.S. Steel Company and the industry's chief negotiator.

Tuesday they met with officials of the United Steelworkers union whose members went on strike July 1, cutting U.S. steel production by 90 per cent.

The mediators plan to call management and labor together at Pittsburgh Thursday for resumption of negotiations.

Chief mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said after a one-hour discussion with union officials the situation was "grave" but he was confident that both sides would co-operate in new bargaining efforts.

He told reporters he assured the union men a solution would be worked out "only by bargaining." It would "not be imposed by the government" which he said has no magic wand to break the deadlock but will help in whatever way we can."

David J. McDonald, steelworkers president, said the union appreciated Finnegan's assurance the government would not try to force a solution.

"If the steel industry wants to make an agreement it can do it," McDonald said. "So far it has shown no evidence of any desire to do so."

The mediators may be hoping for a compromise settlement of the contract dispute which led to the strike and caused layoffs at coal pitsand other allied industries.

Farmer Values Expropriated Land At $289,520

TORONTO (CP)—A farmer in suburban Scarborough Township Tuesday valued his expropriated land at $289,520, more than three times the amount the Ontario planning board has offered him in compensation.

D. R. Little told the Ontario municipal board in a statement of claim the Ontario government expropriated his 106-acre farm in 1953 for use in the projected Malvern housing development, and has offered him only $90,000.

His claim is regarded as a test for the level of compensation to be paid by Ontario for 1,000 of the 1,600 acres of the development it is sponsoring in conjunction with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Mr. Little's counsel, Andrew Brewin and L. M. Freeman, sub mitted a map Tuesday supporting their client's claim that he could receive much more than $90,000 by selling his land to private speculators. They also presented photos around the farm selling for $2,000 to $3,000 an acre.

The board's decision must be based on the value of the land in 1953.

Accused Put On Probation For Three Years

LEEDS, England (AP)—Bricklayer Harold Mercer, 48, was placed on three years' probation Tuesday after pleading guilty to attempting to kill his cancer-stricken wife and himself with overdoses of sleeping pills.

"Only the circumstances would move anyone to pathos, it must be a case of an offence against the state for a man to take the course you did," the judge told Mercer.

The couple were found unconscious in their home from the married daughters on June 17. There was a note saying, "I am going with your consent, so long —dad."

Mercer was permitted to visit his wife in a hospital last week. She did not know her husband had been in jail awaiting trial. She believed he had been in a hospital all that time. Even the strain of nursing her the last two years in which time she has had several operations.

Both daughters and a son threw their arms around Mercer as he walked out of court.

14,000 Civil Servants Will Get Pay Hike

TORONTO (CP)—Pay increases ranging from $10 to $200 a year will become effective for 14,000 Ontario civil servants Oct. 1, it was announced Tuesday.

Harold Bowen, president of the Ontario Civil Service Association, conferred with Premier Frost on salaries. Mr. Frost told the association president that an extensive revision of the salary scale started this year would be continued until government salaries are brought in line with rates prevailing outside the civil service. Some 7,000 civil servants won't be affected by revisions.

In announcing the pay increases Mr. Frost also said a $19-a-month cost-of-living bonus will be incorporated into the basic salary schedule. This will increase the allowance made for civil servants about to retire.

Some association officers described the conference as having bridged for the time being a growing rift between civil servants and the government. Mr. Frost named the cabinet ministers to a committee to meet the association's joint advisory council on all matters affecting the civil service.

The province, said Mr. Frost, is "in a little better than the best employers in Ontario.

Petition Claims Tannery Polluting Waters of Creek

BRAMPTON (CP)—A committee of property owners Tuesday presented a petition to the Ontario water resources commission saying the tannery is polluting waters of the Black Creek, which meets the Credit River near here.

The 40 signers, all of whom own land along the creek, said the Brampton Leather Board of Action has been discharging waste into the creek for years and it now is "almost entirely useless."

Spokesmen for the tannery said it does not dump waste in the 10-mile creek, which meets the Credit at Georgetown, 10 miles west of here. It was put in settling beds, or sprayed over vacant land.

J. H. Creighton, secretary-treasurer of the company, said some waste was dumped into the river recently by mistake and is the first escaped when a board broke in a dam surrounding the settling beds.

Clement Foster, spokesman for the property owners, said the waste in the water causes a rash on some persons and fish in the creek have died as a result of the pollution.

A counsel brief asked for an extensive survey to determine the future use of the Credit River.

AID FOR YUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE Yugoslavia (AP)—The U.S. government has released $13,000,000 worth of counterpart funds to be used in housing projects in 21 Yugoslav cities, it was announced Tuesday. Counterpart funds were created in 1953-54 from the sale of American economic aid to Yugoslavia.

Marilyn's Hubby Getting Works From Committee

WASHINGTON (CP) — The House Un-American Activities committee on un-American activities Tuesday voted contempt proceedings against playwright Arthur Miller, bridegroom of actress Marilyn Monroe.

Miller refused on June 21 to answer committee questions about persons with whom he attended Communist party writers' meetings in the 1940's.

The committee's action is subject to House consideration. Should the House approve it, the justice department will be asked to prosecute Miller.

Miller married Miss Monroe last month, and they plan to leave for Europe this coming weekend.

Two Rescued After Bailing Out of Plane

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two men who bailed out from their flaming aircraft 8 miles from the pilot were rescued Tuesday night from the barren Northwest Territories more than 1,000 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

Pilot W. A. MacNutt, also of Ottawa, ordered Cox and his navigator, still unidentified, to parachute to safety while he brought the distressed aircraft down in the landing strip at Pelly Lake, 395 miles northwest of Churchill, Man. The plane burst into flames minutes after it touched down but MacNutt escaped.

Eisenhower Administration, Washington Press Corps Again At Loggerheads Over Releases

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Eisenhower administration and the Washington press corps are at loggerheads again.

The administration is coming under editorial attack for the manner in which Attorney-general Herbert Brownell chose last week to disclose that the government plans to file an important anti-trust suit against General Motors Corporation.

Brownell made his announcement on a new television program Press Conference sponsored by a group of newspapers, including one which 16 Washington reporters are invited to interview a key government official.

ATTACK FORMAT

The thing that irks the press is that the official appearing on the program must have what the producers consider a worthwhile news story to break for the first time. This means, the newspaper men say, that government news to which the public is entitled immediate access may be held up to meet the convenience of a commercial sponsor.

To carry this reasoning a bit further, it means the sponsor is given a measure of control over legitimate news which the newspapers feel rightly belongs in the public domain. As one columnist put it, Brownell used his official position "to save an item of vital news, to which all the people were simultaneously entitled, for one company to sell its products . . ."

In an editorial headed "Sponsored News — Making" the New York Times questioned whether it is "proper or ethical to withhold until it can benefit and extend the future audience of a sponsored program, a news announcement of such impact that it figures to make Page 1?"

The Washington Post and Times Herald, entitling its editorial "Sponsored News Leaks," criticized a procedure which "insists that official news be bottled up until the program's producers choose to leak it."

"When the attorney - general delays announcement of an anti-trust action to present it under select conditions on a sponsored program," the Post said, "he is manipulating public property to serve a private interest."

EARLIER CONTROVERSY

This is the second run - in between the administration and the press corps in recent weeks.

The first came with the publication of a book entitled Eisenhower, the Inside Story, written by Robert J. Donovan, the quiet, likable White House correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune.

The furore here was not about the book itself but the circumstances surrounding it. Some months ago a high White House aide, still unidentified, approached Donovan and offered to show him certain files, including the minutes of cabinet meetings, to him if he wished to write a book about Eisenhower. Donovan accepted.

The book, now a No. 1 best-seller in Washington, is well stocked with choice White House secrets. Some columnists complained bitterly that Donovan had been given access to information unavailable to other newspaper men while, up on Capitol Hill, congressmen angrily accused the administration of opening to a reporter confidential records always denied to congressional committees as being privileged documents.

A point which escaped no one was the fact that the book, generally complimentary of the president and his administration, reached the bookstalls only a few weeks before the opening of the campaign for the Nov. 6 general election.

CRITICIZE YOUNG REDS

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The Russian government told the outside world Tuesday of "serious shortcomings" in the activities of the Young Communist (Komsomol) League. Mrs. L. V. Dobrovina, deputy education minister, said the league—which has 18,000,000 members — had produced "resolutions, pomp and fuss" instead of contributing to the economic development of Siberia.

Use Pinhead-Sized Meteors To Lengthen Range of Radio

OTTAWA (CP)—Electron trails of pinhead-sized meteors are being used by Canadian defence scientists to transmit radio messages over distances up to 1,000 miles.

Physicists of the Defence Research Board's radio physics laboratory at nearby Shirley Bay, headed by Dr. P. A. Forsyth of Saskatoon, discovered that the trails of meteors—hundreds enter the earth's atmosphere every hour—can reflect radio waves.

They then put to use electronic computers to detect suitably located meteor trails in the upper atmosphere—about 60 miles up—and to transmit a radio message to a distant ground station by bouncing a radio wave off the trails of charged particles.

Because each meteor can be used only for about a second, transmissions must take place in short bursts at very high speeds. The actual transmission speed is much too high to be received by standard teletype equipment. The incoming information, therefore, is held in storage and printed at normal speed during the intervals between transmission bursts.

The new communication technique, dubbed Janet, has been in process of development for four years. Defence Minister Campney in a statement Tuesday said principles of the project have just been taken off the secret list.

He said successful development of the method will provide Canada's armed forces, and possibly civilian users in the future, with a highly reliable low-power form of communications. Trials are continuing.

TWEED

L.O.L. Holds Annual District Divine Service

TWEED. — The annual divine service for District No. 4 of the Loyal Orange Lodge was held in St. John's United church on Sunday, July 8th at 11 a.m.

The district comprises the lodges of Moneymore, Sulphide and Elliotts. A number of ladies were present from Sulphide lodge.

The Rev. W. K. Pace, minister of the church, had charge of the service and took for his topic "A Religion That Works", taken from John 13:17 "If ye know these things happy are ye if ye do them". He said "This text vindicamental elements in religion. It is a plea for knowledge which issues in activity and brings happiness in its train. He that doeth the will of God shall know the doctrine. The mind, the emotions, and the will should function harmoniously if the best results are to be achieved. But it is better not to know, than to know and not to do."

Mr. Pace pleaded with the Orange fraternity to put their lofty ideal and their exalted teaching into practice and labor for the establishment of a better community and a better world.

Mrs. Provost favored with a beautiful solo, "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow," accompanied on the organ by Laird Meiklejohn.

MADOC JUNCTION

Eggleton WMS, W.A., Two Bands Combine Meetings

MADOC JUNCTION. — On Thursday afternoon a union meeting of the Eggleton WMS and W.A., Eggleton Mission Band and Eggleton Baby Band was held at the church.

The program prepared by the Baby Band leader, Mrs. Muncey Kirkey, and the Mission Band leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, was given by the members of the Mission Band.

The meeting presided over by the Mission Band vice-president, Johnny Madill, opened with soft music played by Joanne Reide, and a poem "Certainly I Will be With Thee", read by Audrey Stapley.

Opening hymn "Tell Me the Stories of Jesus" was sung with Sharon Reide as pianist.

The Scripture lesson taken from Galatians 6:1-10, was read by Johnny Madill.

Mr. Dyson led in prayer.

Beverley Stapley read a lovely poem "He Maketh No Mistake".

The offering was then gathered by Janice Stapley and dedicated with a prayer read by Marilyn Stapley.

Everyone enjoyed the selection played by Allan Reide on his guitar.

The W.A. president, Mrs. William McMullen, took charge for a short business period.

Mrs. Gordon Nelson reported that 13 had paid their W.A. fees.

Roll call showed 13 adults, 22 Mission Band members and two Baby Band members present.

Mrs. McMullen read a letter requesting W.M.S. and W.A. members to sign a petition opposing the sale of beer in stores.

It was decided to hold a special meeting on the afternoon of August 9th, to mark the 45th anniversary of the Eggleton W.M.S.

Committees were appointed (a) to make a list of former members, who are now residing elsewhere; (b) committee to prepare program and arrange for lunch; (c) the secretary to invite a few nearby auxiliaries to meet with the group on that date.

Mrs. Murray Kirkey read a report on Baby Band work. She also stated that she had 17 Baby Band members on her roll and that eight birthday cards had been sent out, so far this year. All were pleased to have the youngest Baby Band members, six months old Sandra Stapley at the meeting.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy reported on the work of the Mission Band and stated that $11 had been sent to the Belleville Presbyterial treasurer. She expressed pleasure for herself and all present at having the new minister and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dyson at the meeting and also welcomed as guests little visitors, who attended the meeting.

Shirley Prest gave an interesting reading, "Antonia's Welcome".

A piano solo by Joanne Reide was greatly appreciated.

A poem "Mary" was read by Ruth Stapley, followed by a splendid reading, "Dick's Garden" given by Paul Bridges.

Diane Prest distributed the Mission Band papers "World Friends".

"Happy Birthday" was sung for Audrey Stapley and Ivan Reide, who each celebrated a birthday this week.

Refreshments of a variety of delicious cookies and orangeade, were then served.

...and more and more of them are discovering that the big Rocket-powered OLDS is well within their reach!

Small wonder more and more young moderns are getting Olds ideas . . . going for Oldsmobile in such a big way! Can you blame them? For, if you're like most folks, you, too, prefer a prestige car . . . especially when it's so pleasing to your eye for value.

And when it comes to value, everything about this big Olds beauty says, "Come BUY!"

. . . a price that fits your budget better than many models of smaller lower-powered cars!

. . . a resale value so high it traditionally tops the field at trade!

. . . a reputation for lively performance that's known and envied—everywhere!

Best of all, this Oldsmobile—with its lighthearted looks—is fun to own. And, with its famous Rocket Engine—a thrill to drive. Ask anyone who has felt the full lift and lilt of the Rocket's high compression action . . . the superb smoothness in answer to a call for power at any speed . . . delivered by new Jetaway Hydra-Matic*.

Above all, every Oldsmobile is a BIG car . . . with the riding comfort, superior stability and safety typical of big car design. Yet, it's as light on its feet . . . as quick to your touch as a sports car.

But why take our word? Come in for a behind-the-wheel trial of a new Oldsmobile. See for yourself how much your present car is worth in trade if you act now! You too, will get Olds ideas . . . and the price of an Oldsmobile makes it easy for them to come true today! What's more, you'll like the quality-minded way we do business. See us now!

*Standard on Ninety-Eight and optional at extra cost on "Super 88" and "88".

YOUR INVESTMENT HOLDS WHEN YOU GO OVER TO OLDS

Oldsmobile has top value today when you buy it . . . top value tomorrow at resale. It's convincing proof that an Olds is hard to beat, but easy to buy!

Supreme Soviet Makes Appeal For Disarmament

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Soviet met today and appealed to the world's parliaments to back Russia's disarmament proposals and the Japanese Parliament's call for an end to nuclear weapon tests.

These items topped a five-point agenda adopted by the lower house of the Soviet Parliament in an 18-minute opening session.

The upper-house Council of Nationalities was to meet this afternoon to approve the agenda.

One item on the work program approved by the Council of Union was consideration of an "appeal" from the Karelo-Finnish Constituent Republic to dissolve itself and be incorporated in the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic, biggest of the Soviet republics.

No advance notice was given of the move to blanket the Karelo-Finnish Republic into the Russian Republic. It was formed in 1940 of the Karelian Soviet Republic, which bordered on Finland, and most of the territory Finland ceded to the Soviet Union after the Soviet-Finnish war.

Good Wild Duck Crop in Sight In West Canada

Broods are "popping like popcorn" throughout the Canadian prairie waterfowl region with late nesters and re-nesters contributing to a high now approaching its peak. Average size of broods is exceeding the long term average of six and a good duck crop is in sight.

This bright picture of waterfowl nesting is painted in the July issue of the Ducks Unlimited "Duckological," prepared by Chief Naturalist Bert W. Cartwright. He states that "if the weather behaves from now on, a duck crop comparable to last year's excellent outturn is assured."

The report reveals that heavy rainfall has temporarily erased the threat of drought in southern Alberta and western Saskatchewan. It mentions scattered hail storms in Saskatchewan and Manitoba and some flooding from excessive rain in Manitoba's important potholo area, but does not envision this seriously affecting the overall duck crop.

Cartwright also points up the fact that Canada Geese have made an excellent showing, particularly in southern Alberta where broods of five to seven have been observed. The big geese continue to spread and increase on D.U. projects in the Brooks and Hanna districts of Alberta and have also become re-established as breeding species on numerous projects in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Ducks Unlimited biologists are now running brood count surveys in co-operation with Canadian and U.S. Wildlife Service and provincial game department staffs. D.U. key-men will be in action about the middle of the month, Cartwright concludes, "by the end of the month we should have a comprehensive picture of the degree of success of the current breeding season."

CRITICALLY HURT

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Annie Walker, 64, was critically injured today when she ran suddenly from the sidewalk and was hit by a car.

Driver of the car involved, Bruce May, said he did not see the woman in time to stop.

Mrs. Walker was unconscious on arrival at hospital.

SEARCH HALTED

MONTREAL (CP) — A RCAF spokesman said today poor flying weather over Labrador has temporarily halted the search for a single-engine Norseman aircraft missing since Sunday.

The plane, owned and operated by Wheeler Airlines of St. Jovite, Que., is believed to have been forced down in Labrador bushland.

Maracle Blanks Frankford 3-0 In Point Win

FRANKFORD (Special) — Pat Maracle continued to help the Belleville and District softball league batters last night as he blanked the league-leading Pot Anne Tobacconists to a 3-0 shutout over the Merchants here under the lights.

Maracle stopped Frankford on four safeties, one in each of the first four frames as a single, a double and two in the fourth. He added a third marker in the sixth, the only earned run of the game, off Bob Hunter.

Errors accounted for the Cement-men's two lethal blows. A base hit by Doug Hull opened the inning but he went out a second with a shortstop safe on fielder's choice. Pete Green followed with a single to right which Bill Hunter fumbled. The lead runner came home with Elliott safe on Dave's error, while Hunter's throw of Kinzer's ground-ball walking any a one.

Both pitchers issued a ball for ey Merchants, surrendering eight assorted safeties over the route. Hunter was credited with five strikeouts while leaving four free passes behind the aisle in the third.

Shortstop Doug Bell paced the winner's attack with a triple and single. Jack Wade and Pete Green collected a brace of singles while Pat Maracle and Dave Jones split safeties.

Ross Darbo had the only extra-base hit for Frankford, a lead-off double in the opening frame. Three batters were split among Bob Hunter, Cliff Gilmour and Bill Rankin. One game is scheduled in the league tonight when Madoc will host to Frankford under the lights at 8:45 p.m.

Umpires — Field: Amos J. Ward-well, D. Jones, D. Hull, J. Batch-elor, P. Green, J. Wade, Elliott, P. Hinson, Maracle.

Frankford: Darbo, Cosgrove, Lane, Wickens, Rankin, Hunter, R. Jones, Stolker, G. Gilmour, C. Gilmour.

Umpires — Carson and Williams.

Oshawa Hosts Ontario Amateur Golf Tourney

OSHAWA (CP)—Oshawa played host to the Ontario amateur golf championships today for the first time in the tournament's 34-year history.

Most of the province's leading amateurs were among the field of 112 scheduled to tee off on the first 18 holes of the 72-hole tournament. The event winds up Saturday.

In tune-ups three golfers gave indications there may be some close battles between 73-par scores over the 6,190-yard course. Three players scored a hole-in-one.

Bob Peszack of Toronto Scarboro earned his tee shot Monday on the 130-yard ninth hole. He used a nine iron. Tuesday, on the 180-yard 12th, Pete Reinholdt of Toronto Summit and Bill McNaughton of Kitchener Westmount each picked up a hole-in-one.

Reinholdt used a four iron, McNaughton a three.

3 FORMER WINNERS

At least five former winners were in the running. Jack Nash of London Hunt, winner in 1939, 1942 and 1946, was playing in his 17th Ontario Amateur.

The others were Al C. (Sonny) Adams of Scarboro, 1936; Bruce Bradley of Oshawa, 1941; Frank Shirk of Westmount, 1954; and defending champion Gerry Magee of Lambton.

Magee was one of three Ontario golfers in the Canada Cup team members who were entered. Moe Norman of Kitchener and Bill Moriand of North Bay were the other two. Nick Weslock, the team's fourth man, is on business in Detroit.

Bedard Leads Quebec Tennis

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Bedard the Davis Cup star from Sherbrooke, Que., breezed through three opponents Tuesday to lead a list of seeded players into the fourth round of the men's singles in the Quebec open tennis championships.

Bedard started off with a first-round 6-0, 6-1 victory over Maurice Leclerc of Montreal. He then whipped Eric Rothbrock of Montreal, 6-0, 6-0, and defeated Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., 6-1, 6-1 in the third round.

Tuesday's play was highlighted by a match in which veteran Brendan Macken of Montreal, a former Davis Cupper, defeated young Don Platt of Toronto, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3 in the third round.

Tournament officials found room for a fourth-round match. Jim Bentley of Toronto defeated Rolland Godin of Montreal 6-0, 8-6 to become the first player to enter the quarter-finals, which get under way today.

Win Belvedere Trophy at Golf Club

Playing consistently good golf, Mrs. Alex. Ingram and John Rywack won the Belvedere Trophy for mixed foursomes at the Bay of Quinte Country Club. Actually Mrs. Ingram and Rywack were tied for top honors with Mrs. R. J. Graham and Charles Wilson but were awarded the trophy for shooting the best score on the back nine.

Winning the second low net prize was Alex. Ingram and Mrs. Joy Bowerman with third low net going to Mrs. Ralph Ketcheson and G. A. Bradford.

A large field took part in the competition.

LORDS SIGN TWO

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Signing of their first Canadian talent was announced Tuesday by the London Lords, new entry in the senior OHFU. They are Don Thayer and Al Finch, who played defensive tackle for the past three seasons with Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen.

The K-W executive gave the Lords permission to dicker with five players, all district talent, in a sporting gesture to help London field a competitive team.

Lee Fogolin Stamps Coach

CALGARY (CP)—Lee Fogolin, a standout defensive player for the last eight years with both Detroit and Chicago of the National Hockey League, has been signed as coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League. He will succeed Frank Currie, recently appointed manager of hockey for the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Board which sponsors the club.

The 30 - year - old Fogolin will serve as playing coach. He was chosen from six applicants for the position and was made available to Calgary by Chicago Black Hawks, with whom he has played for the last five years.

A native of Fort William, he played his last amateur hockey with the junior Galt Red Wings in Ontario and turned professional with Detroit Red Wings in the 1947-48 season. He was traded to Chicago in 1950-51.

JAR BLEW UP

OAKVILLE (CP) — Richard Snyder, 13, of Trafalgar Township in whose face a jar of gunpowder exploded Monday, was reported in fair condition in hospital. Richard's mother said her son and David Houghton, 13, were playing in an empty barn when they found the jar and set it off in some way.

Minor Baseball

Two outstanding pitching performances by Gordie Vaughan and Jackie Elliott highlighted the midget baseball games played last evening.

Gord Vaughan fired a one-hitter as Vaughan's remained in a tie for first with an 8-0 win over Elliott Motors. Brennan was the catcher while Ogilvie and Latchford formed the losing battery.

Jack Elliott tossed a neat two-hitter for Stewart-Warner as they downed Williams 6-0 to hang on to their half of first place. Coe was the receiver.

Brant and Kerruish was the losing battery, giving up nine hits. Dick Hurst with two doubles and Keith Dickey with a pair of singles led Stewart-Warner.

Gerow and Moon managed singles off Elliott's slants.

OPTION AA STAR

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City As Tuesday announced the optioning of utility infielder Rance Pless to Richmond of the International League.

Pless, the American Association's batting champion and most valuable player at Minneapolis last season, has been used sparingly by the last-place Athletics this season. He has a .262 batting average.

Madoc Defeats Trenton 5-4 For First Win

Madoc's entry in the Belleville and District Softball League racked up their initial win of the season last night, a 5-4 decision over Trenton Legion Juniors in Trenton.

This was the Madoc crew's twelfth game and puts them close to the Juniors who have won two and lost nine.

The winners jumped into a 3-0 lead in the top of the third frame but Trenton picked up single markers in the third, fifth and sixth to tie the score. Madoc plated the deciding runs in the eighth while the losers completed the scoring with one in the ninth.

Wayne Shaw was on the hill all the way for Madoc. He was tagged for 13 hits but scattered them throughout, Shaw whiffed five while walking but three.

G. Maroney fired the first seven innings pitching for Trenton and was charged with the loss. He was relieved by Ron Wannamaker in the 8th. Maroney gave up seven hits between them, Maroney fanning six and walking two while Wannamaker struck out one and passed none.

Williams singled and Carswell was safe on an error in the third for one run. Nickle followed with a base hit and Clare Hagerman made it 3-0 with a double.

Madoc netted the winning runs without the benefit of a hit as Maroney lost his control. He walked one, hit the next batter and promptly walked three more to force in two runs, bringing on Wannamaker.

Bob Bateman and Williams combined to pace the Madoc batters, each with a brace of singles. Hagerman added a double while Shaw and Nickle had singles.

Mel Kennedy topped Trenton with a double and two singles, as Guy Austin banged a two-bagger and a single. Don Willman and Bob Burns each had two singles with Doug Alexander doubling. Singles went to D. Cole, Drake and H. Cole.

Batteries—Madoc: Shaw and Deville. Trenton: Maroney, Wannamaker (8), and Forsyth.

Umpires: S. Ellis and C. Ellis. Scorer: Don Harvey.

Senate Approves Bill to Aid Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate, called back a week early from an 18-day recess, Tuesday night gave approval in principle to government legislation by which the provinces will get federal help to meet the costs of aiding their unemployed.

About 30 of the 90 senators were in their seats when the upper house met.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader, explained the unemployment relief legislation which already has been passed by the Commons.

It calls for a federal - payment of up to 50 per cent of relief costs for unemployment above .45 per cent of any province's population.

Senator Macdonald said the legislation does not indicate the government fears a weakening in the employment situation. Employment was at a higher level than last year.

The legislation, resulting from federal - provincial negotiations, had settled the long argument as to who was responsible for helping unemployed.

Senator John T. Hackett (PC—Quebec) criticized the legislation saying it smacks of socialism and of centralization. Referring to the individual which makes him dependent on the federal government.

ANOTHER CARPENTER!

Back in the early twenties a dapper, debonair Frenchman ormed the Atlantic pond in search of honor, glory and Uncle Sam's greenbacks.

EDOUARD CARPENTIER

In Paris he was the darling of the demoiselles, the madamoiselles, the boulevardiers, the Montmartrians, in fact anything that sang the Marseillaise, whenever the Tricolor was raised. Even the French dressing pinked when his name was mentioned.

He was Georges Carpentier, idol of France's boxing scene who packed Ainse in one fist and Lorraine in the other. Handsome, blonde, the "Orchid Boy" of La France, as he was dubbed, made the newsprint noises Idols look like Stan Musial barbecued over coals. All this—and he could fight, too.

He won the European light-heavyweight title and later semi Kingfish Levinsky bye-bye in four rounds to claim the world title in this class. He entered the heavyweight ranks and set his sights on the current champion, one named Jack Dempsey.

Carpentier caused a furore in the United States. The pub, went wonky over this French Apollo and practically en masse they backed Georges to whale the, daylight out of the fearful Manassa Mauler. They had to wait two years for the bout, Carpentier put all he had in one punch that scarcely jolted the Dempsey frame—then the champion went to work. It was all over in a few minutes.

Now comes another Carpentier. He, too, is a handsome young fellow who looks like the "After taking your course" picture in a body-building ad. And unless the French have changed since we watched "Madamoiselle from Armentieres" and Arrez Aller with a keen interest of the bistros, the boulevards and any place that French sportsmen congregation for their vin rouge or just plain biere.

He is not a giant in terms of the mat pachyderms. He stands but five feet-nine and 57 years of age. His perfectly-proportioned body is a gymnast's dream. And it is packed with muscular dynamite. Movies strikes like a coiled rattler when you least expect it. His physique seems to be a compression of coiled springs and when he pushes the power-steering button there is a flashing whirl of legs and arms that has the opposition in a daze. He can flip three handsprings so fast he resembles a white spinning mass of flesh.

Edouard Carpentier has taken Toronto and other centres in which he has wrestled by storm. He was so sensational in his first bout in Toronto that the fooman, one of the deeper-hued villains of the mat, actually congratulated him after defeat.

The Gallic zeal with the gymnast body and Olympic background arrived in Montreal recently to spend the summer this side of the Atlantic. He has three years of professional grappling behind him.

Also behind him is an athletic record that is impressive. He was a member of the French gymnast team at the Olympics and later went on to win the world's championship (1950) at the Swiss Bale.

He became a body-building expert through the medium of weight-lifting and the resulting combination of physical fitness and muscle control conditioned him for the pro wrestling ranks. He won the junior heavyweight championship of Europe during his first year as a pro.

He was discovered and brought here by Frank Tunney, and Eddie Quinn, Toronto and Montreal wrestling impresarios who went over to Europe last year. He was the best thing they saw while on their talent hunt there.

One of Carpentier's features is his unpredictableness. He will be locked in a behind-the-back arm-lock when suddenly he will leap and whirl high in the air while an amazed opposition stands there amazed. He is as slippery as a greased eel, and faster than anything ever seen here in a wrestling ring.

But he meets a worthy foeman in that hard rock from down under, Fred Atkins, one of the best of the old school. It should be a battle between terrific speed and agility and rough, tough, muscle-crushing brawn.

CHANGE OF DIET

Those man-eatin' muskies are at it again. Two of them have stripped morsels from the fetlocks of foot-dunking males—and lived to tell about it. Now from near Ottawa comes the yarn of a femme muskie who liked her corn on the foot.

A prominent Rytown lady with her toenails garbed in Chinese red, twiddled her tootsies in the river. Suddenly she shrieked and jerked her feet from the water.

It appears a passing muskie, probably through jealousy, took a playful nip at the red-tipped pinkies. The next day the fish returned, this time with its fin-tips colored red. Tut, tut, these females.

Then there's the story of the muskies in the LaVase River up North Bay way. This happened a long time ago when men drew from the hip and the gals helped 'em drink it.

The boys used to go to the river wearing lumberjack boots with spiked soles, jump on the back of a passing muskie and ride it down to the mouth of the river. The fish would kick up a bit but the boys used to steer them where they wanted by means of legging pevvie.

Now you tell one, Chick Appell.

Three Get Six Hits, Three Runs In Homer-Featured Classic; Cards' Boyer Nats' Sparkplug

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1956 all-star game, won by the National League Tuesday 7-3, furnished proof it is no accident Cincinnati Redlegs are in first place in their circuit.

Furthermore, it is the consensus of Brooklyn manager Walter Alston, Cincinnati's own pilot Birdie Tebbetts, a majority of the writers and the 30,843 spectators who attended the game that the Redlegs are going to be tougher than ever from now on.

Alston, who directed the winning National League all-stars, was generous in his praise of the six Cincinnati players in action, five in the starting lineup.

Noting that three of them—first baseman Ted Kluszewski, shortstop Roy McMillan and second baseman Johnny Temple—accounted for one the National's 11 hits, scoring three runs and driving in two more, Alston said most meaningfully:

"Their performance here should help them the rest of the season."

HE GRINNED

Tebbetts, who was the Nationals' first base coach, grinned broadly when asked how about his hirelings' showing.

He had a right to. Kluszewski had two doubles in two times at bat and drove in a run. Temple had two hits, two runs and a stolen base and McMillan had two singles. In addition, Temple and McMillan made the fine double play of the game to snuff out the American League uprising.

"I'm proud of my guys," Birdie said. "A lot of those guys snitched when all those extra-base hits were voted to the all-stars. After what they've done, I don't have to apologize to anybody. This was a tremendous ball club player. It should give them the confidence they need for the second half of the season."

PLAYED THROUGHOUT

Except for third baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals, one of the stars of the game, only McMillan and Temple played throughout for the Nationals. Alston employed 17 players as compared with 21 used by Casey Stengel of the Americans.

Tebbetts emphasized the tremendous power the Nationals had in reserve, saying he had more than 100 homers sitting on the bench.

He was referring to such unused players as Ernie Banks, Ed Mathews, Stan Lopata and Junior Gilliam who among them had hit 104 home runs last year.

As Alston saw it, key hit in the game that produced the National League victory in the last seven games and their 10th in the series of 23, was the homer by Willie Mays, a bench warmer until the fourth inning.

The National held a slim 1-0 lead when Mays came up to bat for Gus Bell after Boyer had slashed the second of his three straight singles.

Lefthander Whitey Ford of the Yankees was on the mound, having replaced starter Billy Pierce of the White Sox at the beginning of the inning. Pierce and Bob Friend had waged a fine pitching duel for three innings, Billy yielding the only hit that far in the third on a walk to Temple, Friend's sacrifice and Temple's fine single to center.

Mays missed the first pitch, then walloped a 400-foot home run halfway up the left-center field bleachers at Griffith Stadium to give the Nationals a 2-0 lead. The Americans never caught up, although Ted Williams' two-run circuit blow in the sixth immediately followed by Mickey Mantle's four-bagger blow, cut the winners' margin to 5-3. The Nationals had tallied single runs in the fifth and sixth.

"In addition to Mays' hit," Alston said, "I'd say Boyer's fine play at third and the strong pitching throughout were the key factors in our victory. Ford pitched anything away from the other fellows. They all played splendidly."

MUSIAL DID WELL

One of the "other fellows" was Stan Musial, who accounted for the sixth run with a seventh-inning homer. His fifth in 13 all-star games.

Mantle, obviously hampered by the cast on his injured right knee, played the entire game and reported no ill effects. He had four chances at all in centre field and struck out three times. His homer, however, was a line shot that landed in the left field bleachers in nothing flat. Williams' that was a towering 400-foot drive that reached Mr. Shibpen in right centre. Ted also went hitless in his other three times at bat.

Solomons Will 'Jack Up' Canada Boxing

By KEN METHERALL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Britain's Mr. Boxing flies across the Atlantic Thursday with a briefcase bulging with plans to jazz up the fight business in Canada.

"I don't think Canada has enough boxing promotions at present," says Jack Solomons, the ebullient Cockney fighter whose instinct for matchmaking has made him Britain's leading fight promoter.

"I'm going to see if I can't do something about it."

Officially, Solomons is off to Canada to handle the promotional end of the July 23 heavyweight title fight between Archie Moore of the United States and James J. Parker of Barrie, Ont.

But, not bashful, he already has several additional irons in the fire.

"I just need a little encouragement and I'll be in the fight business in Canada with both feet," Solomons said.

"There seem to be a lot of good fighters in Canada—fellows like Gordon Wallace and Pat Supple. They just need a little better chance to show their stuff."

Solomons said he plans to spend several days in Toronto and Montreal investigating the possibility of organizing weekly "talent spotting" boxing cards.

"The most important thing in boxing is to encourage and hold the small promoters so that boxers can be discovered and brought along."

Solomons said that providing weekly bouts could be arranged, he would seriously consider lending his support, and possibly promote personally, large major bouts about once a month.

Franchise Bids For Detroit Turned Down

DETROIT (AP)—Four bids for the franchise of Detroit Tigers Baseball Club have been turned over to the president of the American League and the baseball commissioner. It was reported a $5,180,000 bid from Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto was included in the offers.

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Jr. Washington for the all-star game, consulted with AL president Will Harridge and commissioner Ford Frick Monday night.

All four bids were said to be $5,000,000 and over.

Bill Veeck, former owner of Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns, was reported to have bid $5,250,000 for the Detroit franchise.

Fred Knorr of Detroit and John Fetzer of Kalamazoo, Mich., radio executives, $5,000,000.

Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, $5,180,000.

Robert Goldstein, Hollywood movie producer, $5,050,000.

Briggs declined to comment on the bids. After they are cleared by baseball officials, the trustees of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs will select the group that will take control of the Tigers and Briggs Stadium by Oct. 1.

Dutchies Whip Red Sox 5-2

Kitchener (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen defeated the second-place Brantford Red Sox 5-2 Monday night in a Senior Intercounty Baseball League game.

The victory moved Dutchmen into a third-place tie with Oshawa Motors.

Southpaw Bob Sealby went the route, scattering six Brantford hits, including a second-inning home run by outfielder Bill Johnson. Paul Zavarskas was the losing pitcher.

British Open 'Cold-Blooded' Caddy Tourneys Here Better

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOSCHATEL, Que. (CP)—Stan Leonard Tuesday compared the famed British Open with a Van scorned caddies tournament and gave the latter even the nod for thrills and organization.

The Lachute, Que., golf professional let his hair down to explain why he and Lloyd Mangrum, Al Balding cut short a European trip before returning.

Leonard, formerly of Vancouver's Marine Drive, arrived back Saturday and Balding the next day. Both will be firing Thursday in the $36,000 Open over 6,346 course.

The pair opened in the Canada Cup, fading after a brilliant start. They finished well down in the Open and terminated commitments to play on a Commonwealth team against the U.S. Ryder Cup team.

BITS BETTER OPEN

"In an interview, Leonard called the British Open "cold blooded" and the organizers, the Royal and Ancient Club, "antiquated."

He got more kick out of a caddies' tournament in Vancouver as a kid—"and it was better organized."

"I was more than disappointed with the lack of facilities. At Hoylake for example, the golf club didn't serve any meals in the dining — for the brass, competitors or anybody. . . . Cold food or sandwiches could be bought.

"I felt there should have been hot meals available, particularly in the damp, cold weather. After all, the competitors put on the show and it's my opinion they should be looked after better.

NEW TO THESE

"Of course, we had never been there before. Possibly those who have gone for the past year or two know about making arrangements for accommodations. We didn't know what we were going to run into."

Leonard said arrangements at Westworth for the Canada Cup tournament were perfect.

So many little things kept building up that he and Balding decided to come home. He said he felt Balding would express the same general views as himself.

He thought things had been arranged for them to play in the French Open but heard that no more, players could be taken. A sporting goods man made special arrangements for Leonard and Balding to see a French Federation official. "The Canadian golfers waited two hours but the official didn't show up for the appointment.

"Three months ago Balding and I were asked to play on the Commonwealth team and we agreed to —for only 20-21 at Sandwich. Although we were committed . . . we would have to play much more than two weeks. We didn't think this a good business deal. . . ."

Slipping Royals Lose to Red Wings 2-1

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal's once sturdy lead in the International League has faded away to one game, but not through any fault of the pitching staff.

Frank White gave Rochester's Red Wings only three hits in his six innings on the mound, as relievers Bobby Walz and Glen Mitchen notched the final three frames Tuesday night, but the Royals collected a back up the good hurling and lost 2-1.

It was the seventh defeat in eight starts for Montreal, now only 10 percentage points ahead of Toronto, made idle by rain at Buffalo.

Columbus Jets held off Richmond's bid for a share of fifth place by beating the Virginians 6-5 in 10 innings on a base-loaded walk. Havana moved into a sixth place tie with Richmond by belting fourth-place Miami 6-1.

GAVE AN EDGE

Tom Burgess' two-run homer in the sixth inning after White had walked leadoff man Ed Kasko, gave the Red Wings their edge over Montreal, snapping a seven-game losing streak and moving them to within 3½ games of the lead. The defeat left White with a 7-6 record.

Bob Blaylock was the winner, setting down the Royals on six hits for his eighth victory in 12 decisions. His one bad inning was the sixth, when Montreal had singles by Jim Williams, Bobby Wilson and Clyde Parris to get one run home. But Blaylock got Earl York on a popup to end the rally.

Columbus trailed the Vees 3-0 after four frames, but battled back with three uncarned runs in the seventh for a 5-3 edge before Richmond sent it into overtime with three in the seventh.

The Sugar Kings had four-hit pitching from Jerry Lane while laying the wood to Miami ace Don Cardwell for 10 of their 13 hits.

Italian Horse Hot Favorite In Rich Race

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — An invader from Italy runs next week in Britain's richest horse race, and his arrival is awaited with a palpitating respect.

Ribot, an unbeaten four-year-old colt from Dormello Stud on the shores of Lake Maggiore, comes from Milan to contest the $25,000 King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes. The race, to be run at Ascot July 31, usually determines the unofficial European champion.

So fearsome is Ribot's reputation, however, that the best horses have gone into hiding. The original entry list has shrunk to about a dozen, and the bookmakers have made the Italian colt an odds-on chance to win the 1½-mile event.

Ribot is rated perhaps the best horse produced by Italy since the great Nearco, now one of Europe's leading sires. By Tenerani out of the speedy but temperamental mare Romanella, Ribot has won his 10 races to date by margins ranging from a head to a crushing 12 lengths.

BY THREE LENGTHS

He won last year's Prix de l'Arc de Triumphe in Paris by three lengths, but probably his outstanding performance came at Milan in the Premio del Jockey Club when he strolled home by 12 lengths, with the good French horses, Cordova II and Savoyard, among the also-ons.

Ribot is owned by Donna Lydia Tesio and the Marchese Incisa della Rocchetta, co-proprietors of the Dormelo Stud. Donna Lydia Tesio, whose late husband Federico Tesio was long one of the great names of Italian racing, is understood to have turned down a "blank cheque" offer for Ribot from United States racing interests.

How good is this phenomenal Ribot? Desmond McGowan, Rome correspondent of the British publication Sporting Life, states the case categorically.

"I consider Ribot to be the greatest certainty since the days of Eclipse," he writes, "and all who can get to Ascot, to do so. You will never see Ribot's like again."

HAMILTON (CP)—Backfielder Dave West, who spent the last six years in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, was signed Tuesday by Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four.

TiCat general-manager Jake Gaudaur announced the signing of the 27-year-old native of Kenora, West, who weighs 174 pounds, started with Calgary Stampeders in 1950, played with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1953 and then went to Edmonton Eskimos.

Fine Field, Plenty Hit

Ed Boyer's Sensational Play Highlight of All-Star Game

By GEORGE BOWEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the all-star game Tuesday was finished, all those Cincinnati Reds and such sluggers as Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle.

After Tuesday's game, the two rival managers talked about the old, Ken Boyer.

The half-dozen Reds, Musial, Mantle and Williams came through in style, but the St. Louis third baseman was as much a star as any of them in his first time in the classic.

Manager Walt Alston of the victorious (7-3) Nationals said if he had to single out a player as his best, it would be Boyer.

The 25-year-old major league sophomore from Berkeley, Mo., also evoked words of praise from rival manager Casey Stengel of the Americans.

"Very good boy, very good," declared Stengel, who is noted for not mentioning names. "That third base fellow cut us out of a rally or two."

Stengel meant that Boyer's fielding stopped the Americans three times before they could get going.

On the first play of the game, Boyer speared a liner off the bat of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn and in the fifth he robbed Kuenn again by knocking down a hard drive and tossing to first.

In the seventh, Cincinnati batter Ray Boone of Detroit laced one right down the third-base line but Boyer caught it to a year of surprise from the stands.

While his defence was a high-light, Boyer also justified Alston's confidence in giving him the cleanup batting spot over such veterans as the Cardinals' Musial, Gus Bell of Cincinnati and Dale Long of Pittsburgh.

Boyer hit three straight singles and in the fifth batted in what turned out to be the winning run. That just about finished any sophomore jinx bothering Boyer this year, since he had gone into the game batting .331.

World's Top Pros in Field For Annual Open Tournament

By CHARLES BABIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOSCHATEL, Que. (CP) — A field of 125, including a host of the world's top pros, tees off Thursday in the fourth annual $36,000 Open golf tournament. First prize money is $5,000.

The three former champions will seek to repeat. They are Doug Ford of Missouri, N.Y., who won the first tournament in 1953, Bud Holscher—of Pasadena, Calif., the 1954 winner; and defending champion Gene Littler of San Diego, Calif.

The 72-hole event will also feature Arnold Palmer, the 1955 Canadian Open king, is in along with a list of stars including Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., Tommy Bolt of Houston, Texas, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Texas, Jimmy Demaret of Alamesha Lake, N.Y., Jackie Burke, Jr., Alamesha Lake, this year's Masters champion, Sam Snead, overwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, who dropped out of the Open crown in a playoff with Sanders last Sunday.

LEONARD AND BALDING

Returning to Canadian fairways after competing in the British Open are homebred stars Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., and Balding of Toronto.

Host pro Rudy Hiot, one of the numerous golfing Huots, predicted a four-round score of 274-27 on the par-72 course would be enough to win. Pat Fletcher of Montreal, 1950 Canadian Open champion, said the winner would have to do it in 272 strokes.

The National Hockey League golf championship, an annual feature of the tournament, brings together today star centre Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens, Marcel Pronovost of Detroit Red Wings, Jean-Guy Gendron of New York Rangers and Jim Morrison of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The puck stars played individually this year. In previous tournaments, they had competed as teams.

Generally the players agreed the course is in good shape. Al Besselink of Groningen's, N.Y., went as far as to say "The course is wide open. There's just no trouble you can get into."

Senior Club Gives Up Hockey Franchise

Unless the Belleville Arena Commission or another person or organization can step up the franchise there will be no senior hockey in Belleville this winter.

The Belleville Senior Hockey Club executives at a meeting last night decided to turn back the franchise to the commission after a year of operation.

The executive decided it would cease all hockey operations due to the fact no senior hockey is available and that $15,000 would be needed for next year's operations to operate a senior "A" hockey club.

The senior franchise was taken over from the arena commission in 1955-56 on a year's basis of operation.

PRAISES SPORTS

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope has stressed the virtues to be gained from sports.

In a weekend address to a visiting Spanish soccer team, the pontiff said sports helps an individual acquire assiduity, sacrifice, interior preparation, humility in receiving and assimilating lessons and abstinence.

In addition, he said, "superiority of spirit is required to be a good loser and much charity to be a good winner."

All-Star Notes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although the National League has been boasted more home run power than top to bottom, the American League's fabulous slugging pair—Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle —figured in the game's most vital big league batting practice thrills.

Williams, the Boston splitter, lofted one of Washington left-hander Chuck Stobbs' pitches over the 31-foot right field wall about 370 feet from the plate.

Mantle installed the anxious fans for a moment, laying down bunts instead of swinging for the fences. When he did swing away, the Yankees' centre fielder smashed one over the beer sign topping the scoreboard in right field. The blast was 42 feet and Mantle's blow cleared it some 380 feet from home.

Griffith Stadium is the smallest in the majors, and Washington's management had a thankless job rejecting thousands who simply couldn't be jammed into the park. More than 500 baseball addicts had swarmed to the gate 5½ hours before the start.

Alston's first strategem was a beaut. With the Cards' Ken Boyer on base via a single in the fourth, Alston pulled Cincinnati slugger Gus Bell. Pinchhitter Willie Mays then made Alston look good with a 400-foot homer halfway up the bleachers in left-centre.

Mantle, his sprained right knee wrapped tightly in a brace, showed none of his usual speed afoot. He put on a loud, though not a nothing slow about his bat, however. It swished through the air like a whip—and stirred only air on his first two trips. He hit a homer his fifth trip but whiffed again on the fourth.

FIND AERIAL BOMB

WINDSOR (CP) — A 25-pound live aerial bomb, found Monday in the attic of a house here, was dumped into Lake St. Clair Tuesday by RCAF officers. The bomb was discovered when Steve Jesicsky went to inspect a home he had bought.

When it comes to the short, crisp pitch shots, or run-ups, you've got to hold the club with a good, firm finger grip—and hold it low on the club grip. A strong grip on these shots is fatal. There must be automatic cocking of the wrists in the backswing of these short approaches. Keep your wrists fully, even though you don't have your swing going any farther back than horizontal. That very positive finger grip will not stiffen your hand action. Have the feeling that your left shoulder is moving freely in the shot and you will protect yourself against chopping or scooping at the ball.

Expect Show Press Conference Will Again Make the Headlines

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—When Marshall Rountree thought up the idea of a Press Conference, she said she is going to make news. She certainly has.

Just who will be her guest on the weekly NBC-TV program this evening (Wednesday at 10:30 EDT) is unknown at this writing. But Acting Miss Rountree knows if she's not telling.

Last week Miss Rountree brought before the cameras of her commercially sponsored program Atty.-Gen. General Herbert Brownell, who forthwith announced that the government would file an anti-trust suit against General Motors, the world's largest manufacturing concern.

To every newspaper man in the U.S. as well as to the 16 assembled by Miss Rountree to question Brownell, this was front-page news. Although Miss Rountree reluctantly was determined to plug any leaks of her program's big news before it was made on the air, Associated Press reporter Charles Mercer broke the news a half hour before the program began.

EDITORS ANNOYED

Well, Press Conference made the front pages all right. But it's doubtful if Miss Rountree expected to make the editorial pages. She did, however. Editorials declared that a commercially sponsored TV show is not the place to break important government news.

It's probable that a majority of Press Conference viewers last week failed to realize the importance or implications of what they'd heard until they read the news in their papers. The wave of reporters' questions fired at Brownell on a multitude of questions engulfed the one piece of hard news dropped.

TAKES HUNT GOLF

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Alice Willson of London Sunningdale Tuesday shot a one over women's par of 81 to win the annual London Hunt Club's invitation golf tourney.

It was the best course score ever posted by an area woman. Canada's Marlene Stewart once did the layout in 74, and a few years back Ada McKenzie shot an 81.

Close to 80 Western Ontario golfers took part in the event, despite threatening weather. Mrs. Frank Little of the home club had one of her best rounds, an 87, to take the second-low gross. L. Grant of St. Thomas, who shot a 97 gross, took the low net prize.

Conservative bidding is not a bad fault for players who are inefficient handlers of difficult problems. Nor does it hurt some skilful players in a number of impossible contracts.

However, to skilful players even a faint hint of a slam is a strong challenge. An unusual play holds no fear for them. So, when close to a slam their conservatism goes out on vacation.

There was the deal you see here:

NORTH
♠K Q 10 5
♣A 8 7 6 5 3

WEST
♥K 9 8 6
♦J 9 7 4 3

EAST
♦10 6 5
♣K J 10 2

SOUTH
♥A 5 3 2
♦A Q
♣Q 9

The bidding went like this:

South	North
1 Spade	3 Clubs
3 No-Trump	5 Spades
6 Spades	Pass

From the moment south opens the bidding, north can see no less than 12 tricks in the pair. To make a slam in spades, therefore, it is only a matter of learning if they have enough aces and kings.

A player with two aces and a king (or better) gets aces and kings info from partner by bidding four no-trump. The convention replies will reveal how many of each the partner holds.

Without two aces and a king, wise players avoid using the four no-trump asker. Instead, they bid five in the agreed major trump suit. This asks partner to go six if he has two aces.

North did it here. He said he could control first round of only one suit. Partner stops if he has one ace, since if he has both two aces. Small slam makes with west's opening lead of the singleton club.

Some misguided microbes have heard that experts bid four no-trump without waiting for two aces and a king. So many palookas grasp at this rumor as an excuse for barring info trouble.

A dub should careful be not to play with TNT.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma started to shake her head to herself, saying to pop, Really, William, I mean actually, the impertinent self centered attitude of city life is positively shocking when you come to think of it.

I wouldn't mind moving into the country if I wasn't bewildered by the sight of chickins when I see them in large crowds, pop said, and ma said, I'm serious, William. In a city of this size I believe you could be prosecuted on the sidewalk without anybody pausing to see what was wrong. People would just calmly step over you, she said.

By golliee they might trod right on top of the sidewalk happened to be narrow, pop said, and I said yeah but maybe they'd think you had just laid down there to take a nap.

They just wouldn't think at all, ma said. They'd be too intent on their own selfish affairs to even care a pig one way or the other. I was never so provoked in my life, she said, and pop said Yee gods, do you mean you actually took a spill on the sidewalk?

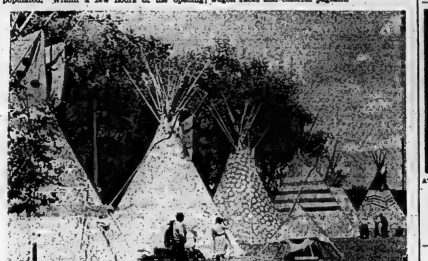
Certainly not, I hope I'm more graceful than that, ma said. What happened was, when I got home I discovered that my slip was showing. Numerous people had probably been snickering at me, and not one man, woman or child had enough fellow feeling to tell me. I blush every time I think of it, she said.

I'm blushing with you, does that make you feel better? pop said, and ma said, Oh hush.

Meening it didn't.

ESCAPES INJURY

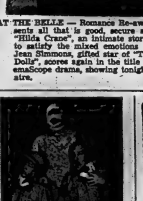
HAMILTON (CP)—Truck driver George Moore escaped with only minor cuts and bruises Tuesday when he braked suddenly to avoid a car and tons of steel smashed through the cab of his tractor trailer. A load of girder iron slipped forward when the trailer jackknifed.



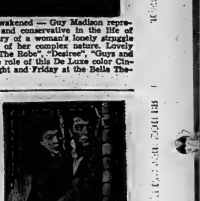
BUILD NEW PLANT

ALLISTON (CP)—Construction of a new Baxter Laboratories of Canada plant was started Tuesday. The $300,000 plant is expected to be in operation this fall.

CHOW LINE IS FAVORITE SPOT AT CALGARY STAMPEDE



At Calgary's famous Stampede, performers and spectators alike find themselves with voracious appetites, and the chow line is always well populated. Within a few hours of the opening 2,400 eggs and 1,000 pounds of sausage were consumed. Visitors come from various parts of the world to view the wild-horse riding, chuckwagon races and colorful pageant.



At Stampede time, hotel accommodation is pretty hard to find in Calgary, but the original inhabitants of the plains, the Blackfeet Indians, solved that problem easily. They brought their own accommodation, their teepees, which they set up at the entrance to the Stampede grounds. (Central Press Canadian).

AT THE BELLE — Romance Re-awakened — Guy Madison represents all that is good, secure and conservative in the life of "Hilda Crane", an intimate story of a woman's lonely struggle to satisfy the mixed emotions of her complex nature. Lovely Jean Simmons, gifted star of "The Robe", "Desiree", "Guys and Dolls", scores again in the title role of this De Luxe Color CinemaScope drama, showing tonight and Friday at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — The comedy team of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello meet a new menace in Universal-International's latest comedy, "Abbott and Costello Meet the Mummy" opening Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. Also on the screen in Technicolor, the "Rebel Rousers" featuring Cliff Arquette, Jet Chandler and Rory Calhoun.

AT THE McCARTHY — Tony Curtis and Colleen Miller are caught by the still camera in a tense moment from Universal-International's Technicolor adventure film, "The Rawhide Years" opening Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. 2nd action hit is "Uranium Boom" featuring Dennis Morgan and Patricia Medina.

Shelley Winters Not Taking Any More Walk-ons in Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Maybe all of the movie queens should take a season on Broadway — if they could come back as refreshed and stimulated as Shelley Winters.

The St. Louis blonde has returned to her Hollywood haunts after scoring a hit in A Hatful of Rain on Broadway and she presents a new Shelley. Gone is the frantic, staccato talk. No longer is she desperately eager about her career.

"I used to do all the pictures that came along," she smiled. "Now I'm trying to see how many I can avoid."

She admits that her zeal to do movies was caused by insecurity. The Result was that while she was playing in New York, four of her films were appearing on Broadway — The Big Knife, Treasure of Pancho Villa, I Am a Camera and Night of the Hunter. In two of these, and in several other films she has done, the roles were scarcely more than walk-ons.

"No more of those roles for me," she vowed. "And I'm not playing any more blonde bombshells, either."

AUDIENCE BIG FACTOR

She is content to sit out the summer and return to the stage in September for a new play, The Girls of Summer.

"There's no real kick in doing pictures," she observed. "After you've finished the last scene, it's over. Unless it's a Place in the Sun, there's no particular reaction.

"But in the theatre, you have a different audience every night. It's fascinating to study them; everything they do has meaning. When they laugh, when they cough, when they are completely silent — you can tell exactly how they are feeling.

"Once when I was doing a tense scene I heard a clicking sound. I heard it again at another performance and I got real mad about it. I thought the ushers were fixing the doors or something. But someone told me that clicking was the sound of women opening their purses to get their handkerchiefs. After that, I welcomed the sound."

What about the financial aspect?

"Sure, I make a lot less on the stage," she replied. "But I can earn as much as I need to live comfortably. The rest would go to taxes anyway."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, July 12, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—This day's aspects suggest that you work at a steadier pace. You will accomplish more in the allotted time if you do not overtax yourself. Take care in money and other transactions. Think!

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't make it difficult for yourself by being antagonistic to those who may make suggestions for your own good. Argument gains nothing. Intelligent behavior does.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—If you are neither reckless nor immoderate, you should have a happy, productive day; accomplish much for family, friends, neighbors, too.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Work, recreation, study, research, manual labor, and craftsmanship, whether industrial or professional, all have enormous appeals now. A good day!

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Do what you must, and in a calm and collected manner. You will achieve more than you realize if you keep plugging. Enjoy some diverting relaxation. Good aspects!

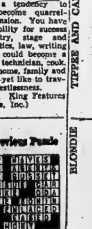
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't take things too seriously—including yourself, and your problems. Worry less, but keep working, straightening out matters as you go. Laugh, enjoy recreation with loved net.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — No restlessness now! The calmer and more cheerful you are in manner, the better co-operation and results you will get. Moderation, patience, good humor stressed.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—You can get into a rut as easily as others. Check now—on your habits, practices, tendencies—for the purpose of making even small improvement.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Conferences, handling, the affairs of others, business get-togethers, study, experiment, science, music, children's activities are favored now. Be alert to good opportunities.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)— Generous aspects for both personal and business activities. Needed changes in suit conditions also sponsored. Keep pace with current happenings. Co-operate with right forces.



January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)— Unexpected occurrences in your sphere of action may lead to zealous, cause false deductions. Be on guard. Investigate. Success is seldom gained overnight so keep trying.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Don't think that because a matter has begun poorly or slowly it will necessarily end so. You can make improvements, changes, and don't forget, others look to you for aid. Give today that special talent Pisces has.

You born today are highly imaginative, impressionable, delightful company to young and old. As a rule, you are gracious, sympathetic, charitable, understanding. Curb a tendency to argue lest you become quarrelsome, cause dissension. You have the talent and ability for success in science, artistry, stage and screen work, politics, law, writing, history. Or you could become a skilled mechanic, technician, cook. You deeply love home, family and family traditions, yet like to travel, too. Control restlessness.

BELLEVILLE — KINGSTON

WE BELIEVE THAT WE HAVE one of the best homes in the city for the money. Situated on a lot $120x200. In a desirable district, accessible — it is likely that $2,500. down will be sufficient. This is a three-bedroom brick home with a 4-piece bath and a pleasant modern kitchen. There is a full basement with oil heat and it is equipped with storm windows, attractive blinds. There is a garage and fenced. The taxes are only $106. per year. Let us show it to you!

ONLY $7,950.

YOU WILL AGREE that this is a reasonable price for this attractive two-bedroom bungalow. It is on the East Side. Indeed a well kept home and location for the small family or retired couple. It has a forced air heating system with a full basement. Most of the large lot is landscaped. There is room for a cent to look it over and you may be happy if you do.

DUPLEX

WE HAVE NEVER HAD A BETTER BUY IN A DUPLEX. It is a two-storey brick arrangement but fine solid brick building that has been well maintained with specialized apartments. The buildings is only a block or two from Front St. and is truly in the best of condition. Each unit placed to advantage on a large lot with ample driveway circulating type with oil. Each unit has a full basement and is fully heated. Only $13,700. If you don't have all cash — see if mortgage can be arranged for you. Let us show you what we can make a deal.

BURTON ST.

STOREY AND HALF. Could be used either as a two-bedroom home or a two-bedroom one with a self-contained apartment. Upstairs. It has oil heating, a recreation room and laundry facilities in the basement. Close to schools and bus. Only $11,500. Terms.

MONTGOMERY BLVD.

EAST SIDE. A three-bedroom bungalow of fine construction at $12,500. Large living room, kitchen, 4-piece bath, full basement, oil heating. Fully landscaped. We would be happy to show this one to you. $2,950. down.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

ILLNESS FORCES THE OWNER of this fine property to sell. Country style restaurant. Modern, seats 30. Apartment above. Only $13,900. Terms.

LOON LAKE

65 miles North of Belleville on Highway 37. Known over the Kaladar Kaladar better known as Loon Lake.

$500. Down

600 feet of lake frontage which ordinarily sells for $1,000. But if you can get it. Good fishing and bathing. Beautifully wooded and very private.

Drive Right to Door

Double slip drive-in boathouse with two Peterborough varnish boats. Apartment above with ground floor entrance. Two bedrooms, living room, kitchen, bath. Oil combination heating room. Kitchen, hardwood floors, 14-ft. electric refrigerator and completely furnished. One cabin 15 by 12 ft. cottage.

Fully automatic Koehler electric light plant, 1500 watt, in good working order. Electricity available twenty feet to the rear of the cottage if desired.

The only reason we are selling this cozy cottage is because we now operate a motel and cannot enjoy this property as we have done for many years.

SEVERELY INJURED

TORONTO (CP)—Russell Frivalt, 35, of West Hill, was severely injured today when his station wagon collided with a stopped freight train at a level crossing in east Toronto. There were no signals or flares at the crossing.

MR. TWEEDY — by Ned Riddle

"You don't really go in for that superstition bunk, do you?"

AFTER 20 YEARS, COMES FAME

For 20 years Rose Somerscales of Bowmanville, Ont., has been painting scenes. Crippled and unable to work, she painted because she wanted to, with little thought of profit. Then someone displayed her work in a town store, and now she is something of a celebrity. Her art will soon be exhibited in a major art studio.

Widow Boasted She Would Win Hubby Is Claim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Phyllis Northcott, 35-year-old wife of a Canadian-born minister, testified Tuesday that a wealthy widow boasted to her that she would win Mrs. Northcott's husband away from her.

Mrs. Northcott testified in circuit court that Mrs. Zenaida Peck told her on Thanksgiving Day, 1954, she intended to have Rev. Thomas Graham Northcott.

When the Northcotts went to the Staten Island, N.Y., Presbyterian Church May 5, 1954, Mrs. Peck was the wife of Dudley Peck, 80, a wealthy New York patent lawyer. He died the following July.

Mrs. Northcott testified in support of a petition for separate maintenance and custody of the Northcotts' three children. She is contesting her husband's petition for divorce.

On their testimony each of the Northcotts has told of checking up on the other's relationships with other persons, and each has denied marital misconduct.

Mrs. Peck has admitted, the witness said, that she and the minister spent a week together in the Park Plaza Hotel in Toronto during August, 1954, while the Northcott family was summering at their Minden cottage.

(ADVT.)

Oscar Winner Held by Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bobby Driscoll, 19, awarded a special Oscar as the best child actor of 1949, was arrested Tuesday night on suspicion of violating the state narcotics law.

The actor was taken into custody after police said they recovered a bag of marijuana thrown from the car of a friend who officers said was leaving Driscoll's suburban home.

Driscoll, best remembered for his role in Treasure Island, and Lester Ferguson, 24, a service station attendant, were booked on suspicion of violating the state narcotics law.

34 Charges Laid Against Quartet, All Found Guilty

COOKSVILLE (CP) — Magistrate R. I. Blain Tuesday considered 34 charges involving three men, one woman and seven police departments.

"This is just like a crossword puzzle and it will take time to put it together," he said. When he put it together, it spelled conviction for Donald Ball, 21, his twin brother Ronald, Leslie Lanaga, 22, and Shirley Boucher, 21—all of Toronto.

They faced charges of breaking and entering, possession of burglary tools, receiving stolen goods and vagrancy.

Arrested July 5 in connection with an attempted break-in near this community just west of Toronto, they were later charged by Toronto and Markham townships, Woodbridge, Aurora, York Township, Mount Albert and City of Toronto police departments.

They were remanded in custody a week for sentence.

Russ Enter World Tennis

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — Russia today took the plunge into international tennis, and possible participation in Davis Cup matches, when she was admitted to membership in the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

President Turns To Problems At White House

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — With the big political decision—if there was a decision to make—behind him, President Eisenhower turned his attention today to White House problems.

Eisenhower's intention to stay in the running for a second term despite his recent operation was announced Tuesday by Senate Republican leader William Knowland of California after he and other Republican leaders met with Eisenhower.

But presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said later he believed it had been Eisenhower's intention all along to stay in the race.

No Massing Of Jordan Troops Seen

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief supervisor, Wednesday night issued a communique saying there has been no massing of Jordan troops in the Samarian area.

The communique said United Nations observers had made an inspection of the Jordan side.

A similar inspection Tuesday of the Israeli part of Jerusalem had shown no troop concentrations, the statement said.

It added that both Jordan and Israel had undertaken not to maintain forces in excess of the number allowed by the armistice agreement.

Reports of such troop movements circulated in various Middle East capitals in recent days.

Jordan, meanwhile, has lodged complaints with the mixed armistice commission alleging six cases of air space violation by Israeli planes during a period of 24 hours up to Wednesday, and two border patrol shootings in which one villager was killed.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The cooler air which covered all but Southern Ontario during Tuesday night, is smothering southward and this afternoon is being felt through the Lake Ontario region, stalling bright sky vicinity of London. Although this will be marked enough, some afternoon cloudiness can be expected. In the warm air scattered showers and thunderstorms will continue today and Friday.

A new surge of warm air to-ward Ontario from the west will be bringing increasing cloudiness Friday with some scattered thunderstorms during the evening.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has indicated Canada will not take the first step towards correcting the present military "imbalance" in the Middle East.

He told the Commons Wednesday the government has not granted an Israeli request for Canadian Sabre jet fighters, because the "delicate situation" there "might be unfavorable to" them if it were.

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada wants to attempt to take the lead in changing what is in my opinion an imbalance of armaments at the present time" between the Arab countries and Israel."

The prime minister added Canada would be "quite happy" to join with other Western countries in making a military contribution. But the government did not feel it should take such action while other Western countries made no effort to do so.

PC RAISES QUESTION

John Diefenbaker (PC — Prince Albert) raised the question, asking what "impelling reasons" led the government to say this is not "an appropriate time" to permit export of the planes. It had been authoritatively reported that the United States, Britain and France would not object to the shipment and, indeed, would approve it.

But Mr. St. Laurent said he does not know of any authority for the report the three countries would not object.

He said his "compelling reasons" for not granting the request arose from conversations Canadian officials had with Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Ottawa, truce supervisor in Palestine, and Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations.

The prime minister added . . .

"We would have been quite happy to join with other Western powers in doing something in the way of balance. But we do not feel that when other Western powers were not prepared to join that responsibility it should be a responsibility left to the government of Canada which has not the immediate interest in the area which other Western powers have."

Soviet Women, Used to Grimy Work, Told Heavy Duty to Be Abolished

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russian women, used to hard, grimy work in industry, building and on farms, got unexpected news from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin Wednesday.

He told a session of the Supreme Soviet that legislation will be enacted in the near future to abolish heavy work for women.

For Russian women to date, equality with the male has meant not only equal opportunities to vote, enter politics and the professions, but equal opportunities of doing the hardest, roughest work.

Armies of working women can be seen here daily in dungarees, kerchiefs tied round their necks, grime on their faces. They drive heavy tractors, cranes, trucks —even bulldozers. They work as furnace hands or building laborers.

NAVY, AIR FORCE WELL ALONG IN EQUIPPING PLAN

Total Cost Estimated Around $40,000,000

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The navy and air force are well along in their aircraft re-equipping programs. Total cost is estimated at more than $400,000,000.

The naval air arm is replacing its Sea Fury fighters and anti-submarine Avengers at a cost of $143,500,000.

It has placed a $27,500,000 order for 40 American Banshee jets fighters and 17 have been delivered. The navy expects to obtain the remainder by mid-1957.

One Banshee squadron has already been formed and is working up to go aboard the new carrier Bonaventure late this year. Avengers cost of a Banshee, including lifetime spare parts, is $700,000.

ANTI-SUB PLANE

First delivery of the anti-submarine CS2F plane is expected early this fall and is continuing thereafter at a rate of two per month. Target number is 100.

De Havilland Aircraft of Toronto is the main contractor and final assembler of planes, which will replace the Avengers, is contained at $116,000,000, including lifetime spare parts.

Though the navy willingly makes public the total number of planes it has on order or plans to acquire, the RCAF does not. However, from the air force does provide unit costs.

The program of re-equipping the RCAF air division in Europe with the Mach VI Sabre jet fighter is proceeding. The 12 squadrons require some 309 planes and a total program cost around $280,000,000. This brings the total cost for this program to about $80,000,000.

The picture on the CF-100 jet interceptor for home defence is not so clear. The Mach V CF-105, on which production began last January, costs around $735,000 with spares.

A still further improved version of the CF-105 is in the experimental stage and the per unit cost is $800,000. The CF-105 is armed with air-to-air mountings which will carry the U.S.-developed Sparrow air-to-air guided missile.

Officials say the defence department has signed a letter of intent to Mark IV CF-100s, indicating that not all nine CF-100 squadrons now in service will be re-equipped but to be formed will get the Mark V or later version. It is assumed that Avro Aircraft Ltd., Malton, Ont., the CF-100 manufacturer, turns out 100, the total aircraft would be around $75,000,000.

In any case, authorities said production of the CF-100 and the Sabre, made by Canadair Ltd., Cartierville, Que., is nearing an end.

Prototype of the supersonic CF-105 is expected to fly next year though it will be some time after that before deliveries to the air force can begin, assuming the plane is successful. Officials probably will cort in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 each.

Officials emphasize that per-unit cost of aircraft can vary, depending on how much is charged the price as much as 50 to 100 per cent.

High above street level, balanced on scaffolding, women can be seen laying bricks or dabbing paint on new tall buildings in Moscow.

There is an army of thousands of poorly - paid girls from the country who appear in their white kerchiefs and dungarees to sweep and hose the city streets, to work in factories or on collective farms in Russia. A woman can be the boss of a factory or the captain of an ocean steamer. There is scarcely a single job the "new Soviet woman" is forbidden to do because she is a woman. In some parts of Russia, women recently have been reported working in coal mines.

Nevertheless, labor laws say that women must be protected from work which would be physically harmful. But until quite re-

Govt. Likely to Agree to End Corporal Punishment as Part of Prison Sentences

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is expected to accept a recommendation for partial or necessary committee that corporal punishment be abolished in Canada as part of a prison sentence.

The recommendation was made Wednesday in a report tabled in both Houses of Parliament by the Commons - Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

However, the committee recommended retention of the strap as a "last resort" to maintain order in prisons. The government is expected to accept this recommendation.

The committee's 6,000-word report was the second since it proposed an abolition more than two years ago into laws governing corporal and capital punishment and lotteries.

In a report tabled June 27 the committee urged abolition of capital punishment but substitution of electrocution or the gas chamber for hanging, and abolition of executions for convicted murderers 18 years or under. It will report later to Parliament later on its study of lottery laws.

The committee said corporal punishment as part of a sentence "affords no quick deterrent to crime." However, it added that the strap is a necessary instrument to prison riots and attacks against prison officials.

It also recommended that, in the event its report was not accepted, corporal punishment be ordered as part of a sentence only after careful consideration of the prisoner's background. It should be administered early in such sentences. A uniform code should be used throughout Canada.

The committee added that use of the strap as part of a court sentence now is restricted to Canada, the State of Delaware, the Republic of Yemen, Egypt and some colonial territories.

Courts now may order corporal punishment as part of a prison sentence for eight offences under the Criminal Code. They are rape and attempted rape, sexual intercourse with a female under 14; indecent assault on a female, incest, indecent assault on a male, assault causing actual bodily harm and overcoming resistance to the commission of an offence by choking, drugs and other methods.

Corporal punishment is administered by a leather strap or a lash—a leather handle to which nine leather thongs are attached. In practice courts order the strap across the buttocks in the presence of a doctor following a medical examination.

Representations have increased the use of corporal punishment as a method of stamping out crime since World War II years, it was rejected. At present juvenile offenders under 16 and females are not subject to corporal punishment.

The report said less severe punishment than corporal punishment could be used as punishment for infractions of prison regulations. It opposed that prison officials withdraw various privileges as punishment for breaches of discipline and other amenities.

The committee said it recognizes that the provinces are responsible for administration of penalties, institutions and for breaches of their regulations. However, it felt that considerations affecting application of corporal punishment for federal penalties should apply equally to equal force to provincial jails. It therefore recommended that it recommendations to the provinces.

Most Centres to Celebrate 'Glorious Twelfth' Saturday

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's Orangemen announced today that a resolution passed in 1954 as having Canada represented at the Vatican is to be presented Saturday at a monster rally of 8,000 at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The parade is one of several being held Saturday throughout the country as it is the 12th and the per unit cost is $800,000, not so clear. The Mach V CF-105, on which production began last January, costs around $735,000 with spares.

A still further improved version of the CF-105 is in the experimental stage

A student at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, he also has been assisting the Upper Thames Conservation Authority, recently.

MANIKIN FISHED OUT OF RIVER

City fire department yesterday rushed to the city's Upper Bridge when an excited alarm reported a body floating in the river.

On the arrival of the emergency unit and a fire reel, however, the excitement was cut short.

The "body" was found to be a manikin, floating down with the current.

However, for good measure the manikin was fished out.

Hockey Promoter Interested in Senior Club Here

While there's life, there's hope.

Secretary Drury Deacon of the Belleville Senior Hockey Club stated today that a visit of out-of-town hockey promoter is interested in the operation of a senior team here next season.

The promoter stated that several weekly blags on attendances made with the City Arenas Commission.

Arrangements have been made for the promoter to discuss the situation at a meeting of the commission slated for the city hall next Monday night.

Local Orange Lodges Will Visit Trenton

This is the 'Glorious 12th' and early this morning the fife and drummers could be heard as they prepared to depart for the walks to be held in Stirling and Trenton.

The two Belleville lodges, the L.O.B.A., and the junior lodges for boys and girls will take part in the walk and ceremonies at Trenton. All of the members met at the lodge room on Church Street, where separate lodge meetings were held after which they entered buses for the trip to the western town.

Stirling will entertain lodges from the extreme eastern part of the county and a large crowd is expected.

The walk addresses will be given by members prominent in the order.

RCEME Squadron At Training Camp

Attending annual summer training at Camp Borden in the week are the officers and men of Belleville's 8th Technical Squadron of RCEME.

Since this is the only responsible for keeping Canadian army vehicles and equipment in good repair, training means a busy week-long round of activities for the men.

The job of the squadron calls for varied—and in many instances, highly technical—training at camp. The week's activities at Camp Borden are on the climax to the activities of the past year for the squadron, not' the least of which was the removal of the unit from its headquarters of long-standing on Pinnacle Street to the Belleville armouries.

Belleville-Born J. H. Ackerman Dies in Toronto

In ill health for the past six weeks, Jack H. Ackerman, 1125 Gilla Park Road, Toronto, and a former resident of this city, died in the Toronto General Hospital early Wednesday morning.

The late Mr. Ackerman was born in Belleville 45 years ago, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Ackerman, 224 Ann St., but for the past twenty years he had resided in Toronto. He was educated in the public and high schools in this city and attended St. Andrew's College.

When the Second World War opened Mr. Ackerman joined the Hasty Pees and later transferred to the Algonquins, a regiment he served with distinction for four years, being captain and adjutant of the regiment. On his return home and discharge he returned to Toronto.

He was a member of Bridge Street United Church while a resident in the city. He was also a member of the Board of Governors of Albert College and he took a great interest in.

Surviving are his wife, the former Lillian Armstrong, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Ackerman of Toronto, one daughter, Miss Ruth, and one son, Robert, both at home; one sister, Mrs. Gwyn (Helen) Morton of Hamilton.

The deceased will rest at the home of his parents Friday evening.

The funeral arrangements appears elsewhere in this edition.

Obituary

MRS. CHARLES W. SAYLOR (Trenton)

Funeral service for Mrs. Victoria Alena Saylor, who died on July 10th at her home, 178 Victoria Avenue, Trenton, was held this Thursday afternoon.

The funeral, held from her residence and supervised by the Weaver Funeral Home, was to Belleville cemetery.

Rev. G. A. Puttenham officiated.

Bearers were: Wayne Simmons, Ted Parker, Norman Armstrong, Burl Lillie, John Saylor and Donald Fraser, Jr.

Mrs. Saylor died suddenly in her 85th year. Born in Sidney township, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George E. Meyers. She lived in the Trenton district all her life. Some time ago she was predeceased by her husband, the late Charles Wesley Saylor. A member of King Street United Church she was active in church activities and belonged to the church's Women's Association.

She leaves one daughter and one son: Mrs. O. P. (Edith) Day, Toronto; Clarence Saylor, Trenton. Also surviving are five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

EDITH LOUISE C. VALENTINE (Wooler)

Funeral of Miss Edith Louise Clara Valentine, who, died July 7th at her Wooler home, was held from Frichett's Church on July 9.

Interment was in the church cemetery. Church service was conducted by Rev. Alex. Edminson, Brighton, assisted by Mr. David Lawley, Toronto.

Bearers were: Arthur Down, George Darling, Lloyd Garland, Stanley Maybee, Kenneth Maybee and Douglas Fox.

In her 68th year, Miss Valentine died suddenly. She had come to Wooler only about two weeks previous to her death. Before that, Miss Valentine had lived in Hilton and Brighton township, where she was born, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Valentine.

An active figure in church work, she was a member of Carman United Church W.M.S. and also was clerk of Wesley Quarterly meeting.

She is survived by one sister, Cora.

WILLIAM BARTLEY SHEPARD (Frankford)

William Bartley Shepard, resident of Frankford for the past four years, died Thursday at his home of his daughter, Mrs. Harvey Brown, of Frankford.

In ill-health for the past three months, he was in his 94th year.

Born in Prince Edward County, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Shepard and has resided the greater part of his life in Kingston and Belleville. The last of his family, he was a retired sailor and fisherman. His wife predeceased in 1930 by his wife, the former Maude Ashley. He was a member of the United Church.

Besides his daughter at Frankford, Mr. Shepard is survived by three sons, Milton J. of Kingston, Frank of Brockville, and Bert of Kingston.

Resting at the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Three Youths Plead Guilty To Armed Robbery Charge

Three Belleville youths today pleaded guilty to armed robbery of the Bata Drive-In June 28th and were remanded in custody for sentencing next week.

The youths, who are Harold Graves, 17; George Keith McFarland, 16, and George Gill, 16, who appeared in County Court this morning, before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

A fourth youth, Leo Graves, 19, brother of Harold, was remanded without plea, for mental examination by Dr. Roger M. Billings, Ontario Hospital.

The youths' mother, Mrs. Dora Graves, present in the court at the time, fainted and collapsed on the floor of the courtroom, after the youths were remanded for youth for examination.

Appearing on behalf of Gill was Crown Attorney Wm. Kennedy. Kenneth M. Ross appeared for the other youths.

Evidence was given by OPP Cpl. Ray Kowal, who handled the investigation. The boys were apprehended shortly after the robbery when they spent a dime near the cashier Mrs. Goldie Wark. They were stopped while driving Gill's car, by Cpl. Kowal and OPP Constable George Evans, who found the gun in the car.

Cpl. Kowal said Mrs. Wark had been approached shortly before closing time by the boys who were carrying rifles and wearing gold-dyed stockings cut as hoods, over their faces.

BIG GUNS IN BUSHES

She pointed out a canvas bag containing the loot, for police to take and they made off with it.

After leaving the cashier the boys hid the guns in the bushes on the north side of the theatre.

The youths found the guns were Harold Graves and Gill. The guns, later found pointed out to police by the boys, were a .303 rifle and a .22 rifle. When found they were unloaded and the .22 had its firing pin missing, he said.

When stopped by Constable Evans, the four refused to unlock the car's trunk compartment, so he held them until reinforcements arrived. When the compartment was opened it was found to contain $130 and an additional $21 was discovered stuffed in a sleeve jacket in the rear of the car.

McFarland acted as a lookout during the holdup," Cpl. Kowal said.

Several of the youths' relations were called to testify on their respective backgrounds.

Magistrate Wills referred Leo Graves to the reformatory authorities after reading a letter from Dr. Billings on the youth. The magistrate said the conclusions drawn in the letter did not appear consistent with the affairs in which the accused had become involved.

Kinette Wading Pool to Open On Saturday

The new Kinette wading pool will be officially opened Saturday at the Kinette Park by Premier Frost.

Some $2,500 was raised by the Kinettes for construction of the 24 x 44-foot pool beside the big Kinsmen swimming pool on Dundas St.

Open seven days per week, it is free to toddlers and will have specially-trained supervisors on hand at all times on the city recreation department.

In addition to the pool itself, two concession outlets also have been allowed for. Swings, teeter-totters and sandboxes have been installed by the recreation department while lunch tables and benches have also been provided.

Some Saturday, among the special events to mark the official opening will be a free treat for every toddler.

Police Blotter

The dullness of summer "dog days" has seeped into city and district police.

Hardly anything of note was reported to both city and provincial police headquarters last night.

Cleaning broken glass from Dundas Street late last night two city police officers observed a car coming at high speed off the Bridge Road, and they barely miss a ditch at the road's side. As a result of their observations, Ernest Marshall, 33, North Front Street, was charged with careless driving.

Three Big Firms Start Holidays This Saturday

The practice of giving the main body of employees their holidays at the same time has proved so successful in the past that most major firms in this district are maintaining the same policy this summer.

Northern Electric, Stewart-Warner and Bakelite will all go on holiday this weekend, returning Monday, July 30. Some of the members of the skeleton staffs at the plants during this period have already received their holidays; others will go on vacation after that fallow on separate schedules.

Dexter Lock will close completely between July 30 and August 7.

W. & J. Cash, which had staggered holidays in the past, will probably close from July 21st for a week or 10 days.

The construction department which forms about two-thirds of the personnel at Mead Johnson, will holiday July 23 — August 7, while the office, shipping and maintenance departments have staggering vacations between May and September 22.

Stephens-Adamson is the only major firm to favor August as a holiday month. Most of the employees will relax August 5 - 19, while office and shop activities will be maintained by a skeleton staff.

SOVIET WOMEN

cently there was apparently no bar to young girls wielding loads of molten metal in the foundry of the Moscow auto works, often while men supervisors stood by.

Russia has enshrined in its constitution the principle of equal pay for equal work. Theoretically the opportunities for men and women should be equal, too.

In practice — although there are women professors, doctors, lawyers and legislators — Russia spoke as happily about romance as any young matador.

He told reporters in his gentle voice that he was on his way to Kiev to marry a girl named Ira — age 23 — Minne Terry, a member of the theatrical family.

WAR CASUALTY

Their marriage was dissolved during the First World War—"It was just one of those things that war does to people," he explained.

His wife married again after their divorce and her second husband died several years ago.

Gwenn said: "We've written regularly since. I was very happy with her. You can say I have stayed faithful in the memory of that happiness."

Would they re-marry? Gwenn shrugged his shoulders and replied quietly: "You don't think of getting married when you are a year old R."

2 Youths Rescued

KINGSTON (CP)—Two youths were rescued by a cruise ship Tuesday after their canoe overturned in Lake Ontario near the Kingston waterfront.

The two, George Hutson, 20, of Mount Forest and Fred Hogg, 22, of Oshawa, said they had been out to retrieve a friend's paddle that lost in the lake during the weekend.

They found it after several dives but lost it again when the canoe capsized.

Mayor Defends 'Harassment' Of Two Papers

READING, Pa. (AP) — Mayor Daniel McDevitt says his withdrawal of certain privileges from Reading's two daily newspapers is a "stand in the public interest" that has been getting public support.

McDevitt made his statement Wednesday in denying that he was interfering with freedom of the press by his actions, which the Reading Eagle and the Reading Times term "a gross scale harassment."

McDevitt said, "when you take action against what we have locally, a monopoly of news . . . For the moment I must maintain my position."

The jointly-owned newspapers in this city of 110,000 say the mayor's restrictions against relaying stories on a series of raids July 11 on 25 places in which federal agents seized 44 pinball and multiple coin machines. One of the spots raided was a tavern once owned by the mayor and now operated by his brother, Nicholas.

NO PRIVILEGES

McDevitt said Tuesday that it was time "a public official summoned the courage to remind the publishers that . . . they cannot ride roughshod and trample over elected office holders."

Expanding on that statement he said:

"Newspaper reporters can come and go in city hall just like any other citizens, but they get no special privileges."

Edmund Gwenn Returns Home To Keep Tryst

LONDON (Reuters) — Veteran actor Edmund Gwenn, 78, ill and suffering from arthritis, has returned home from Britain to keep a tryst with his first love.

He arrived Wednesday from Los Angeles in the liner Oronsay, rolling ashore on sticks to a wheelchair pushed by a nurse.

But Gwenn—famed for years for his stammering roles in Hollywood as a typical Englishman—spoke as happily about romance as any youngster.

He told reporters in his gentle voice that he was on his way to Kiev, Russia, to marry Ira Terry, 33 years ago—Minne Terry, a member of the theatrical family.

WAR CASUALTY

Their marriage was dissolved during the First World War—"It was just one of those things that war does to people," he explained.

British Sailor Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter

WINCHESTER, England (CP) — A 23-year-old British sailor, David Smith, pleaded guilty Thursday at Hampshire assizes to a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of a Canadian seaman, Raymond Clarke of Corunna.

Smith was bound over for two years. His plea of not guilty to a charge of murder was accepted by the court.

Clarke, on shore leave at Portsmouth from the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent, died in hospital after a fight May 24 with Smith.

D. Roberts, prosecutor, said Smith apparently did not realize his own strength. He struck Clarke eight or nine blows with his fist and Clarke died the following day without regaining consciousness.

TRUTH TO PARENTS

"I am satisfied that nothing was further from your mind than the possibility that this man's death might result," said Mr. Justice Hilbery.

Norman Stethoro, Smith's defence lawyer, said the court Smith had shown genuine sorrow for his offence and had written a letter to the dead man's parents expressing regret for what he had done.

It was stated that Smith had an excellent character. The judge said that in view of this conviction would not prevent him from continuing a promising career in the Royal Navy.

Great Soviet Encyclopedia to Be Revised

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second time since publication of the Great Soviet Encyclopedia began, subscribers have been told to get rid of a couple of pages of information, the New York Times reports today.

The latest object of post-publication editing, The Times says, is Kao Kang, a top Chinese Communist said to have committed suicide two years ago.

The Soviet encyclopedia began to appear, volume by volume, five years ago. About 40 of an expected total of 50 volumes have so far been published.

The Times account says the 100,000 subscribers to the encyclopedia did their first "do it yourself" correcting after Lavrenty Beria, Soviet secret police chief, was executed in December, 1953. Substitute pages containing an expanded article on the Bering Sea were sent out to be pasted in place of Beria's biography.

Subscribers now have received a mailed notice saying the "state scientific publishing house of the Great Soviet Encyclopedia recommends the removal from volume 10 of pages 213-214, instead of which you are being sent pages with a new text."

The page cited described Kao as a leading member of the Chinese Communist party and gave biographical details pro vi ously circulated by official Red publications.

The biographical purge of Kao revived speculation, The Times says, whether he might have been a key figure in the reported rivalry between Stalin and Mao Tse-tung, leader of Communist China. As a party leader in Manchuria, Kao was in close contact with Soviet authorities.

To replace the Kao biography, subscribers were sent a page containing a 13-line article and a picture of Gyaque, third largest town in Tibet.

The Times says the apparent eagerness of the encyclopedia's editors to fill the gap caused them to overlook the fact that the town, under a slightly different spelling, already was described in volume 13.

CUT ROMANIAN FORCES

VIENNA (AP) — The Romanian council of ministers has decreed that the Romanian armed forces will be reduced by 20,000 men by Sept. 15, 1956, Radio Bucharest announced Wednesday.

Burwash Guards Catch Fugitive

SUDBURY (CP) — One of two prisoners who escaped from Burwash industrial farm Tuesday during a baseball game was recaptured Wednesday aboard a southbound freight.

Edward Brooker, 26, of Peterborough, was spotted when he boarded the freight at Astair, five miles north of Burwash. Reformatory guards raced the train south to Delamere and took Brooker into custody.

James Myers, 23, of Toronto, who scrambled from his bleacher seat along with Brooker, is believed to be hiding in the bush.

Myer and Brooker were both serving sentences of two years less a day, the former for attempted robbery, the latter for attempted breaking and entering.

They were the 17th and 18th prisoners to escape from Burwash this year. Only one besides Myer is still at large. The others were recaptured or returned voluntarily after a few nights in the rugged bushland around the reformatory.

Speed Limit 55 On Highway 400

TORONTO — Speed limit for passenger cars on No. 400 Highway will be increased to 55 mph from 50 mph next weekend, Highways Minister Allan said yesterday. The increase does not apply to commercial motor vehicles.

The new speed limit, ratified by an order-in-council, will go into effect when official signs are painted and posted on the highway, likely by Friday night.

Mr. Allan said the increase, based on a three-month study of traffic on the Toronto - Barrie highway, would be a testing ground for higher speed limits on other provincial roads.

Says Situation Tense

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban told a press conference Wednesday the situation in the Middle East is more tense now than before the recent peace mission of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

He said the present concern stems in part from a series of incidents along the Jordan-Israeli frontier.

TOLL OF JEALOUSY

Jealousy is dangerous. We have heard that before, but we have never really paid much attention to the warning. Now, however, a French weekly, France-Dimanche, produces some additional evidence which cannot be ignored. Jealousy, it declares, kills a thousand Frenchmen and women every year. Since the French have no monopoly on this human passion, it is evident that the world-wide toll must run into many thousands annually.

Any person who conjures up a gory picture of love's rivals raided by indignant French spouses, of betrayed husbands fighting duels at dawn, of beautiful mistresses slapping their last beside a bottle of poisoned wine, has not been reading too many dime novels. It is true, according to France-Dimanche, that one out of every ten murders or attempted murders in France is motivated by jealousy, and we do not suppose that the ratio would be much different for any other land. But the major crop which jealousy gathers in the path of Death's scythe is caused by virtue of such prosaic killers as accidents, heart disease and other ailments which, in America, are blamed not on jealousy but the furious pace of the chase for the almighty dollar.

France-Dimanche says there is a simple cure for jealousy—physical exercises combined with breathing cure oxygen. It then appears that the caveman was ahead of his time. When he grabbed his stone axe and clubbed his rival into the jaws of the nearest sabre-tooth tiger he was guarding himself against any possibility of occurring violence. Still, the stone age psychology seems to be high a toll from jealousy as does our modern civilization. France-Dimanche says that jealous people show definite physical characteristics. Jealous men have thick necks and bulging veins in the temple. Any pictures we have seen of cavemen suggest that they were definitely of the jealous type. There isn't a thin eyebrow in a carload of caveman specimens.

Remember when it was the style for women to pluck their eyebrows? If one is the suspicious type, one jumps to the conclusion that this apparently harmless custom was, in fact, a subtle attempt by jealous women to disguise their true natures. France-Dimanche, however, sets us right on that score. Apparently eyebrows are no indication as to whether or not a person is jealous. It is to their mouths which give women away. There are two types of jealous women, those with small mouths and those with large mouths—France-Dimanche puts thin lips with small mouths and deep-red lips with large mouths but whether these additional aids to identification are really necessary we do not know. The small-mouth type is the "envious" kind, the large-mouth the "possessive" variety.

So, when you pick her out, better choose the medium size. And even then, to be on the safe side, remember that popular slogan, only one to a customer.

WISE TO RETAIN DEATH PENALTY

The special parliamentary committee set up by the federal government to study the questions of capital and corporal punishment has earned approval in recommending retention of capital punishment and the substitution of electrocution or the use of the gas chamber for hanging.

While capital punishment is not a deterrent in crimes of passion, it is our belief that its abolition would result in a marked increase in robberies backed with deadly weapons and premeditated murders.

In considering the British House of Commons motion favoring abolition of the death penalty, the committee reports: There are obvious differences between the two countries which indicate that capital punishment is necessary and more effective in Canada. In the United Kingdom, there is a high proportion of passion murders which subject to control by the death penalty; in contrast, it seems, proportionally twice as many Canadian murders are committed in connection with robbery indicating that on the whole Canadian murders are committed more by professional criminals.

In retaining the death penalty, the committee was influenced by the evidence of experts that cold-blooded killers are much more impressed with the fear of death than with long penitentiary confinement.

MOVE TO OUST ADENAUER

A report from Bonn says that there is a behind-the-scenes movement to replace Chancellor Konrad Adenauer with Finance Minister Fritz Schaeffer.

First reactions in the capitals of the western world will be disapproval of such a development. Adenauer has become almost a symbol of resistance to totalitarianism. Yet the people of the west may be in error in thus regarding Adenauer as virtually indispensable if West Germany is to continue to walk firmly down the democratic highroad. There have been reports that Adenauer, staunch though he is in opposition to Communists in East Germany and to the remnants of the Nazis in his own section of Germany, is actually a bit of an autocrat. According to these reports he often fails to consult with the members of his cabinet who, of course, share with him the responsibility for the manner in which West Germany is governed.

Sea Which Shapes History

(National Geographic Magazine)

The blue Mediterranean Sea has witnessed so many world-important events and shaped the destinies of so many nations that its story reads like a novelized history.

Magnificently scenic and deceptively placid, the vast sea-lake has neighboring Arab-invaded states of the Near East. But there is hardly a square mile of the strategic land-water area that has not, at one time or another, known the fierce tides of trade conflict and rivalries, and, conversely, periods of high achievement and progress.

The key to historic events of the Mediterranean region lies in its geographic setting.

Stretching more than 2,300 miles from Gibraltar to Asia Minor, it has almost tideless sea since time immemorial has offered ideal conditions for trade between the many and varied peoples along its shores. In its midst lie islands "in the middle of lands."

A rugged coastline of deep inlets, bays and sub-seas has provided countless natural harbors to shelter and launch navies and merchant fleets. And with its mild winters, summer days, starry nights and steady winds, encouraged pioneer sailors.

Under the bright blue Mediterranean, Egyptian, Phoenician, Roman, Byzantine and Ottoman empires rose and fell. Within its shores western boundaries were born three of the world's great religions—Judaism, Christianity and Islam.

New ideas and inventions rode the Mediterranean's waves, as successive spread from the centres of learning in art, architecture, literature, philosophy, astronomy, medicine and mathematics. With them went the trade products of each, as salt, and handicrafts of changing and developing styles.

From sites near today's busy Levantine ports, the ancient Phoenicians — skilled shipbuilders and shrewd merchants — set forth in purple-sailed galleys to explore, colonize and trade. Reaching the pillars of Hercules at the western gates of the sea, they ventured beyond to Britain, where they bartered Mediterranean dyes, fruits and wines for Cornish tin.

In medieval days, powerful city states — Pisa, Genoa, Ragusa and Venice — sprang up along the northern arms of the sea, flowering rich on maritime trade; they poured into European markets the Arab arts, skills and other exotics carried by caravan to Syria, Turkey and Egypt.

In modern times the Renaissance bloomed and scattered its seeds over the rest of Europe. From Spain and Portugal in the west, fleets of discovery and settlement sailed for the western Hemisphere.

Meantime, other chapters of Mediterranean history were being written by invading Norse seamen and barbarians from Central Europe; by clashing Saracens and Crusaders; by pirates who preyed on the sea's rich shipping.

By the early 1800's, echoings of tribute and capture of British, French and American ships by the Barbery pirates of North Africa became so flagrant that the harassed nations invoked punitive expeditions. In ensuing operations, the corsairs were driven from their lairs — and France established herself as a North African power by conquering Algeria.

The Crimean War of 1854-56 (Britain, France, Turkey and Sardinia against Russia) spotlighted strategic stepping stones and bottlenecks, such as the Dardanelles Strait leading to Russia's only southern outlet, the Black Sea.

Completion of the Suez Canal in 1869 cut an exit at the eastern end of the Mediterranean and made the sea an invaluable short cut for world shipping instead of a "cul de sac" or "sea that ended in sand."

World War II found the Mediterranean a battle theatre on its largest scale.

Today still another new element has been added to Mediterranean geography: the international significance in world affairs of the Arab states.

London's City's Old Guilds

(Ottawa Citizen)

The other day, Queen Mother Elizabeth was attending the 400th anniversary celebration of a boast to Oundle School by Sir William Lancaster, Bt., Master of the Worshipful Company of the Grocers' Company, and behind her walked the ruffled, scarlet-robed Clerk, Jeremy Oundle's patrons. The scene provided a reminder that the City of London's ancient livery companies devote themselves mainly to works of charity and education. Every year they contribute to civil revenues — very large sums, in some cases. They still have a great deal to say within the old city of London, the commercial and financial heart of the metropolis, where only a few thousand people live. For as free-born citizens of London, the Lord Mayor and other corporation officers and the sheriffs and the Lord Mayor's show on November 9 marks the reception by the Lord Chief Justice of the sheriffs' new chief magistrate.

Some of the livery companies — the Long-bow Stringmakers and the Silkmen, for example — are extinct. Of the 80 surviving, only the 12 "grants" are in order of precedence): the mercers, grocers, drapers, fishmongers, goldsmiths, skinners, merchant tailors, haberdashers, salters, ironmongers, vintners and clothworkers. Of the rest, numerous are the stationers and newspaper makers and the shipwrights. Others include the scriveners, barbers, butchers and musicians.

Of London's 34 livery company halls, some of them large and beautiful, only four escaped damage by wartime bombing. But the old companies rallied, salvaging their treasures and rebuilding their premises where they could. They are a colorful part of life in the great city whose liberties they won.

Bank Seeks New Business

(Royal Bank Magazine)

Continuing our constant search for new ways of wooing business and creating good will for the bank, we report on the North Carolina bank which has developed a number of rather intriguing lending services.

For example, to arouse more interest in the livestock industry, this bank has established a 4-H Club pound steer in the lobby, complete with farm boy escort, to answer questions about it. They also maintain a stand in the bending room holding pigs ready to show to the use of customers who are caught in the vicinity.

But the display that really interests us is one involving six young bank employees and an officer of the bank. A contest is held to see which can fatten and lay the most eggs over a 30-day period. The objective, we gather, is to encourage young people's education in agriculture, if not in bank officers.

Sermon of the Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

LIVE CAN BE RESTORED

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness."

Man is a combination of the heavenly and the divine, of the earthly and the heavenly. The most depraved criminal has something of the soul the divine imprimatur. We are all part of God, in that He is in us. The kinship is upon us. What a glorious and overwhelming conception upon the part of humanity that what solems responsibility this lays upon us! Humanity is born from marring that image by sin.

We see in Jesus Christ the perfect combination of human and divine. We are the creatures of God; Our personalities correspond to his divine personality, our souls are similar in essence to his soul. Jesus came and lived out a life in which divine truth was demonstrated how much simplicity that men every where could comprehend it. In creation, God established in man, and a spiritual affinity between that humanity and Himself. Like Him, we have personality, will and the capacity to love and be loved. In the life of Christ, we see that God has in every human being a spiritual capacity to attain that perfection which characterized his every thought, word, and act.

Jesus Christ restores what has been lost through human sinning.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

July 12, 1936.

Mrs. R. C. Sisler and Miss Winnifred McAuley were the guests of honor at a bridge party at Belleville Golf Club this afternoon.

Mr. G. H. Smith, College St., has left on a trip to England.

The Rev. Dr. C. D. Baldwin and Mrs. Millar Glenn, of Montreal, are the guests of the Rev. L. S. Wight and Mrs. Wight, William St.

Dr. J. L. Callery, Medical Health Officer at Port Huron, is the guest of his sister, Miss Mary Callery, Cannifton.

Mrs. Herbert Morris and children of Windsor are spending a month's vacation at Oak Lake.

Mr. Arnold Bryant is spending his vacation in Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Elvins are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Elvins, Dundas Street.

Joseph Black, Bobbie Allore and Francis Robertson are spending their vacation at the Lake Shore Camp, Jackson's Point. Mr. and Mrs. Twomey Black are chaperoning the boys to the camp and spent the week-end at the Lodge.

Mr. Don Norman of the Bank of Montreal staff, Toronto, spent the week-end of this city, spent the weekend here with friends.

It is estimated that ten thousand people were in the city today to take part in or witness the huge Orange parade. One hundred and nine bands, the Canadiens, Prentice Boys, True Blues, Black Knights and Junior L.O.L. marched in the parade which formed at the Fair Grounds. The marshals of the parade were Frank Babcock, Harry Ouyon and William Taylor.

Africa Had Own Culture

(By Basil Davidson in The New Statesman and Nation)

We are only at the beginning of this remarkable discovery of central and southern African history. Most of the work has still to be done. We know that notable from Age kingdoms and empires have also flourished through many centuries in "Darkest Africa" before European first called it the Dark Continent.

Already this work has overturned Although their contacts with the outside world were always distant and nearly always indirect, they did not "stay in the Stone Age." They moved with the times, and in many of the ways that often were unfavorable to their development with "objective validity," they were peoples of great practical gifts.

They brought agriculture to soil in circumstances where no one else had ever practised it.

They searched for metals and found them, mined them, smelted them, traded in them with Arabia and India and Europe.

They built social structures of great flexibility and endurance.

They produced the fine art of Ife and Benin, Sosso four or five hundred years ago, which may well have earned the name of Europe they imported Chinese porcelain.

This may seem surprising. Of this sort, it seems, there are going to be many surprises.

Jap Girl Sees With Hen's Eye

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

The operation of transferring eye cornea to restore at least a portion of sight to blind persons is becoming more or less common and Japan reports a transfer from a chicken to a girl, the chicken being chosen as the donor section in disfiguring the human dead.

Not long ago such an operation would have been unthought of. If transfer of an eye cornea or portion of an eye has been made practicable, who's to say that in time to come we may not have to be true of the whole eye?

Moreover, for those among men and women who would be quite willing to give one of their eyes even during life time if it could be made use of by relative or friend.

Medicine and surgery have made great strides in recent years and these things have been removed from the list of those formerly regarded as impossible.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Should Know Better About Health

Remember the four or five weeks siege of peripatetic bellyache I described a few weeks ago? From day to day I thought I had diverticulitis, duodenal ulcer, carcinoma of the head of the pancreas, hydro-nephrosis, and heaven knows what else besides. Really, I didn't take the aging suggestion seriously—it was just an explanation conceived by an obstetrician who attended me on the bowling green when I was having pains.

Although I worried in my strong, silent way, about all of the things mentioned, before it dawned on me that the wandering pain was just intercostal neuralgia, I took only two medicines in the course of the unpleasant ordeal. At the time I suspected it was duodenal ulcer I took some Trace discs — delicately flavored combination of calcium carbonate (powdered chalk) and magnesium trisilicate, which in my parlance is the best antacid one can take to relieve hyperacidity of stomach; and toward the end, I took one nitroglycerin tablet, not because I was in any particular distress at the moment, but just to determine whether the obstetrician's supply was what it was cracked up to be. Within a minute from the second I put the tablet under my tongue I felt the characteristic throbbing in the head and flushing of face.

Certainly I'm not insensitive to discomfort, nor am I stoical; but I can't understand the unconcern with which many persons who should know better indulge in dangerous analgesics (pain-killers) for every ache, pain, anxiety, discomfort as though acetanilid, acetylsalicylic, antipyrine, or one of the numerous mixtures of these, without a dash of caffeine, sold under fancy trade names as remedies for whatever ails you.

If any kind of pain-killer must be taken the least dangerous (I do not say safest) in my judgment, is aspirin, and I mean the cheapest brand of aspirin you can buy.

As already intimated, I'm not the stoical kind when it comes to pain. I usually holler before I'm hurt. But I wouldn't take a dose of aspirin in any circumstances unless I could sit or lie at rest for at least an hour afterward. If such precaution were out of the question I'd worry along without the aspirin. But then, my belief is probably more precious than gold. One of my patients is that you should "Care for your health while you have it . . . for when you're gone no one cares you can't buy any more."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Many a family measures its life dogs. It is not easy to divide the years of a family's growth and history into segments according to the age and change according to the fortunes of the family, rather than that of the children. These members age and change according to the years, and the change is so gradual that it is almost imperceptible. It is not easy divided at any rate.

But the dogs of a family establish regimes, eras, dynasties. When they say "in Dolly's time," everybody knows that Dolly was not a clearly defined period. Dolly reigned, say, ten years, in which almost all the present were young and the children all small, with new infants arriving. Dolly was happy so Dolly as part of the pattern of life in that period. One description of a memorable day in the family's history can be quite definite and recapture it as can "in Dolly's time." Instantly, sure of devotion.

each member of the family, from baby toddler, father and mother to the youngest of the children, now in mid-teens, recollects nearly the same. And the memory and spirit of the bygone years when Dolly, a dog, was the family's delight in the midst of all.

The next dog, say a Dalmatian called Pete, in his brief four years, established another clearly defined historical era, as "in Dolly's" or Queen Anne, in summoning up a picture in the memory. Pete came Sally, a red cocker, with six years. And so on.

There were many uses, various functions. No two dogs occupy the same niche, fulfill the very two homes in the city. Most of them are loved, some revered. But it is fair to say that all dogs, who could be happy to know that they were the units of measurement in the passage of the years in the families to which they gave their first and last full measure of devotion.

TODAY'S TALK

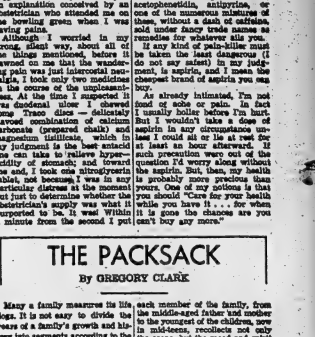
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WELCOMED PERSON

In my business I meet many persons, and I like to meet them. They come on all sorts of errands. The most welcomed person, however, are those who bring cheer and a radiant personality. They bring light and sunshine with them no matter what the weather.

Robert Louis Stevenson has written about such a one as follows: "He is welcomed wherever he goes; in his wife he was still among us; he had a fresh laugh: it did you good to hear it; and, however sad he may have been at heart, he always bore a bold cheerful countenance and took fortune's worst as it were the showers of spring."

Ellis Wheeler Wilcox speaks a line that millions have noted. She said: "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep, and you weep alone." I know of no one who does not like to laugh. But no one wants to listen to them. They remind us too vividly of our own. Oh, what a joy is the person who carries with him everywhere he goes a message of hope and faith and love.



We owe more to our humorists than we can ever repay. We read Mark Twain with relish, but his private life he took trouble and grief that would crush a less courageous character. He brought joy to millions and left behind him the happy Heaven. What a void in the world was left with Rogers and Bob Benchley left us. Comic strips are "big business" right now, but it would be unfortunate indeed if there were really comic!

The joy that personalities whose presence is immediately noted the moment they step into a place, and of whom it has been selected to talk at an important banquet. There is nothing selective about such personalities. They are welcomed into people's hearts.

JUST FOLKS

GOOD NATURE

That you'll be learned along the road;
Good nature bears a heavier load
And sooner comes to rest than hate.
Who daily magnify their woes
With loud complaining.

I often hear the scoffers say:
"You cannot laugh a care away,
So why pretend to?"
But I reply to those who scoff
What woes does grumbling
Or put an end to?

What brings the summer rose to
The sunshine or the days of gloom?
When winds are howling
And cold and bitter blows the storm,
Can man keep either dry or warm
By constant growling?

I do not claim that man can smile
And laugh at trouble all the while,
For that were folly.
But this I know: when rough the road
Good nature better bears the load
Than melancholy.

Dulles Softens Remarks Critical Of India's Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles apparently is seeking to improve U.S. relations with neutral India and has a wordy storm over the American attitude nearly smoothed.

That is the impression created by his press conference comments Wednesday, some of which indicated some slight disagreement with Vice President Richard Nixon.

Dulles did not discuss the sometimes frictated relations between the U.S. and India. However, he did talk about statements which Nixon made during a trip, ended Wednesday, to six allied countries in the Far East and Middle East was while on this trip that Nixon said countries should follow a neutralist policy toward communism run "headlong into risk" of becoming Red satellites.

India's Prime Minister Nehru called Nixon's ideas, said he was "in general . . . quite in accord with it."

Dulles said there is risk to countries which accept Communist aid because it is given for political purposes, but he did not wish to say that "in every case the taking of Soviet aid would involve a great danger."

In a speech a month ago Dulles had called neutrality "immoral" except in very exceptional cases. In explaining Wednesday what he meant, he modified that view to a point virtually eliminating any significance to his earlier speech.

In substance, he said countries which have joined the United Nations — as India has — are expressing a concern for the rights and the independence of other states and in this sense are not neutral within the meaning of his speech.

HOPES FOR CHANGES

In his press conference, Dulles also challenged Russian leaders to liberate their satellite countries from "grievous captivity" to prove the sincerity of their anti-Stalin policy.

Dulles said "the whole world will . . . watch" to see whether Moscow intends to modify foreign as well as domestic policies. He expressed confidence that within the next 10 years Hitherto hidden forces now at work within Russia "are going to prove to be irresistible."

"We can really hopefully look forward to a transformation of the international scene," he said.

B and K May Be On Way Out Due to Drink

LONDON (CP) — The British press is intoxicated, to put it mildly, by the latest antics of Russia's toastmaster twins, Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev.

"Will Mr. Khrushchev's drunken sneeze lead to his downfall?" asks The Daily Mail.

It quotes an unnamed authority "in a position to know the full facts" as saying that Khrushchev must be regarded as an "irresponsible and impulsive drunk."

The tabloid Daily Sketch prints a cartoon showing B and K under table, surrounded by empty bottles labelled "vodka—105 per cent." Says the caption:

"It need scarcely shame thinking from Zhukov to get ush out of this one!"

DIDN'T CONFORM

Marshal Zhukov, a wartime friend of President Eisenhower, is reported to have displayed disgust and disapproval of Khrushchev's harangue of Western air force chiefs at a Moscow dinner party June 24.

Some papers report 26 toasts were drunk at the, uproarious party. Some accounts say Khrushchev was drinking Armenian brandy, but most say the beverage was vodka.

Says The Daily Mirror's columnist Cassandra:

"Marshall Bulganin was clashed plastered, loaded, high, tight, steamed-up, tipsy, squiffy, whiffy, primed, oiled, sozzled, sunburned, nappy, pot-valiant—nice to think of it, drunk."

Bulganin, adds Cassandra, was "far outdone by that other roaring reclame—Khrushchev."

REJECT PROTEST

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force Wednesday night rejected a Soviet protest alleging that American military planes flew over Soviet soil this month. A statement said: "No aircraft assigned to the command of the U.S. Air Force in Europe violated Soviet or satellite territory."

Opposition Urges Government Give Veterans Better Deal

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition members in the Commons Wednesday renewed demands that the federal government give a better deal to Canada's war veterans.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) in a long series of problems which, he said, should have been dealt with this session to bring up to date the so-called "veterans' charter," which contains all legislation affecting veterans.

Mr. Green, an infantryman in the First World War, reiterated complaints over the fact that Veterans Minister Lapointe also holds the postmaster - general's portfolio, Administration of the veterans affairs department, affecting more than 250,000 Canadians receiving veterans allowances or pensions, was a full-time job.

He placed the responsibility for the situation on Prime Minister St. Laurent, for not relieving Mr. Lapointe of his post office duties. The situation showed that Mr. St. Laurent was not greatly concerned with veterans' problems.

CALLED FOOLISH TALK

Mr. Green's comment was termed "foolish talk" by Elmore Philpott (L — Vancouver South), who won the Military Cross as an artilleryman in the First World War.

Three members spoke during Commons study of spending estimates of the veterans affairs department.

Mr. Green said Mr. Lapointe's "excuse" for not introducing any veterans legislation this session was not very good. The minister had said the government still awaited copies of resolutions passed at the last convention of the Canadian Legion.

However, most of the subject matter in the legion resolutions had already been laid before the cabinet in a legion brief last November.

LISTS DEMANDS

Among the veterans' demands, Mr. Green listed: higher permissible incomes for war veterans allowances; payment of allowances to veterans who must leave Canada to live in warmer climes for health reasons; abolition of the 30-year residence qualification of an Imperial war veteran before his widow can qualify for the allowance; changes in the administration and regulations of the war veterans allowance and pensions legislation.

The Canadian Legion has asked that the permissible income for veterans allowances be increased from $960 for single veterans and $1,440 for married veterans to $1,200 and $2,000, respectively.

Capt. John James (L—Durham) said all veterans' problems never will be solved. However, the department was gradually eliminating them in providing the best veterans legislation in the world.

George S. White (PC—Hastings-Frontenac) said the veterans department should review the cases of First World War pensioners whose disability is below 40 per cent. The disability should be upgraded to give higher pensions as was done last year for pensioners in the 40 and 45 per cent disability class.

He said widows of pensioners whose disability is set at 50 per cent should continue to receive the pension after the husband's death.

Rocketing Land Values Seen In Scarborough

TORONTO (CP)—Accounts of rocketing land prices in suburban Scarborough were told to the Ontario Municipal Board Wednesday as a real-estate executive testified on behalf of David R. Little, seeking a better price in expropriated land.

Mr. Little's 106-acre farm in Scarborough was expropriated in 1953 by the Ontario planning department as part of large housing development project. Offered $80,000 for the farm which was valued at $16,000 in 1948, Mr. Little, a former Scarborough councillor, demanded $289,000.

Peter Langley, vice-president of a real estate firm, said a 75-acre property in Scarborough changed hands five times between 1953 and 1955 with the price climbing from $95,000 to $415,000.

In another case, a piece of land was sold twice on the same day in December 1954, the first sale being for $25,000, the second $146,000. He appraised Mr. Little's land as being worth $182,410.

The price dispute has held up a proposed 8,000-unit housing development program by Metropolitan Toronto, the Ontario government and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The hearing continues.

Once the world holder of a piano marathon record, he failed two years ago when a United States airman tinkled away for 72 hours in Phoenix, Ariz.

Four Vancouver Men on Mission Killed in Crash

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Four Vancouver men, on a top-secret survey mission for the federal government, died Wednesday in the unexplained crash of their amphibian aircraft.

Cpl. J. Baxter has been identified as the pilot. Also aboard were Don McVeigh, a construction superintendent, and Ron Grierson, both employees of Bennett and White Construction Co. Ltd., of Vancouver.

The fourth man was identified as W. J. Sckyra of Ottawa, an aerial surveyor for Defence Construction Ltd., a crown corporation operated by the department of defence production.

Warren Milner, a Kamloops ambulance attendant, said the wreckage was about half way up Lolo mountain, 5,000-foot peak near North Kamloops.

ACTRESS EXPECTING

LONDON (AP)—Actress Vivien Leigh and actor Sir Laurence Olivier announced today they are expecting their first baby after 16 years of marriage. The announcement said the baby is expected in November. Miss Leigh, 42, has a 22-year-old daughter by her first marriage, to London lawyer Herbert Leigh Holman. Sir Laurence 49, has a 21-year-old son by his previous marriage to actress Jill Esmond.

Monsoon Flood Swamps Homes of 500,000 People

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters) A monsoon flood driven by four days of torrential downpour has swamped the flimsy bamboo and straw homes of 500,000 people in this crowded capital.

Doctors and relief squads were working Wednesday among the victims, mostly refugees, who came here at the time of partition in 1947.

Meanwhile, the Pakistan Army took over the distribution of food in war-hit Pakistan's blighted food area.

The central government has placed food procurement on a wartime emergency basis and orders have been placed for 400,000 tons of food grains.

No Conservatives Attend as Bills Given Assent

OTTAWA (CP) — None of the Progressive Conservative party's 53 Commons members attended a royal assent ceremony in the Senate chamber Wednesday when a number of government bills were read into law.

It was the third time since the long and bitter pipeline debate that the Conservative and CCF parties have had only one or none of their members attend royal assent.

Among the five bills given assent was government legislation for federal payment of up to 50 per cent of the cost of unemployment relief to the provinces. The formula provides for the federal payment when unemployment reaches .45 per cent of the population of a province entering into an agreement to receive the aid.

Following the ceremony the Senate adjourned until July 24, subject to recall by the Senate Speaker if necessary.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

WEDDINGS

WHITLEY—MALLORY

Mary Elizabeth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mallory, Bloomfield, was married recently in a quiet ceremony in the chapel at the RCAF Station, Trenton, to Flying Officer James Andrew Whitley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor Whitley, Belfast, Northern Ireland.

Flight Lieutenant P. D. Ross officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-skirted afternoon dress of white silk patterned with sprays of cinnamon roses, a white coolie hat, and white accessories. Her bouquet consisted of white Sweetheart roses, Pinocchio poms and stephanotis.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Mallory, as maid of honor. Miss Mallory wore a waltz-length dress of pale blue nylon, which was embossed with blue and white apple blossoms over taffeta. With it she wore a white hat and she carried a navy gold rose.

The groom was William Delbridge, Toronto. Dudley Figgins of Belleville, and Douglas Mallory, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Following the quiet ceremony, a reception was held at Maple Inn, Bloomfield.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Queen's University, Belfast, while the bride is a senior at Macdonald Institute, Guelph.

WRIGHT—MOORE

MARMORA— An arbor of red roses provided the altar for the garden wedding of Estelle Mae Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Moore of Melrhville, Mass., to Kenneth Russell Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright of Marmora.

The ceremony was performed on Saturday, June 23rd, by the Rev. Gordon Logan, on the front lawn at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white slipper satin and nylon lace with fingertip veil and carried a white Bible adorned with white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Robert H. Moore was matron of honor, attired in blue taffeta and embroidered nylon and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Robert Moore, brother of the bride.

The reception was held on the rear lawn and the guests were received by the bride's mother, who was gowned in pink lace with white accessories and wearing a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore powder blue embroidered nylon with navy accessories and with a corsage of white carnations.

What Happens to Winners Of Miss Universe Contest?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—How real is the pot of gold and stars at the end of the Miss Universe contest rainbow?

For some winners the contest has been a stepping-stone to wealth. Others it has given a start in Hollywood. But some have seen their dreams of wealth and glamor burst like bubbles.

With talent of fame and riches in their pretty heads, 74 beauties from throughout the world today start down the glittering trail that will lead one of them to the crown. They come from 32 countries and 30 states and three cities of the U.S.

What has happened to the four previous winners of the titles, and to some of the runnerups who drew the eyes of movie producers?

FIRST ONE WED

The first Miss Universe, in 1952, was the Finnish beauty Helena Rutsalo. Not long after winning she went to Manila to make an appearance at an international exposition. There she met wealthy young Virgilio Hilario. They were married soon after in Tokyo.

In 1953, Christene Mardi, 18, a fiery French brunette, walked off with the crown. She wed Ronnie Mercurio, a Stockton, Calif., department store heir, in January, 1954, but their marriage lasted only 74 days. After completing her six-month film contract, she went on a night club tour of Mexico and South America. Little has been heard of her since.

The 1954 winner was Miriam Stevenson of Winnsboro, S.C., who was selected as typifying the fresh beauty of a country girl. Her interest in a movie career evaporated in a few weeks and she went home to finish college.

Romanoff almost grabbed the 1955 Miss Universe, Sweden's Hillevi Rombin, before her chance at a film career got under way. She had been given a str - word role in The Benny Goodman Story. With filming about to start, she flew to Sweden to see her fiance. But she returned to Hollywood unmarried and is still under contract to Universal - International. She is just back from a personal appearance tour in South America.

Jackie Loughery, who was Miss U.S.A. in 1952, stayed in movie circles for a while and then married singer Guy Mitchell. They are divorced now.

No Organization Can Compete With UN Women Are Told

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A vice-president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women said Wednesday night she believed no organization on earth could compete with the United Nations.

Tall, white-haired Mrs. Corrie van Den Bos of Johannesburg, South Africa told more than 800 delegates and observers attending the IFBPW's triennial conference here to "follow . . . and criticize," this welder of nations.

She was addressing a vote of thanks to Health Minister Martin, who flew here from UN disarmament talks in New York to address representatives from 18 countries.

RETAIN VIGILANCE

Mr. Martin spoke of a need for continued vigilance in a world where the threat to freedom remains. The western world would be taking a "desperate gamble" if it took Soviet declarations at face value.

He said the Western world's defence program was to provide a deterrent to aggression and to exercise resistance to aggressive attack on any NATO country.

"No nation today can really win a modern world war. No nation that sets its foot on the path of total war can find at the end anything but defeat," Mr. Martin said.

A business session Wednesday the congress agreed that existing pensionable age for women lower than that for men would be detrimental to the status of women.

Style Previews Show Trend To Elegance

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—You've got to be elegant this fall. You've got to dress to the teens, act like a lady and perhaps learn how to swoon with the grace that grandmother understood so well.

That is the theme that has been impressed upon the fashion press of this week, during a series of previews of New York fall styles, all of which have been bitten by a nostalgic bug producing large rashes of ladylike elegance in the 1912 manner.

Pauline Trigere, the trans planted French designer, hits a high note of suave, understated magnificence in her collection of great-lady fashions. There is nothing flagrant or overdone in her well-bred fall lineup, as is to be expected. But there is definitely a new air of formality, of fastidiousness, of manners and attitudes not seen in these parts for nigh onto 40 years.

SOFTENS LINES

Ben Zuckerman, master of the tailored (talk), softens the line this season with complex suggestion, feminine detail and lush fabrics. His suits, while still unmistakably tailored by a masculine hand, have a look of fragility that is the mark of the new season's female.

William Fox also interprets the new feeling of fashion in definite terms of elegance, showing dresses and costumes with a feeling that would be instantly recognized and applauded by the prewar generation of ladylike ladies.

And Harvey Berin, through his designer Karen Steele, completes up a magic atmosphere of fastidiousness and romantic elaboration in a suave collection of town-bred fashions which seem to call for a carriage complete with coachman.

EXPORTS INCREASE

LONDON (CP)—British exports to Canada in the first six months of this year showed a 47-per-cent increase, the board of trade announced Wednesday.

Serve Fresh Vegetables And Fruit Every Day

By Mary Moore

This is a pep talk about season-al foods, so if you do not care to sit in on a lecture—and many of you do not need it—skip it today.

With a week hope that I can help some of you change your menu habits I am going to give you an example of lack of imagination: Boiled beef and mashed potatoes, canned peas and bread pudding. How do you like that for the menu for dinner, Indie, on a July day with the temperature at 80 degrees? The folks who were perspiring while they ate this meal, have a beautiful patio with a glorious view, and a barbecue at the bottom of the garden. What really blew my top was the patch of unpicked strawberries in their garden.

July in Canada and no fresh vegetables, salad or fruit for dinner. What are they going to do?

Wait until all of the lovely fresh stuff is canned or frozen I suppose. Don't they care or don't they know that vegetables and fruits are at their best for flavor and nutritionally when consumed as soon as gathered?

Well they are and it is up to the food buyer—you—and the cook—you—to see that your families are fed fresh foods as they come into season. Nature intended it that way. Goodness knows our Canadian growing season is short enough that we should eagerly take advantage of our fresh foods while they are dew fresh.

Serve the lovely fruits as they are without dolling them up in pies compotes and other time-consuming creations. Buy or gather and prepare the new vegetables at the last minute and cook them in a minimum of water for a minimum of time. Serve a salad every day and prepare it during the last few minutes before dinner is announced.

Some cooks have to persuade their husbands and children (and maybe themselves) to enjoy salads by heaping on hand in the refrigerator various kinds of dressings: French, mayonnaise, boiled or some of the many variations of all of these.

Now to stop generalizing and to get down to your actual shopping trip: be critical of the fruits and vegetables. If what you have on your shopping list is not as fresh looking as some of the vegetables and fruits on the stand or counter, change your menu plans to suit what produce is freshest. Don't overbuy fresh supplies. It is much better to make two or three trips to the market during the week than to lay in broccoli and spinach, beets, peas, etc., and have them wilting and wilting, even if they are properly stored in the refrigerator crisper.

TOSSED SALAD

You know what kind of a tossed salad your family likes but teacherish me will run through a sample one that most folks enjoy. Cut a medium head of iceberg lettuce in half and use only one half to shred for the salad base. To it add 1 chopped tomatoes, 1-4 of a cucumber sliced wafer thin, 4 or 5 radishes ditto, some chopped parsley, a little green onion if you dare, tiny little crescents of tender celery, some shreds of green pepper, and if any watercress or peppergrass are available in they go. The Consumer Section of our Department of Agriculture has come up yith a new

COOKED MAYONNAISE

Would you like to try it? Mix together in a mixing bowl 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon mustard and 1-8 teaspoon paprika. Add 1-4 cup vinegar, 3-4 cup salad oil and 1 egg or 2 yolks, but don't stir it. In a saucepan mix together 3 1-3 tablespoons cornstarch and 1 cup cold water and stir over direct heat until thick and clear. Add at once to ingredients in bowl and beat quickly with rotary beater until thoroughly combined. It thickens without fail and may be diluted with vinegar, lemon juice, sour cream, cream, milk, pineapple or grapefruit juice.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

COMPLETE MAKE-UP CHART TODAY: THE RED-HAIRED GIRL.

Next it's the eyes.

Center of attraction is "the red-head"—especially when she wears her best colors.

Bewitching you of the red hair, the exquisite skin, either fair or creamy, and eyes that are blue, brown, hazel, grey or green! How you stand out in any crowd—especially when you wear your best colors—tawny shades, warm beiges, the olive and bronzed greens, the sooty grays and blues and the delicate pastels, the ice blues and cloud grays! Your flowers are green orchids, gardenias, cornflowers, violets and tawny chrysanthemums and marigolds. Here is your make-up chart:

FOR DAYTIME WEAR

Foundation: If your skin is normal, a liquid foundation, either colorless, or tinted to give the skin tone you want or cover up flaws in the skin texture or in the contour of the face.

If your skin is dry, sallow, muddy, or aging, cream or paste foundations which cover the skin more completely than do the liquids.

If your skin is oily, a dry cake foundation, a vanishing cream type, or a liquid foundation with astringent base.

Color: As a rule, choose a foundation of the same tone as your skin but a shade darker. However, if you have a fine, alabaster skin, match it exactly with a colorless liquid foundation. If your skin is sallow, choose a pink toned foundation; a peach or ivory toned foundation if your skin is too white.

Powder: Natural, for fair skins; Rachel or beige for dark skins.

Lipstick: Coral or orange reds. Determine shade of lipstick and rouge to select you wear. Draw color about your natural lips close to skin and try different shades of lipstick and rouge with it to find the one which goes best.

Rouge: Very little, if any, coral or orange reds. Cream or liquid rouge before powdering or dry rouge after powdering. Or use rouge from your lipstick by blending it with cream.

Eye Shadow: Mist blue, brown or light green, according to color of eyes.

Mascara: Brown.

Eyebrow Pencil: Light or dark brown.

Nail Polish: Same as lipstick or lighter or darker shade of same.

COSMETICS FOR EVENING

Powder: Natural, orchid or deep Rachel, or apricot shades for cream skins.

Lipstick: Coral, clear reds or orange reds.

Rouge: Same as day. Accent color for artificial light by dusting it with rouge over powder even if you have used cream or liquid rouge.

Eye Shadow: Blue or violet for blue eyes, bronze or dark green for brown or hazel eyes, light green for green eyes. To be truly exotic, try three shades with gold or silver.

Mascara: Deep blue or purple for blue eyes; dark brown or green for brown, hazel or green eyes.

Eyebrow Pencil: Dark brown or black.

SUN TAN COSMETICS

Foundation: Most redheads have difficulty in getting a tan but if you are lucky and do tan, expert is apt to find the foundation which will subdue your new coloring.

Powder: Experiment, as with foundation to get the right shade.

Lipstick: A clear or orange red

Rouge: If any, a reflection of lipstick.

Nail Polish: Orange red or brownish.

Mother's Helper

THE FUNNY face your tiny infant makes when he first tastes solid food may not be only because of the strange taste, but because of the new feeling on his tongue. Add a bit of formula to the first few feedings, to make a more familiar texture.

W. M. S.

MELROSE — The July meeting of the Melrose Woman's Missionary Society was held in the church on Friday last with an attendance of sixteen ladies and several members of the Mission Band.

The president, Mrs. Morgan, conducted the worship service and opened the meeting. She gave some fine thoughts on the "Church."

Mrs. R. MacFarlane read the Scripture lesson from Ephesians 2.

Mrs. Bates gave a reading "The Church." Mrs. C. Milligan gave a reading, "Ye Are the Salt of the Earth."

Business period was conducted. At the June meeting Mrs. Ken McMechan resigned as assistant leader of the Mission Band and it was moved Mrs. Clara Weese be asked to fill the position, which she graciously accepted.

Mrs. Roy Badgley, group leader, took charge of the following interesting program:

She spoke briefly on "Dominion Day," naming the flower emblem for each province.

Mrs. Badgley welcomed the Juniors and spoke of the great work they were doing. These young members added greatly to the program with the following numbers: piano solo by Eileen Reilly; songs by Shirley Pascoe, Lynda Pascoe, Janice MacFarlane; piano solo, Barbara Weese.

As the study is on the "Indians," Mrs. Grant McLaren, who attended the Calgary Stampede last summer on its fiftieth anniversary, told of many interesting things about this greatest outdoor show on earth. She showed several pictures, including those of the Indians in their gorgeous native costumes.

Mrs. Badgley told how the church had touched the lives of the first citizens, the Indians. "What about our new citizens." The church stands ready to welcome them. She read a poem on "The Church."

Mrs. Badgley, assisted by Mrs. Osborn, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Rombury gave a short play entitled "United Nations and Christian Missions."

"We must support the United Nations by our interest and by our prayers."

The August meeting will be held in the church.

Watermelon

Boy oh boy is it good! Treat your family to wonderful, wide wedges of watermelon often. Serve it ice-cold as a tasty dessert, or, as a cool, refreshing between-meal feast. Good to take on picnics too.

But remember, no matter how delicious, one cannot live on watermelon alone. So while you're shopping snoop 'round the aisles and see the hundreds of other fine foods on display. Check the quality ... check the prices ... you'll find that DOMINION is the place to buy almost everything.

ANNOUNCING THE ENGAGEMENT AT A COCKTAIL-TEA PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beechnum,

Tv announcement engagement my mother and father would like to give a large, late-afternoon party on a Sunday soon, a combination cocktail-party and tea-party. The announcement will be a real surprise to everyone there, except the members of our immediate families. How is the announcement usually made at this kind of party? Also, at this kind of party would it be proper for my father (who is a wonder at making a perfect toast, and loves to do this), to propose a toast to my fiance and me?—Fiance.

The usual way to make the announcement at this kind of party is for your mother, as hostess, to stand first in an informal receiving-line, then you next, then your fiance. Your mother greets an arriving guest, says "Here is Helen . . . and her fiance, Kenneth Moore." Your father may also stand in the line, if he wishes to; and sometimes the fiance's mother and father stand in the line. You wear your engagement ring for the first time in public at this announcement-party, and this is, or may be, no announcement feature also. Yes, it would be entirely proper and very charming too, for your father to propose a toast . . . when all the guests have arrived, he might "get attention," raise his glass, and say, "Let's drink a toast to Lenore and Kenneth." And of course to add whatever he wishes.

INVITATION SHOULD HAVE STATED KIND OF OCCASION

Dear Mrs. Beechnum:

Recently I received an invitation to attend a Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary. The invitation read:

Mr. and Mrs. .....

request your presence at their Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary at the ..... Hall on (date) at 1:30 p.m.

R.S.V.P.

When complying with this invitation I arrived late and was severely criticized by all present, because, to my great surprise, the occasion turned out to be a "sit-down" dinner. I contend that there was no possible way of my knowing that a dinner was to be held if the invitation was to be taken at its face value. Would you please be so kind as to tell me your interpretation of the above invitation?—Reader.

First I certainly grant that the invitation should have stated that the occasion was to be a luncheon, or midday dinner. (If it were a hand-written invitation, might it be that this item was unfortunately omitted?) However, the naming of the specific hour of 1.30 p.m., which is a meal-hour, either luncheon or midday dinner, would have given me the cue that I'd better do a serious bit of inquiring about what kind of occasion it was to be. You may have been, unwilling to ask the hostess, but there must have been some relatives or intimate friends to whom you could quietly hint about what you wanted to know.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TO STOP DAYDREAMING IS THE WISER COURSE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a single woman 39 years of age, and for the last seven years have been going steady with a married man. I have never been married.

He has two children, aged 15 and 17 years old, and is a wonderful father to these children. But he claims he is very unhappy and does not get along at all with his family. He says he is only living with his wife until the children reach the age of 18. Then, he says, he will get a divorce so that we can be married.

My problem is that I am not getting any younger, and in a few years I won't be able to have any children. This man is very good to me; in fact, I couldn't ask to be treated any better.

Do you think I should wait a few more years and take a chance that we will then be married or should I stop daydreaming?—D.D.

Dear D.D.:

Even though the warning comes so late, since you have been going with this man for seven years, let me tell you that you are making a most serious mistake to have anything to do with him.

In the first place, the average married man who promises to marry a woman after he gets a divorce which, for one reason or another, will not be for some years, has no intention whatever of doing so. All he is usually after is a relationship which will give him the opportunity to get away regularly from a humdrum life at home, while still being able to protect himself from marrying the woman because he is not free to do so.

It may be entirely true that this man is unhappy at home. But it still seems to me that if he were really in love with you and wished to marry you, he would not force you to wait years for this to be possible. For, aside from such prolonged waiting being unfair to you, the longer he waits to get a divorce, the harder it is going to be on his children to adjust to a broken home. The older a young person is, the deeper the scar such an experience leaves on him. Moreover, if this fellow were really anxious to be free, he could certainly find a way to contribute to the support of these children if that is the excuse he is using.

Then there is another reason why this relationship is such a serious mistake. That is, that you are not only risking your reputation by being seen around with him, but you are in constant danger of having this man's wife ruin it entirely by making very embarrassing trouble for you, since it is inconceivable that she will not discover what is going on behind her back if she does not know already - which in itself is inconceivable.

Finally, to answer your question, I would feel that you would be well advised to stop daydreaming, send this man off and devote yourself to making a really worthwhile life for yourself. I feel sure you will get far more out of the latter than you will out of waiting around "a few more years" to find out whether or not this man has any idea of making good on his promises to you.

STIRLING

River Valley W.I. Sponsors 'Children's Day'

STIRLING.— On Thursday afternoon, July 5, 31 adults and over 60 children gathered at River Valley school house, the floor-boxes of roses, orange blossoms and bowties decorated the room.

Mrs. Roy Bush, president, presided.

Mrs. Thomas Hanna gave a full financial report of the expenses and receipts of the recent sale held at Hoard's, when the W.I. catered. After some discussion, it was decided to put $150 in a bond. The Institute has to date $650 in their building fund project and this will bring it up to $800.

Mrs. Richard Bryer, a newcomer to the Valley, was welcomed.

The president voiced thanks for co-operation at the sale. The Folk School literature and holidays at Guelph and Kemptville, were referred to. The correspondence was read, which included the new appointment of Miss S. Thibedeau as Hastings County home economist. The new printed programme were distributed also the summer issue of "Home and Country."

Thank-you letters were read from Mr. and Mrs. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. MacMullen, Mrs. Mary Vandervoort, and Miss Betty Hanna. Betty wrote an interesting letter about her days in the hospital and voiced thanks for all her gifts.

Mrs. Rose Bush gave a report of the recent district annual held at Pine Grove.

PATRIOTIC AWARDS

Mrs. Percy MacMullen reported re the patriotic competition and provided small gifts for the winners. They were awarded as follows: 1st prize, Mrs. Roy Bush; 2nd prize, Mrs. Don Donohoe and 3rd prize, Mrs. Thomas Hanna.

The president thought this was a good idea and most appropriate for patriotic day in July. She also was glad that three members journey to Ottawa to the garden party in honor of Mrs. Berry, AUWW president. A report of this will be given in August. She also complimented Mrs. R. Coombes and the pupils of River Valley school for their success at the Field Day. The shield to be held one year and the miniature cup won by Gail Morrow a junior girl, under 13 years, were on display.

The Friendship Link secretary reported that she had received two letters from Abbot's Leigh, written by Mrs. Coombs and Mrs. Cotterell and both expressed thanks for the two magazines and said they were trying to distribute them around so all members would have a chance to read them. The president, Mrs. Cotterell said: "It is always so interesting to learn how others live and I do think you can learn a lot from such publications."

CHILDREN'S DAY

As this was Children's Day the program was given by the children with Mrs. Ralph Ulman presiding. All sang "O Canada". The school children under the direction of Mrs. Reg. Coombes, sang "The Blacksmith", with Miss Marilyn Conley as accompanist.

The convener gave a paper on the motto "If you do not believe in co-operation, just watch a wagon when the wheel drops off". She emphasized that all Institute members were necessary to the organization.

The girls demonstrated effectively the new "Holger-Nielson" method of artificial respiration. This was educational and gave much useful information.

Mrs. Ernest Carr read a humorous story, "The Episode of a Mouse."

The Junior pupils sang three selections "Mice", a girls' motion song and a tractor song. The seniors rendered: "Were I a Bird", and "Land of Spain".

All the children took part in a "Treasure Hunt". They were divided in four groups and had 15 minutes to find the various articles. Each child received a treat of confectionery.

Refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cookies, freshie and ice cream, were served by half of the Institute members.

Canadian-Born Boy Weeps When Taken to Russia

TORONTO (CP) — Friends and neighbors today told a story of the fear and unhappiness of a 15-year-old Canadian-born boy who was taken last week by his Russian-born father back to the USSR.

They said the boy, Bill Golik, cried "day and night for almost a week" before leaving. His sister, Nadia, 17, also accompanied the father, William, 50.

Mrs. Harry Leadon, who lived next-door to the Goliks for a year, said it was "obvious to all" that the boy wanted to remain in Canada.

Ethnic-group leaders said the Goliks are the 15th family to travel to Russia. They said the families may have responded to a "return-home campaign" started by Russia.

Singer Adam Timcon, who said he and Nadia hope to marry, said she did not leave Canada against her will. He said she hopes to return within a year or two to be married to him.

Wooler

WOOLER — Mr. and Mrs. Tom Athorpe, of Oshawa, spent a day last week with Mr. F. A. Dorland.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ferguson, Joan and Marshal, of Peterborough, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hobbie.

A great shock shadowed the village on Saturday morning in the death of Miss Edith Valentine, who with her sister, just moved from their farm two weeks ago. She passed away in the night with coronary thrombosis. The funeral service was held in the Friends' Church on Monday afternoon conducted by the Rev. J. Lawley, of Toronto, and the Rev. A. Edmiston, of Brighton.

Miss Anne Redcliffe passed her Grade III in the theory with 77 per cent. Miss Dianne Anderson also received a high percentage.

A large number enjoyed the Lake Ontario breezes at Presqu'ile Pt. on Sunday, afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Orvis and family of Peterborough, were in town on Monday.

Mrs. Charles Yorke is in Belleville Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Taylor, of Brighton, called on Mrs. S. L. Terrill on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam attended the decoration service at the Waite cemetery, at Salisb, on Sunday.

Mrs. E. M. Shaw, and Mrs. Goodfellow of Sault Ste. Marie, called on Mrs. Shaw's brother, William McColl and sister, Mrs. J. C. Herrington, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Austin, Mrs. Edith Anderson, and daughter, Dianne, sent last week at Norands, Quebec.

Mr. Angus Gunter met with a painful accident by falling off a hay load breaking his arm.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Wessels, motored to Roche, North Dakota, to attend the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wessels.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Taylor, of Pontiac, Mich, accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rattan, spent a few days down at Perth, with Mr. and Mrs. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gooding and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morrow spent Friday in Colborne.

The Women's Institute executive met at Mrs. N. Haggarty's on Wednesday evening, to make plans for the big garden party.

The Wooler Women's Missionary Society met recently in the church parlors with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. E. McMaster, opened the meeting.

Several readings were given by different members, also a vocal solo by Ann Redcliffe.

A social half hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Clifford Dunn and Mrs. C. Gainsforth.

Mr. and Mrs. Wess Downs, and family spent the weekend at Galt and attended the wedding of Mrs. Down's cousin.

Mrs. Terrance Read and baby boy of Trenton, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Haggarty.

Ronald Leavitt D.C. spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Putnam.

HALT JET FUEL FIRE

MONTMEDY, France (Reuters) Canadian airmen and local firefighters saved 18 rail tank cars loaded with jet fuel from blowing up Tuesday when 30,000 gallons of jet fuel in two other tankers blazed for two hours on a siding. Rundown, Nervous; Food Caused Gas, Indigestion

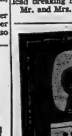
If you suffer from faulty digestion, headaches, and tired run-down condition: if nerves are on edge so that you cannot sleep and you feel restless, irritable and tense you can benefit by taking Syntona Herbal Compound.



Mr. Angus McLeod, Dunnett, 19 Bruce Street, London, Ontario, said in a recent report:

"I felt tired-out, could not get my proper sleep at night and was terribly irritable and nervous. Food that I ate disagreed with me, causing gas, sour stomach with pain, nausea, and indigestion.

"When I began taking Syntona I noticed from the very first bottle that my food was digesting better. As I continued taking this medicine the headaches, nervousness and irritability left me and my nerves calmed down. Now I can also getting more restful sleep at night and I feel like a new person. That tired, rundown feeling is gone and I have more energy through the day."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan the Druggist.

Bellhops, Workers, Students And Jasper Natives Produce Pageant Rare in Theatre

By RUSSELL ELMAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—The blast of a diesel engine's horn rang up the curtain Wednesday night on a pageant rare in Canadian theatrical history.

On a huge open-air stage, surrounded by the snow - capped peaks of the Canadian Rockies, 75 bellhops, railway workers, students and Jasper natives presented a two-hour musical "panorama" of the Canadian west.

For the next 10 nights, the pageant will tell the story of the historic Athabasca valley. The show can't start until the 8:02 train passes for it makes so much noise the actors cannot be heard.

Over the last 125 years, the site of the production at the Palisades, seven miles east of Jasper, has seen fur-traders of the Hudson's Bay Company, overlanders on their way to the cariboo in search of gold, homesteaders, railwaymen and now tourists.

Like the Shakespeare Festival in its fourth successful season at Stratford, Ont., "the Jasper story" is a community effort.

Unlike the Stratford festival, however, the Jasper pageant is an all-Canadian show. It has Canadian actors, producer, set - designer, writer, music and a Canadian story told in its natural, historical setting.

Apart from the script by Elsie Park Gowan, Edmonton dramatist, direction by Jack McCreath, Alberta government drama director, and the orchestra, there are no professionals. The majority of the cast, all members of the Jasper community, will be making their first stage appearance.

In a way, the pageant is the brain-child of Jasper park botanist Val Kulak, who two years ago suggested a major summer historial tourist attraction to the Jasper Chamber of Commerce. The chamber set up a committee to investigate the possibilities and its findings led to the present production.

"It's remarkable a town the size of Jasper (population about 250) at the height of its tourist season would be interested in attempting to involve itself in an undertaking of such vast proportions," said Mr. McCreath. "It surely must be unique in Canadian theatrical history."

All has not been easy going in getting the show on its feet. Everyone has had other jobs, besides acting, and the two often conflicted, making rehearsals difficult.

Because of the large numbers involved, it was virtually necessary to take a roll-call at each practice session. Usually several members would be missing—due to a lack of babysitters or someone ill in the family.

But nearly always there would be on hand new recruits to stand in for the absentees.

The production, however, got one of its biggest difficulties safely tucked under its belt several weeks before opening night, when the whole cast made a trip to Edmonton. There, in a non-stop 17-hour session, they made a complete recording of the show.

Said Mr. McCreath:

"With everything on tape, we don't need to worry about actors forgetting their lines or losing their voices."

Deckhand Sings Praises of Capt. For Rescue

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Deckhand Joe Barclay, 38, of Toronto still was singing the praises today of Capt. Jack Sinnot of the tug James Whalen for saving him from drowning Monday in the frigid waters of Lake Superior, about 75 miles northeast of here.

The 36-year-old Port Arthur captain turned the wheel of his tug over to his 74-year-old father when he saw Barclay fall into the water after losing his balance while preparing to fasten a line from the Whalen to a barge.

Capt. Sinnot jumped into the water, swam to Barclay, who, by this time, was under water. The pair drifted 200 feet before they were picked up by the tug. The captain kept Barclay's head above water as they drifted for 30 minutes.

RAWDON

Parsonage Board Lawn Social Most Successful

RAWDON — On Friday evening the annual Rawdon Circuit Parsonage Board Lawn Social was held on Wellman's school grounds, with a large crowd in attendance. There were over 300 paid admissions. The public school children, members of the two ball teams and the band were admitted free.

About 7 p.m. two ball games were staged. A team of Mount Pleasant juniors won over a combined group from Wellman's and Bethel, and this game was staged on the school diamond.

The senior boys played in a sugary field with Mount Pleasant winning over Wellman's.

Three special booths handled the donations from the three appointments and all this was clear profit. Wellman's had a fish pond where the children had a delightful time.

Bethel ladies sold home-made candy, fresh-baked buns and pops in the pod, as their allotment.

Mount Pleasant ladies provided 25-cent wrapped parcels and eager buyers were on the scene to purchase a surprise parcel.

There was also a confectionery booth and it did a fair business despite the cool evening.

ENTERTAINMENT

Shortly after 8 p.m. 64 members of Colborne band and baton swingers under the leadership of Bob Turner, presented a half-hour program of music and drill. The group was dressed in outfits of royal blue with gold braid trim and made a pretty picture as they paraded on the school grounds.

At 9 p.m. there were several games and races for the children in attendance and the winners received cash awards.

Refreshments were served buffet style as a new innovation this year. Each person chose their own selection of sandwiches, pickles, cheese, cake and tarts, topped off with coffee. The food was placed on a long table and their was a good variety.

The parsonage board will have over $100 to apply on their tax bill.

Arrest of Four May Solve Jewel Robbery

MONTREAL (CP) — City and provincial police early today raided a cabin at nearby St. Calixte and arrested three men and a woman believed responsible for a $20,000 jewelry store holdup here last Tuesday.

Last Tuesday, three armed men bricked their way into a jewelry store owned by Jean-Paul Emery by phoning him for an after-hours appointment to study some valuable rings.

When Emery opened the store, the trio tied him and his assistant and scooped up more than 125 watches, diamond and wedding rings, diamonds, lighters and $3,100 in cash into bags.

Juveniles Rally To Defeat Camnifton 11-4

Exploding for eight runs in the top of the seventh, Belleville Juveniles upset the Camnifton Slippers 11-4 last night in a South Hastings Baseball League fixture in the village.

Camnifton took an early lead, scoring all their four runs in the first two frames. They led by the 4-0 score until the fifth when Belleville cut the lead in half and promptly followed with the eight big ones in the seventh. They added on in the eighth.

An error put Huddlestone on first to open the Belleville 7th and the hits started to flow. Fletcher Ryan banged a single and Little followed suit. Walmsley added another before St. Louis walked and Kingston doubled for two runs. Foster also contributed a single and Craig drew the second walk of the frame before the first man went out. Huddleston up for the second time in the inning was hit by a pitch, Ryan was safe on a fielder's choice and Little cracked another single to end the scoring and put the Juveniles in front 10-4. Kingston's double and Foster's single in the 8th error made it 11-4.

Joe Ryan toiled on the hill for the winners, stopping Camnifton on eight base hits in his initial league start. Ryan nipped two on third strikes while walking seven. He threw good ball after a weak start.

Cord Oliver went the route for the losers, tagged for 12 safeties. He had a no-hit shutout going until the fifth frame. Oliver watched three men and walked an equal number.

Ryan walked the first two batters in the end and the Clippers netted three runs on hits by Shortield and MacDonald plus a pair of errors. Oliver's single and an error made it 4-0. The ailty burd got two back on hits by Craig and Huddlestone and Little, plus Moore's error settled.

Charlie Kingston was the big man for Belleville with a double and two singles, while Gary Little discovered form for three hits. Bill Foster had two singles with one each for Ron Walmsley, Fletcher Ryan, Don Huddlestone and Glen Craig.

Hugh Petrie had a perfect two-for-two singles in defeat while Jim MacDonald also had a pair of singles. Oliver, Baker, Shefield and Moore each had a single.

Line-ups:

Belleville — Wright, Little, Walmsley, St. Louis, Kingston, Foster, Craig, Culloden, O'Neil, Huddlestone, Ryan.

Camnifton — Moore, Stoffner, Sheffield, MacDonald, Cole, Baker, Weyrs, Forsythe, Petrie, and Oliver.

Umpires: Cornell (p) and Williams (b). Scorer: Frankie Cris.

Combinettes Win Over Brighton By 5-0 Score

Belleville Combinettes racked up a 5-0 shutout over Brighton girls in an Intermediate Ladies' Softball fixture in Brighton last evening behind Bernie Thompson's hurling.

Miss Thompson stopped the homesters cold on five safeties in the closely-contested game. She nailed ten batters via the strikeout method and passed only three. Summers was her catcher.

B. Hill was the Brighton twirler, allowing nine hits. Beth Bonastel was her battery mate.

Combinettes broke a 0-0 deadlock with three runs in the top of the fifth and added two in the seventh.

Carolyn Baker and Helen Reeves topped the winners at the plate, each with two hits in four attempts.

The winners committed two errors and Brighton three.

Elgins Blank Dutchies 3-0

ST. THOMAS (CP)—St. Thomas Elgins scored a 3-0 Senior Intercounty Baseball League victory Wednesday night in a rain-shortened game against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The game was called with two out in the bottom of the fifth inning. John Lewandowski, suffering his third loss in eight decisions gave up all St. Thomas runs.

Elgins scored first in the second inning when, with two out, they loaded the bases on three singles and Lewandowski walked opposition pitcher Al Dumouchelle to force in the game-winning run.

Lewandowski tossed a home-run ball to third baseman Ray Urban in the fifth after walking Chuck Garivaldis.

Dumouchelle took his second victory by five decisions.

British Paper Backs Leonard In Golf Gripe

LONDON (CP)—A British newspaper sides with Canadian golfer Stan Leonard in his complaints about inadequate facilities at the British Open championship in Britain.

The Evening Standard, sitting a dispatch from Canada which quotes Leonard as saying British golf authorities have some "antiquated" ideas, acknowledges that the Hoylake area near Liverpool, where the British Open was played, is "totally outclassed" for a major tournament.

"Competitors could not get a hot meal on the course," says the newspaper. "There were two refreshment tents available, organized by private caterers; one offering a cold lunch with little choice, the other run on the cafeteria system."

CURTAIN FALLS?

The prelude to what might be the final curtain to senior hockey here, for next season at least, was enacted at a special meeting of the Belleville Senior Hockey Club executive.

As has been reported, the executive turned back the senior franchise to the City Arena Commission from which it was obtained for a year's operation.

Inability to secure a senior "B" grouping and the fact that operational costs of a senior "A" entry would amount to some $15,000 plus the box-office receipts, were given as the main reasons for the relinquishing of the franchise.

The decision was not a "go-off-at-half-cock" affair. Members of the executive during the past weeks have probed and thoroughly investigated the approximate cost of operation of a senior "A" club, and the above figures were the result.

And after his experience in the realm of financing a senior hockey club, five gets you ten the Arena Commission will have no part of it.

So the farmers hope for senior hockey here next season is a big-hearted money daddy with an iron will to themselves to throw in the pot or an organization or organizations willing to make the gamble.

Teams in the newly-formed senior "A" circuit of eastern Ontario have made no bones about the fact that it will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 to run and operate a club in the group. Whitby Dunlops and the Kingston Limestones have sponsors. We understand the Cornwall Colts are operated by the community arena.

And with the strong possibility that the Orillia Packers will be a non-starter when the hatches goes up next winter, that leaves Whitby, Cornwall and Kingston the keen survivors of what was formerly, and fondly hoped would be, a fan-team field.

A three-team senior "A" loop in eastern Ontario will mean additional financial burden on the part of the teams involved. It is a long hike from Cornwall to Whitby and a condensed schedule will necessitate more trips — and heavier transportation costs. Kingston is sitting pretty — separated by the middle.

Whitby's Wren Blair has stated he will bolster this champion senior "B" Dunlops with five or six players of established senior calibre. The Kingston Limestones' management say they will concentrate on over-the-age-hump junior "A" players, which will replace some of the veterans of the former Goodyear squad. Cornwall will have to build strongly to contend with the Dunlops, and Kingston may find it will have to entice the senior "A" market in order to establish comparable strength.

And so unless a near-miracle happens, Belleville joins the growing list of hockey centres forced out of action by the transition of a popular sport to the more or less ugly realm of business.

And you can blame it on the rising costs of operation, biggest phase of which was players' salaries. It did not work satisfactorily last year when the players took over the club, assisted by a hard-working executive, and had to take it on the financial chin at the close of the season.

President Frank Granstone and his executive had no other alternative than to relinquish the franchise under the existing conditions. They learned through bitter experience what it costs to administrate and operate a senior "B" club. Unfortunately Belleville did not come up with a winning club last year to wash out the general public apathy towards hockey had much to do with it.

When veteran senior "A" centres like those in western Ontario and some in the northern part of the province, which have more or less modern arenas have to fold through financial yearnos, what can be expected to happen in places like Belleville.

With the present cost of operation, this city with its arena and seating facilities could not expect to successfully operate a senior "A" team if it used senior "A" players.

The Whitby Dunlops in published financial figures were perhaps the only, or one of the few and very few at that, senior hockey clubs to finish on the right side of the ledger. And at that, according to the figures, it amounted to something like $100 after an operational cost of some $35,000.

If and when the curtain falls on organized hockey here it will be the first time in the history of the sport that this city will not be represented. Veteran sportsmen here state Belleville has had an OHA representation in one classification or another, and often more than one, since the birth of the schoolboy series body.

Championships here come to the Old Lady of the Moira down through the years but this was before the days when puck-chasing athletes demanded bank executive salaries for doing three or four hours work a week.

In those days clubs started off from scratch with equipment, optimism and play-minded players with their eyes on the puck rather than the pay envelope. And some of them turn out to be nothing more than "prunes."

If senior hockey is not played here this winter, it perhaps will provide the opportunity for the operation of a junior "B" club. There is a large number of juvenile players in this city—and some of them good ones—who have reached the precipice that marks the end of their minor days.

It has been suggested that a Junior "B" group be formed in this district comprising Belleville, Trenton, Napanee, Kingston and possibly another club with definite all-out restrictions on imported players.

This suggestion should be carried out whether senior hockey is played here or not. These youngsters have the right to play hockey, but under existing circumstances they were like Kelly's mare. After jumping the juvenile age limit they "had no place to go." Maybap this is the opportunity to provide the hockey these youngsters should have.

Cincy in Favored Position To Widen Margin Overnight; Bombers Host Indians, Chisox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The time of decision is at hand in the National and American League pennant races, where Cincinnati Redlegs and New York Yankees enjoy the leads with great expectations ahead.

Cincinnati could fatten its 1½-game National League edge almost overnight. And the Yankees, even with Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra bothered by injury, could bust the race wide open.

The Redlegs have 13 games remaining on their current home stand and get back to business after the all-star game break by opening a three - game series against the Philadelphia Phillies tonight.

Second - place Milwaukee and Brooklyn's third - place world champions, meanwhile, have a four-game set on tap at Milwaukee opening with a twi-night doubleheader today. That puts the Dodgers, who have won 12 of their last 16 and have a four-game winning streak on the fire, in a dandy position.

ON THE SPOT

That is also put the Braves and Dodgers, who are two games behind the Redlegs, on the spot with the fourth-place St. Louis and fifth-place Pittsburgh. The Cardinals, particularly, are on the fence—having lost 11 of their last 16 and eight of their last nine to fall to a mere one-percentage-point edge over the Bucs.

Rain postponed Milwaukee's scheduled make-up game with New York's Giants Wednesday night.

The American League race is almost exactly as it was at this stage last year—with the Yankees apparently safely out front. New York holds a 6½-game edge over second-place Chicago and third-place Cleveland going into a three game series with the Indians today and with the White Sox clouted and take a two-game lead with the Yankees in that two points back of Chicago. It wasn't until late August that New York finally did its pennant drive in gear.

RENT MAY HELP

Manager Casey Stengel thinks the three-day all-star game break may have helped his wobbling pitching staff, but the big question is how effectively Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra can work with their injuries.

Mantle, still wearing a brace on his injured right knee, says his nine-inning haul in the all-star game did no his knee any further harm. And Yogi insists there is nothing much wrong with the little finger on his right hand which was banged by a foul tip in Tuesday's classic.

There also are two notable injuries in the National League—with Milwaukee catcher Del Crandall nursing an elbow, which forced him out of the all-star game; and Brooklyn third baseman Randy Jackson, the second-best hitter in the Dodgers' timid bat attack at .294, out for about a week with a slashed thumb suffered in a household mishap.

REDARD WINS

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Bedard and Lawrence Barclay came through with identical Wednesday in the Quebec Open tennis championships before rain curtailed play.

Bedard, the Sherbrooke, Que., Davis Cup ace, earned a semifinals spot by trouncing Jim Bentley of Toronto 6-1, 6-1. Barclay, from Montreal and Vancouver won his way into the quarter-finals by beating Dave Piers of Halifax 8-6, 6-3.

All-Star Game Started in Early Century

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The all-star baseball game didn't have its origin in Boston in 1933, as the majors would have you believe. The big show in Washington Tuesday was the continuation of an idea that began a 1903.

The first all-star game was played that year at a fashionable ice course on Long Island between picked nines of gentlemen. New York won two of three games against Brooklyn.

That is one of the historical facts uncovered by Dr. Harold Seymour, a former Dodger batboy who has just earned his Ph.D. allegiance with a thesis on The Rise of Major League Baseball.

His findings clearly conclodes that the U.S. national sport" is neither national in origin nor a sport.

Dr. Seymour traces baseball back to a rhymed description in a children's book published in London in 1744. He identifies it with the British game of rounders and adds that the Dutch of New Amsterdam played baseball.

Although Abner Doubleday has been credited with inventing the modern game of baseball, Seymour finds no mention of this in Doubleday's letters or speeches. It was Alexander Cartwright, organizer of New York Knickerbockers in 1842, who established such modern rules as three strikes as an out, three outs an inning, a nine-man team with definite positions and a diamond with 90-foot baselines.

Archie Moore Starts Training

GRAVENHURST (CP)—Archie Moore Wednesday did his first sparring since he arrived at the Muskoka Lakes training camp Sunday. He will fight James J. Parker of Barrie in a heavyweight match July 25 in Toronto.

Moore did two rounds of shadow boxing and one on the light bag. He then sparred three rounds with Dale Hall, a six-foot-two heavyweight from California who is about Parker's size.

Star-Stacked Golf Assembly Tees Off in $26,800 Open

By CHARLES BARRY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ROYAL QUEBEC GOLF CLUB, Beaconsfield, Que. (CP) — A star-studded collection of golfers will get today in pursuit of Canada's fattest golf reward in the country's $26,800 Open.

The weather looks home $6,000. Second money is $3,720 and third prize $2,180, with the remainder split into increasingly smaller chunks. There are 17 individual prizes, the minimum $160. In addition, Canadian pros are also competing for special prizes totalling $1,600.

The picturesque, wide - open Royal Quebec course, with its par 36-37—72, may be a beating factor in the four rounds. Defending champion Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., is among the big money-bound American pros who could smash the course competitive record set by Ben Hogan if he is right.

The unbearable, rainy weather that dogged the Canadian Open at Beaconsfield last week has been taking a welcome rest at Royal Quebec. Late Wednesday night there was considerable talk of weather and course conditions for the opening round today.

LARGE ENTRY

In all 121 names were in the first round draw. The list will be chopped after the first round to the low 60 and ties, plus as many as are needed to have 12 Canadian pros and 6 amateurs.

Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., and Al Balding of Toronto are competing and are tabbed as Canada's best in this one.

There was a flurry Wednesday when Balding had failed to arrive early in the afternoon and a word had been received from him. The draw was in preparation and Balding's name had already been dropped from it altogether.

Among the pros playing are young Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass., tense Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., former amateur ace Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, Eddie Merrins, Bud Holscher, Burke of Kissacola Lake, N.Y., Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and a host of others.

BANDERAS RATED HIGH

An amateur who may give them trouble is Doug Sanders, the 20-year-old Miami Beach, Fla., insurance salesman who won the Canadian Open at Beaconsfield last week.

Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, also is here preparing to improve his ranking in the money-winning list. He now rates a second behind Dr. Cary Middlecoff, but a victory here would put him at the head of the list.

The National Hockey League enjoyed a brief moment in the sun Wednesday when Jim Morrison, Toronto Maple Leafs defenceman won the annual NHL golf crown in a match against Jean Guy Gendron of New York Rangers, Marcel Pronovost of Detroit Red Wings and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens.

Morrison's 81 was three strokes up on Gendron. Pronovost was third with an 87, and Beliveau took a 92, largely because of a bad front nine.

Morrison's victory earned him the Conn Smythe Trophy, and he said afterwards "it might be worth a raise come contract-signing time." Smythe is president of the Leafs.

Unbeaten Machen K.O's Valdez in Eighth Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen heightened his prestige with a smashing knockout victory Wednesday night over the Cuban giant, Nino Valdez.

Machen, a quick-striking opportunist from California, bent Valdez like a jackknife at the midriff right to the stomach in the eighth round. Ten seconds later Nino, lying on his side, was counted out for the first time in his career. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Already the 190-pounds heavyweight, although he had had only 15 professional fights, Machen undoubtedly advanced a notch or two in the ratings on his sparkling victory.

Whoever his stashing left hooks caught Valdez off guard, Machen was on him like a cat. In the fourth, he stunned Nino with a left and had landed three more lefts and three rights to the jaw before the powerful Cuban fell halfway through the ropes.

Machen was just as quick in the eighth and final round when a left-right combination knocked Valdez into the ropes. Nino dropped his guard and left his midsection open for the finishing blows.

Favorites Lead In Junior Golf Tourney

By JOHN VOTRICH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OSHAWA (CP)—Junior golfers showed the way in the first round of the 36th annual Ontario Amateur golf championship here Wednesday.

Phil Brownlee, 15, of Toronto Scarboro and Gary Cowan, 17, of Kitchener Rockway both won their matches handily in match play at the Oshawa Golf and Country Club.

Brownlee early defeated P. R. Chambers of Toronto Summit 9 and 7 and Cowan won handily from Frank Hinder of Windsor Roseland. Cowan's 9 and 8 margin was the widest possible.

Almost predicted due to the publicity given to the youngsters, Robert Corbett of Oakville and Tom Woodall of Weston battled their way to the 36th hole before Corbett, who had to fight back to tie Woodall on the back nine, won. This left a record for the amateur set last year.

Last year at the Kitchener Rockpey course in the amateur, a playoff of six additional holes was needed before a winner was decided.

NAMES DRAW BYES

The big names in amateur golf were idle in the first round as they received byes into today's second round. Three of Ontario's Willingdon Cup team are in the tournament. Moe Norman, 1955 Canadian open champion, and Gerry Magee, defending Ontario Amateur champion, lead the Thornhill and Richmond Hill duo. Bay also is entered while Windsor's Dick Wesley has chosen to pass up the amateur.

The winner of the Amateur automatically qualifies for the Willingdon Cup team. If the winner is a dark horse, then Bill Moreland, who placed fourth in the Willingdon Cup trials, will have to drop out.

The Oshawa course is 6,120 yards long and a creek runs across and along several fairways. Trees lining the fairways make things tough for long shot slices. Par for the course is 71.

Third Test Opens Today

LONDON (CP) — The third cricket test match opened at the Yorkshire city of Leeds today with the Mil reading "England versus Australia."

But the match, with considerable accuracy, might have been billed: "England versus Australia and the Headingley jinx."

The times England has met Australia on Leeds' Headingley pitch without once coming off the field as victor. Headingley is, in fact, the only regular test ground in England where the Australians never have suffered defeat. Of the 10 matches played, Australia has won four and the remaining six ended in draws.

England will need an assist from the westerman to crack the jinx this time.

The Leeds wicket, often referred to as a "featherbed" because bowlers can get little turn on the ball off it, should favor Australia's strong batting side. Only extensive rain is likely to give England such bowlers Fred Lee and Jim Laker a chance to hold the Aussies in check.

A victory for Australia, already one game up in the five-match series, would leave England facing the unenviable task of winning the last two matches to avoid defeat.

Russ 'Half-Pints' Won't Beat Yank Hoopsters

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian basketball players are half-pint squirts who can leap like bull frogs and run like the wind, but they won't beat the United States in the Melbourne Olympics.

That's the first hand report brought back from Europe today by Walter Kennedy, world-shifting publicist for Abe Saperstein's Harlem Globetrotters. Kennedy's travels have given him periodic looks at the Soviet cagers.

He said this year's Russian team is an entirely different one from that which played in Rockford.

"It's younger than the Rockford team and I believe probably shorter and maybe not as good. I saw few fellows over six feet. I'd max six-foot-one on the team we considered tall.

"Of course there's that seven-foot-seven center, Yan Krumnich but they consider him sort of an oddity and set a regular. He plays less than half a game. He's awfully clumsy, can't move and can't shoot."

Kennedy said the Russians have learned many of the modern American techniques of one-handed jump shots and outside shooting. "Our men, who will have a big edge in height, also are much more poised and much smoother with their pass patterns," he added. "We should win easily."

BOMBERS REPORT

WINNIPEG (CP)—Twelve doctors and one dentist took instruments out of their little black bags Wednesday night and checked over 26 players at the 1956 edition of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Only one of 19 American imports signed was actually among the missing as the players picked up their equipment for the long training grind before Bombers' first exhibition game against the Calgary Stampeders Aug. 4.

He was quarterback Eagle Day of the University of Mississippi. Coach Al Sherman was confident Day would report today.

Kinsmen Curtail Harness Race Meets Following Lack of Public Response

The Kinsmen Club lowered the curtain on its summer harness racing project last night.

The announcement to cease activities came at the close of another highly successful meet that attracted but some 400 patrons of the sport.

The apathetic attitude of the public, mainly city residents resulted in financial losses to the sponsoring service club. It was impossible to carry on under such circumstances, the announcement said.

Kinsman Don Thomas said over the public address system that the Club had done its best to bring the best harness racing flesh here but the resulting box-office receipts did not meet operational expenses.

He expressed the club's appreciation of the fine co-operation given them by horse owners and drivers in bringing the best meets held in Central Ontario here. The sport may be resumed at the fall fair.

Last night's meet was another thriller for the fans with each heat being closely contested and featuring five chariot finishes. A spirit of fine sportsmanship was shown by owner and driver Ed. Campbell of Campbellford, who piloted his horse "Big Walnut" in each heat of the "C" Class. Stanbury drove the heats with his left leg encased in a heavy cast, the result of an accident.

"Jocelals Minty Lou" and "Symbol Allen" doubled it out in the "A" Class with Symbol winning the mile and finishing second in the three-quarter dash. The mare reversed the decisions. The time of 2.13 1/5 for the mile was the best of the night.

"Linda Jean Lee," driven by Bruce Carleton of Kingston, took the "B" Class race in two straight heats with "Lucky Rhuna Gratian" driven by Ike Corcoran, of Kingston, in second position. Linda came from fifth position in the second lap to overtake "Gratian" in a close driving finish to the mile. The time was 2.15 3/5.

Jack Ball's "Mighty Gun" from Bellefonte took a race pair of heats to the field in the "C" Class taking both heats in easy finishes from "Teddy Gratian Royal," driven by B. Newton of Belleville.

From the back stretch carried him to a length victory in the mile in the time of 2.16 2/5.

"Island City Peter," driven by J. Holmes, Kingston, finished in front in both heats of the "D" Class with "Our Gun" driven by Ted Lazarides, Baltimore taking second in both dashes. The time for the mile was 2.18 1/5.

Leafs Split With Bisons, Miami Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo Bisons didn't land one player on the starting International League lineup at Maple Leaf Stadium, but they should get a berth or two just for being able to cost old Toronto's first-top Maple Leafs.

The Bisons collected successive home runs by Lou Ortiz, Lobo Easter and Eddie Mierkowicz in clumping the second-place Leafs 3-2 in a scheduled doubleheader. Then Toronto got its own power in game to take the nightcap 7 - 3 as Ed Stevens smacked a three - run homer and Bill Wilson a two-run blast.

The split left Toronto with 12 victories in 14 games, and one game ahead of Montreal, rained out in a scheduled doubleheader with third-place Rochester.

In the other games, fourth-place Miami defeated Havana 5-3 as Bobby Paige and Bob Hazle combined for an eight-hitter, and Richmond climbed back to within a half-game of fifth-place Columbus by battering the Jets 9-3.

The Bisons made eight home runs hit in the twin bill with Ortiz tagging the circuit clouters' total to 21. Easter's smash boosted his league-leading total to 19 as Mierkowicz slapped out Lynn Lovenguth in his bid for a 14th home run. Shortly after Dorowan beat the Leafs with a five-hitter.

In the afterpiece, Pete Wojey won the first 11-inning game homered once and Ortiz twice for the three Buffalo runs.

Paige struck out eight and gave only five hits in his six innings with Dick Hall and Ed Rakow combining run came in the seventh inning after Marion Monzo reached base way to Raul Sanchez. Two singles and a walk set it up with the bases full for a double-play ball.

Dick Getter and Tom Hamilton shared first base for Richmond and drive in four runs between them as the Virginia club up a 5-0 lead and then coasted in. Eddie Logat and Wimpy Nardella scattered 14 hit blits.

Leafs Lose Decision to Cat Lovers

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs have run up an impressive winning streak in the International Baseball League—12 victories in their last 14 starts—but have lost a decision to cat lovers.

The trouble started Tuesday when the Leafs management attempted to boost a Friday—July 13th—game with Rochester Red Wings by advertising free admission to anyone arriving at the ball park with a live black cat. Dead cats would give the bearer a 50-per-cent reduction.

The newspaper advertisement prompted angry phone calls from animal lovers. The Humane Society said a wave of cat-killing and cat-theft would sweep the city.

Leaf publicist Cec Fiskier and his wife and children would speak to him.

Faced by the storm of protest the club capitulated. In a hurried evening communique to baseball forces they announced surrender terms: Proof of ownership in the form of a photograph of a black cat will be sufficient.

rosby, Woolworth Syndicate eads Bids for Detroit Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — An 11-man syndicate headed by two Michigan radio executives and consisting such famous names as Crosby and Woolworth today was in full stride ahead of three other groups still in the running for Detroit Tigers.

The 53-year-old Detroiter whose company operates four Michigan radio stations heads the syndicate. So is Fred Knorr, a business associate and close friend of Walter (Gabby) Briggs Jr., the Tigers' president.

Others in it include singer-actor Bing Crosby; John Fetzer, president of Fetzer Broadcasting Company, operator of several radio stations in Michigan and other states, and R. P. Woolworth of Woolworth chain store family and a member of Stone and Webster New York investment firm. Their bid for the baseball company and Briggs Stadium is $5,000,000, $250,000 more than the next syndicate headed by Bill Veeck and under terms submitted by movie producer Bob Hope and Toronto magnate Jack Kent Cooke.

Briggs, who with his sisters inherited the Tigers from their father, said he has altered the terms for disposing of the franchise.

LANS CHANGED

Briggs said all along that the top three or four bids would be met along to American League baseball Harridge and commissioner Ford Frick for their approval to "avoid any complication."

But after an informal conference with Harridge and Frick during the all-star game in Washington earlier, Briggs changed his mind.

"We had a chance to go over all the competitive bidders," said Briggs. "Actually, we had narrowed it down to four and all were qualified. All of us agreed in Washington that it would be best for the Tigers' group to select one and then have the baseball men examine it.

"For days there have been reports that Knorr and Crosby has the inside track. Briggs holds about seven per cent of the stock in Knorr's radio company.

"It's pretty obvious what I think of him," said Briggs. "He couldn't have invested money in his outfit if I didn't have an abundance of confidence in him. In my book, he's a pretty wonderful fellow."

Times are when the impossible seems possible in bridge play. Contracts that look unmakeable become easy to be unbeatable. You must think twice before condemning a hand to fall-

South became the declarer at a small slam contract at the spade in the deal you see here:

Opening lead from West was the simplest club. When dummy's hand goes down it is not such a bad looker. It has point-hilities in the long club suit if I could be set up in time for stuffs. If a diamond finesse proves dummy could stuff a heart on the second led diamond. It is a thought, even if fancy. But a look at opponent's hands tells you that would fall flat as fancy.

However, declarer decided to await developments before risking any chances. He grabbed trick one with dummy's ace and since he must lose a club trick anyway, led back a small club.

East got it with the king and went stuff the heart nine as a signal for a return in that suit. This sent did with the heart jack. South hopped on it with the ace and led a small trump.

Dummy won the trump and replaced a club which south ruffed high. Another trump entered dummy. Another club return was ruffed high by south. One more trump was cashed, landing in dummy.

On the two dummy clubs, south shed a heart and a diamond. Dummy now had a trump, heart and a diamond left. South had spent four diamond ace-queen

Frankford Bows To Madoc By 6-4 Score

Tom Burnside' Madoc softballers racked up their second victory in as many nights last evening as they downed the Frankford Merchants 6-4 in a Belleville and District contest at Madoc. It was their second win of the season, having lost their first 11 games.

Frankford jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first but Madoc knotted the score in the third frame. The two each battle continued with the Merchants platting singletons in the fourth and fifth for a 4-2 lead while Madoc made it 4-3 in their half of the fifth. Frankford scorer allowed the tying and winning markers in the while another Madoc tally crossed the plate later.

Ken Pigden was on the hill to gain his initial victory of the year. He surrendered 13 hits while fanning nine. Pigden walked just two batters, both in the first frame.

Bobby Green hurried in a losing cause, allowing only six safties. Both had 13 strikes but passed seven and received weak support. Frankford committed five errors while Madoc bobbled twice.

Pigden walked the first two batters to open the game but bore down scoring on base hits by Carr and Wickson. Hagerman tied the score for the winners with a two run double following a pair of walks.

Bob Hunter singled and stole third before Green singled him home in the fourth for Frankford. Four base hits in the next frame by Cosgrove, Wickson, Rankin and Hunter made it 4-2, closing the Merchants' scoring.

Madoc started fourth baseman Ernie Carswell tripled, scoring later on a fielder's choice play. The Frankford club fell apart in the sixth with three glaring errors and Johnson's double platting two markers. Hagerman singled and Pigden drove in his own insurance run in the seventh with another base hingo.

Clare Hagerman's double and single paced the Madoc crew with the only other winner with two hits. Ernie Carswell tripled while Whiteman, Sid Johnson and Pigden had one other.

All Frankford hits were of the one-base variety. Bob Green and Harry Wickson each poked a few with Mike Cosgrove and Bob Hunter getting two each. Claude Carr and Bill Rankin also hit safely.

Lineups:

Frankford— Dafoe, Cosgrove, Carr, Wickson, Rankin, Hunter, Gilmour, Green, Tremeer, Hunter.

Madoc— D. Burnside, Whiteman, Carswell, Hicks, Hagerman, Devolin, Johnson, Shaw, Pigden.

Your Horoscope

For Friday, July 14, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Stellar aspects will work for your benefit if you are doing a good job. Most new endeavors are favored, should bring satisfying results.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Be ambitious but don't overestimate your capabilities. Be systematic and try to promote closer harmony in business and family relationship. Be cheerful.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Some unfriendly situations. Proceed carefully in all essential duties. Strive to realize ambitions through constructive and cooperative action. Test important.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Vibrations akin to Gemini's. You are more likely to face unpleasantness in personal and heart interests than in practical matters, however. So keep usefully occupied but don't overtax yourself.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—This is no time in which to take unnecessary risks. The day is conducive to earnest endeavor, sound matters, however. Stabilize your position; work for future security. In p.m., healthy recreation is in order.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be prudent in financial dealings, shopping, investments new. Aggressive tactics and taking chances are taboo. Earmark your objective than work for it with unswerving attention.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Get started early at difficult tasks while energy and ideas are at a high pitch. Improve the quality of your work. That is more important than quantity. Avoid extremes, haste.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)— Astuteness and clever management will be required to obtain best results now. Finish incompleted tasks on the weekend if possible. Don't procrastinate.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)— Don't be confused by a headwave of activity. Isolate essentials calmly, cooperatively. Lend your good ideas and advice to others; they will be helpful. Don't worry; do your best.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)— No matter what problems you face, perform in accordance with your highest ability. Quick but accurate judgment, commonsense procedure reward.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Day calls for a first rate performance. Opportunities are within reach but you must do the reaching. However, move cautiously in untried ventures, making side estimates.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Progressive interests, research, study, expansion in industries and commodities should run smoothly. When duties are accomplished, relax; replenish energy for tomorrow's duties.

You born today come under the influence of the Moon and are often as changeable, yet steadfast and constant as that beautiful planet. You have wonderful qualities that make one glad to know you; will aid others less fortunate than yourself and are a devoted friend of children, old folks and your family. You have innate good business sense, can sell and buy astutely. You have so many valuable assets, talents and capabilities that it behooves you to faithfully develop and use them to further your advancement. Don't fear competition—meet it. Birthdate: John Dee, Eng. mathematician, astrologer.

CANCER WARNING

BRIGHTON, Eng. (Reuters)—A leading British surgeon said on Wednesday that the cancer rate has increased by 125 per cent in the last generation and "unless this trend is halted, one in every two children born today will die of cancer." Surgeon A. Lawrence Abel, speaking at the annual British Medical Association conference, said many of the 16,000 annual deaths in Britain from lung cancer could have been avoided by shunning cigarets. Nearly 7,000 of the 8,000 women who die every year from breast cancer could be saved by simple self-examination.

BELLEVILLE — KINGSTON

WE RELIEVE THAT WE HAVE one of the best homes in the city available at the asking price of about $15,000. Situated on a large corner lot. It is likely that $3,500. cash will be required. This is a 4-bedroom home with 2½ baths and a pleasant modern kitchen. There is a full basement with furnace and it is complete with all conveniences, Venetian blinds. The lot is finished with shrubs, trees and lawn. Excellent new home in newer subdivision. Within walking distance of Bellevile. Asking price $15,500.

ONLY $7,950.

YOU WILL AGREE that this is a reasonable price for a brand new two-bedroom bungalow. It is on the East Side. Indeed — an ideal home for a couple or the small family or retired couple. It has a full basement with furnace. This is a new home recently built and under guarantee. It doesn't cost a cent to look it over and you may be happy if you do.

DUPLEX

WE HAVE NEVER HAD A BETTER BUY IN A DUPLEX that is really a duplex. Not a make-shift arrangement but a duplex in every respect. It is provided with completely self-contained apartments. The buildings is only a few years old. It is on Front St. and is truly in the best of condition. The heating plant is almost new being the hot water circulating type with oil. This is the type of home that will stand up for you for years to come. The price is only $13,500. Call us and we are sure you will like it and perhaps we can make a deal.

BURTON ST.

STOREY AND HALF. Could be used either as a four-bedroom home or a two-bedroom one with a large self-contained upstairs flat. It has oil heating. Large recreation room and garage. $2,000. down. Balance in one mortgage.

Plane Missing Since Sunday Being Sought

MONTREAL (CP)—Ten aircraft swept across barren Labrador hunting Wednesday in a search for a single-engine Norseman aircraft missing since Sunday with two men aboard.

The RCAF announced the search resumed in the afternoon along the 200-mile route between Fox Harbor, Nfld., and Goose Bay, Labrador.

President Tom Wheeler of Wheeler Airlines, owners of the Norseman, said he is confident the missing pilot, Herb White, 32, was capable of handling any emergency.

"He is one of our soundest pilots," Mr. Wheeler said.

Hometown of the missing pilot, who has been living at Goose Bay for a year, believed to be St. Thomas. The passenger was unidentified.

A spokesman for RCAF search and rescue in Halifax said 27here is definitely no "ots of hope" for the safety of the two men.

The aircraft carried emergency supplies for a month. It was the second time in five months that White was reported missing. Last February he turned up safe near Chimo, Que., with a party of six Eskimos three days late on an Arctic trip.

Drag for Body Of Indian Guide

TIMAGAMI (CP) — Dragging was to start again today for the body of David Messabie, a fifty-year-old Indian guide thought to have drowned on Saturday night in Lake Timagami, 60 miles north of North Bay.

Provincial police began dragging Wednesday night after another Indian guide, Fred Potts, 20, discovered Messabie's skiff while he was taking a party of tourists on a fishing trip.

The missing man was employed at Camp Chimo, 17 miles away. He left the camp Tuesday evening for a visit to Camp White Bear, six miles away. Shortly before midnight he began the return journey and has not been seen since.

Lightning Levels Paris Warehouse

PARIS, Ont. (CP)—Lightning struck the Sanderson-Harold Company Ltd., warehouse Wednesday and touched off a $500,000-fire that levelled the one-storey building.

It was the worst fire in 50 years for this town. The last major fire was when the Sanderson-Harold plant, located in another part of town, burned down.

Residents hurried to the north end of Paris to watch the flames, which could be seen for 20 miles. The local fire brigade, augmented by trucks and firemen from Brantford, had the fire under control four hours after it started at 3:30 p.m.

Destroyed were 500 wooden refrigerator storage cabinets and other equipment. The blaze swept through a drying kiln, paint room and finishing room, consuming screen doors and window frames made by the firm.

Strijdom Has Put Squeeze On Bantu People Who Make Two Thirds of S.A. Population

TORONTO (CP) — The government of Johannes Strijdom, determined to keep the outnumbered white man in control of South Africa, has put the squeeze on the black - skinned Bantu who make up two-thirds of the country's population.

The story of the nation's racial problem and the increasing number of restrictions on its activities of the Bantu is told in a series of articles in the Toronto Telegram by Ken MacTaggart who has been making a tour of Africa.

Basically, the government's plan, known as apartheid—separateness—is to revitalize native reserves, usually poverty - stricken areas where land has been overworked by tribes with no traditional interest in agriculture.

NO APPEALS PERMITTED

The steps taken to implement this plan, MacTaggart says, have resulted into the personal lives of thousands of Bantu living in the areas surrounding the major cities and has alienated as well the 1,- 250,000 Coloreds — persons of mixed blood—who are regarded by the government as a somewhat higher class than the Bantu.

Among the many laws passed by Parliament is one which allows the minister of native affairs to banish, without any right of appeal, 'any native to any area or from any of all gatherings' if the minister regards him as a troublemaker or disturber of the peace.

Another provision is that no action may be instituted by a native against a white in any municipal authorities which may force him to move.

One section requires 100 native business establishments to leave Johannesburg because new laws say natives may operate businesses only in their own areas.

RESPECT DIMINISHED

Refusal to move would mean that police would be given the job of evicting them. Reliance on the police for such jobs, MacTaggart says, is resulting in a lowering of respect for police authority by the Bantu, an instinctively lawful people.

These are some other restrictions:

A Bantu must carry a passbook permitting him to move in any area outside his own.

He must ride a second-class bus and board it at a separate step from the white man.

He is not permitted to attend movies except those labelled non-white.

He may not go into a white church or white restaurant.

Skilled occupations and semi-skilled trades are mostly closed to him.

He is not permitted to join a labor union.

EXCLUSIVELY WHITE AREAS

He can own land only in an area representing 10 per cent of the country.

If he breaks any of the many regulations, he can be summarily banished to a defined locality though it be a long way from where he has been born and grew up.

If he is a domestic servant, he must live under a separate roof from his master.

Among the harsh laws in the drive toward apartheid is one permitting authorities to establish areas where no non-European could live. This affected 8,500,000 of the more than 12,500,000 persons in South Africa — 8,535,000 Bantu, 367,000 Asiatics and 1,385,- 000 Coloreds. The white population is about 2,530,000.

Another bill required every non-European to register and be classified racially. A judge in the Transvaal ruled that the onus was on the government to prove a person's racial status. Parliament then passed a law putting the onus on the person involved.

PAY MAY BE CUT

One effect of this is that if a person's status is changed from Colored to black, it could mean a sharp reduction in pay. For instance, a Colored bricklayer receives about £40 a month, somewhat less than a white man doing the same job. However, a black worker also doing the same thing gets about £15.

Strijdom began his program without waiting for the final report of a commission set up to investigate the racial question. However, as it turned out, the commission's findings largely agreed with what Strijdom had already started to do.

The commission declared that any type of integration of blacks, Coloreds or Asiatics in white areas would mean economic integration, social, cultural and political integration, then assimilation, interbreeding of races and eventually extinction of the white civilization.

This fear on the part of many whites of eventually being outnumbered in South Africa is one of the motivations of the drive toward apartheid, MacTaggart says.

He adds that another factor in the attitude toward the Bantu is a belief among many whites that little can be expected of them.

TREATED LIKE CHILDREN

"Blacks in domestic service, such as maids, houseboys, gardeners and so on, are treated leniently . . . the general attitude is that one can't expect too much because they are like children.

"Similarly, on other jobs such as in warehouses or in road work, bosses tend to overlook skylarking horseplay and long pauses while the blacks chat and laugh with each other."

The commission suggested the gradual mass return of all Bantu to 260 reserves linked into seven blocks with some blacks in authority but under the over-all control of whites. The Bantu would have no vote.

The report admits the Bantu are not agriculturists but says the state must teach them to be farmers. It suggests their activities as workmen be confined henceforth to secondary industry which as yet does not exist—in their own areas.

"South African Outlook," which MacTaggart describes as a scholarly journal dealing with missionary affairs, says the government's policies are having a "devastating effect" on race relations.

"Probably never was the confidence of a native in any government at so low an ebb."

CLAIM REJECTED

Another of the problems of the nation is Basutoland, a nation of 650,000 natives wholly surrounded by South Africa's territory. The said - "governing territory permits no outsiders to own land. Most of its citizens are Christians.

Materially, its people have much less than other natives in South Africa but, says MacTaggart, spiritually they have freedom.

He says its leaders are strongly opposed to South Africa's demand that it join the union.

At the recent Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference in London, Britain rejected demands that Basutoland, as well as Swaziland and Bechuanaland, be quickly incorporated into South Africa. The three British protectorates have a total population of about 1,000,000 Negroes.

Among the many persons interviewed by MacTaggart was Bloke Modisani who lives in Sophiatown, a vast slum area which now is being slowly expunged and its residents moved to locations to the west, farther from Johannesburg.

LOST FAITH

Bloke, who got a degree from a United States university by correspondence, now is a writer for a vigorous black magazine and is closely watched by the white authorities.

His father and mother before him were Christians and he adopted their faith. But he says he no longer believes in Christianity because he feels it has failed him. He never married because he will not bring children "into this world of frustration and fear."

The 33-year-old Bloke says: "I am a savage with a smear of civilization on me. That's what you will be like."

He would like to leave South Africa, he says, but he cannot get a passport and has no appeal because the government, by law, doesn't need a reason to refuse him one.

Search Spreads For Kidnapper, FBI Enters Hunt

WEISBURY, N.Y. (AP) — The search for kidnapped Peter Weinberger, 16 days old if he is alive, spread far and wide today with the FBI actively in the case.

Rumors and crackpots continued to plague investigators and add to the burden of grief carried by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, whose tiny son vanished from their home eight days ago.

In Brooklyn Wednesday Shirley Ginsberg, 34, was arrested as an accessory to the kidnapping in that she allegedly gave false information and obstructed the investigation. The woman, a former mental patient, was picked up after police said they had intercepted a telephone call she placed to the Weinberger home.

Two other alleged hoaxers were accused of luring Mrs. Weinberger into a vain, six - hour visit Sunday night during which $8,000 ransom was to be paid and the baby returned. The two men were arraigned in Queens Tuesday on charges of attempted extortion and giving false information on a kidnapping.

The FBI, which until Wednesday had been only an observer in the case, turned hunter with a brief announcement from director J. Edgar Hoover. Under the federal kidnap law, the FBI can step into a case when the victim is known to have been spirited across a state line. The FBI enters a case after seven days, however, if the victim still is missing, under the assumption that such a crossing has taken place.

Work Started On $56,000,000 Power Project

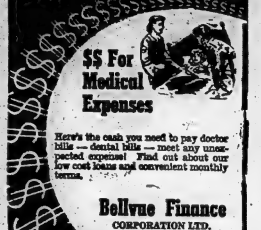
TROIS - RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Along a roaring, swirling rapid on the St. Maurice River men and machines have started to work on a $56,000,000 power project.

The development, seventh major power project built by the Shawinigan Water and Power Company on the turbulent 360-mile river, will produce 320,000 horsepower, and increase the company's output from the river to approximately 2,025,000 horsepower.

The power development is expected to take three years to complete and construction work will provide employment for approximately 2,000 men at peak periods.

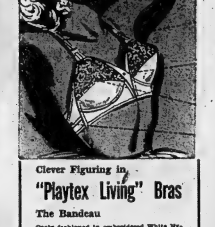
THREE REFUSE FOOD

GUATEMALA (AP) — Police said Wednesday three men held on charges of sabotage and terrorism have been on a hunger strike for two days.



Grocers Expect To Win Right To Sell Beer

OSHAWA (CP)—The president of Ontario Retail Grocers Association said Wednesday night there aren't enough prohibitionists in the province to elect a dogcatcher.



Stanley Daly told the association's Oshawa branch that the group hopes to present a petition with 200,000 names to the Ontario legislature at its next sitting asking that beer be sold in grocery stores.

"The opposition to the sale of canned beer is a small group of prohibitionists from one church," he said, declining to name the church.

He said that while the majority of the church's ministers might be against liquor, only 15 per cent are actually in favor of prohibition.

PARENTS OF 11 AND HIRED MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Passenger Train Hits Car Near Orillia

ORILLIA (CP) — A passenger train 30 minutes late slammed into a car near here Thursday night, killing three persons and carrying the wreckage for three quarters of a mile. Two victims were the parents of 11 children.

George Canning, 61-year-old owner of Morning Town-ship, his wife, 66, and hired man Ross Bolleau died in the wreckage. their car was smashed flat by the Canadian Pacific-Toronto train on a level crossing on the Sparrow Lake Road, 12 miles north of here.

Partly hidden by a curve, the crossing is marked by a railway warning sign.

A low-brick pulled the wreckage apart so the three bodies could be removed. The victims were identified by Shallow Lake from a shopping trip here.

Provincial police were in charge of conductor George Napier of Toronto.

One of Canning's four daughters said her father drove over the crossing 20 times in a week in his work.

Too Much Travel Delayed By One of Dulles' Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles and one of his advisers got themselves "exhausted" day on the value of extensive travel to promote diplomacy.

"The vital requisites for the effective discharge of the duties of the secretary of state are perspective and wisdom," said Dr. Henry Wriston, president emeritus of Brown University. "Those qualities find their most effective employment when there is at least a modicum of leisure for quiet reflection."

Dulles said: "We all have to travel. . . . Nowadays when you can fly overnight and have a personal talk with a foreign minister it is not necessary to sit at home. You can accomplish so much more through a personal talk."

Dulles has travelled more than any other state secretary in history. He has flown 200,000 miles in 3½ years, taking him to 38 countries.

Wriston wrote that when a secretary of state is absent from Washington for prolonged periods, the president does not get the advice he needs and the secretary himself loses broad understanding of the problems facing him.

OPPOSITION TAKES VERBAL SWINGS AT VET'S CHARTER

Allowances Not Liberal Enough Claim Made

OTTAWA (CP)—The old soldiers had their day in the Commons Thursday and those of them who occupy the opposition benches took some verbal swings at Canada's veterans legislation, the so-called veteran's charter.

The main treat of their critic-cism was that all is not as rosy in the department of veterans affairs as Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe—himself a wartime lieutenant-colonel—tried to make out. Veteran allowances aren't liberal enough, they said, and there are hardships in the pension law that ought to be ironed out.

John Diefenbaker (PC — Prince Albert), a First World War veteran, said the Canadian pensions Commission should not be the final body to rule on interpretations of pensions legislation. Ordinary courts should be open to appeal to the courts.

MUST KEEP IN LINE

Col. Lapointe, replying to opposition demands for an increase in the ceiling on permissible income of recipients of the war veterans allowance, said it had to be kept in line with other forms of benefits.

If the Canadian Legion's request were granted for an increase in the income ceiling to $1,200 a year for single recipients and $2,000 for married veterans—from the present $960 and $1,680—the effect would be that of such payments by 30 per cent. They now total $42,963,000 a year.

The minister's departmental spending estimates of $242,413,818 were $284,332 from the last fiscal year—finally were approved.

The Liberals then pushed the spending estimates of the northern affairs department past.

Capt. Victor Quelch (SC — Acadia) said there, won't be general satisfaction about pension disability examinations until the government's medical report as a true medical report as a true state of his condition at that time.

Edwin Richard (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) recounted the case of a man who enlisted in 1941, was examined five times and classed A-1 each time. Discharged a year later with chronic bronchitis, he had been denied a pension because the Legion still said as a child he suffered chest colds.

Britain's Offer Of Negotiations On Cyprus Rejected

Greek-Cypriot Says U.K. Must Talk to Makarios

NICOSIA, (AFP) — A leading Greek-Cypriot spokesman today rejected Britain's new overture for negotiations on self-government for the violence-ridden island colony. He said the British will have to talk with exiled Archbishop Makarios.

Theotokotos Dervis, mayor of Nicosia and general secretary of the Greek Nationalist party, said Greek-Cypriot leaders would refuse to meet with Britain's Lord Radcliffe, who is coming here to start work on a new constitution for Cyprus.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek Orthodox Church head on Cyprus, was deported to the Seychelles Islands by the British after the British last March after they accused him of fomenting rebel violence here.

In London, Laborite members of Parliament called for a showdown on the Eden government's Cyprus policy. The Conservatives agreed to a full dress debate in the House of Commons next Thursday. It is expected to provide one of the hottest parliamentary clashes in months.

NOT FOR NATO

The latest British moves came in a speech to Parliament by Prime Minister Eden and in a BBC broadcast here by Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor of Cyprus.

In his appeal to Cypriots to "tackle this problem one step at a time" with patience and compromise, Harding indicated he would prefer to treat with secular Cypriot leaders rather than with Makarios and other Greek Orthodox Church officials.

Eden's statement contained no reference to self-determination for Cyprus, the top demand of Cypriot nationalists and British rule and join the island with Greece. Eden said Britain will press plans for self-government, but not "until terrorism has been overcome." He also rejected suggestions that the Cyprus dispute be put before the United Atlantic Treaty Organization now, a course said to be favored by the United States.

In his broadcast, Harding said pro-Greek extremists are beginning to realize the futility of their tactics. He said he there-fore saw no reason for further delay in developing self-government.

WANT GUARANTEES

Greek-descended resident make up about four-fifths of Cyprus' 500,000 population. Most of the remaining 100,000 persons are of Turkish descent and they oppose the move for union with Greece. Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey has said returned to Turkey if Britain cuts it adrift.

Eden said a constitutional framework to be drafted by Radcliffe, a legal expert, will include "safeguards for the interests of the minorities."

Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, chairman of the Cyprus Turkish Majority Committee, said Eden statement but said his followers cannot accept paper safeguards. He added the demand for equal representation for Turk- and Greek-Cypriots in the lower house of the projected assembly, but said the Turks will subject to a Greek-Cypriot majority in the lower house.

Rebel General Guillotined by Viet Nam Regime

CANTHO, Viet Nam (AP)—Rebel Gen. Ba Cut died on the guillotine in a cemetery today for his bitter holdout fight against the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The 32 - year - old former commander of 10,000 troops from the Hoa Hao religious sect's private army was executed after a brief trial by his death. He wore a black peasants' outfit.

Ba Cut was the most colorful figure in the troubled Indochina history. His real name was Le Quang Vinh but after the Second World War he changed it to the name of one finger to dramatize his hatred of the returning French and took the name of Ba Cut — cut finger.

When Diem's regime accepted the Geneva armistice which gave North Viet Nam to the Communists, he vowed to keep his units of the Hoa Hao army fighting the Diem government and to cut off his hair. It was down to his shoulders before he was captured.

His hair cut, he was sentenced to death in the summary trials for armed rebellion, treason, murder, arson and kidnapping. The board of pardon denied his rejected his plea for clemency.

Canada to Give 75 Sabres To Help Arm West Germany

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has agreed to give 75 Sabre jet fighters, along with as many spare engines and some training, to West Germany as the first Canadian contribution to that country under mutual aid.

First announcement of this $35,700,000 contribution was made today by the German foreign office at Bonn. Officials here said the gift will be made over a period of time with the planes coming from Canada's air division overseas.

Negotiators Take Over Settlement Of Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Federal mediators sat by today as negotiators for the strikebound United States steel industry and union leaders resumed talks aimed at ending the crippling strike which began 13 days ago.

The companies and the United Steel Workers union met Thursday for the first time since the strike started. There was no report of progress after the two-hour session.

However, federal mediator Joseph Finnegal, who brought the two parties together for the talks, said afterwards he felt there was a spirit of collective bargaining evident at the session.

David J. McDonald, union president, said before Thursday's talks that he believed the industry had "no intention" to work out a new wage contract "at this time," John A. Stephens, vice-president of U.S. Steel Corporation and leading negotiator for the companies, said he and his associates "will do our best" to reach agreement.

There was no indication whether the industry had come up with a new offer or if the union had changed its position. The industry has offered a 32-month contract which it said would give the steelworkers a 17 3-5 cent hourly package pay boost in the first year. The $20,000-a-year men, whose members averaged $2.46 an hour, estimated the first year package value at 14 cents an hour.

Highway Dept. Cracking Down On All Drivers

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario highways department said today it is cracking down on the driving record of all Ontario drivers and suspending the licences of habitual offenders. From Jan. 1 to June 30 the licences of 250 drivers were suspended indefinitely for bad operating records.

Five speeding convictions within three years is considered enough to classify a man as a habitual offender, the department said. Following the fifth conviction a letter is sent outlining the record with a long questionnaire to be filled in by the driver.

If within a specified time the driver has not returned the questionnaire his licence is suspended.

Thirteen Injured Friday the 13th

TORONTO (CP)—Thirteen persons, including the operators, were injured today when two streetcars collided at west-central Bathurst and Dupont streets.

Most severely injured was the operator, Patrick Dalton, who was taken to hospital unconscious. Later he was reported in good shape.

Most of the 13 injured were only shaken up, officials said.

Today's Chuckle

When a man and woman marry they become one. The trouble starts when they try to decide which one.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Weather will remain generally unchanged over most of the province today and Saturday. Variable cloudiness through northern and central Ontario will be accompanied by isolated thunderstorms which will begin during the afternoon and continue tonight and Saturday. In northern sections little or no precipitation is expected. Temperatures will continue mostly or show a slight warming.

Adlai Stevenson Stops Briefly In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Beaming and chipper, Adlai Stevenson arrived here Thursday en route to New England to campaign for the United States presidency.

A discussion—meeting questions in English and French at an outdoor airport press conference—brightened swiftly when a group of U.S. supporters ambled onto the scene carrying a sign proclaiming: "We'll vote for Adlai."

"I hope you're old enough to vote," Stevenson said to the youths and girls, students at McGill University here.

Regarding U.S. investments in Canada, Stevenson declared:

"I hope we can continue to an increasing figure the policy of mutual investment. Our intentions and aims are inseparable."

Postmaster's Deputy to Quit 'Thankless Job'

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter J. Turnbull, Canada's deputy postmaster-general, said today he is quitting his $15,000-a-year job next year because "it is a thankless job."

The determined, hard-working deputy who worked closely with the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will be 65 years old in September. He will be stepping out and looking for another job five years before the normal civil service retirement age.

Mr. Turnbull is a determined man. Some cabinet ministers have called him stubborn. About a year ago when the salaries of most deputy ministers were increased by $1,500 a year, the salary of Mr. Turnbull was increased by only $500 a year.

Average salary of some deputies is about $17,500 a year. Mr. Turnbull, running the department with a total staff of 20,000 and an annual budget of some $130,000,000, gets $18,000.

Holland Marsh Hit by Twister; Loss $500,000

BRADFORD (CP) — Damage estimated at $500,000 was caused to crops in the nearby Holland Marsh area Thursday night by a freak twister accompanied by rain and hail.

The Holland Marsh experimental station will not be known for 48 farmers had lost their entire onion crops. Other types of produce also were affected by the storm, and thousands of acres of muck, fertile marsh into a vast lake.

Bradford is 30 miles north of Toronto and just south of Lake Simcoe. The marsh farmers were badly hit in October, 1954, when Hurricane Hazel caused floods which covered the area.

Thursday night's fierce storm dumped two inches of water onto the marsh's farms within 15 minutes, farmers said. The ground already had been set soaked by previous rainfalls.

Farmer Peter Verbaik said most of the farmers whose crops were devastated will be ruined financially, and that he is sure help would be needed to help them.

The storm struck in the early evening. Some farmers said when the sky filled with a "brilliant white cloud." Beneath it was a rolling, cigar-shaped black cloud with a funnel - shaped "twister spout" at the bottom.

Rev. Ralph Wildcutt, pastor of the Christian Reformed Church at nearby Springdale, said: "There was a lake as far as I could see."

"The whole marsh seemed to be a big lake." The spongy ground absorbed the "lake" within an hour.

No Substantial Clues to Identity Of Kidnappers

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — It was nine days ago today that three-week-old Peter Weinberger was snatched from his carriage by a kidnapper. And today police and the FBI, who entered the case Wednesday, admitted they have no substantial clues as to the identity of the kidnapper or whereabouts of Peter, still alive.

The personal tragedy of Peter's well-to-do parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, has been heightened by dozens of phone calls and telegrams which brought only false leads and torment.

Counsel for Detective Sergeant Pinnell, who has been in charge of the case from the start, said Thursday that the nurse-maid left in the baby's carriage was not "in any way at fault."

The Weinbergers have been employed a baby sitter, although they have a maid and two nurses.

NO MORE REPORTS

However, it was pointed out that other parts of the note, not yet released, appear to be a positive means of identifying the kidnapper.

The FBI has maintained its traditional silence about their activities, and Inspector Pinnell also will give out no more information about the progress of the case.

INTEREST RATE UP

NEW YORK (AP)—The average rate of interest charged by large New York City banks on short-term loans to business hit a post-war peak of 3.89 per cent during the second quarter of 1956, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. This was an increase of 39 points per cent over the average of 3.64 per cent reported in March.

Britain Rejects Canada Offer

Sabres Like Sitting Ducks In Any Red Attack in Korea

SEOUL (AP) — The chief of South Korea's air force warns that if the Communists attack again in Korea, waves of Red jets will sweep Allied air power from the skies within minutes.

"We have no way to defend ourselves against the first attack," said Lt.-Gen. Pyong Sam Yu, republic of Korea Air Force chief of staff, in an interview.

The Soviet-Yalue strength of F-86 Sabre jets—can Republic of Korea and one American — in Korea would offer no more than token resistance to the more than 300 MIG jets the Communists could throw into the initial assault, Kim said.

U.S. Air Force officers said privately that the Communists' Red plane bullfrog, in violation of the Korean armistice, is responsible for the recent shift in air strength.

"We would be sitting ducks," said one officer.

Woman in Hurry to Get to Heaven Is Kept Waiting, Now 105 Years Old

ASKA, Que. (CP)—A woman who repeatedly tells friends she is in a hurry to get to heaven has celebrated her fifth birthday.

Practically the whole population of this lower St. Lawrence community turned out Thursday to with Mrs. Elezar Morin many happy returns of the day.

The spry, diminutive woman, looking more than 25, received friends and relatives in her home. Earlier Rev. Robert Cote, parish priest, gave her holy communion while she knelt at his feet.

Mrs. Morin rises regularly at six o'clock with the rest of the household. After breakfast she may work awhile at the spinning wheel or bring out needle and thread. Most days, and this was one of course, there are always visit-ors to talk with and receive gifts.

Telling the large crowd of guests at the birthday party of the wonderful physical condition she enjoys, she said:

"Don't worry about my health. I have never been sick.

"I hear very well, walk without assistance, see very well, see perfectly clearly and eat whatever I like. What more could I ask at my age?"

Britain's Offer Of Negotiations On Cyprus Rejected

Greek-Cypriot Says U.K. Must Talk to Makarios

NICOSIA, (AFP) — A leading Greek-Cypriot spokesman today rejected Britain's new overture for negotiations on self-government for the violence-ridden island colony. He said the British will have to talk with exiled Archbishop Makarios.

Theotokotos Dervis, mayor of Nicosia and general secretary of the Greek Nationalist party, said Greek-Cypriot leaders would refuse to meet with Britain's Lord Radcliffe, who is coming here to start work on a new constitution for Cyprus.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek Orthodox Church head on Cyprus, was deported to the Seychelles Islands by the British after the British last March after they accused him of fomenting rebel violence here.

In London, Laborite members of Parliament called for a showdown on the Eden government's Cyprus policy. The Conservatives agreed to a full dress debate in the House of Commons next Thursday. It is expected to provide one of the hottest parliamentary clashes in months.

NOT FOR NATO

The latest British moves came in a speech to Parliament by Prime Minister Eden and in a BBC broadcast here by Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor of Cyprus.

In his appeal to Cypriots to "tackle this problem one step at a time" with patience and compromise, Harding indicated he would prefer to treat with secular Cypriot leaders rather than with Makarios and other Greek Orthodox Church officials.

Eden's statement contained no reference to self-determination for Cyprus, the top demand of Cypriot nationalists and British rule and join the island with Greece. Eden said Britain will press plans for self-government, but not "until terrorism has been overcome." He also rejected suggestions that the Cyprus dispute be put before the United Atlantic Treaty Organization now, a course said to be favored by the United States.

In his broadcast, Harding said pro-Greek extremists are beginning to realize the futility of their tactics. He said he there-fore saw no reason for further delay in developing self-government.

WANT GUARANTEES

Greek-descended resident make up about four-fifths of Cyprus' 500,000 population. Most of the remaining 100,000 persons are of Turkish descent and they oppose the move for union with Greece. Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey has said returned to Turkey if Britain cuts it adrift.

Eden said a constitutional framework to be drafted by Radcliffe, a legal expert, will include "safeguards for the interests of the minorities."

Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, chairman of the Cyprus Turkish Majority Committee, said Eden statement but said his followers cannot accept paper safeguards. He added the demand for equal representation for Turk- and Greek-Cypriots in the lower house of the projected assembly, but said the Turks will subject to a Greek-Cypriot majority in the lower house.

Think Children Set $9,000 Fire

BRANTFORD (CP) — Two children set a $9,000 fire that destroyed the parents' home but escaped with their pet-ty matches, police said today.

Police said the children, ages 4 and 5, were playing with matches.

HOLD AUTOPSY

OSHAWA (CP) — Chester Young, 68-year-old restaurant proprietor, died suddenly in front of his garage after running out into the street and seeking aid. Although police said no foul play is suspected, an autopsy will be held today to determine the cause of death.

Blind Salesman Says Three Fridays On Thirteenth Mean Win for Ike

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Lonnie Johnson, a blind broom salesman, says President Eisenhower is going to win the November presidential election.

He says he got the inside dope from the calendar.

While the experts collect public opinion and follow the political trends in an attempt to predict the election outcome, Lonnie Johnson sits in his basement and his theory is simple, depending entirely on the mystic potency of Friday-the 13th. There were three of them this year, including today.

"That's not rare," said Johnson, "but when three come in the same years as a presidential election, it is significant. It has happened just six times before in history and the presidents' party won.

"It's pattern? Well, in the triple Friday the 13th years of 1792, 1804 and 1832 the voters re-elected, respectively, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson.

Identical cycle of the three pattern, new presidents were elected. Abraham Lincoln in 1860; Benjamin Harrison in 1888; Herbert Hoover in 1928.

"So the pattern is clear," said Johnson, who delights in extracting odd bits from his hobby. "Everything goes in threes when there are three Friday the 13th during an election year.

"The first three times it happened, the occupant of the White House was re-elected. The second three times, a new president was named.

"Obviously, then, the next three years will be re-elections. So it's perfectly clear that President Eisenhower will win another term."

Want to Control Peaceful Use Of Atomic Energy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin today called for the establishment of an all-European organization—in which both North Korea and the United States would take part—to control peaceful uses of atomic energy.

A circular distributed to the British, American, French and other embassies proposed the organization as a substitute for the Marston, the six-country agency under the control of the Schuman coal-steel pool now are in the process of organizing. The six are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Soviet statement charged Marston would be too tool of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It asserted that West Germany's inclusion in Marston would deepen the division of Germany and in effect give West Germans the chance to manufacture atomic weapons.

Freighter Docks Looking Like Landing Barge

HALIFAX (CP)—The freighter Dea Mazzella looking like a landing barge with her bow doors open, arrived here Thursday after a 30-hour slow-moving trip through the North Atlantic where she collided with another freighter Wednesday night and picked up 15 crew.

The Mazzella, a 7,500-ton Italian ship loaded with a grain cargo from Boston, carried the 32 crew members of the Panamanian freighter Alcaid which sank after being sliced by the Mazzella about 450 miles east of Newfoundland. There were no injuries on either ship.

Special Council Meeting Endorses Widening of West College Street

A brief special meeting of city council last evening endorsed widening of College Street — the thoroughfare halved by the Thurlow township—Belleville boundary line.

This now will result in a money-by-law being presented to council for approval before actual work can start on the estimated $94,000 project. Because of the boundary division, cost of the planned work would be shared jointly by the city and Thurlow township.

Widening of the street has been held necessary because of the number of school children using the area and an increased flow of traffic. The endorsation came after council accepted a report on the proposed scheme by Core and Storrie Limited, Toronto, consulting engineers. However, the report was not accepted without opposition.

In all, there were only nine council members, including Mayor Jane Forrester present for the meeting, called suddenly during summer recess of the city government. Opposing the scheme were Aldermen Ben Safe and William Argue.

The report's estimate of the project's cost is based on construction of a gravel roadway. Since the report does not include construction of sanitary sewers and storm sewers earlier or demand for their construction, heating installations, it says, they would cause serious damage to the new roadway and will entail additional expense. Therefore, it adds: "It is wiser not to construct a permanent pavement on this roadway until such time as the sewers, water mains and other services can be constructed."

NO DIRE NEED IS CLAIM

At the outset Alderman Safe said he did not see any dire need for widening of College St. at the present time. "After inspection of the area he did not see any heavy traffic on the thoroughfare," he said. He reminded council of the expense of constructing a gravel roadway and having to replace it later with a permanent macadam surface.

He also said that a large part of the expense is not covered by provincial subsidy and that this should have been mentioned in the report.

No government grant is available on such items as the removal of trees, altering of hydro poles, telephone lines and other structures, total cost of which the report estimates at $10,400. Neither is there subsidy for installation of storm sewers, which the report lists at $39,950, nor for appropriation of land.

"We pay quite a lot about subsidy, but I do not see what we will get out of it," he said.

There also are other streets in Belleville no wider and just as crowded as College, he asserted. Council could figure the cost of the entire project at about $100,000 before the project was completely through and much of that would not come under subsidy.

Alderman Argue said the road appeared in excellent condition, and there were no appearances of crowding. He said he thought he was not in favor of going ahead with the scheme this year. Alderman Sills said he and Aldermen may have inspected the wrong College St. as the present school was out for the summer; he reminded them of busy traffic when school was open and brick plants had quit work.

He was interested in the present plan only called for a gravel surface, and a permanent surface would be necessary shortly but only after much discussion had Thurlow council to share half the cost. When the area may be annexed the city then would have to pay all the cost, he added.

HOPES FOR ACTION

If a child were killed there would not be a single member of council who would oppose the widening. "So why wait until it should happen?" he asked.

Alderman Argue said laying the matter over would increase the cost as by next year all of the mill rate. He also reminded of the increase in traffic with the opening of the new bridge.

Council also passed recommendation of the report.

The bestowal of antiques on the city by Mrs. Anne Salman, widow of Mayor Sam Salman, Council agreed to accept further offers of the Salman household now stored in England. Any remaining effects of the estate will be accepted as they are shortly forwarded here.

Alan passed was by-law authorizing execution of agreement between the city and the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Among the points in the annual grant of $500 with provision for supplying extra funds of up to $500 if needed.

Present for the meeting were Aldermen Ills, Argue, Hendame, Safe, Keegan, Graham, Charles Hyde, Gerald Hyde and Mayor Forrester.

Hockey in Belleville, now chuckled at as a mere pastime of an asynnous promoter, reported Inspector Ponton, commanding team here this winter, received special mention at city council meeting last night.

Alderman Claude Tice, chairman of the committee, commended an appeal to all commissioner members to attend a special meeting with the possible sponsor next week.

"If does seem very sad that a city of 21,000 that has had a team in the OHA since its inception (in 1945) should be thrown out of hockey," he told councillors.

The closed meeting is slated for city hall Monday night.

Obituary

IDA (CARTER) KIRKWOOD (Formerly of Belleville)

Word was received in the city late yesterday of the death Wednesday evening of Mrs. Ida Kirkwood, wife of John (Joe) Kirkwood formerly of this city.

Mrs. Kirkwood passed away at the home of her parents in Armstrong, Ont. Death climaxed a lengthy illness.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kirkwood are well-known in Belleville. Both were associated with the staff of the Bank of Montreal here, later operating a tobacco and news store on Upper Front Street.

Mr. Kirkwood disposed of his business here and with Mrs. Kirkwood moved to Chesley. Later Mrs. Kirkwood joined her parents in Amherstburg.

In his well-known in bowling circles here having bowled with the Belleville Golf team of the Major "A" League for many years.

The funeral is being held Saturday at 1.30.

RAYMOND GAWLEY (Correspondent—Madoc)

MADOC—Funeral services were held in St. Andrew's United church on Cardoc, Friday, for Raymond Gawley, who died following a car accident, when he sustained internal injuries. Services were conducted by the Rev. Douglas Merry, who took for his subject, gave a biography of the deceased.

W. G. Laidlaw presided at the organ.

Pallbearers were, Elmer Garner, Lloyd Sanders, LaDell Sanders, Jack Weston, Weldon Gales and Laurence Gales.

Hymns sung by the congregation were "Abide With Me" and "Unto the Hills."

The beautiful floral tributes were arranged by Mr. Norris, Mrs. George Wolff, Mrs. Kenneth Scott and Mrs. Astrod Hallan.

A special vocal number "The Old Rugged Cross" was rendered by Kenneth Long.

Interment took place in the Archmount Memorial Gardens at Lethbridge, with Komm and Christenson in charge of funeral arrangements.

Raymond Gawley, 21, was born at Malone. He received his early schooling at Malone and at Peterborough, learning his trade at Linsmith and draftsman. In 1948, he went west to Alberta and was employed by Hall Brothers there. He later operated the Carnation Sheet Metal business until the time of his death.

In 1950 he married Miss Zola Sanders of Cardston. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Carrie Gawley of Madoc, Ont. Also he was there visiting at the time; also a sister, Mrs. Lois Gales of Cardston; two brothers, Norman and Leiland of Peterborough, who went west for his funeral; also his widow and a five-year-old son, Sandy.

His father passed away in 1948.

The deceased was well known in the Madoc district where sympathy goes out to his mother and relatives.

MRS. CLARE SIMMONS

Mrs. Clare Simmons, 81, Stirling, died on Wednesday at Belleville General hospital following an illness of two months.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Clarke, she was a life-long resident of Stirling.

She attended St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling.

She was predeceased by her husband, Alfred Simmons, and one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hamilton.

Surviving are one daughter, Miss Pearl Mary, Belleville, and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Simmons was the last of her family.

In the page advertisement announcing the opening of Watter Lohri's new Regent Service Station at the corner of Harvey and North Front Streets, the lucky draw prize of an Aqua Pendi Sharpener and Stapler, was donated by O'Neil Sales Ltd., of Belleville, was inadvertently omitted, and should have been listed as number 5 prize.

James E. Kerr, CNR Engineer, Retires After 46 Years' Service

"A description of fitting locomotive boilers during the early part of the century designed to make the modern generation shudder, was given by James E. Kerr, 65, James Kraser Kerr, 65, who retired recently after 46 years' service with the Canadian National railways.

Relaxing comfortably with Mrs. Kerr on the veranda of his treeshaded home at 294 Bleecker Ave. the genial engineer recalled the days when he used to feed coal into that fiercely roaring fire over stretches sometimes lasting 21 hours.

"About three minutes was the longest we could ever rest during a run. The only other chance for a break was at stations along which we would grab on to water. I didn't see much of him in those days."

A sturdy 180-pounder since he was 16 years of age, Mr. Kerr took the tough life in his stride. He has retired in good health prepared to enjoy many years of leisure with his family, sometimes I thought I would have to quit, but strength in the end. I'm glad it's all over. It's good to be home and know I can stay for the first time," he said.

Like many other hard workers, Mr. Kerr found his hobby in stock. He was born on a farm near Harrowsmith, where his father died, he moved as a boy of three to Tarker where he went to school. Then he "graduated" where he worked in a sawmill at 50c per day.

STARTED AT 18

Following two years toil at the Marlatt Woods mill, Mr. Kerr became night watchman at the Pt. Anne Cement Works where he got his first experience as a man on locomotives drawing clay from the pits.

At 18 he came to Belleville and got a job as spare fireman on the Grand Trunk (later bought by the CNR) running between Belleville and Napanee.

He made his first run as an engineer in 1910 and operated at that capacity to 1931 when the depression temporarily forced him back to firing. He re-commenced as engineer in 1933 and continued in that capacity to his service until 1947 when he was made engineer on the passenger service between Belleville and Montreal and Toronto, he explained: "The locomotive vibrates much more than the cars and riding in it is very tiring. To be alert the engineer must be fresh."

Mr. Kerr ran the first diesel locomotive on his operation between Belleville and Toronto some 30 years ago. That completely with the first 3600 diesel was celebrated in Kingston last year, the engineer was among those chosen to represent the C.N.R. as recipient of a gift from the Canadian Locomotive Works where the locomotive was made.

Mr. Kerr's is a Mason and has been a continuous member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Mrs. Kerr, who has been her husband's loyal helpmate thru' out the years, comes from St. Catharines. She belongs to the Daughters of Rebekah and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

There are four other members in the Kerr family; two sons and two daughters. The sons are with Bell Telephone and Imperial Oil, respectively, and two daughters,—Mrs. R. C. (Marion) Taylor, Belleville, and Mrs. Fred (Thelma) Hall, of St. Vincent, Manitoba.

A quiet, reserved man, Mr. Kerr finds time is passing pleasantly in gardening and fishing in the days he has at leisure. He and Mrs. Kerr are looking forward to spending time at their Lake summer home where Mr. Kerr will have a chance to enjoy his favorite hobbies of hunting and fishing.

Mrs. K. Glancey Remanded Week For Sentence

Mrs. Kathleen M. Glancey, 34-year-old Toronto woman at the Bank of Montreal here, who pleaded guilty to theft of over $10,000 from the bank, today was remanded a week for sentence by Magistrate C. H. Millyard.

No tangible evidence was presented in court today on what happened to the money. At adjournment the magistrate reserved sentence. Crown Attorney J. A. Pringle and defence counsel W. D. O'Flynn, after failing to get any evidence brought to light on the matter before next week, left the court room. Mrs. Glancey was arrested Monday by Inspector Claire Hayes, who handled the police investigation.

A letter from the woman's husband, Harold Glancey, marketing agent at Northern Electric Company here, offering to make restitution of $50 a month without interest, was presented in court. Mrs. Glancey pointed out, would take eighteen years.

The special court sitting, held in the county building, heard Mr. O'Flynn speak on Mrs. Glancey's behalf.

In the course of his address Mr. O'Flynn told the court he silent says clearly she has not a cent now." "Her husband," he said, "knew about it. He was stunned."

As soon as Mr. Glancey discovered what had happened he immediately brought her down to see bank officials and from then on they did everything to assist it every way.

He made mention of her good record during seven years with the Bank of Commerce before she moved to the Bank of Montreal — and when she came here she also had a splendid record, mendation," he added.

Shortly after the Glanceys moved here, Mrs. Glancey underwent a series of operations involving major surgery.

Mr. O'Flynn said from the evidence she was a woman who up to some time ago had a normal way of life.

"Then we have a series of operations and then we have after that the strange behavior of the woman in question.

"If this woman had not had enough to live on we could understand it," he said.

"There must have been something that affected her in some way in order to change her."

Following Mrs. Glancey's arrest, Mrs. Glancey had to have drugs that were not covered by the usual benefit plans, the court was told.

Mr. O'Flynn suggested the psychiatrist be appointed by the court to take as a result of them might have affected her.

Mr. O'Flynn submitted that if she were affected by the operations, it would explain her many acts of the crime. However, the magistrate refused to consider the point without the evidence of a psychiatrist. Mr. O'Flynn said if his client were sentenced, she hoped to be sent somewhere where she would get treatment. "She feels there is something wrong," he told the court.

The lawyer said that any penal institution she might be sent to might be ready and willing to provide any necessary treatment," replied the magistrate.

Both counsel made mention of the unusual circumstances involved in the possible punishment in regard to the young family. Both the crown and the magistrate also emphasized the deterrent feature in punishment for the crime. Mr. Pringle called the Court's attention to the gravity of conduct that kept snowballing and growing in enormity," but added that he agreed with Mrs. Glancey gave in her own prosecution "was very commendable."

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to as much as $1 a hundredweight lower. Calves were fairly $2.50 a hundredweight lower. Hogs closed 30 cents a hundred weight higher. Sheep and lambs were generally unchanged.

Receipts of cattle were 2,000 head more than last week and 1,700 head more than the same week in 1955. Western receipts were 827 head of cattle and 73 head of stock calves; this is an increase of 57 cattle over last week. The western cattle were mostly replacements.

Shipments of eastern Canadian slaughterers were nearly double the six cattle and 10 calves of last 11 cars. There were no exports to the U.S. An estimated 900 head of cattle will be unsold at the close all stockers.

A heavy run of cows was all sold at the close at prices 50 cents a hundredweight lower on the top grades and as much as $1 a hundredweight lower on the other grades.

Prices

Choice steers $21.50-22.50, an odd small lot to $22.75; good steers $20.50-21.25; medium $18-20; common $16-18. Heifers $19-19.50; choice to $20; medium $18-19; common $16-18. Horse steers and heifers $10-15; choice fed yearlings $21.50-22.50; odd small lots to $22.75; good fed steers at $20.50-21.50; medium $18-20; good cows mostly $14; sales to $14.50 and closed at $13-13.50, sales to $14 good light heifers given up to $15; medium $13-13; common $10-12; canners and cutters $7-10; good heavy bologna bulls mostly $14; odd extreme top to $14.25; common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: This class was slow throughout with trade with most sales made on a steady basis; buyers continue to seek out the good quality at prices from $18-21 a hundredweight; medium stockers and feeders $16-19; common $12-16.

Calves: Sales on calves were sharply lower and closed at a general top of $22; few extreme tops of $22.50 for choice vealers; good vealers $17-21; medium $14-17; common $10-13.

Hogs: Grade A $28.75; sows unchanged at $17; weights aged sold at $13 a hundredweight, on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Poor quality continues to dominate the runs. Choice ewes and wethers sold at $38 a hundredweight; bucks were discounted $4 a hundredweight; medium and good ewes $30-34; a hundredweight, cull lambs down to $16; fifty to sixty pound feeder lambs $15-18 a hundredweight, sheep $3-18 a hundredweight according to quality.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Trading rolled along at the quietest pace in almost a month at the stock exchange today as the market showed only scattered strength.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,321,000 shares, compared with only 852,000 at the same time Thursday.

Aluminium Ltd. common pointed among industrials to a new high of 144. Burlington Steel and Algoma Steel were up a point each.

Coppers were the weak marks in base metals. Senior base metals, however, firmed a little and rumors were afloat that Coast Copper lost $1.50. New Royran was down 15 cents. International Nickel gained ¼ to Thursday's close.

Western oils were mixed to a little higher with Calgary Petroleum cents and Prairie Oil, Canadian Devonian and Canada Oil Lands ahead 15 cents. Husky and Consolidated Mic Mac lost 30 cents while Pacific Peta dipped ⅛.

Potato Prices Reach Record On N.Y. Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Retailers said today the price for southern-grown potatoes has reached an "all-time peak" on the New York market where they are selling for 59 cents for five pounds.

In Michigan, housewives complain they have to pay more than $1 for 10 pounds. One chain store expert said the potato situation is "almost to a point where a black market exists."

Chicago produce men said a week ago wholesale prices were the highest in 40 years. In New York, a wholesaler made it 36 years.

Most potato dealers blame the high prices on continuing cold weather in growing areas, from Florida up along the U.S. east coast. Other sources blame the situation on government subsidies for livestock feed and starch. Floods in Europe also were listed as a contributing factor.

Selling Cheese by New Method

Possibly the largest sale of cheese ever held in Canada—nearly one and half million pounds worth approximately $400,000 was conducted Thursday afternoon in the new offices of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board in Kingston. The huge six-foot clock which dominated the wall is the heart of a system that is known as reverse bidding, and enables the auctioneers to move the cheese much more rapidly than old-fashioned methods. Above, two purchasers, sitting in comfortable chairs, prepare to bid on a lot. The cheese board at Kingston replaces the exchange at Kemptville, Vankleek Hill, Brockville, Cornwall and Belleville.

500 Orangemen and Women Parade Trenton's Streets To Mark 'Glorious Twelfth'

TRENTON (Special) — Fife-and-drum music and the swirl of the bagpipes echoed and re-echoed through this town yesterday when loyal Orangemen 500 strong marched from the high school grounds to a meeting place in Hanna Park. Cars and people lined the route for one of the most enthusiastic turnouts seen here yet.

Eleven different lodges were represented in the walk headed by Past County Master John Elliott of Trenton, and County Master Bernard Hollinger of Foxboro, riding white horses. Also present Rupert of Trenton, replacing Clifford Baird, of Trenton, unable to be in attendance, marshalled the procession, and walked out in front carrying a big Union Jack. The Trenton Lions band followed immediately behind them playing appropriate Orange marching numbers.

Lodges represented in order as they marched included: LOL 285, Napanee; LOL 1176, Consecon; Morning Star LOL 1176, Castleton; Allen Cotton Memorial 235, Picton; Mohawk 99, Tyendinaga; LOL 233, Belleville; LOBA 350, Belleville; LOL 274, Belleville; LOL 243, Shannonville; LOL 206, Frankford; LOL 168, Trenton.

Trenton and Castleton women with open umbrellas in gold and red over their heads added color to the walk.

HANNA PARK SCENE

Hanna Park was the scene of speech-making and gathering place for friends to renew old acquaintances.

Mayor Ross Burti, Trenton, offered the visitors welcome. He said the town was honored to play host to those commemorating the Battle of the Boyne. The host lodge's Worshipful Master John Hooper of Trenton, L.O.L. 206, introduced the guest speakers.

Rev. Mr. Blythe, introduced as a former Past Master and District and County Master, said he was happy to note the presence of boys and girls in the march. "It seems to me Orangeism start early in life," he commented. He said he was always grateful he was raised in such a home. He said he was proud of the Orange motto: "One flag, one school, one language." He insisted that he was rabid supporter of Orange principals and in the next breath pointed out that Roman Catholics had no better friends than members of the Orange Order. He said he admired Catholics for their show of obedience in worship. He contended Orangemen could take a lesson from them in support of their beliefs.

PRINCIPALS

One of the principals of Orangemen is to keep on open Bible in their lodge. The same principal should be followed in every home, the reverend gentleman continued. He is in with another Orange belief: "Not offence but defence." Respect the Bible as a treasured possession and there will be no danger, he added.

"How many would defend the Union Jack and the prayer for the Queen?" Mr. Blythe asked. To him nothing was to be more highly regarded and nothing will ever replace them. "If we don't know what Protestant means its time we went through our text and went with the B.C. church," he concluded.

County Master Principle of Plainfield complimented the host lodge but felt that Orangemen should make one day for celebrating and there should be no splitting lodges in counties. He said he was taking upon himself to see there was only one day of commemoration next year. He rapped Orangemen with Catholic employers who stayed away from the walk because they were afraid of losing their jobs. "That's what the other side wants," he declared.

STANDS FOR LOYALTY

Senator W. A. Fraser said that he regarded the Orangemen as an organization that stands for loyalty and perpetuates the British Empire. "I am not an Orangeman, I am not a Catholic, I am not a Mason. I belong to no secret societies, but I have studied various religions including Mohammedism and Confucism and I've tried to bring into focus my own way of channeling to God," the Senator said. "I am first a Canadian and second a Britisher," he added.

The Senator urged the Orangemen to recognize the change in times. "We must believe in tolerance and friendly relationship to make this world a better place to live," he continued. He brought to the attention of his listeners the present position of the Commonwealth of Nations. While Burma and Singapore are all out of our control the one thing that remains is the threat of royalty and Queen Elizabeth as the throne.

Therefore we must realize this is a period when prejudices must be forgotten and looked at the big hyword. Let's face up to it. Let's be counted as Canadian citizens. We have the greatest country, the greatest people and the greatest resources. And in the years to come the strength of the British Empire will depend on this thinking of the Canadian people.

RECENT VISIT

The Senator recalled a recent visit to Catholic institutions in Kingston. He said he was surprised to find that 78 per cent of the people in the House of Providence were Protestants and 68 per cent of the people cared for at St. Mary's-on-the-Lake were non-Catholics. He also found that the enrolment of a Catholic school in the same city comprised Jewish, and colored students.

"We refuse nobody," explained the head teacher when the Senator enquired. The Senator said he learned how necessary it was to realize the sufferings of humanity.

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, M.P.P., Minister of Welfare for Ontario, was scheduled to make an appearance but in the morning word came that it was impossible for him to be present.

KIWANIS TOUR

TRENTON (Special) — Some 20 members of the Tweed Kiwanis Club greeted and the Commanding Officer and toured the Trenton Air Station there yesterday.

They went away praising the fine treatment they received at the big training base, especially the pains S/L. Roy Wood, PRO., Training Command Headquarters went to to make their visit one to be remembered.

Late last night many of the out-of-town service club members were still talking about the ride they were given around the field in one of the RCAF crash tenders.

FARMER'S ADVICE

TRENTON (Special) — A veteran fruit and vegetable farmer here has this advice for local housewives giving consideration to stocking their larders with new potatoes. "Wait for another week and they will be cheaper. Early varieties from Lessington are only started to reach district markets and should be plentiful in a few days," he said.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 13-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon, EDT, today. Thursday's noon rate 96 cents. Pound sterling $2.74¼, down ½.

Bulgania Says Wishes Cannot Be Granted

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Bulganin told the Supreme Soviet today the government cannot now grant all wishes of the people for increased and broadened pension benefits and the time will come when we will have everything."

Bulganin spoke after the Council of Union, one of the two houses of the Soviet parliament, ended its debate on the government's plan to boost pension outlays by 12-000,000,000 rubles. The cost now is about 25,000,000,000 rubles. (Official value of the ruble is 25 cents, but Western authorities say a more realistic value is five or 10 cents.)

During the debate, 23 members of the Council of Union spoke up. Dmitry Gusev had asked to speak, but the debate was cut off by unanimous vote. Most of the speakers approved the plan in glowing terms, though several made suggestions for minor changes.

Bulganin said some of the suggestions from the floor were "fine proposals but we must count our money and spend according to our means."

Runaway Auto Kills Woman

TORONTO (CP) — A run-away station wagon, driven over the sidewalk out of control after it struck a utility pole, Thursday night killed Mrs. Rose Cukrov, a hospital aide.

Michael Baker, her husband, who was on the way to meet his wife and take her home, was a witness to her death. He was among those who strained to lift the vehicle off the body but his wife could be extricated.

Ian Richard Hall, who police said was on his second 60-day temporary driving permit, was arrested and charged with criminal negligence.

Brewery Firm Raises Prize Ante for Swim

TORONTO (CP) — A brewery company which has agreed to sponsor an across-Lake-Ontario swim this summer today raised the prize ante while Canadian National Exhibition officials met to see whether it should associate itself with the swim.

Brading Breweries Ltd. said it will offer $10,000 first prize, $2,500 second and $1,000 third for both the men and women. If that many could complete the 32-mile swim.

Previous prize money offered by the company was $6,000. About 30 swimmers so far have indicated they would like to try for the prize money this summer.

Listowel Fire Damage $75,000

LISTOWEL (CP) — Damage is estimated at more than $75,000 in a fire that ripped through a business block early today and left the town without power for an hour.

Greatest loss was at the Listowel Produce Company, where the blaze started. The fire spread to an adjacent machine shop and tire-and-battery shop.

Mayor George Leith, who owns the produce company, estimated the loss at 2,000 poultry, eggs, and feed at $50,000.

He blamed the fire on a short in a power line.

Lines to six electricity sub-stations caught fire, blacking out the town from 5:30 a.m. to 6:30 a.m.

Minor Baseball

Stewart Warner and Vaughan's continued their winning ways in the midget section of the BMBA last night, Stewart Warner edging Williams 5-4 while Stewart Warner downed Hillside 7-3.

Pat Asselstine toed the rubber for Vaughan's and stopped Williams on close hits with Norman catching. Howard and Masters pitched Stewart Warner, giving up five hits between them. Kerrison was their receiver.

Gary Goyer slammed a home run for the winners while John Cleland had a brace of singles. The others went to Asselstine and Clarke. Stewart Warner doubled and singled in defeat with Masters getting the odd single. Norm Rushton and Derrick Stewart Warner to victory, giving up five safeties, striking out and walking four. Dave Coe was his battery mate. Gary Howbolton and Calvin Pierce batted Mitchell's, tagged for seven hits with Ron Flake behind the dish.

Jack Elliott led the victors at the plate with a triple and a home bagger while Dick Hurst singled twice. Dave Coe had a double for Mitchell's, getting two safeties.

Bill Kelleher had a safe of hits in a losing cause, with Ino Kravda doubling. Gord Fuller and Howbotham also hit safely.

Two bantam games were played on Wednesday evening with Y's Men defeating Northern Electric 10-4 and Knights of Columbus whipping Rollins Construction 17-5.

WHAT ARE OUR AIMS?

The Duke of Edinburgh made another of his provocative speeches the other day—provocative in the primary meaning of that often misconstrued word in that it tended to stimulate or even excite his audience.

The Duke has a happy knack of bringing the very spirit of life and living into his meetings of savants. This time he was addressing some 300 men and women at the opening of a Commonwealth conference on human problems in industry. He is president of this three-week gathering and one may be sure that, though he may lack the specialized knowledge of many of the delegates, he will be no mere figurehead.

Every time the Duke speaks one is given cause to wonder whether he is a brilliant young man unhappily trapped in the formalities which circumscribe a ceremonial monarchy, or whether he is that most happy of men, one who has found the niche uniquely designed to provide the most ample play for his own particular talents.

The Duke appears to possess an active mind which, freed from the necessities of earning a living in the conventional manner, delights in roving through the mass of problems which confront those confined in the workaday world and in arranging these problems from the vantage point he enjoys.

To sustain this interest, though, would be almost impossible were it not also possible for him to display it. A mere speech or a mere conventional address might find the restrictions of royalty too great a barrier, but instead the Duke appears to be developing a positive genius for striking advantage of those honors which in rank brings him. There is little in the Duke's past records of achievements that suggest he would ever have been selected as president of a Commonwealth conference on human problems in industry and yet he has the chance to be the husband of the Queen of England, but once having been chosen for that post, he seized the opportunity to voice incisive comments on the problems of industry in the heart of the problems facing this parley but to our whole attitude towards life.

"It may not be very easy to decide quite what we are aiming at in this modern world of ours," he is quoted saying, "but whatever the target we must take into account that all people are primarily citizens and not workers with a bit of private life."

Now it may be that the Duke is merely fortunate in his choice of speech-writers, but this appears improbable, for other addresses, to somewhat similar audiences, have been equally displayed that same happy proficiency about life and living which it is almost impossible to fake.

The Duke said that he saw no advantage in a nation being prosperous and powerful if it achieved this position at the expense of human freedom and happiness. If more of the world's rulers, past and present, shared this view the world would be a better place to live in. This in turn meant that it would be a happier place, but it also means much more than that. It would almost certainly mean a more prosperous one, too, for it seems to us to be wrong the Duke an injustice to suggest that he believes that prosperity has no influence on happiness.

People, as the Duke said, are primarily citizens, not just workers, and this does not mean that men and women can be good citizens unless they share in the work of their community, of the nation and of the world.

The very last thing which he takes up in problems of this nature would appear to indicate that he is not one of those who believes that work and happiness are inimicable. Rather, we suspect, he regards happiness as the end result of the intelligent application to work that does not promote happiness. There are many forms of drudgery which will anaesthetize happiness in all but the most dull-witted of men. Though it may be difficult to decide quite what we are aiming at, the elimination of this drudgery and the promotion of sufficient prosperity, throughout the world, to alleviate thoughtdulling worry are certainly two important aims to be two essentials to progress. Above all, though, the world needs more men and women who are blessed with that interest in their fellows and their problems which the Duke so consistently displays in his public addresses.

DULLES WITHDRAWS

John Foster Dulles, U.S. Secretary of State, may be wise as the proverbial owl, but if this is true this wisdom is all too often offset by a marked infelicity with words.

Where Churchill appeared to be always able to select the right word at the right time, Dulles frequently utters the memorable and wrong one.

Last month Dulles said that neutrality in the present political situation was "immoral" except in "very exceptional" cases.

India, which has publicly described its policy as neutralism, took this as a slight. Dulles now says that countries which have joined the United Nations are expressing concern for the rights and independence of other states and in this sense are not neutral within the meaning of his speech. He thus practically unsays all he said month ago—but it would have been much preferable if he had left it unsaid in the first place.

Perhaps Dulles should hire a good ghost writer, preferably a man with the Christian name of Winston.

JUST FOLKS

NOT SO WISE

I'm not so sure as I used to be
That I am so very wise.
Then I was just twenty-two or three
I'd a brain of a mammoth size.
I knew most all that there was to know
And I carried a bulging brow,
I've found that a lot of it was not so,
And I'm not so learned now.

I'm not so sure that I know
What's what,
And I'm not so quick to sneer,
For I've found of wisdom there's a lot
That isn't exactly clear.
And many things that I thought I knew
I've had to unlearn, somehow;
And I'm sometimes puzzled just what to do,
For I'm not so learned now.

Oh, I used to think that I knew it all
And got into many a row,
But I've found that most of my brain was gall,
And I'm not so learned now.

I'm not so sure that I know much
Of the wisdom of other men.

What Is Leisure Time?

(Edmonton Journal)

The use of "leisure time" has, as might be expected, come in for some discussion during the Canadian Conference on Social Work at the University of Alberta, Edmonton. Many topics are mentioned and to some extent analyzed by delegates to the conference, but leisure time is the one peer to be new but they are topics that have been under study in the field of study, if such it may be called. There is just one question about the whole subject which may still puzzle many a citizen: what is leisure time and where does one find it?

Most persons today, so the experts keep telling us, enjoy far more leisure time than did their parents or grandparents. This time on their hands should be used wisely and well. They are advised to take up sports and hobbies, music or drama and the dance and other creative activities, or the pursuit of learning and culture. This is a good advice in many cases, though plenty of persons will find it difficult that it would be regarded as utter folly, even disrespect for one who has nothing to do all day but work, to spend his or her time in sports or in the book in hand, and simply meditate.

However, what is leisure time? Well, it is time free from work; time spent in play, in relaxation, in hobbies and culture. This is the definition of the term. One may suspect, by the way, that the working demands on spare time have increased rather than decreased lately. It is therefore questionable whether leisure time for play and entertainment has increased half as much as one is sometimes led to imagine.

Just check with the neighbors: ask Jones next door if he has most evenings free for entertainment or twiddling his thumbs. He's likely to look up from his newspaper or from his book on selling technique, and say, "What do you mean, spare time?"

Tito Victor Over Kremlin

(Ottawa Journal)

Formal relations have been re-established between the Yugoslav and Soviet Communist parties.

But no evidence comes that this re-establishment means any surrender by Tito of his right to run Yugoslavia's Communist party and in fact its international relations in his own way and without Moscow's dictation.

The most remarkable thing about this Soviet - Yugoslav reconciliation is that it seems to mean exactly the opposite of what it says, not Tito, it was the Kremlin men who journeyed to Yugoslavia before Tito journeyed to Moscow, a skilled form of kowtow so to Russia until the Kremlin had fired his old enemy, Molotov.

The truth is that Tito's successful fight against the mighty, Stalin-trained Party of his country (as now tell us) blood-thirsty Stalin at its head, and Stalin's own was militarily and economically such a must rank among the most notable victories in history.

It is said sometimes that Tito played Russia and the West "in the middle," that by cunning, shrewdness and table juggling he succeeded in getting financial help from both the East and West. The charge is not a fair one. Tito has said recently by the U.S. News and World Report that he received "nothing hundreds of millions in aid from both Russia and the United States."

But what was terribly wrong about Tito in the eyes of the Russians of a statesman to work for the best interests of his own country, what is the difference between Tito and other country today, East or West, who follows policies suggested to some extent motivated by first care for his own interests?

There are some things in Tito's record some of us may not like, or that we regard. But we never doubt the man's indomitable courage. However many times he was down he was up from the floor with his fists flying. He was never frightened him away. It will never frighten him away. Not on his record.

Perfectionist, Welcome Back!

(Christian Science Monitor)

The housewife who wants "everything just so" isn't necessarily the most efficient one, the American Home Economics Association convention was told the other day. "The perfectionist housekeeper," said the speaker, "may antagonize her whole family."

May be so, maybe so. But ask the lone husband keeping house for himself while "the little woman" is away.

He enters the kitchen doughtily to start breakfast, boils water for coffee, pops bacon and eggs into the frying pan. Then the phone rings. It is too late before the grease smokes up the house, the egg shrivels and smell sulphurous, the skillet turns brown inside and vari-colored outside, and his steaming hot drink has turned cold.

He rushes upstairs to make the bed. Removing the blanket pulls out the sheet; the sheet wrinkles when he spread it; when he pulls the window shade flies up and knocks down the curtains. He replaces the curtains, knocks the shade, gives up, and sprints for the train.

He returns, famished, in the evening. To his surprise he finds the floor laid that same day, cooks in ten minutes, another in the time the boiled ham takes only four minutes to frolic. And he's started them all at once.

Before this bombshell, we are sure, "firing back the inefficient perfectionist—and quick."

Peaceful Nudists

(Woodstock Sentinel Review)

Nudism is the real way to peace on earth says the Nisbet Gymnosophical Society in a news release of recent date. We have heard a lot about efficiency camps in recent weeks, but this is the most novel angle of all. We might favor nudism during the torrid days when the mercury climbs away around the boiling point. But nudism as a means to peace, well that's something else.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

LAST WORDS

Recently two men in Utah were executed for murder. Because of legal delays, they had spent a long while in prison, with time to think. A few minutes before they died, they issued a statement, part of which reads as follows:

"In youth we were denied parental care, affection, and confidence. Religious training would have pointed us in the right direction, but we were not taken to Sunday school or to church services."

Many of us are traditionally generous to our children. Every year thousands of parents who did not go to college make sacrifices to send their children there. Boys who two generations ago would not have been willing the family cow now drive to high school in their own cars.

But money cannot buy the most important things which parents can do for their children. A child, rich or poor, need a strong and constant sense of the lasting love to give them the deep-seated security which will help them grow into happy, well-adjusted citizens. All children need the most and best both at home and in the church, Sunday school, or synagogue.

There are basic requirements for a good childhood. Fortunately, they do not depend on wealth or position. Any parent can provide them. Any can provide them for his children at no cost save his own effort and devotion.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BY-PRODUCTS OF LIFE

The importance of a happy and useful way of life cannot be overestimated. Each of us should have a personal philosophy, and then supplement it with many of the by-products that flow from such a life of creative. Travel is a by-product that always enriches anyone. Reading is another. So is keen friendship garden well watered and tended. So is a sense of dedication to some cause.

I am certain that my love for art and books has been the means of keeping me in health and adding years to my life. And many years ago I added as an asset a small island in Nova Scotia which has proved a valuable by-product to my summer happiness. Nearly a change is a by-product of variety of mind and peace in the heart. I believe that we should make both our lives significant to others. By fondness is a wonderful by-product in itself. A goodly part of us goes out all through life to others in a manner that is difficult to appraise. Otherness is something well worth cultivating. We may work out for more than we ever realize. How skin to greatness we may become!

The manner in which we appraise the values in life also made an asset that may surprisingly prove to be one of the most spiritual by-products of all. There are timeless values that are the heritage of anyone. Quality of mind and heart is something far outweighing anything of a material nature. There are times when I like to imagine that I am listening to the nightingale singing in my heart!

The Valuable Lobster

And God Bless A.A. Too

"Your dissertation entitled "There's No Drug To Give Security for Alcoholism" was not only a great disappointment but drove me to conclude that you are uninformed and a bit narrow minded in your views on alcoholism. You might do untold good by investigating Alcoholics Anonymous. . . . (D.R.D.)

Thanks, sir. In the piece I wrote I said:

"I believe that any addict whose use of alcohol or other narcotic becomes such a problem should be committed to an institution for a term sufficient for a course of medical treatment, with or without all the help religious or spiritual advisers, Alcoholics Anonymous, family and friends can give."

For years I have been urging persons with alcoholism to communicate with a local A.A. group. Anyone who is ready to admit that he or she can't "take it or let it alone" may telephone the A.A. number listed in the 'phone book. Don't expect A.A. to come and coax you to do anything. They merely tell you what other members have done for them and what they will gladly try to do for you—but they won't come to you. You must go to them.

Next thing you know somebody will advise me to investigate somersaults the iodin ration, the relation between calcium shortage and joint disability.

I might say some people apparently do not read the papers, were it not for the frustrating fact that when I read 'em, the piece I contributed has too often been ruthlessly abbreviated or maybe missing altogether.

Let's put it this way: The battle is half won when the addict, of his own volition, attends a session of A.A.

Before I learned about the wonderful work of A.A. I used to send readers who asked for it a booklet. Well, I have long since discontinued that. Now I have no special advice for addicts.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Good-natured, happy, chatty people should never be given jobs at ticket windows, department store information desks, behind cigarette counters or any spot where customers have to line up.

Personnel managers, no doubt, with the goodwill of their companies always in mind, are trying hard to put just such pleasant people in contact with the public. But if the personnel managers would just stand in line, for a change, and listen to the grouch, surliness and flat and muffled profanity of those standing in line, while a cheery employee not only listens eagerly to all the chatty customer has to say, but actually joins in the conversation at considerable length and with considerable gusto, they would have a different policy they might be devised.

Now, mark you, most customers are clucks. No matter how friendly and impatient a customer may be while waiting his or her turn in line, the minute that customer's turn comes, a marvellous transformation occurs. He cannot see those now in line behind him, as he could, a few minutes before, see those in line ahead of him. He relaxes. He has time to think. He has time, and very shallily, he proceeds to deal with whatever he has in mind, in the detail it deserves.

The world is still full of crabby, disagreeable, unpleasant people. Despite the costly and tremendous efforts of our educational system, together with that of the entertainment industry in all its forms, a certain percentage of the human race is still not amused. They are unpleasant by nature.

Such people find it hard to get jobs in this personnel-managed world. They are stuffed away in the back of warehouses, of given goods jobs in the accounting departments.

But they should have a place at those counters, where their natural propensities for being short with customers, or letting others short, would keep line-ups moving a lot faster than they move now.

Television Invades Cars

(Watertown Times)

We were afraid it was going to happen. On Broadway, Indianola a executive vice-president of a radio and phonograph corporation who resides at Harrison, N.Y., conducted an experiment with television in the back seat of a moving automobile.

Apparently a similar state law to have a television set in the dashboard where the screen could distract the driver's attention, is the legislation there.

The experiment of the Boys' Brigade in connection with St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will parade on next Tuesday O'Clock Point and from reports several boys are having a glorious time.

PICTON

Mighty Blast to Mark Start On $16,500,000 Cement Co. Plant on Picton High Shore

PICTON (Special) — When residents of this area this Saturday afternoon, July 14, hear and feel a mighty blast and see a cloud they will have evidence that construction of the Ontario Portland Cement Company Ltd. plant has officially begun.

Setting off the blast is the equivalent to turning the first sod for a building, but since this project, involving more than six-teen-and-a-half million dollars, concerns chiefly rock, Mayor R. J. McFarland thought that a blast was the most appropriate signal for such an occasion.

A distinguished gathering of leaders in the business and political circles in both Canada and the United States, together with those prominent in public life, and along with the many so-called ordinary citizens who see a new future for Prince Edward County with the blast will and bear speakers tell of what the future has for this area. The ceremony is at four o'clock and takes place on the company's property on the High Shore land three miles east of Picton. The site is on the lands now overlooking the Bay of Quinte.

Though much preliminary work has already been done, such as clearing land and test drilling, Saturday's ceremony marks the official start of the project. It is hoped to have the plant in operation by August of next year, Mr. McFarland stated.

During construction, it is expected that with sub-trades, such as electricity, plumbing, steel silos and other work, that between 500 and 1000 men will be given employment.

In addition to the main plant, storage silos and bagging plants are to be erected here, and also in Rochester, N.Y. A dock from which cement in bulk will be shipped to Rochester, will also be built on the harbour front. Geeseman Canada Steamship Lines have been contracted by Saturnement to Rochester and unloading will be at the site on the canal there. Initial construction cost is estimated at $1,350,000.00.

Similar silos and bagging are also planned in Toronto and as well as by water, cement and aggregate will be shipped by rail and truck.

TEST DRILLING

Test drilling has revealed that we can be assured of sufficient limestone to last from 100 to 150 years, Mr. McFarland said. They have found top quality limestone to a depth of 75 to 95 feet. The concentrates have been found to be ideal for various types of construction and will be manufactured in Canada and the United States.

Used with the limestone will be clay. We expect to use four-teen per cent clay with the cement mixture composed of 86 to 90 percent necessary at other plants. "We've quarried the rock in last ten or fifteen years merely by stripping 4½ off the top to reach the rock on our property," said Mr. McFarland. Then to assure an adequate supply beyond that we have purchased and optioned many farms on Big Island where there are first class deposits of clay. He stated that marl was not necessary in the process to be used here.

During the past year, the company, through Mr. McFarland, has purchased nearly one thousand acres of land on the High Shore road. Most of this land was of shallow soil and not the most productive.

The property fronts on the edge of the Bay of Quinte. Mr. McFarland said that in a few years that the high bank will be lowered even to about fifteen feet above water level. It will be an ideal site for other industries and as a natural dock for even ocean-going vessels, he believes. Back about 25 acres from the water the excavation will be deeper.

One of the most up-to-date cement plants on the continent is planned, Mr. McFarland declared. By use of the latest developments, there will be practically no dust to affect the area or the workers.

Mr. McFarland stressed that the cement would be manufactured in Picton and not across the line where it will be in part shipped in bulk.

The new industry will mean a great deal in the matter of employment, Mr. McFarland states. The plant will operate on three shifts per day, with from 150 to 175 men on each shift. In addition there will be a large office and sales staff.

Plans are now under way for a housing development to cope with the expected demand for accommodation.

The plant is being erected by the H. J. McFarland Construction Co. of Picton, Ontario, and Thornton, Drake and Piper Overseas Corp. of Rochester, N.Y., which are organized under the title of Cement Plant Construction Co.

It is estimated that when at full capacity the plant will produce 1,700,000 barrels of cement and from 600 to 700 thousand tons of aggregate per year.

Senator W. A. Fraser, of Trenton, is president of the new company, with H. J. McFarland, Picton; John C. Udd, Montreal, vice-presidents, and directors; D. P. Jessen, Minneapolis, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and director; D. E. Baldwin, general, director; A. E. Borneman of Kidder, Peabody and Co., New York, director; A. Anderson, engineer of Palo Alto, California, general manager and director; J. B. Drake, Minneapolis, vice-president; G. D. Yolkenstein, Toronto, assistant treasurer; A. L. Beattie, Toronto, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

It is understood that the necessary financing has been arranged and that underwriters fully subscribed the $16,500,000 issue in 24 hours. Shares will be offered to the public.

To Mayor McFarland, who has been untiring in his efforts to bring a dream in this area, the crowning crown- work-, .KETA day's ceremony comes as a crowning achievement for a man who started without a dollar at Roblin and became owner of a leading construction firm and now involved in his biggest venture.

This is only a forerunner of big things to come in this area, Mr. McFarland declared as he issued an invitation to the public to attend Saturday's ceremony.

Nearly All Men Of Hong Kong Group Get Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Veterans Minister Lapointe estimated Thursday night that about 95 per cent of the veterans of the ill - fated Hong Kong brigade captured by the Japanese in 1942 now are on pension.

He gave the information to the Commons in reply to queries by ark), a First World War medical officer, about the Hong Kong brigade of about 1,600 men. Only some 1,300 survived Japanese imprisonment.

Col. Lapointe said that generally speaking, Hong Kong veterans get "special treatment" as to hospital services and so on because of the recognition of the hardships they underwent at the hands of the Japanese. A close check was being kept on all such vet-erans.

Minimum Wage Goals Set by Newspaper Guild

TORONTO (CP)—The American Newspaper Guild Thursday instructed its international executive board to begin at once a complete study leading to revision of the guild's minimum wage goals.

The recommendation for revision of these goals—$125 a week for experienced employees in key editorial, advertising, circulation and business classifications and at least $75 for all adult classifi-cations—was contained in the report of the collective bargaining committee, adopted at the annual convention.

The executive board also was instructed to study the possibility of spending up to $50,000 of the guild's defence fund "on the purchase directly or acquisition of an option on newsprint, such newsprint to be held entirely in warehouses or in a newsprint brokerage account."

The resolution to make such an investment was granted the board on condition that above the quarter to be possible or feasible. It was explained from the convention floor that the newsprint would be used for the publication of union newspapers in the event of strikes.

Canada Waives Share of German Army Payments

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has waived its claim to a share of German assets above the amount needed to help maintain Allied forces in that country.

Thus this country might have to approach West Germany directly in future for aid. If it is going more military installations there.

However, officials pointed out this is an academic point at the moment because there are no current plans to expand Canadian military establishments in West Germany such as airfields and army camps. An infantry brigade group and two wings of the four-wing RCAF Air Division in Europe are stationed there.

If the question arose to extend Canadian military installations in Germany, another course besides direct negotiation with Germany would be to work out some arrangement through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, of which Germany is a member.

GOT FROM ALLIES

Under the old arrangement, Canada received from Britain, the United States and France, the former occupying powers in Germany, financial allocations for capital construction in Germany. The occupying powers received this money from Germany to help pay the costs of maintaining their troops there.

Canada was not an occupying power and therefore never participated directly with Germany. But it did obtain from Britain, which had many millions of dollars to build airfields and army camps in that country.

The money Canada received indirectly from Germany was used only for base construction. Germany financed and built married quarters and other buildings for Canadian servicemen but continued to own them and the Canadian government pays rent.

Germany has never paid troop support costs to Canada as in the case of Britain, the U.S. and France. This country has always paid the operating and upkeep costs for the brigade and air division.

District Governor Will Visit Belleville Rotarians on Monday

ERNIE GURNETT
Rotary President

Next Monday, the Rotary club here will be host to Walter DeGeer, governor of District 246 of Rotary International.

He is making his annual official visit to each of the 41 Rotary clubs in Central Ontario, and will address the local club and confer with president E. G. Gurnett, secretary Dr. Austin Walters and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. DeGeer is manager of the Sheppard and Gill Lumber Company Limited in Bowmanville, and is a member and past president of the Rotary club of Bowmanville. He has served as president of the Bowmanville Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Bowmanville town council, and as a director of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers' Associa-tion. He was elected as District Governor of Rotary International for the 1956-57 year at Rotary's 47th Annual Convention in Philadelphia last June. He is one of 248 District Governors supervising the activities of more than 9,100 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 431,000 business and professional executives in 99 countries throughout the free world.

WALTER DEGEER

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, president Ernie asserted in discussing the governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary club of Belleville because they are based on the same general objectives. These include developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men; promoting community-betterment undertakings; raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding and peace among nations.

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in number and in strength. During the past fiscal year, 351 new Rotary clubs were organized in 48 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Islands of the Pacific. Seven countries were added to Rotary's roster—Angola, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Netherlands, New Guinea, Ruanda-Urundi and Swaziland.

CNRA Holds Annual Picnic

Tomorrow, Saturday, July 14, is the day of the CNRA's annual Belleville terminal picnic to Cobourg and if the weather is half decent, it will likely attract the usual huge crowd.

This picnic is an event awaited by many people of the district for months ahead. It is a day when the CNR employees and their many friends spend a carefree day in the sun with nothing better to do than enjoy themselves.

And many relatives they should for just about all the entertainment and activities possible on a summer day are available at the Cobourg park.

The spacious calls for swimming or just stretching on the sand beach. There's plenty of low water for the tots to toddle in too. Games, races, scrambles and ball games are a feature. And the more active folks with stage entertainment provided in the bandstand. Hot water and treats are handy.

Everyone is welcome and the tickets are only $1.00 for adults and half that for the kiddies. The CNR invites you to pack a basket and bring the entire family.

A special train leaves the Belleville station at 9.00 a.m. D.S.T. and heads back for the city at 6.30 in the evening. Tickets are on sale in each CNR department at the station ticket office and from all members of the CNRA and the CNRA ladies' auxiliary.

Sunday School Lesson

But We See Jesus

By ROY L. SMITH

In one of the most dramatic episodes in the New Testament we are introduced to a group of Greeks who come to the disciples one day, saying, "Sirs, we would see Jesus." In this week's lesson we hear an early Christian answering the pagan world in the midst of which he lives, with the declaration that "we see Jesus."

Jesus attempted to do something like that in the Father's behalf. He found men laboring under a long list of misconceptions, and He tried to clear them up. I was very sure that if the Asians could ever see us for exactly what we are, they would like us. Jesus was very sure that if men could see God as He is, they would fall in love with Him.

He saw men misunderstanding God because they had sinned against him, and sinning against Him because they did not understand Him. Sin is the real barrier.

(Copyright 1956 by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.)

A CURE FOR CYNICISM

One of the most unpleasant aspects of our modern day is the widespread cynicism with which we are afflicted. It is not a humility had lost all confidence in itself. The lecturer or the columnist who speaks contemptuously of man is pretty sure of a hearing; those who speak admiringly of the government are applauded; and those who deride the church are legion.

No man can really see Jesus of Nazareth, as He actually lived in Galilee, and ever again be either a cynic or a pessimist. His faith in God, in man, in life itself is contagious." He had a way of putting hope into the hopeless.

There is a story of Harry Emerson Fosdick who was called upon on short notice to preach Negro preacher. The young man had recently buried his wife and child, he was face to face with financial disaster, and his own health was threatened. As he came from the interview with the great preacher, he passed a colored janitor who said, "Ah hour ago I went into that room with him and the Lawd was all black. But He put the stars all back!"

That, single phrase, is the responsibility that rests upon the Christians and the Christian church in this dreadful day.

JESUS SAW NO BARRIERS

One of the most discouraging aspects of modern life is the multiplicity of barriers that men have raised between one another —racial, economic, political, and social. Into this world, divided, to the shame of the church, that religion has done little responsible for the building of such

The Uniform Sunday school lesson for July 15 is entitled "Jesus is The Saviour of Men." John 4:39-42; Hebrews 2:9—3:14.

But no small part of the salvation that Jesus came to bestow upon men consisted of a life that could destroy or surmount such barriers.

The New Testament is replete with illustrations of the way Jesus got across barriers which separated Him from other men and women who were in actual need. He was, by His outcast, His chose nobodies to be personal friends, He spoke mercifully to a sinful woman, and ministered to a man who come to Him under cover of the darkness because he was afraid of public opinion.

That church, or that—Christian who is raising barriers today between brethren, is not Christian.

Propane Pipeline To Fort William Being Studied

TORONTO (CP)—Superior Propane Ltd., distributors of propane gas and appliances, said in a news release Thursday that it is looking into possible construction of a propane-gas pipeline from Winnipeg to Fort William, either by itself or jointly with other interests.

A products pipeline carrying propane from Alberta to Winnipeg is already contemplated by other interests, the release said.

Aim of the pipeline would be to make the propane available as a fuel in Ontario and Quebec, via water transportation from Fort William.

Last week, in Winnipeg, W. F. Davey, president of Canadian Hydro Carbons Ltd., said a $60,000,000 propane gas pipeline from Alberta to Fort William would get underway next year.

Greener Thumbs
BY JOYCE SMITH

Chrysanthemums should be "pinched back" regularly until end of July to insure bushier plants and more bloom. Take soft tip of each branch between thumb and finger and pinch out centre. Growth that is too long to pinch with fingers should be left alone as it has matured beyond this process.

Parkdale W.I. Picnic Well Attended

The July meeting at Parkdale W.I., was held in the recreation park on Wednesday afternoon with a good turnout.

Races began at 3.00 p.m., for the children of all ages with prizes for each child. Four races and games for the mothers were also played with Mrs. I. May, Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. J. Bolyea, and Mrs. N. Rodgers, emerging as prize winners.

It was decided to have an executive meeting on Thursday afternoon at Mrs. C. Keeble's home.

At six o'clock some of the members and their families had a picnic supper.

Conveners for the recreation were, Mrs. H. Hodgson, Mrs. G. Palmer, Mrs. N. Baruk and Mrs. E. Gray.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Wilson in September.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

UNITED CHURCH W.A.

WELLINGTON — The United Church W.A. June meeting was held last Thursday evening at the Sunday School with the president, Mrs. Pierson, in the chair, and Mrs. Norman Foster acting as pianist.

The president read a poem, "Along the Way." Mrs. Nash read the minutes and called the roll. There was some discussion about the bazaar to be held July 28th. Members are asked to return unfinished articles to Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Cleave gave reports of the W.A. conference held in Tabernacle Church, Belleville.

The July meeting will be cancelled in favor of the bazaar and the August meeting will be in the form of a picnic. Mrs. Stoneburg announced the program theme which was "Music." She read an appropriate poem, "The Symphonies," to introduce same.

Mrs. Hamill gave the devotional. She emphasized the life of "Miriam," who was a patriot and at the same time a musician. Mrs. Stoneburg read two extracts from the Book of Knowledge regarding music.

Piano solo, "Minuet in G," was given by Mrs. N. Foster; "Life of Beethoven," (the man who set music free), by Mrs. Garrett Harris; piano solo, "First Movement of Moonlight Sonata," by Miss Shirley Cleave.

Mrs. Pierson, on behalf of the organization, presented Mrs. Boden Alyea with a gift in appreciation.

EVENING AUXILIARY

WELLINGTON — Wellington Evening Auxiliary met recently in the Sunday School rooms of the United Church. Roll call showed 14 members and three visitors present.

An invitation was received from Burr's W.A. to attend their meeting in the Allisonville Hall on August 8th. Mrs. Kay Cleave is to be delegate to School for Leaders at Whitby in August.

President Mrs. Elliott presented a birthday box and each member is to put in their birthday money as the months roll around.

Corresponding secretary Mrs. Doris Foster read a thank-you card from Mrs. May Young and cards were sent to those who are ill.

The Watch Tower reports were given as follows: Africa, Mrs. K. Cleave; Trinidad, Miss Edith Ward.

Miss Grace Sanders was presented with a gift prior to her leaving Wellington.

Mrs. Helen Campbell had charge of the devotional, assisted by Mrs. Doris Foster, with Mrs. N. Foster at the piano. A delightful piano solo by Miss Carley Cleave was enjoyed. Mrs. E. Shannon read some interesting chapters from the Study Book.

Next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. D. McKenzie, Mrs. G. Dorland, Mrs. J. McNeill and Mrs. D. MacDonald.

Mrs. Shannon thanked all those who helped with the program.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

JOHNSTOWN W.A.

On Thursday afternoon, the Johnstown Woman's Association held its July meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp.

Mrs. Jack Ferguson thanked the hostess for the use of her home and also welcomed Mrs. Mooney of Trenton, to the meeting.

Mrs. Puttenham, who was in charge of the devotional said "We come to our meetings with everything else in our minds but the thought of God. Something is needed to draw us together. To be a friend of the world is to be an enemy of God. Religion is not a crutch but a cross and we must take up that cross."

Mrs. Mooney read the 25th Chapter of St. Matthew, the parable of the talents and made a comment that "God asked us to use our talents whether they be many or few and that this parable should be a guide for life." Mrs. Mooney led in prayer.

"The strawberry money was collected.

A missionary reading "Indian Version of the 23rd Psalm" was given by Mrs. M. Mallory.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alva Meyers with Mrs. W. S. Harry and Mrs. A. Vandervoort responsible for the devotional.

Readings were given by Mrs. W. S. Harry and Mrs. E. Hickle.

All the members signed a letter to be sent to Mr. R. Sandercock, M.P., in regard to sale of beer over grocery counters.

Mrs. Grant gave a reading.

A contest was put on by Mrs. M. Mallory and won by Mrs. G. McLean and Mrs. W. S. Harry.

Refreshments were provided by the hostess and conveners, with the Clapp children acting as waitresses.

HALF-WAY MARK

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Peiping radio said Thursday more than half of a 400-mile rail road linking Yingtan, in Kiangsi Province, and Amoy, in the coastal province of Fukien, has been completed. Work on the new line began late last year, the radio said.

Quinte Branch W.I. Bestows Life Membership

The July meeting of the Quinte branch of the Women's Institute, convened at the home of Mrs. Nobel Brown, with an attendance of 40 members and visitors.

The president, Mrs. C. Reid, opened the meeting, and extended a welcome to visitors and members.

The secretary, Mrs. A. Mitchell, read the minutes of the last meeting also the correspondence. It was decided to send two delegates, Mrs. R. Atkins and Mrs. Tufts to the Folks School at Snow Lake, on August 4-3-2.

The extension course will be held in Front Road church.

Mrs. A. Mitchell gave her report of the last day's meeting at Guelph with some amusing jokes added after which the meeting was turned over to Mrs. J. Parrott. As this was the girls' meeting of the 4-H club, the motto "What does 4-H stand for?" was well given by Lois Bradshaw.

Donna McCormick gave a paper, "Benefits Derived from the Girls' Club Work".

Mrs. Parrott read two poems, "Harmony" and "My Garden". The girls sang "Paddy's Garden" accompanied by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Parrott.

A demonstration was given by June Reid on flower arrangement for a dining room table which was nicely done.

Mrs. Parrott concluded the program with a few thoughts, "Is it True? Is it Faithful? Is it Kind?"

The meeting was then reverted back to the president and a presentation of a cup and saucer was made to all the girls of the club, from the Institute. They were: Mabel Craig, Elizabeth Craig, Donna McCormick, Janice Straley, Lois Emerson, Sandra Stagley, Barbara Howard, Joyce Mitchell, Mary Reid, Mary Lou Toms, Pat Lee and June Reid.

Another presentation was made to Mrs. J. Garbutt of a life membership certificate and pin. Mrs. Garbutt has been a member for 49 years and was the first president of the Quinte Branch.

Mrs. Cora Mitchell read the address. Mrs. Mitchell was secretary-treasurer at the time Mrs. Garbutt was president. Mrs. Garbutt, who was taken completely by surprise, thanked everyone for the gift, saying she enjoyed having the certificate and pin, as much as she enjoyed her work during her 49 years, she would still be happy.

Pictures were taken of Mrs. Garbutt on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. Nobel Brown's home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her group.

Women's Institute

PLAINFIELD W.I.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall was hostess for Plainfield W.I., last Thursday evening, when a large number of members and visitors were present. The president, Mrs. G. Swan, opened the meeting and a poem on "Dominion Day" was read.

Much correspondence was also read and cards of thanks were received.

Mrs. Grant Kerr, secretary-treasurer, gave an excellent report on the Officers' Conference held at Guelph, which she attended in May.

Mrs. Orville Rollins gave a full report of the district annual held at Front Road church.

A receipt from the Salvation Army was received for the donation of $15 and a letter read from the English correspondent on Civil Defence over there.

Mrs. F. Hodgens was appointed delegate to the Folk School at Snow Lake, in August.

The convener of Home Economics, was Mrs. Fred Sills, and a splendid program was enjoyed.

Mrs. F. Sills gave a poem on "Hands", readings by Mrs. Garnet Dempsey "What a Good Home is Like"; by Mrs. Emerson "House Keeping Need Not Be Dull"; by Mrs. Hodgens, "Good Homes Are More than a House"; by Mrs. S. Parks, "What Makes a Home?"; a solo by Miss Mary Bertram; a reading by Mrs. H. Palmer, "The Beatitudes of a Home"; recitation by little Miss Janet Sills; readings by Mrs. O. Rollins "Little Touches"; by Mrs. R. Sullivan, "Designs for the Home-maker"; by Mrs. V. Elliott, "Hints on Housekeeping".

A skit by the club girls was enjoyed on their vegetable gardens. This was followed by Mrs. G. Bertram.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess.

Club Activities

QUINTE GARDENERS

The third meeting of the Quinte Gardeners" was held on a recent evening at the home of Mary Lu Toms.

The meeting was opened by singing "Paddy's Garden".

It was decided to hold the next meeting on July 20, at the home of Mary Reid.

The discussion period included garden progress, garden reference files; flower arrangement and preparing and serving vegetables, followed by a demonstration on flower arrangement.

For group work each girl was required to make one flower arrangement.

Home assignments were given.

Mrs. Toms and Mary Lu served refreshments.

Stuck for Money?

Not Miss Craig!
Miss Craig* had a new job—as a dentist's assistant. It was the job she'd always wanted but it had one drawback: it was in the city and Miss Craig lived out of town with her family. A car seemed the perfect solution to her problem but she didn't have quite enough cash. Happily, a friend told her about Citizens Finance. She discussed her problem with our loan manager and in short order she had the money she needed. She's at her new job now, driving in every morning. And she finds that she saves enough money by living at home to easily cover the repayment of her loan. "Everything worked out fine", she says. "I'm so glad that I went to Citizens." We can help you, too, with a timely loan for any useful purpose. Drop in today.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

COMPLETE MAKE-UP CHART. TODAY'S THE SULTRY BRUNETTE

Count yourself lucky if you're a sultry brunette. You can dress more dramatically than any other type.

Shakespeare wrote immortal sonnets to his "Dark Lady" and innumerable poets since have been intrigued by "Dark Roselesse", so count yourself lucky if you have black hair, flashing dark eyes and olive skin—the sultry brunette!

A can wear the brighter colors both in clothes and make-up. You can wear heavier make-up than your sisters, too—more mascara, more vivid lip coloring, and darker foundation and powder to accentuate your olive skin, dark eyes and hair.

Most reds, from the crimsons through the claret and burgundy tones are your colors and most greens, particularly the true emerald shades; also various shades of yellow; the warm browns, beiges and electric blue. Your flowers are white orchids, gardenias, red carnations, roses, camellias; yellow roses and white and yellow chrysanthemums. Here is your make-up chart:

FOR DAYTIME

Foundation: If your skin is normal, a liquid foundation; either colorless or tinted to give the skin the you want or cover up flaws in its texture or in the contour face.

If your skin is dry, sallow, muddy or aging, cream or paste foundations which cover the skin more completely than do the liquids.

If your skin is oily, a dry cake foundation, a vanishing cream type, or a liquid foundation with an astringent base.

Color: As a rule, choose a foundation of the same tone as your skin but a shade darker. However, if you have a fine, character skin, match it exactly with a colorless liquid foundation. If your skin is sallow, choose a pink toned foundation; one of the beige shades if your skin is ruddy and a peach or ivory toned foundation if your skin is too white.

Powder: Rachel or bisque tinted powders for olive skins.

Lipstick: True, vivid reds, orange reds or coral. Harmonize shades of lipstick and rouge with colors, you

Drape chosen color about and face close to skin and different shades of lipstick and rouge to find the one which goes best with it.

Rouge: True reds, orange reds coral. Cream or liquid rouge before powdering or dry rouge after powdering. Or make rouge from lipstick by blending it with cream.

Eye Shadow: Dark green for ack eyes. Light green for hazel gray eyes. Bronze for brown es.

Mascara: Black.

Eyebrow Pencil: Black.

Nail Polish: Same as lipstick or ghter or darker shade of same.

FOR EVENING

Foundation: Same as day

Powder: Shades of golden beige apricot.

Lipstick: The true, vivid reds.

Rouge: Same as lipstick. Accent w artificial lights by dusting e over powder, even if you ve used cream or liquid rouge.

Eye Shadow: Bright green for ack eyes, troms for brown eyes, one of the carefully blended own-green combinations or one of gold or silver flecked eye shad-

Mascara: Green, brown or black.

Eyebrow Pencil: Green, brown black.

SUN-TAN COSMETICS

Foundation: Dark, sun tan col-

Powder: Sun tan shades without low.

Lipstick: Shades of clear, true red or orange red.

Eye Shadow: Dark brown or bronze.

Mascaras: Brown or black.

Nail Polish: Orange red or brownish.

GOOD MANNERS

APPROPRIATE CHRISTENING GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Two of my dearest friends are to have babies quite soon, and I would like to plan to give a very nice christening gift to each baby. Will you please give me some suggestions for appropriate christening gifts?—Alma N.

Here are suggestions for appropriate christening gifts: Silver (sometimes gold-lined) cup, bowl, porringer; small silver plate, spoon; baby pins in silver, gold, enamel, ting pearls; Silver egg spoon, fork and or pusher, knife; baby brush and comb; rattle or teething ring; carriage robe; baby blanket; dress, sweater, sacque, knitted jacket, bonnet, booties, dress. Sometimes a sum of money is given, to start or augment a savings bank account; and sometimes a savings bond.

ADDRESS CONGRATULATORY CARD TO "MR. AND MRS."

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When sending a Wedding Congratulatory card to a bride and groom, to whom should one address it? So often the card will arrive before the marriage takes place and it is difficult to plan the exact time of its arrival.—L.V.

Since the idea of the card is to carry wedding congratulations, it should be addressed to "Mr. and Mrs." and planned to arrive as near as possible after the ceremony has been performed. Or, if there is too much incertainty sort the timing, the plan is usually to send a telegram of congratulations to "Mr. and Mrs." at the place of the reception . . . this is to be read with the other festive telegrams at the reception.

TELEGRAMS TO THE FEW WHO HAVEN'T REPLIED

Dear Mrs. Beechman

Relatives and friends have been very good about replying promptly to the wedding reception invitations we sent, (I absolutely refused to send those "reply cards" with stamped envelopes.) However, after the reception there is to be a sit-down breakfast, and of course I would like to know how many places to order. Would it be proper for me to telephone or write to the five or six who have not replied? The date of the wedding is drawing near.—Mother

To save time and unnecessary uncertainty I suggest you telephone (instead of writing) to these very few guests and say, for example, "We do so very much hope you will both be able to come to Elsie's wedding and wedding breakfast on the 25th. Do say you can come!"

Incidentally, I think you're very fortunate to have so very few who haven't replied. . . I understand that even when reply cards and stamped envelopes are enclosed with the invitations, many don't take the trouble to send the reply cards. (I'm glad that you "absolutely refused to send these reply cards.)

my wedding, which is to take place

THESE CARDS NOT CORRECT FOR HER TO USE NOW

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When I ordered my wedding invitations and At Home cards for in about two months, the stationer suggested that I also order some informals (the fold-over cards) engraved "Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson." He suggested that I might use these for my thank-you notes for wedding presents. This seems a good idea and so I ordered quite a supply. They have just arrived, and my family is horrified at my using these cards with, as my mother says, "a name that is not yet mine." I'd love to use them, for they are so good-looking. May I, correctly?—Bride-to-be

Hi, Ma'am . . . as your mother says, it is completely incorrect for you to use these cards engraved with a name not yet yours. And I'd hate to think how you would be criticized. Save these cards for the happy days after your marriage . . . and write your thank-you notes either on your personal notepaper or plain white or gray or light-blue semi-note paper.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER:

If you haven't found the "banged" cake recipe you have been looking for, I am enclosing (one) . . . If you know how to make those thin pancakes you roll up with lemon and sugar I would love to have the recipe.—Mrs. W. H. A.

BUTTER CAKE

(Courtesy Mrs. W. H. A.)

Sift then measure 3 cups pastry flour. Cream 9 tablespoons butter or shortening until soft then gradually blend in 1 cup fine granulated sugar. Beat 2 eggs until thick and add to creamed mixture a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Measure 3-4 cup milk and to it add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together the 2 cups sifted flour, 2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder and 1-4 teaspoon salt, and sift it into the creamed mixture alternately with the milk, combining lightly after each addition. Turn batter into two greased paper-lined 8-inch pans, spreading evenly. Bake cakes on table 2 or 3 times to expel large air bubbles. Bake 30 minutes at 375 Mgh. Allow cake baked. cakes to stand on wire racks 10 minutes before turning out and peeling off paper.

ANSWER:

Thank you Velma. I hope the girl who was looking for the "banged" cake sees this.

CREPES SUZETTE

One egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup milk, 1-3 cup flour, 2 tablespoons melted butter. Beat egg, sugar and salt together. Add milk and flour and beat until smooth. Add butter. Heat a small frying pan about 5 inches in diameter at bottom, with a little butter melted, to cover bottom. When hot, pour in just enough batter to cover bottom; fry, shaking frequently, until batter is pale gold on bottom. Turn and brown other side. Each pancake is made separately, rolled up and held hot. The lemon sauce or orange sauce with brandy is made, and cakes are dipped in it until heated through and soaked.

QUESTION:

So glad your daughter and her baby are well now. Best wishes to them all. A friend and I have most of the ingredients and the amounts for a salad dressing used on cabbage salad in some restaurants or other greens: brown sugar, vinegar, corn oil, onion salt; garlic salt, mustard. I think that is all except salt and pepper to taste. Hope you can help us.—Mrs. G. H. S.

ANSWER:

I read your letter to Marianne and she said to thank you for your kind concern. The proportions for the ingredients for a coleslaw dressing are: 3 to 3 teaspoons brown sugar, 1-4 to 1-3 cup vinegar, 1 cup oil, 1-4 teaspoon onion salt, 1-16 teaspoon garlic salt, 1-2 to 1 teaspoon mustard. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

QUESTION:

. . . Just now I'm trying to get up courage to try the following which calls for sour cream . . . sounds queer to me. Magnificent Meatballs—3 lbs. ground beef, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 cup fine breadcrumbs, 1 1-3 teaspoons salt, 1 small onion grated, 12 slices bacon, 1-2 cup sour cream. Mix beef, 1 cup tomatoes, crumbs, egg, salt and grated onion together. Shape into 12 meatballs and wrap a strip of bacon around the middle of each. Arrange in shallow baking dish. An hour before dinner bake meatballs in a 350 deg. F. oven for 15 minutes. Drain off bacon fat. Mix remaining tomatoes with sour cream and pour over meatballs. Bake 25 to 30 minutes longer.

ANSWER:

That's a delicious dish Mildred. Make it just as it is—you will love it.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU ACT AND TALK LIKE A CHILD, NANCY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 18, a high school graduate, and working in a small office in a town near my home.

I've never dated a boy in my life and not because I couldn't either because I know a good many boys and they like me a lot. But I think 18 is just too young to start getting serious about men, and in my opinion most teenage girls today are too boy-conscious.

Now one of the young men in my office has insisted that I date him, even though I told him I didn't date, the last week when he asked me again I told him to go jump in the lake. I like him, but I just don't want to go out. Someday I hope I'll get married, but right now I just don't want to get involved.

When I get home from work, most of the time I get into jeans and old shoes, go out with my brothers' gang—teenage guys about fifteen to nineteen—and we play baseball and football and have a lot of fun—a lot more than just dating. If you ask me . . .

I have a cousin, only 16, who comes here now and then and she is always dressed like a queen, with make-up a foot thick and high heels etc. I think she looks ridiculous, but when I tell her to act her age, she thinks I'm crazy. All she talks about is sports cars, boys, and more boys. I guess that's why I don't have any close girl friends, because they're all the same.

Anyway, my mother thinks I should grow up, and I don't think so, so I'd like to have your opinion. Don't you once should a girl give up being a tomboy and start being a woman?—Nancy G.

Dear Nancy G.:

The answer to your last question is: at least four years Nancy, your present age. Any girl of 18 who prefers playing baseball with the boys to dating them, is, I should say, 13 or 14 mentally and emotionally. Is that the way you'd like to think of yourself? And how many girls of 18 do you know who still act like tomboys?

I'm afraid you're in the wrong side of the argument, Nancy, and I think it's high time you got on the right side. Your mother is correct in thinking that you should grow up and stop acting like a child.

First thing you know, you're going to wake up some day and find that the boys don't want you to play ball with them any more and, because you haven't bothered to make any girl friends, you're going to feel very lonely and left out all the way around. And you know what I think? I think perhaps your whole trouble is that, in spite of all you say about boys wanting to date you, the reason you insist so violently that you don't want to date is because you really haven't been invited.

How about sending me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and letting me send you my suggestions on "How To Be Popular"? I practically guarantee that you'll have a lot more fun if you take me up on that.

Centre Hastings Orangemen Mark Twelfth at Stirling With 35 Lodges Taking Part

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

STIRLING — The Glorious Twelfth was commemorated in Stirling on Thursday, with one of the largest crowds in history in attendance. Hundreds of folks gathered on the fairgrounds for the forenoon. The music of dozens of flutes, fifes and drums was heard as little groups gathered here and there to enjoy a bit of music.

Representatives were in attendance from almost all of the twenty Orange lodges in Centre Hastings. This territory is bounded by Millbridge on the north and Halloway on the south. There are two juvenile lodges and they had a large representation of boys and girls and looked very trim and neat in their uniforms.

Several L.O.B.A. groups were also in attendance and the white dresses added to the picturesque scene.

STIRLING LODGES HOSTS

Members of Stirling LOBA No. 635 and L.O.L. No. 110 entertained the various lodges at the Agricultural Park. Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Past Grand Master of Ontario East, and Bro. Earl Wallace, master of Stirling Lodge No. 110, with Worthy Mistress Mrs. Mary Cooke of LOBA, No. 635, were in charge of the entertaining.

At the noon hour an appetizing hot dinner was served to some eight hundred Orangemen, their wives and their families, while dozens of other folk enjoyed picnic lunches on the grounds. At 4 p.m. the ladies began serving an equally attractive supper and some five hundred people enjoyed the meal.

ENGINE HEATS WATER

One of the special attractions was Mr. Stapley's steam engine of ancient vintage and gallons of water were heated by it.

The Orangemen were in charge of refreshment booths throughout the day.

The weather was ideal. A light breeze kept the atmosphere cool and a few clouds cut the glaring rays of the sun. All this made the four-mile walk through the village agreeable. The streets were lined with spectators to view the colorful display and hundreds of cars were parked along the line of march.

Visitors took over all an hour to pass a point. The celebration marked the 268th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne and parades were under the direction of County Master Donald Rodgers of Stirling. There were thirty-five lodges in attendance. They were headed by a car carrying Grand Lodge officers: Most Wor. Sir Rev. J. V. Mills, of Toronto, Deputy Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of British America; Wor. Bro. J. A. McGillarry of Ottawa, Grand Master of Ontario East, and Wor. Bro. Morgan Brown, Peterborough, Grand Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East.

Thomas Linn, County Marshal, rode a horse, followed by Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Past Master of Ontario East, and Donald Rodgers, County Master.

Sentinel Pipe Band led the group followed by its own lodge, Sentinel L.O.L. 2242, Petherbridge Corners. They were guests from Northumberland county.

Other lodges marched in the following order: Camilton L.O.L. 220, Bro. Fred Bateman, Past Master's L.O.L. 172; Marmora L.O.L. 319; Marmora juvenile boys and girls; Marmora L.O.B.A. 1163; Milbridge L.O.L. 1065; Milbridge L.O.L. 1070; Madoc "Star of the East" L.O.B.A. 1132; Madoc L.O.L. 160; Springbrook L.O.L. 442; Tamper L.O.L. 509, Eighth Line Hungerford Township; Flinton L.O.L. 907; Malone L.O.L. 285; Eldorado L.O.B.A. 1185; Eldorado L.O.L. 517; Hazzard's Corners L.O.L. 1133; Queensboro L.O.B.A. 483; Queensboro L.O.L. 437; West Huntingdon L.O.L. 300; Halloway L.O.L. 231; Halloway L.O.B.A. 1203; Beulah Ivanhoe Juveniles 376; Beulah L.O.L. 435; Downey Crookston L.O.L. 295, Wallbridge L.O.B.A.; Bogart Sulphide L.O.B.A. 1203; Bogart Sulphide L.O.L. 1203; Eighth Hungerford L.O.L. 392; Carleton Lodge at Mongowire L.O.L. 638, and three visiting lodges from South Hastings, namely Tyendinaga L.O.L. 295, Wallbridge L.O.B.A. 1168, Wallbridge L.O.L. 2386, Shilling L.O.B.A. 633 and Shilling L.O.L. 110.

Among the special guests in the parade were Wor. Sir. Mrs. Clarence Holmes of Belleville, auditor of Grand Lodge L.O.B.A., Wor. Bro. Franklin Read of Belleville, Grand Auditor of Grand Lodge of Ontario East; Wor. Bro. Lorne Hagerman of Bawdon Township, Grand Lecturer of Ontario East; Bro. Archie Sinclair of Madoc; several ministers including Rev. H. Beare, Springbrook, and Elmer Woods, Warden of Hastings County.

EXECUTIVES CONFER

At the supper hour a special group of executives enjoyed the meal together and discussed a few problems. They were honored by having as guests, Rt. Wor. Leroy Heaney of Ottawa, Grand Secretary Ontario East, and Rt. Wor. Thomas Davison of Ottawa, Deputy Grand Secretary of Ontario East.

A dance was held at the grounds in the evening and music for square and round dancing was supplied by "Uncle Jimmie Mitts" and his orchestra. A large crowd was in attendance for this function.

In the afternoon a special platform was arranged under the shady trees, equipped with a public address system, and the almost two hours the group enjoyed a program of brief addresses.

Sentinel Pipe Band entertained with music prior to the program at 2.30 p.m.

GRAND MASTER SPEAKS

County Master Don Rodgers was master of ceremonies. He welcomed the large crowd on behalf of Stirling L.O.L. and L.O.B.A., and introduced Wor. Bro. John A. Magladry of Ottawa, Grand Master of Ontario East. He brought greetings from Grand Lodge and appreciated the great interest shown in the commemoration of the Battle of the Boyne. He stressed that the Orange Order stands for the open Bible, British institutions and freedom for all. He urged his audience to keep a united front and maintain the heritage handed down to their forefathers. He spoke at length re the Extension Fund of the Orange Association and hoped for good results at next year's meeting of Grand Lodge. He closed with a slogan "The influence of example."

MEMBERS SPEAK

The second speaker was Rogeon Rolono, M.L.A. for Hastings East. Following his complimentary remarks he said "Orangeism proved right and striving in all of the communities of Hastings County and the province of Ontario."

Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, eulogized the welfare work of the Orange lodge and said this terrific service to humanity could never be duplicated by government welfare groups. He also spoke of all that Canada has to offer, particularly stressing education and better roads.

John MacMurray, student minister of Foxboro Presbyterian Church, gave a Bible message. He illustrated his points that the way of the cross leads home and quoted that old familiar hymn.

Rt. Wor. Sir Fred Bateman, Past Grand Master of Ontario East, voiced thanks to all who had accepted the invitation of Stirling. He also specially thanked Sentinel Lodge and pipe band for their attendance. In his brief message he outlined what the Orange organization stands for and then introduced Most Wor. Sir Rev. J. V. Mills of Toronto, executive secretary of the Public School Trustees' Association of Ontario. He is a Past Master of Victory Lodge, Toronto, a Past Grand Chaplain and an editor of the lodge paper.

TELLS ABOUT SCHOOLS

Mr. Mills felt it was a privilege to be in Stirling in attendance at an Orange celebration. As he is a prominent figure in the public school life of Ontario he brought greetings from 1,100,000 boys and girls, 32,000 public school teachers, 6,000 trustees and some 4,285 school boards, he said. He gave first hand knowledge of the detailed work that his group is in charge of and explained the variations when school boards purchase sites, build about assessment schedules and what happens in public school districts. He gave a graphic picture of the work of the Department of Education and of Hydro. Mr. Mills gave first hand information regarding Alexandria in Ontario East, the seaway project and the Ottawa subdivision.

Mr. Mills brought greetings from the Grand Lodge of British America. In closing his timely and interesting address he urged each individual to put his trust in God and then carry on the high ideals of the Order.

BUILD REGION UP TO FUTURE

The last speaker was Wor. Bro. Morgan Brown, of Peterborough, Jr. Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East. He offered congratulations on his glorious Twelfth and his eulogies of the Orange association with its glorious past, its wonderful present and its valuable heritage. The task today is to build a bridge from the past to the future and above all to apply wisdom in building in order that each individual might have freedom and liberty, he said. He closed with the familiar verse "Rise up of men of God, have done with lesser things and so serve the King of Kings."

John MacMurray offered the benediction and Sentinel Lodge piped "The Queen."

Frost Discusses Tax-Sharing Offer With Prime Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario spent the better part of an afternoon in conference with Prime Minister Dr. Laurent Wednesday, apparently discussing federal provincial fiscal arrangements, it was learned Thursday night.

Although the subject of their discussion was not disclosed it was believed to have centred around the new tax-sharing offer made by the provinces by the federal government.

Premier Frost was one of those who criticized the federal formula which has been offered to replace the tax rental agreements which expire March 31, 1957.

The federal proposal, extended at federal-provincial conferences, proposed to pay the provinces equalization subsidies to bring all up to the per capita level of Ontario and British Columbia, the two wealthiest, in the income tax and succession duty fields.

ALLOW DEDUCTIONS

It would also allow provincial taxpayers to deduct from their federal tax liability up to 19 per cent of federal income tax, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of federal succession duties.

The provinces have the option of continuing the present tax rental agreements in the income and succession duty fields or having the central administration collect taxes for them, at a fee, on the new 10-4-50 basis.

Premier Frost, at the time of the conference, described the federal view as "archaic." He proposed instead a sweeping revision to give Ontario more leeway in tax collections which he said are necessary to serve his province's growing population and industry.

Build-Up of Plane Needs Is Virtually Completed

OTTAWA (CP)—The build-up of Canada's, military plane needs is virtually completed, says Thor Stephenson, the government's plane production chief who quits at the end of the month to take a post in civilian industry.

What he is taking place, added the Winnipeg-born aeronautical engineer in an interview Thursday, is the feeding of planes to the forces on "an attrition basis."

The 56-year-old director of the production department's aircraft branch, which handles some $400,000,000 in government plane contracts, will be succeeded by his assistant, D. Lyn Thompson, Toronto-born wartime army captain.

Mr. Stephenson said aside from the development of the CF-105 Jet fighter, he could see no "starting" plane developments in Canada in the near future. Main concentration will be on missiles. This development program will get bigger year by year.

However, he predicted that within seven years the Western world will have aircraft that will attain speeds of 2,000 miles an hour and will be manned by human pilots.

While main concentration will be on guided missiles, he could not see future wars being fought with automatic missiles alone. Humans will still be needed to man planes flying at about three times the speed of sound.

Mr. Stephenson, who is taking a post with the Pratt and Whitney engine producers, is a veteran of many air government posts and is 11 with National Research Council and the last four with the production department.

Plan Paper Mill At Sioux Lookout

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Anglo Newfoundland Development Co. Ltd., intends to proceed with its proposed construction of a $60,000,000 paper mill near Sioux Lookout, 175 miles northwest of here, it was learned Thursday.

Lands and Forests Minister Clare Mapledoram of Ontario announced here that the company has advised him it will take up an option with the provincial government before September. It will post $250,000 and agree to start construction of the mill within a year.

The millsite will be about 10 miles southwest of Sioux Lookout.

WANTED:
FIRST NAME FOR MR. MAGOO

Poor Magoo. He has no sex appeal, he's spindly-legged, near-sighted and more than somewhat batty. Still, says the current issue of PHOTOPLAY magazine, which is running a contest to get the cartoonist a first name, he's captured the hearts of millions who have seen him as one of the best-loved cartoon characters of all time. PHOTOPLAY, at newsstands now, is offering handsome prizes to its readers in exchange for a suitable first name for Mr. Magoo and a jingle's closing line.

ASHINGTON - TENNIS ASSET

You wouldn't think to see this quiet, unassuming fellow sitting at his typewriter pounding out editorials and other newspaper requisites, that he once were the laurel wreath of a Canadian badminton champion. Nor that on another occasion further laurels were added by the world's professional title.

He is Doug Grant, of Kingston, who joined the editorial staff of this newspaper last Monday.

Doug is a three-time winner of the Canadian Badminton singles championship. He won the title in 1932, 34 and 36. He also won the 1935 tournament recovering from pneumonia. After his third straight crown in 1936 he turned professional, playing a series of matches against the best the world could produce and eventually winning the title. He won his Canadian laurels out of Winnipeg, Halifax and Kingston.

A keen student of the game since he started play at the age of eleven years, Doug accumulated a vast amount of knowledge of the game. He lost as much that he put it in writing. He is the author of a book on badminton that is a "must" for beginners, while veterans will be the better for its perusal.

He retired from competitive badminton some years ago, but still plays the game for "exercise sake." While residing in Toronto he taught the sport. Last year he moved to Kingston where he became associated with the Whig Standard in an editorial capacity.

Doug came by his badminton prowess naturally. His father, Lt.-Col. Charles H. Grant of Halifax, Winnipeg, and Kingston, was the former tennis and badminton champion of the Maritimes, and later holder of the St. Lawrence championship. His mother also was a badminton player of exceptional ability.

He resided in Montreal for many years and while there was a tennis professional at leading clubs in the eastern metropolis and at the Manor Richelieu in Murray Bay, Quebec.

While retired from active competition in badminton and tennis he is still active as an instructor in these sports. He should be a decided asset to the Carleton Badminton Club here as well as the Quinte Tennis Club.

His versatility took him into the realm of golf and his only competitive interest is centred in that sport. He hopes to play here and take part in local tournaments.

But badminton is his first love. He points out that while the game is a minor sport in Canada it has a tremendous appeal in Europe and Asia. An average night tournament in these countries will draw at least 2,000 spectators. The bigger tournaments in England, Scotland and Denmark attract upwards of 5,000.

He adds that the current lack of interest in badminton in Canada, and other sports where consistent physical exercise is required, is due to the standard of living we enjoy. "People don't care to exert themselves and they have too many other interests." He agrees with this department that the future sports battles of Waterloo will not be won in multi-colored streamlined sports cars nor cozy television sets.

Grant's advice to badminton players, young and old, is they will develop the best form through heavy instruction, and like any other sport, the harder they work at it the better they will become.

He would like to see more youngsters taking an active interest in badminton. Wherever he goes he encourages local clubs to contact youth in their area and supplying the kids with racquets, if possible.

"Tournament play is best for any player for he or she can see where the mistakes lie and correct them," he advises. "Experienced players can provide valuable pointers on how to improve their form.

HAT MAN AGAIN

That man, Ray Judd, who lightnings softball across the plate is still at it. He whiffed 17 in his last time out, bringing his total to 119 for eleven games, or an average of almost 17.

Judd brings his wonder arm here tomorrow night to the CNE Recreation Park where his Lakefield team tangles with the Point Anne Comentmen, which includes one Pat Marasco. Pat, it is stated, has been conserving his energy readying himself for an all-out mound duel with the Lakefield mound ace.

The Ox Point sluggers had better have their batting eyes in good shape for Master Judd is no respecter of hitters. They're all potential strikeout victims as far as he is concerned. However, it should be the softball classic of the season. It gets under way at seven o'clock and lovers of the game should not miss it.

WRESTLING

Neither should wrestling fans miss tonight's mat melange in Memorial Arena when Edouard Carpentier, the sensational French champion, mixes muscles with toughie Fred Atkins in the main bout. We imagine you've got to see this chunk of Parisian lightning to appreciate him. He doesn't speak English but he knows all the answers to a fiendish wrestling holds. Watch him and see. Then there's Gil Mains and Roberto Pico, with Flanagan and another Frenchman, Frank Valois, mixing matters in other bouts.

JETS LEAVE AS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Jets of the International League will sever connections with Kansas City Athletics of the American League, it was announced Thursday.

Jet president Fred Jones criticized Athletics officials as "a bunch of schemers," and Jets' general manager Harold Cooper wired the Kansas City baseball club that a two-year agreement will not be renewed this December.

The explosion apparently stemmed from a series of player transactions this week. One deal recalled Al Pilarcik, the Jets' leading hitter, to Kansas City.

Wilson Smashes Three Homers In 13th Triumph in 15 Games; Wings Dump Montreal Twice

By The Associated Press

What looked like weird strategy by Rochester manager Dixie Walker turned out to be as solid as a sun-baked infield Thursday night as the Red Wings snared a doubleheader from Montreal and dumped the Royals out of the International League lead.

Toronto's hot Maple Leafs took over first place by a half-game with a rollicking 14-4 victory over last-place Buffalo.

Walker's shockbox move was made in the fourth inning of Rochester's 7-3 nightcap victory. Montreal, after losing the opener 5-0, loaded the bases against Red Wing starter John Markinson and sent Chuck Diering up to pinch-hit. Dixie hauled in outfielder Mel Wilson to pitch and stationed Mackinson at third.

The ace-high Wilson threw left handed and Diering is a right-handed swinger didn't bother Walker. Moreover his unorthodox move paid off—Diering walked on four pitches and Markinson went back to the mound to win his 11th game. His starter at Dutchess Stadium was the loser.

Duke Markell six-hit the Royals in the nightcap while the Red Wings tagged four Montreal pitchers for eight hits. Letty Fred Klippwas the loser.

Rochester is third, only one game back of Montreal.

Virginians Climb

Miami Marlins hung on to fourth place by defeating Havana 4-3 and Richmond Virginians by umbus in fifth by beating the Jets 4-3.

Toronto smacked four home runs—three of them by Archie Wilson on consecutive at-bats—while building up a 13-0 lead against the Bisons. It was the Leafs' 13th victory in 15 games. Eddie Blake coasted to his ninth victory and added a two-run and two singles to the 18-hit Toronto attack in which Wilson drove in five runs.

Three unearned runs in the sixth inning and Ed Burtich's clutch relief pitching carried the Vees past the Jets. Burtich, one of the players involved in the Jets' complaint that their working agreement with the Kansas City Athletics, have been sending better material to the New York Yankees' Richmond farm than to Columbus, retired Al Pilarcik on a short fly, Johnny Lipon on a pop-up and Ray Noble on a swinging third strike with the bases loaded in the ninth inning.

Jim Owens of Miami got out of a second spot in the ninth inning after the Sugar Kings had scored two runs on Woody Smith's double. Owens retired Oscar Sierra on an infield grounder.

Owens also retired Seth Morehead in the eighth when he inherited his third with two on. Morehead had given up only one hit—a first inning double by Hal Bevan.

Refuses to Join

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) Australia, site of this year's Olympic Games, has refused to join a move to protect the Olympic symbol.

At the request of the International Olympic Committee, the Swiss government has circulated a draft among Olympic nations asking that the Olympic symbol—five interlocking colored rings—as well as the word "Olympic" be forbidden for commercial use.

Fourteen governments, including the United States, have advised they are in favor of the move. Three governments, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, say "no," and Britain is expected to follow suit. Forty countries haven't answered.

HOW TO KEEP

Cool...

Simply by watching your diet you can make hot weather a lot more bearable for yourself. Your body generates heat from the calories in your food . . . the more calories the more heat. So go easy on the cookies, pies and cream dishes. And don't stint the salads, fruits, cereals and light soups. One good tip . . . start every day with a good, well-balanced breakfast. Then you won't feel so hungry later in the day when you should be eating lightly to keep cool.

Sprague Cleghorn Dies at 66 National Figure in Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — Sprague Cleghorn, 66, colorful National Hockey League star at yesterday, died in hospital today of injuries suffered when struck by a car June 30.

Described by manager Frank Selke of the NHL Montreal Canadiens as "one of the finally great old-time hockey players," Cleghorn was a defenceman who played with Ottawa Senators when they won the Stanley Cup in the years 1919-20 and 1920-21.

He played five seasons with Montreal Wanderers, three with Ottawa and was a member of the NHL Canadiens from 1931 to 1935. He then joined Boston Bruins and played with them two seasons before retiring. He also had a stint with Renfrew Millionaires.

PRICE OF HOCKEY

T. P. (Tommy) Gorman acquired Sprague in the price of a railway ticket from Montreal to Ottawa.

"Sprague broke his ankle in Montreal and was in hospital. Gorman recalls. "He came out of the hospital and was walking on the sidewalk and he only took strokes the other ankle.

"That was in 1924. He called me up and said he would be in good shape by the fall. We took a chance on him. The price to us was the price of the railway ticket from Montreal."

Cleghorn recovered from his ankle injuries to lead the Senators in the Stanley Cup finals in 1920-21.

The stories about the Cleghorn brothers could fill a book.

King Clancy, now an executive with the Toronto Maple Leafs, recalls the time when as a rookie he was playing against Sprague.

BANGED HIS STICK

Sprague, then playing for the Canadiens, was skating in on the Ottawa goal when Clancy skated up beside him, banged his stick on the ice and yelled:

"Here, Sprague, here."

Sprague passed the puck without looking and Clancy raced into the Canadiens end and scored.

"At the end of the period when I was leaving the ice somebody behind me said, 'Hey, Clancy,' King recalls. "I looked around just in time to get a punch on the chin that knocked me flat.

"Cousy Dolan, our trainer, helped me into the dressing room and said: 'You pulled that trick on the wrong guy'."

NEVER BACKED UP

Sprague backed up from no one either on or off the ice. Once big Lionel Hitchman, a regular Ottawa player, was hammering Sprague. Sprague invited Hitchman to try to carry the puck his way the next time.

Hitchman, who never backed off either, did. He was carried from the ice on a stretcher.

Old-time hockey stars and executives joined Thursday in paying tribute to Cleghorn.

Newsy Lalonde, who once engaged in such a bloody brawl with Cleghorn in Toronto that both were ejected from the game, is one of the best. He could shoot like the dickens and skate like the dickens."

"We had our little tiffs on the ice like all hockey players, but we soon got over them."

TOO FEW TODAY

Frank Selke, managing director of the Montreal Canadiens, said: "He typified the old-time, driving hockey player, of which there are too few in the game today."

It was the game of hockey that Sprague, a 60-minute man, loved —not the money — and he was never happier than when the game showed spirit aplenty.

Sprague and Odie, a forward, played with Montreal Wanderers the night that professional hockey was introduced in Toronto at the old Mutual Street Arena in an exhibition game. Newsy Lalonde was playing with the opposing Canadiens.

Tempers flared and Newsy bit Odie, knocking him cold. Sprague hurtled across the rink and engaged Newsy in a gory battle ending with Sprague unconscious.

THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD

"The referee thought he was dead," Odie recalled Thursday night, "but he was fine in a little while. They were both arrested but we hired a good lawyer and got them off."

Said Odie: "He was my brother and I don't like to boast, but I never had a tougher or better defenceman than Sprague."

Sprague was married three times. His first two marriages ended in divorces and his third wife predeceased him.

Pointers Whip Second-Place Bobcats 4-1

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Scoring three of their four runs on seven hits, two of which were pitches, the front-running Point Anne Canadian downed the Bobcats 4-1 in their last venture to tighten their position in the B. and D. softball league.

Point Anne scored three gift runs in the first two frames without the benefit of a hit off Vic Burtt. The first two batters drew walks off the Trenton southpaw and Bone's throwing error to second plated the lead runner. The error sent Jones to third and he also scored, coming home on a wild pitch. Batchelor also walked and took second on a passed ball before three were out.

Burtt was wild again in the second, walking Gilmour Ward, Gallaugh and Jones. Gilmour made it 3-0 during second on a wild pitch, third on a passed ball and home on another pitch into the dirt behind the plate.

Bob Hull made his initial start of the year, a successful one, pitching a two-hitter for the Cementmen. He did not allow a hit until the fourth but also had control trouble. Hull nipped batters on third strikes while walking seven.

Burtt was charged with the loss in 7 1-3 innings but did not allow a hit while whiffing two and walking six. Jim Wolfe, the only pitcher this year to beat the Ox-Pointers, came on and pitched two. He gave up five hits over the remainder, striking out one and issuing two walks.

The victors netted their final marker in the fourth. Bob Hull drew a one-to-nothing nod with two out, Doug Hull slashed a solid single-to-centre field and on an error, the run scoring on the hit.

Ralph Wardhaugh was ejected from the game in this frame by umpire Ken Mallory. Mallory called Wardhaugh out for stepping out of the batters' box and when the player disputed, he was headed towards the showers. Merville Jones made the score sheet in the ninth when shortstop John Casey picked a long bone run to centre field with the necks empty. Their only other safe hit was by Art Batchelor, a single through centre in the seventh inning. The Cats stranded ten men and Point Anne the same number.

Pat Gilmour was the only player with more than one safety, getting a brace of singles. The others went to John Batchelor, Pete Green and Doug Hull.

Lineups:

Frank Stranahan Leads Field In $26,800 Open Golf Tourney

By CHARLES BAHIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOUCHARVILLE, Que. (CP)—Record scores were almost a necessity today if the field in the fourth annual $26,800 open golf tournament hoped to catch up with Frank Stranahan.

The converted Toledo amateur ace Thursday toured Royal Quebec's striking fairways in just 67 strokes, one less than the competitive record for the course and five under par.

His performance left him one stroke up on Bill Casper of San Diego, Calif., Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Canadian pro Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que. The trio were home in 68 hits each.

Tied at 69 as the second round got under way this morning were Tommy Bolt of Houston, Texas, Jimmy Demaret of Alameda Lake, N.Y., and 1954 winner Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif.

ALSO UNDER PAR

Seven others, including Toronto's Gerry Kesselring, shot two-under-par 70s. At 71 were defending champion Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., Doug Sanders, Miami Beach, Fla., amateur who won the Canadian Open last week, and four others.

A total of 26 competitors broke par in the first round of the tournament, which ends Sunday.

Leonard and Littler, reviving last year's battle in which Leonard lost out in a playoff, played in a threesome with home pro Rudy Huot and were followed by a gallery of close to 1,500.

Stranahan was one of the early starters. He birdied three holes and went one over twice for a 33 on the par-35 front nine, then turned up three more birdies on the way home for a 34.

He was putting accurately—but not often, according to Bolt. After Bolt finished with 69, he predicted: "That guy Stranahan could have thrown his putter away; he sure didn't use it much."

BURST OF TEMPER

Bolt finished the opening round with a stomped-on putter bent almost to a 45-degree angle—the result of a burst of temper. Jim Demaret tried to straighten a broken putter at the fourth hole, broke it and continued on with a No. 2 iron. He said he would play out the tournament with the iron.

Leonard tried desperately to catch up with Stranahan. A spectacular 4-wood shot shot on the 14th hole gave him a birdie. The rest of the way his birdie-hound hopes were ruined by inches.

The day's play saw three eagles. Bob Rosburg of San Francisco was down in three on the par-five, 470-yard fifth hole. Amateur Bob Stark of Elmsford, N.Y., dropped a 130-yard smash for a deuce at the par-five, 500-yard seventh, and Ted Kroll took an eagle three with a long putt on the par-five, 525-yard 14th.

SHOT A PAR

Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., winner of the first $26,800 Open in 1953, shot 71 nines for his two-under-par round. He was playing with a putter he had kept on the shelf since starting of the pro circuit. It was the same putter he used in winning the Canadian junior championship on the Royal Quebec course in 1947.

Al Balding of Toronto, Leonard's partner in the recent Canada Cup matches in England, scored a two-over-par 74. Both of the Canadian top pros came here directly from the British Open.

3,000 Give Bell, Ryder Big Sendoff

TORONTO (CP) — Marathon swimmer Marilyn Bell told 3,000 supporters yesterday night she will do her best to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca next month. If she does, she will receive $30,000. Even if she doesn't, she will still pick up $20,000.

Marilyn and her coach Gus Ryder are to leave by air Sunday for Victoria to begin practising for the swim over 18 miles of cold and treacherous water between Vancouver and the mainland.

The 18 - year - old athlete was showered with good wishes from notables of the political and sports world at a well-publicized rally in the Canadian National Exhibition.

PROMISES RECEPTION

Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto promised her the greatest reception ever accorded a sports celebrity when she returns from the swim, sponsored by the Toronto Telegram add other newspapers associated with Weekend Magazine.

Fellow Toronto marathoner Cliff Lumsden sent word by her in a telegram to "Go- Go- Go!" Lumsden is in Atlantic City, N.J., training for a 26-mile swim.

Premier Frost of Ontario praised her in a message which said "great personal courage and powerful determination."

Marilyn said: "This is going to be my biggest and hardest swim and I'm going to win my heart."

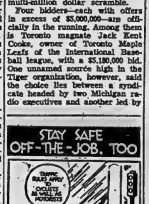
She is the only person to completete the 32-mile Lake Ontario swim and the youngest to swim the English Channel. If her latest August attempt is successful, she will be the second person to swim both ways. Enid Margaret Haworth of Tacoma, Wash., made it last year.

CROWED TOO SOON

KITCHENER (CP)—Four bantam roosters sang their own swan songs here when police witnessed a 6:30 a.m. crowing session. Nearby residents had complained the quartet was keeping everyone awake. The owner said he would keep his ears and "Tie them up as soon as possible".

Detroit Tigers' New Owner Named Monday

DETROIT (AP)—The long drawn and always confusing tug of war for Detroit Tigers is grinding to a halt.



The smoke hovering over what doubtless will be baseball's biggest financial transaction is due to lift Monday when the club's directors name the victor in the multi-million dollar scramble.

Four bidders—each with offers in excess of $5,000,000—are officially in the running. Among them is Toronto magnate Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball league, with a $5,180,000 bid. One unnamed source high in the Tiger organization, however, said the choice lies between a syndicate headed by two Michigan radio executives and another led by Bill Veeck.

The former owner of St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians whose baseball trademark was disregard for conventions, had considerable support from Detroit fans. Veeck's syndicate's bid of $5,250,000 is $250,000 higher than the one submitted by radio team Fred Knorr and John Fetzer.

But the Knorr-Fetzer group is the personal choice of Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., the Tiger president who also is a member of the board of directors and a trustee of the estate of his late father, from whom he and his sister inherited the club and Briggs Stadium.

STAY SAFE OFF-THE-JOB, TOO

Maybe Charles Dickens was gazing into a crystal — or skyscraper — ball when he made this prediction a century ago about a strange new metal called aluminum. He wrote:

"What do you think of metal as white as silver, as unalterable as gold, as easily melted as copper, as tough as iron? . . . In proportion as the cheap production of aluminum becomes more and more an established fact, the more we shall find it entering into household uses — for travelling purposes, for instance, for which its lightness is no small merit."

Very good, Charles — especially that bit about cheap production. That day has arrived, as Alcan's vast production and world sales prove.

Upsets of Favored Players Mark Ontario Amateur Golf Tournament

By JOHN VOZNICH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OSHAWA (CP)—Upsets of favored players were prevalent in Thursday's rounds of the Ontario amateur golf championship here with Bill Harrison, 21-year-old shotmaker from Windsor Roseland, turning in the biggest surprise.

Harrison trimmed Moe Norman of Kitchener Rockway, last year's Canadian amateur champion, 2 and 1 in a close third - round struggle that was even at the ninth hole.

The result apparently was an unexpected victory for Harrison, as well as for almost everyone else. He was packed to head for Windsor when Thursday's match beat over. He was beaten in the third round of the Amateur last year by Ernie Bentley of Weston.

Harrison attributed his win to luck and conceded that Norman's putts were off.

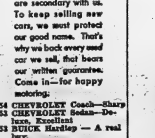
HAS YET TO WIN

Norman has yet to win the Ontario crown. He was edged by Gerry Magee of Toronto Lambton on the 19th hole in last year's play.

Four former Ontario amateur champs were entered in today here but only two survived Thursday's two rounds. Bruce Bradley of Oshawa and Sonny Adams of Toronto Scarboro fell in the second round which was played Thursday morning.

While Norman had an easy time in ousting P. T. Reinboldt of Toronto Summit, 8 and 7 in the second round, Magee, the defending champ, had a rough time shaking loose from Glen Phillips of Toronto Elmo, 3 and 1. Magee was not extended in taking Ernie Nesbitt of Toronto Thornhill, 4 and 3, in the afternoon set.

MET WILLINGDON MEN



Phil Brownlee, 15 year - old stylist who has been shooting in the gallery here, won two important matches Thursday. He defeated Dick Jeffery of Cobourg one up and then returned in the afternoon to take on a member of Ontario's Willingdon Cup team, North Bay's Bill Morland.

Phil, from the Toronto Scarboro Club, downed Morland one up and drew Ray Cooke of Hamilton Glendale for today's fourth round.

Gary Cowan, 17-year-old Kitchener Rockway ace, defeated Toronto Oakdale's Ed Creed 2 and 1. The youngster has been playing steadily all along and has been rated a fair chance to go all the way. He meets Bill Bowen, 21, of Niagara Falls in today's round.

Of the 132 golfers who started the tournament only 16 remain in the quest for the title. Play continues here till Saturday when two amateurs battle it out in an afternoon round for the championship.

Mulleavy Fills 25-Man Roster For All-Star Team

MONTREAL (CP) — Manager Greg Mulleavy of the International Baseball League's all-star squad today filled in the 25-man roster for a July 31 game at Toronto against Milwaukee Braves.

The Montreal Royals skipper named first outfielder Ed Abrams of Miami to replace Al Pilarcik, the fans' all-star choice who was called up by Kansas City.

Mulleavy's additions include three players each from Toronto Maple Leafs and Rochester Red Wings, two from Buffalo Bisons, Columbus Jets and Havana Sugar Kings and one each from Miami Marlins, Richmond Virginians and Montreal.

STRONG ROSTER

The all-star team, piloted by Mulleavy around the eight-team circuit, is:

Play Safe on the highway this week-end

Keep alert while you drive—chew gum!

Alert drivers are safe drivers. Avoid drowsiness and driving jitters. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert.

Chew any brand you like, but chew while you drive. Naturally we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, full-bodied flavor and real, smooth chewing enjoyment!

Portable Television Receivers Make Appearance on Market

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Without much fanfare we have entered the era of the portable television receiver.

At least two companies now have portables on the market. Others are on the way. Now it's reported that an official of one of these companies has been driving it around with a model plugged to his car battery. Backseat riders in his car had a pretty good view of a program—so long as the car kept a straight course and hills didn't cut off the beam and so forth.

Thanks to the thoughtfulness of the New York state legislature, it's illegal for a driver in this state to have a TV set on the dashboard. Too distracting, the legislature rightfully concluded. But it's okay for backseat riders to watch television. It's okay by the New York legislature, that is. But it's not okay by me.

As an old backseat driver of many years standing, I don't want a television program distracting up my view of the road ahead. If I want to watch television, I'll stay home.

MUST DRAW LINE

Granting the right of television to pursue us into the home, it seems right to draw the line somewhere. For now, with the advent of efficient portables, we are pursued out of the home and into it.

The other weekend we were invited to the shore. The sun was bright, the air bore a salty tang, and the Atlantic slammed boorishly against the long white shore. But I could pull on swimming trunks, our host proudly unveiled a new portable TV.

"So you can watch TV," he said. "I've got a long extension cord so we can carry it down to the beach."

Harry Belafonte Drawing Big Audiences at Los Angeles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A young fellow named Harry Belafonte has been drawing big audiences to Los Angeles' Greek Theatre nightly for the last two weeks in one of the most successful one-man shows within memory.

The singer followed another singular showman, Victor Borge, into the Greek theatre. But the delightful Dane stayed a stanza, while Belafonte is lingering for two. His first box office draw for the fortnight may reach a fabulous $32,500.

All this to hear one man sing! Belafonte is both humble and grateful for the reaction.

"This is the first time I have played a one-man show," he remarked.

"I was a little worried at how it would turn out." When he was with Three for Tonight, Marge and Gower Champion and others were in the show. He had a supporting cast in Sing, Man, Sing which recently closed in the midwest. This time he's alone on the stage with his guitarist, Millard Thomas.

ALL TAKES TIME

Before coming here, he played at Lewisohn Stadium in New York in a record 27,540 people. In addition, his albums have remained among the top 10 sellers for eight months.

Asked to explain his success, Belafonte laughed:

"It looks to some people as if it happened suddenly. I agree with Danny Thomas, who said, 'It took me 20 years to become an overnight success.'

"I've been in show business for eight years. It was six years before my career really started to take off. But I was working all the time, playing in small night clubs, then bigger ones. I was getting the experience that pays off now."

His biggest break, he agreed, was playing the lead in Carmen Jones. Oddly enough, he didn't use his own singing voice in the movie.

Belafonte's schedule has been a hectic one for the last two years. He's been flying to the coast in one of the most successful one-man shows within memory.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Devote some time to outside activities when duties allow. Restful diversion, whether mental or physical, is necessary to health. Look forward with faith.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Don't be left out of the picture through negligence or lack of foresight. Use your intelligence, keep busy and don't consider anything too hard to handle. Get some recreation too.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — A stimulating day for most well-managed endeavors. Good intentions should be backed with smart, intelligent action. Solidify worthy friendships, maintain harmony.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Don't be too opinionative when talking to others or they will shy away from you next time. Being a good listener is important (in any walk of life). Today help the "other fellow" feel better.

YOU BORN TODAY can look forward to some changes, maybe travel soon, and also some interesting experiences. You may talk with people and not know that your personality has won you praise. The magician of people born on this date often opens doors to unusual opportunities.

Your interest and knack for dealing graciously with others fits you for many a position which those without these assets would not hold. You love children and they you. Your tenacity is strong; sometimes cantankerousness and worrying are faults. Religious and domestic instincts are noteworthy. Birthdate of: John G. Lockhart, noted Scottish writer, editor.

Your Horoscope

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Not a wholly stimulating nor overly personal day, but personal, domestic and artistic activities are favored. Handle urgent duties quickly, make time for healthy fun.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Present mild influences will become most beneficial and helpful tomorrow. This can be a productive and happy day; help make it so. Necessary work, home chores favored. Enjoy some recreation.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Take it easier today if you can. Still essential and urgent matters can be done without rush or strain. It is important that you go fit and this requires regular rest, relaxation.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Your Moon, favorably aspected, gives you an edge on many today but, at the same time, don't be reckless, especially around water, with beverages, chemicals, etc. It's best to be serene at both work and play.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Advice to Cancer and Aries can be helpful to you now. Don't overdo but, at the same time, attend quickly, quietly to essentials, then have more time for relaxation, healthy fun.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't be too industrious, especially if you are entitled to leisure time. Virgo tends to overwork very often. A common sense is to give mind and body a rest, to replenish energy. Flex rays!

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Need notations to Virgo and Aries. Mild, beneficial aspects on the whole but more favorable for family, social affairs and personal and romantic interests, than for difficult chores. Take it easy!

October 24 to November 22

Don't Trust to Luck!

IT'S A BIG MISTAKE to price your home too high or too low when you are selling it. A big mistake in price a property that is priced at a level that will not be realized the year we, shall continue to make the majority of prospective sellers to be sellers and buyers in making appraisals of selling prices when they list the need for their property. Why not let us sell in this way especially how their prices "set down in plain figures" for your advantage. Contact us today if you are desirous of selling your home or list your property today for that prompt service you expect.

STILL PLAYING

NORTH BAY (CP)—Marathon pianist Donald (Tiny) Bird needed the doctor's attention for cramps in his legs Thursday night but passed the 37-hour mark in his attempt to play steadily for 73 hours.

"Excuse us, gentlemen—we didn't know the room was occupied."

Wellington on the Lake

THE HOME OF CHILDHOOD

When summer spreads a glamor
O'er all the countryside,
When vagrant winds are wooing
Our thoughts to wander wide,
'Tis then we hear the music
By childhood voices sung,
When all the world was gladness
And life itself was young.

A vision comes before me—
An open farm-house door—
And scent of rose and lilac
Perfume the air once more;
From stately oak, the acorns
Fall dropping at our feet,
The while the leaves above us
Make music, soft and sweet.

The plumes of pine trees tossing,
The wild flowers in the wood,
The fragrant fields and meadows
Enchanting were, and good;
Though distant scenes attract us
And tempt our feet to roam,
Our hearts are ever turning
Back to our childhood home.
—Helen B. Anderson.

The love of home and country seems to be a quality inherent to the British race. Although enterprising and adventurous as revealed in their success in exploration and colonization, the adventurous spirit seems to seek as its final goal—a home. The early settlers here were seeking homes. Even the most adventurous wanderers finally find peace in their childhood homes. We recall the lines of the poet, Goldsmith, who was a restless traveller:

"I still had hopes, for pride attends us still,
Among the swains to show my book-learned skill,
Around my fire an evening group to draw
To tell of all I felt and all I saw;
I still had hopes, my long vexations past,
Here to return, and die at home at last."

And from our own Canadian poet, Wilson MacDonald, we have the following:

"The gypsy trail was pleasant to my going,
The solitude was sweet as amber wine,
And yet I only loved this vagrance knowing
I might turn back to these old friends of mine."

These thoughts have been suggested by a letter received from my nephew, Arnold Anderson of Victoria, B.C., who wrote on reaching home after a visit to his childhood home in Prince Edward County. He tells of a pleasant journey by way of Chicago and through Illinois, Utah and various states without accident, but what revealed his love for his boyhood home and friends here, was a book of snapshots taken while here, comprising a picture of Melville school house, pictures of Melville church and two views of his boyhood home, the Anderson homestead at Consecon Lake.

Truly "God gave us memories that we might enjoy roses in December."

LOCAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hubbs of Cedar Springs, Ont., who have been holidaying here, left on Saturday for home, intending to stop at Stirling enroute to visit Mrs. Hubbs' sister, Mrs. Estelle Chisholm. Mrs. Hubbs spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. H. B. Anderson and Miss M. Blakely.

Mr. Arnold Vandewater having suffered a stroke, was removed to Prince Edward County hospital, with Dr. S. Sarles in attendance. Mrs. Vandewater visits her husband daily, but unfortunately he shows little sign of improvement. They have the sympathy of their many friends.

Miss Dorothy Tayler, Toronto, is this week the guest of Miss Marjorie Blakely. They motored to Belleville on Tuesday.

Mrs. M. MacArthur of Welland, with her daughters, Maxine, Mary Jane and baby Sue, are this week the guests of her sister, Mrs. Edna Platt, Maple Avenue.

Miss Marjorie Blakely and Mrs. Anderson, with their guests Miss D. Taylor, Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carley, enjoyed a turkey dinner, Sunday evening, at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, followed by a drive into Picton and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ford and children, of Thedford, Ont., are enjoying holidays with Mr. Ford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford, Oak Street.

Mrs. Frank Jones, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. R. McLean, and Mr. McLean of Kitchener, is now at her home here on Consecon Street, for the summer. Mrs. Hugh Weir is with her.

SUMMER AGAIN

With pondes, red and white in bloom and purple delphiniums showing their color and the mock oranges in bridal dress, summer is with us again. And the passing trucks loaded with green peas for the factory, proclaim summer activities in the country. These attract the small boys who run to snatch a bunch of peas from the passing wagons.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders entertained guests from Toronto, over the weekend.

Miss Helen Arthur, Belleville, spent Wednesday in Wellington.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME

There is many a mighty river
Flowing onward to the sea,
With its waves a flashing leaping
In the wind,
But I know a little lakelet
That is glorious company
And it brings a sense of solace
To the mind.
There is many a road that wanders
Over mountains steep and high,
There are highways thronged with traffic night and day,
But a little road that dips and bends
Beneath a country sky
Has often led my vagrant feet to stray.

There is many a might mansion
There is many a kingly hall,
Where towers and turrets in the sunlight gleam,
But a little country cottage
Is to me the best of all—
My little home of memories and dreams.

Town and Chief Requested to Get Together

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Decision in an appeal by Police Chief William Johnson of Grimsby against his May 4 dismissal by town council was reserved Thursday. He and the town were advised to get together to try to settle the dispute themselves.

County Court Judge T. J. Darby said the question is so complicated "it wouldn't be fair to give a decision today."

Mr. Johnston, who refused to quit his job, has been serving without pay since dismissed. He said council cannot fire him without laying charges against him and having a full hearing.

12 Acquitted In Montreal

"It is no crime to be working in an election in a car," Judge Rodolphe Camirand said. "And as far as the court knows they (the 12 men) were engaged in perfectly legal and honest election day work."

As the men filed out following the ruling, one of them picked up the baseball bats which had been introduced as evidence and another carried away a length of

ANTI-REDS SEIZE AIRLINER IN FLIGHT

45 Killed, 21 Injured in Plane Crash

Military Transport Plunges Into Bush Near Fort Dix, N.J.

Survivor Says Craft Hit 'An Airpocket'

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP) — A military transport plane crashed Friday in a wooded swamp area of this huge army reservation, carrying 66 servicemen and civilian passengers to their deaths.

Two women and two children were among the dead. Twenty-one persons were injured some critically.

The giant C-118a left nearby McGuire air force base about 6 pm EDT with a 10-man crew, 50 military passengers and six civilians bound for foreign posts. It was headed for Burtonwood, England.

One survivor, an airman, said the plane hit "an airpocket," a down current which frequently occurs in thunderstorms and caused the plane to drop suddenly. The air force declined comment on his report.

The four-engine craft plunged into the swamp at the southwest corner of this infantry training headquarters, ripping a 1,000-foot swath through tall pine trees. The spot is about three miles from the McGuire runway.

LITTLE FIRE HAZARD

The wings and three motors broke off as the plane tore through the trees. Col. John Williams, commander of the 1611th Air Transport Group, said the gas tanks in the wings thus were separated from the fuselage, preventing any fire.

An air force board started an investigation.

The rain at the time of the takeoff was part of freakish weather conditions in the general area. However, air force public information officers said one-mile visibility and a 1,000-foot ceiling — 200 feet in spots—prevailed.

Col Williams said that at the time of the takeoff the plane normally would have been 200 to 700 feet high and travelling about 175 miles an hour.

SURVIVOR WALKS OUT

First word of the disaster came from a passenger found by military police as he wandered down a highway a mile from the crash. He was Pfc. Thomas F. Kiley of Lawrence, Mass., a private first class.

Fort Dix and McGuire then mobilized for the emergency. Troops were rallied to build a log road over the knee-deep muck of the swamp.

Bulldozers cleared a path for ambulances, jeeps and helicopters.

McGuire officials said 43 died aboard the plane and two others at Fort Dix hospital.

Four chaplains of various faiths were busy during the night phoning next of kin and sending telegrams.

U.S. Gets Right To Stage Fair At Moscow

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune says the Soviet Union has signed a contract granting U.S. businessmen the right to stage an agricultural fair in the heart of Moscow.

In a story from Washington, the newspaper says "administration sources" disclosed that the contract calls for the fair to be held between July 4 and Aug. 31, 1957.

The contract guarantees the purchase by the Soviet Union of $15,000,000 worth of exhibited goods, including agricultural machinery.

Sees Little Loss In Work Result Of Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — The United States steel strike will mean "little or no net loss" in work, David J. McDonald has told the 450,000 members of the United Steelworkers.

The union got this word from its president as contract talks recessed late Friday. There was no apparent progress in bargaining for a settlement, but the government - sponsored negotiations are to resume Monday.

In the July issue of the union newspaper, Steel Labor, McDonald says warehouses are "bulging with steel," addressing himself to the strikers' wives, he adds:

"This shutdown means that your husband is out of work now instead of working short weeks or being transferred around for the next few months. When your husband starts working again the industry will need the production by raising the rate of output, by overtime, etc. There will be little or no net loss in the total work for your husband."

McDonald Friday reported "no change whatever" in the stalemated talks. There also was no indication the industry had changed its position on length of contract, apparently the principal block in the way of an agreement.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic: Showers and scattered thunder showers preceded the advance of drier air across the province Friday night, and this morning skies across southern and central Ontario were still mainly cloudy. In northern regions clear skies with temperatures in the low 40's were general.

Mainly sunny weather is expected to continue over northern sections, and gradual clearing is predicted for the remainder of the province.

GARDINER DENIES CHARGE $100,050 POLITICAL OUTLAY

Alberta Sheep Breeder Loses Flock to Scrapie

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner has denied in the Commons an opposition charge that a $100,050 outlay to a prominent Alberta sheep breeder for compulsory slaughter of his infected flock amounts to a "political" payment.

The charge was laid K. C. McCullough (CCF—Moose Mountain) who made the charge Friday, that the payment was to the political faith of P. J. Rock, the Alberta breeder in question. But he did not know Mr. Rock was one of the world's best sheep breeders and that Dominion Government had an outbreak of a disease known as scrapie, very valued highly for breeding purposes.

Mr. Gardiner, defending his policies said the Government acted through spending estimates for his department, and U.S. evaluators brought in to value the 674-animal Rock flock had estimated it was worth $160,000, but the government had paid $60,000 less.

LITTLE INFO ON IT

He said that although scrapie was first known in Britain 200 years ago, there still is little information about it. Canadian scientists now were examining brain and spinal cord samples from the infected animals in an effort to understand more of the disease, but he wasn't very hopeful they would get to the root of it.

The disease, which takes two to three years to develop, makes sheep itchy so that they scrape their wool off on fences. This is the first sign. Eventually they get convulsions and die.

The discussion was the highlight of a debate on agriculture.

Elsewhere in the debate Mr. Gardiner said the government will permit general distribution of the government's new Lacombe breed of bacon hog, developed at the experimental farm at Lacombe, Alta. He was convinced that it was better than the Yorkshire hog the standard bacon pig now raised on Canadian farms.

The sitting ended agricultural committee business for the session for a time. Finance Minister Harris governed House leader, announced that Monday the House will launch into debate on federal provincial tax and fiscal agreements with the provinces. The agreements would provide for an alternative to present federal rental of the income and succession duties fields from the provinces.

HEARD IT SAID

In the debate about the payment for extermination of the Rock sheep flock at Claresholm, Alta., Mr. McCullough said he had heard it said Mr. Rock is a "well-known Liberal." The payment of $100,000 by the federal government seemed to be "a political payment to political support." He suggested the Canadian people had been "fleeced."

Mr. Hazlett (PC—Lisgar) asked why U.S. evaluators had been brought in to value the worth of the Rock flock.

Mr. Gardiner said the reason was obvious. If he or his officials had done the evaluating "I know how they would have been said in the House."

6 Hurt at Drive-In Theatre As Patrons Ignore Pickets

WINDSOR (CP) — Two men were arrested when the three-month-long picketing of the Windsor Drive-In Theatre by members of the local projectionists union burst into violence late Friday night.

Two carloads of provincial police battled with more than 50 men for about 15 minutes before quelling the riot. Six patrons, including a child received minor injuries.

Police officers refused to name the two men jailed on charges of what charges they were being held. One constable said it was "a bush case" and said both men were released bail.

John Dydzak, Jr., owner and manager of the theatre, said he called police about 8.30 p.m. "the picketing had been torn into violence when patrons ignored "stay out—union" signs and continued to enter the drive-in.

Mr. Dyzak said at least six persons were roughed up by the picket line, including a young girl who had a placard broken over her head when her mother ignored the men and started into the theatre driveway.

New Disarmament Proposal Being Considered by U.S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is reported to be working on a new disarmament proposal which includes some materials now in atomic bombs that could be converted to peaceful uses.

The proposal would be designed to get Russia to join with the Western atomic powers in a system of mutually-withdrawal of nuclear materials from its weapons arsenals and their diversion to peaceful channels.

It was learned today that some discussion of the idea may be a principal point of President Eisenhower's next letter to Soviet Premier Bulganin on the problem of disarmament.

The detailed proposal, if the National Security Council finally agrees on it as firm United States policy, may also be presented during the next round of negotiations in the United Nations disarmament sub-committee.

Harold E. Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, told a press conference Friday that "we are peaceful purposes.

considering what further, initiatives the United States might take to improve the prospects for peace with special reference to limitation and conventional armaments in the world today."

Stassen said he reported to cabinet before he conferred with Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa.

Eisenhower told Bulganin in a letter last spring that he thought it would be important that the great powers take measures to bring the nuclear threat, "under control."

In the absence of any inspection system adequate to detect hidden stocks of weapons, Eisenhower and Stassen are understood to feel that the best way to do this is to get an agreement which would have two effects.

It would secure the diversion of further atomic production from weapons to peaceful uses under a system of safeguards.

And it would provide for the withdrawal from military stores already accumulated of atomic materials for diversion to

Lord Radcliffe Arrives to Draw New Constitution

NICOSIA (AP)—A British legal expert arrived here today for a two-week on-the-spot survey to help draft a new rule constitution for this British island colony.

Lord Radcliffe, Britain's government announced Lord Radcliffe had been assigned to draw up a "new liberal constitution" aimed at a broad measure of self-government.

Radcliffe said he would confer with the British governor Sir John Harding and other British authorities.

The Greek-Cypriot leaders who are demanding an end to British rule say they will not talk with Radcliffe. They insist he meet with Archbishop Makarios, deported last March to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean and accused by the British of inciting rebel violence.

PARLEY NO CHANCES

Stringent security precautions were taken when Radcliffe arrived. Correspondents who assembled at a pre-arranged spot at the airport, were told by a Royal Air Force officer that they would be notified when Radcliffe arrived and moved outside the restricted area.

Troops surrounded the plane as soon as it came to a halt.

Meanwhile, the fourth major anti-terrorist sweep by British troops in Cyprus was in progress today in the central area in the western part of the island. Nearly 2,000 troops combed the area, which covers about 10 square miles.

The sweep area was sealed off from the rest of the island as security forces sought wanted men and hidden arms supplies.

OFF TO HONEYMOON

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe Miller and her playwright husband Arthur Miller set off to London honeymoon Friday with 27 pieces of luggage. Said Miller: "We both need some quiet and privacy. Being married to a girl like Marilyn is like living in a flashbowl."

Police Recover $20,000 Worth Of Jewelry

MONTREAL (CP)—Police Friday night recovered more than $20,000 worth of jewelry stolen by three armed men in a holdup in Montreal July 3.

The jewelry was found in a locker at Windsor Station shortly after police arrested a fifth man for questioning in connection with the holdup at the Mountain Rise Diamond and Gloria Watch Company.

A leather briefcase contained the stolen property. Police said cost value of the jewelry is about $20,000 but retail sales would exceed $60,000.

Capt. Joe Beckard of the holdup squad said the suspect, a 25-year-old Montrealer, is a brother of one of three men arrested Tuesday night in a hunting lodge at St. Calixte, Que.

Peron Charged With Corrupting Morals of Minor

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Juan Peron, deposed Argentine president now living in Panama, Friday was charged in absentia with corrupting a minor, a green-eyed janitor's daughter, Nelly Rivas.

The offence carries a penalty of three to six years imprisonment. If convicted, Peron could be classed as a common criminal and his extradition from exile requested.

Crowds flocked around the entrance to the court as the girl, now 17, appeared to attend the proceedings. Earlier this year she appeared before a government committee investigating Peron's activities.

PIPELINE COMPANY SAYS EXTENSION COULD BE ASKED

U.S. Steel Strike Could Delay Work

CALGARY (CP) — A spokesman for Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., worried about possible construction delays because of the United States steel strike, said Friday night that the company could legally claim an extension of its deadline if the delay is caused by an act of God.

The spokesman, who was not named, said the company is protected in a sudden strike with the federal government against unforeseen snags in the steel supply by the clause of "force majeure" in its contracts.

Trans-Canada fails to complete the Winnipeg leg of the pipeline by Dec. 31 this year its assets are liable to seizure by the government as a condition of the $80,000,000 loan granted Trans Canada.

SOME PIPE DELIVERED

Trans-Canada President N. E. Tanner said Friday night: "We can meet the deadline if we get the pipe. We have a definite contract and everything is firm."

The company placed its first steel order last November and has already received pipe for the first 300 miles of the line, mile Prairie leg from the Alberta border, Tanner said.

The option for full delivery was exercised July 1, immediately after the bitterly-contested truce jury loan was approved by Parliament.

When Trans-Canada signed the agreement in with the government it announced 120 construction days would complete the Prairie leg by the deadline.

During the long debate in Ottawa, Prime Minister Howe declared Trans-Canada "has pipe of the required 34 - inch diameter ready to be delivered."

Said Mr. Tanner: "I don't think Mr. Howe made any wrong statement. We had the pipe ordered. Some has been produced and the rest was being rolled. We would require it."

Construction is going ahead on the first two sections of the project, the 300 miles in Alberta and there is enough pipe to keep contractors busy until September.

The pipeline under contract to supply the pipe by the Dec. 31 deadline, Mr. Tanner said, "they can therefore be held responsible if they fail to make deliveries.

How to Be Happy Though Decrepit Explained by Woman Philosopher

By BILL BECKER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Full up an easy thair, dad — you too, mom. Now is the time for all learned lady hax to say about the problem of growing old.

Dr. Esther Harding Haynes has come up with a set of basic rules on how to be happy though slightly decrepit. Mrs. Haynes, an attractive Austrian - born matron in her early 60's, recently completed three years of study for her doctor of philosophy degree at the University of California at Los Angeles and starts soon as a professor.

Her research also sheds interesting light on how oldsters have been treated through the ages. The basic conclusion:

Senior citizens of ancient Rome were revered—or else. A Roman father had absolute power over his junior kept the family chariot out of the barn, sold it, destroyed it or sold to Carthage.

The Greeks, Mrs. Haynes found, were more like us. Sons were allowed more say once they reached majority. Dad was respected, not worshipped. Even mothers-in-law were esteemed.

The Middle Ages took it out on the old folks. Physical failings were regarded as just punishment for youthful sins. Elders were encouraged to distribute their property to their children prior to death because poverty was good for the soul.

Youth never had it so good, perhaps, until the present.

Which brings us to Dr. Haynes' suggestions. Along with practical reflections by the writer, who, young once himself now has three children of her own, are found learned thoughts.

1. When you are young, find out what qualities in old people are admired by the young. Remember them.

(Learn how to hand out quarters cheerfully when asked. First lesson in the art of begging.)

2. Never praise the good old days. You're living them.

3. Learn early in life how to be well-balanced emotionally, how to control your feelings when you aren't upset by unpleasant events, who you are, what you can do, what you sought out by young people as sources of advice and strength.

Her messages are strictly for Western Union. How much have the kids consulted you lately?

4. Keep alive intellectually.

5. Don't with it, dad, unless you can boo dig those crazy comic books, and keep your conversation kopasetic.

6. Maintain strict adherence to principles of personal hygiene. Neat personal appearance and good table manners make oldsters attractive to the younger generation.

Don't be a slob. Take off that dirty sweatshirt before sitting down to eat. Remember your mistake you for one of the kids.)

Desperate Fight Over Hungary For Plane Control

Craft Is Crash-Landed At U.S. Field in Germany

INGOLSTADT, Germany (Reuters) — Losing blood and near collapse, an ex-pilot of the Hungarian air force steered a stolen airliner over the Iron Curtain to freedom Friday night with the aid of a schoolbook map.

Beside him sat the real pilot of the Hungarian airliner, a gun pressed to his head.

In the passenger compartment the rest of a group of seven Hungarian refugees from Communism kept passengers and crew—including a Communist secret police agent—covered with a pistol.

This story of one of the most dramatic free Curtain escapes in years was recounted today as the seven plotters—all youthful university students—spoke to reporters.

The seven took over the plane in a sudden and desperate mid-air fight, armed with iron bars and an old pistol that wouldn't fire.

Five of the seven—six men and a girl, the wife of one of them—were still in hospital today together with seven of the 13 crew and passengers. Their initial satisfaction said none was seriously injured and all would be out in a day or two.

The passengers and crew were battered and bloody after the desperate fight over Hungary for control of the two-hundred plane.

The runaway army pilot, George Polyak, 25, regained control of the plane after it plummeted to 800 feet above the ground during the fight.

Fighting grimly and dripping blood from a head wound, he brought it in to a safe landing. They were not sure they'll make it until German police appeared on the scene and told them they were in the West.

ATTACK WITH BARS

Polyak, who his friends refer to as "the lieutenant" got most of his injuries in a fight in the flight deck with the secret policeman, who tried to prevent him entering the pilot's cabin. Polyak had 15 stitches in his head.

The dramatic mid-air battle began, student Franz Isar said in Munich, when Polyak would not cut an old pistol.

"We knew it would not fire," he said.

"There were seven other passengers apart from us. They all crashed the nearest one on his head with the pistol. We hit the others with iron bars we had smuggled aboard."

Likely to Spend Hundred Million On Lakes' Harbors

WASHINGTON (AP)—An estimate that up to $100,000,000 will eventually be spent on deepening and improving Great Lakes harbors was made today by Representative John Blatnik (Dem., Minn.).

The House public works committee, of which Blatnik is a member, has instructed U. S. Army Engineers to review the 48 Great Lakes harbors to determine the advisability of their further improvement.

"On completion of the survey," Blatnik said, "we will know to what extent the harbors should be improved to utilize to the maximum the 27-foot deep Great Lakes connecting channels linking the St. Lawrence seaway with the Great Lakes ports."

Frank Porter Instantly Killed In Car Collision

PICTON (Special) — Frank Porter, 51, Picton, was instantly killed early on 5.30 Friday night when his light truck was in collision with a car driven by Harry Quaiff of Bloomfield. Porter was thrown from his truck as it went into the ditch and the vehicle fell on him.

Quaiff was alone in his car and though it went into the ditch he was not seriously hurt.

Jim Colbourn, a passenger in the truck, suffered shock and abrasions.

Porter and Cahoon were returning to Picton, both being employees of VanDusen Bros., plumbing and electric, on the Scarlett road. He lives north of Picton. Quaiff had stopped his car on the side of the road in front of Glen Leavitt's autowreckers shop. The truck collided with the rear end of the car and both rolled over into a deep ditch. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

OPP Constable H. J. Fletcher investigated. An inquest will be held.

Frank Porter was well known and highly esteemed.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, Cahoon, Prentice and Verneon, and a young daughter, Beverley.

Obituary

MRS. FRANK FITZPATRICK

After an illness of three months, Mrs. Mabel Fitzpatrick of 385 John Street, died this morning at the Belleville General Hospital. She was 76.

She was born in Campbellford, moving here 62 years ago.

She was predeceased by her husband, Frank Fitzpatrick.

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. P. J. Kelly of Campbellford.

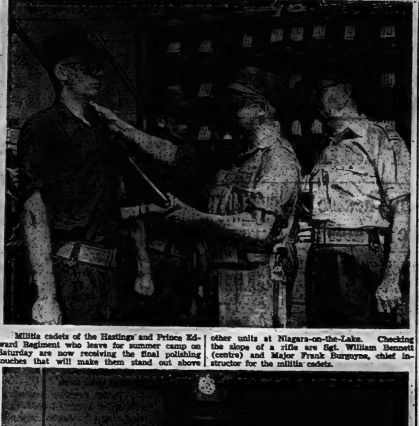
Mrs. Fitzpatrick attended St. Michael's Parish and was very active in parish affairs generally being past president of the Catholic Women's League and president of the Benevolent Society.

Resting at the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien. The announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Police Blotter

A mild orgy of fender-bending and bumper crashing kept city police busy yesterday afternoon and evening with no less than five minor vehicular accidents reported within the city. No injuries nor serious damage occurred.

A few midnight celebrants were reported disturbing the slumbers of neighbors, but all were quiet on the arrival of the law.



On Ann Street, a car-party of teen-agers enjoyed post-midnight radio programmes as nearby residents failed to enjoy but the youngsters were talking politics by the time the police arrived.

Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment off to Camp at Niagara

Militia cadets of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment who leave for summer camp on Saturday are now receiving the final polishing touches that will make them stand out above other units at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Checking the slope of a rifle are Sgt. William Bennett (centre) and Major Frank Burgurss, chief instructor for the militia cadets.

CARRYING ON TRADITION — Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment has always been noted for its smartness in drill and on parade. Militia cadets currently undergoing training course at local armouries are no exception as they go through their paces daily to measure up to regimental standards.

Happy Day — Pay Day! Although pay day may be some time off yet, these militia cadets of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment are doing all the necessary paper work to ensure themselves of their full pay while at summer camp. Left to right, displaying bonus application forms, are Pte. Russ J. Bateman, 181 Charles St., Belleville; Pte. Fred G. Palmer, 168 Church St., Stirling; and Pte. G. Dale Miller, 179 Front St., Campbellford. Cadets receive not only their regular pay for summer camp, but also collect special camp training bonus. (DND Photo)

The Infantryman's best friend is still the rifle, and these militia cadets of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment are already striving to get their shots straight on the bulls-eye. Competing targets, left to right are: Pte. Carson Stratton of 38 Lemoine St.; Pte. Tak Burley, 183 Bateman St., and Pte. Alan Dandy, 151 William St. Cadets will have opportunity to improve their marksmanship while on the ranges at summer camp.

Militia cadets' days are broken up with a variety of lectures that never tend to become monotonous. Lt. William Rothwell, left, displays the Sten gun to a group of cadets at the local armouries. After learning the fundamentals of the weapon in the classroom, cadets will have opportunity to fire it while attending summer camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Sixty Recruits of Famous Regt. Making Trip for First Time

This morning the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment left for annual summer camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

For most of the expected 300 men who will entrain for Toronto on the first leg of the journey, then by pleasure boat down Lake Ontario to Niagara, it will be a familiar trip to a familiar spot.

However, for at least 60 youths it will be a new and exciting experience.

They are the young recruits, now under daily training at the armouries, who recently enlisted with the regiment for a special 35-day course.

It will mark the beginning of the highlight of the course for them as the regiment marches through city streets in full parade order to entrain at the CNR station.

Since the course first started here last week, veteran officers and NCO's of the regiment supervising the boys have been showing increasing approval for their zeal and energy.

WILL BE FULLY QUALIFIED

The young recruits, most of them from Belleville, with a few from the Stirling, Picton and Campbellford district, will come out of the course fully qualified in the basic training of the army recruit.

Starting at 8.30 a.m. each day, they end their day at 4.40 p.m. However, with typical teen-age enthusiasm they appear enjoying every minute of the course.

But if their schedule is a busy one, there are also other things the boys learn as they progress through the course. Probably among the most important they are not listed on the schedule and are imbibed unconsciously as the course progresses.

These things include the growing ability to live, work and play with others, a sense of citizenship and service to their community and country.

All these things likely will be impressed fully upon the boys at their arrival at Niagara this weekend where they will camp, work and relax side by side with hundreds of other youths and men from across Ontario.

They will return Saturday week with the regiment and continue with the fall-end of their course before school opens in the fall.

Curling Club And Fair Board Ready to Agree

After a lengthy session between a committee of the Belleville Curling Club and the Fair Board of the Shire Hall on Thursday evening many difficulties with respect to an agreement were ironed out and it is expected the agreement will be signed in a few days and application made to the governments for grants to proceed with the construction on the multiple purpose building on the fairgrounds.

The fair board acceded to the request of the Curling Club for a 15-year free rental for the $15,000 that is being provided by the Curling Club for the construction instead of ten years as originally stipulated and the Curling Club will be responsible for maintenance and service during their occupancy, which will be six months of each year. The fair board will look after the other six months, when the society will be in charge.

A few other minor adjustments were made and agreeable to both parties. President Bill Gault, secretary Don MacKinnon, Judge J. C. Anderson, Jack Yanover, Gerry Jarrett and Jack McArthur made up the committee waiting on the fair board. Russell Scott, president of the fair board, was in the chair.

Resort Owners Protest Ruling Of Federal Govt.

PICTON (CP)—Resort owners here said today they have protested against a new federal government ruling that boat owners provide life-saving equipment in small open boats for rent.

In a petition to the transport department a local marine services branch the resort operators said the ruling is "unrealistic and impractical."

There was no place in small open boats to store life-jackets where they will be kept dry yet readily accessible in emergency. Water-logged life-jackets were dangerous.

"In the United States the coast guard handles the situation in a totally different manner," the petition said. "There, the responsibility for providing life-saving equipment is placed on the party renting the boat, not on the owner."

Trade Is Brisk At Market Here

The market this morning was brisk with a fine showing of produce, which included vegetables, fruits, flowers, eggs, poultry, homebaking and fancy work.

Vegetables: new cabbage 15c per head; head lettuce 15c; potatoes, new, 35c per berry box, $1.35 per 5-quart basket; unshelled peas, 35c per berry box, and $1 per six-quart basket; home-grown tomatoes, 45c per berry box; onions, beet greens, 10c per bunch or 3 for 25c; radishes 5c per bunch; golden wax beans, 25c a berry box; asparagus 25c per bunch, and beets 10c per bunch.

IN MEMORIAM
July 14th, 1950

Bandmaster David Wardle, taken with Bandmaster Fernecough, of Glace Bay, during his visit to Belleville in 1945.

IN MEMORIAM

SWEETHAM. — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Lillie E. Sweetham, who passed away two years ago, July 14th, 1954.
Sadly missed by her daughters.

Gone from our hearts, but never from our memory.
The love of a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps her near.
—Ever remembered by Walter and Doris Sweetham.

GOW. — In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Joseph Gow, who passed away July 14th, 1953.
One day when the sun was setting,
Out in the golden west,
The Saviour came to take you,
To your long home of rest.
Upon your earth you rest, away
Though you wished so hard to stay,
But to prevent you suffering
Four years age today.
In our hearts we hold a picture
Of the beautiful smile you wore;
And as each day goes passing by,
Memories linger more.
There is never a day to tell you
How lonesome we have been
Since the Saviour came and took you.
But someday we'll meet again.
Now rest on, dear dad in heaven,
And when our work is o'er
Please come to the gate and meet us
On the golden shore.
—Sadly missed by wife Ethel, daughters and sons.

CARDS OF THANKS

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

WE PLOW THE FIELDS AND SCATTER

We plow the fields and scatter
The good seed on the land,
But it is fed and watered
By God's almighty hand;
He sends the snow in winter,
The warmth to swell the grain,
The breezes and the sunshine,
And soft refreshing rain.

He only is the Maker
Of all things near and far;
He paints the wayside flower,
He lights the evening star;
The winds and waves obey Him,
By Him the birds are fed;
Much more to us, His children,
He gives our daily bread.

We thank Thee, then, O Father,
For all things bright and good;
The seed time and the harvest,
Our life, our food;
No gifts have we to offer
For all Thy love imparts,
But that which Thou desirest—
Our humble, thankful hearts.

No hymn of thanksgiving is more dearly loved or more universally sung than this one.

It was written in 1782 by Matthias Claudius, German poet, and was translated into English more than three-quarters of a century later by Miss Jemie Montgomery Campbell, of London. Both author and translator were children of clergymen. Matthias' father was a Lutheran minister and Jane was the daughter of the Rev. A. Montgomery Campbell, a Church of England rector.

The verses now used as a hymn were part of a long poem of 17 stanzas, a dramatic piece entitled "Paul Erdmann's Feast", in which the German writer pictured a group of peasant friends trooping into the home of their host bearing fruits of the harvest and pausing to sing a hymn of gratitude. When Miss Campbell picked them out, they were published in 1861 in a booklet called "A Garland of Songs. Soon they began appearing in leading hymnals of the day.

Miss Campbell's literary interest did not end with hymns. She turned out a good bit of poetry and some prose, including "A handbook For Singers". She found time, apart from writing, to teach in her father's parish school.

Matthias Claudius enrolled in a theological course at the University of Jena when he was 19 years old, but before many months went by he switched his attention to law and literature. Falling under the influence of a group of free-thinker friends, he forgot his Christian faith and it took a serious illness to bring him back to his religious moorings. He died in 1815, two years before Miss Campbell was born.

DAYS AND CUSTOMS OF ALL FAITHS

Rain Is Most Important Of All Liquids in the World

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, July 15 — Rain is the most important liquid in the world. Man's very life depends upon it. It is natural, therefore, that since the beginning of time the subject of rain — why it comes or doesn't come, how to make it come or how to stop it — has been surrounded by hundreds of theories, ranging from the deeply religious to the darkly superstitious.

One of the greatest rain makers of all time was St. Swithin, the Ninth Century English Bishop, who, according to one of our most popular legends, sent a six-weeks downpour to thwart an attempt to move his bones 100 years after his death. The superstition still persists, both in England and other parts of the English - speaking world that

"On Swithin's Day, if it should rain,
For 40 days it will remain."

There is nothing to support this idea, except that it usually rains a good deal at this time of year in most parts of the Northern Hemisphere.

RAIN SUPERSTITIONS

Mankind's general problem about rain has not been so much what to do about an overupply as how to get enough of it. The rainmaker was often the most important and influential man in the primitive community.

Away back in pre-Christian days the Romans believed that they could bring on rain by casting little images into the Tiber river. A carry-over of this ritual into Christian times is seen in the medieval custom of dipping the local patron saint's image into water to produce rain.

Other standard beliefs were that rain would come if you killed a frog, a toad, or a spider, or if you burned fern. As late as the 17th Century, Charles I of England believed in the fern method so strongly that once when he was about to visit Staffordshire and wanted to be sure of pleasant weather, he sent an order ahead prohibiting the burning of ferns until his visit was over.

People have always been sure that the animals have special inside information about rain. Ants scurry to their hills and close the entrance long before human beings know a storm is coming. Loons and dover announce rain by mournful "calls"; crows, wild geese, and lighting bugs fly low, and mosquitoes bite with extra vigor before a rain.

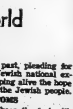
A DAY OF MOURNING

Tuesday, July 17 — Besides being the 17th of July, today is also the 9th day of the Jewish month of Ab, a day of deep and complete mourning for devout Jews. The basic significance of this fast is its commemoration of the two occasions (seven centuries apart) on which the Temple and the city of Jerusalem were destroyed.

Jews believe that if Israel had not sinned it would not have lost its land and its identity as a nation. They fast today, therefore, in expiation of their own individual sins and of their sins as a people. The Ninth of Ab is, then, a national-memorial day, recalling the misfortunes of the past, pleading for the revival of Jewish national existence, and keeping alive the hope and courage of the Jewish people.

FASTING CUSTOMS

Various Jews keep the fast with varying degrees of severity. Among the pious it is a day of utter gloom and sorrow. Before the day begins at all, sunset, the evening meal must have been finished and no food or drink will be taken until the stars appear the next evening. At this last meal some will have sprinkled ashes on their food, symbolic of the ashes to which Temple and city were reduced.



At night some will sleep without pillows, some will sleep on the floor, and some will go so far as to use a stone for a pillow.

In the synagogues today they will chant in mournful tone the book of Lamentations, which was for many years credited to the prophet Jeremiah but is now known to be the work of many Jewish poets, bemoaning the sad lot of their people.

A Lift for Living

Play Ball With God's Players

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

How well do we mix? — Last week we listed six marks of the normal person. Let's take one of these marks of the normal person's wholesomely related to other persons.

In many schools today the report cards have a place in which to show how well the pupil adjusts himself to other students. As a grandfather, I often look at my grandchildren's report cards to see whether their classmates get along with the perfect specimens which my family contributes to the school! And I am happy to learn that so far my heirs are reported as pretty good sports.

But is it enough to say that we get along with people? An equally important question is, are we also getting them along?

Some years ago I heard a speaker introduced with these words: "He is steadfastly old-fashioned in his convictions, superbly modern in his ideas, and startlingly ahead of his times in his ideals." To keep toned up to that standard, firm in one's conviction, yet flexible in one's thinking, and forwardlooking in one's planning—that is the norm which the Creator has set for us and for which we need the Christ to restore us.

Do we ever trespass on the personalities nearest and dearest to us? Do we ever exploit a friendship? When we mingle with others, do we leave them looking up or down? Are there persons whom we cannot look squarely in the eye because they have something on us? Do we give with grace and forgive without a grimace?

How deep are our friendships? Was it Thackeray who said, "I have many friends but not more than a dozen the news of whose death would spoil my appetite for breakfast"? That sounds rather brutal, but how many friends have we who might break our hearts by what happens to them?

HIGHER PLANE

Alas, how easy it is for our human relationships to lose their wholesomeness and their wholeness. For that reason we need the Great Physician who inspires a loyalty which lifts all our other loyalties to a higher plane. His spirit in a home is the solvent which removes the little frictions and prevents the large infidelities.

In my youth I was greatly moved drama, "The Servant in the House." The setting was a clergyman's home. The workman who came to repair the house was the embodiment of the Nazarine Carpenter. By his spirit he transformed the whole household from a lifeless routine of selfish interests into a place of gracious and radiant living.

Love between husband and wife cannot remain at its best unless it is sustained by common interests and larger loyalties. I recall a couple who were so deeply devoted that each could see only himself for the other. But they had no larger common interests. They were like two persons on a tandem board. They watched each other's ups and downs, but their love never advanced. When one dropped off, the other had nothing left to live for. The Master of Men comes to enrich our intimate loves with those interests which are our joy in life and our stay in death.

HIGHER TASTES

He enables our friendships so that we meet at the sign of our higher, rather than our lower, tastes. He enlarges our sympathies, until they reach out to those who are too unlovely to be naturally attractive, and hunt up those who are too shy to ask for help.

To be so wholesomely related to others that we look for the best in them and bring out the best from them—is a mark of being normal, as judged by the Great Physician.

And our wholesome relations to others must run beyond the boundaries of family and friends. Basil Matthews, world traveller and missionary statesman, tells of standing with the sports coach of an international college. They were watching a group of men that had been drawn from all parts of the world. Matthews asked the coach, "What special difficulties do you find in training a team like this? 'A real hard set to mould,' was the reply of the coach. "These fellows come from countries where the whole idea of team play is unknown. Each, at the beginning of his training, wants to carry the ball and score the goal himself for his own glory. So I have won the battle, not only for the boy as a member of the team, but for his whole life-job, which I have taught him to pass."

Yes, to learn to pass, to play the game with God's other players so that the rules grow better and life grows richer—that is the mark of a normal person according to the Nazarine rating.

LET'S SAVE OUR FARMLANDS

On Wednesday the Ontario Municipal Board heard testimony concerning the sky-rocketing "values" of land in Scarborough township, on the outskirts of Toronto. Mr. David R. Little had his 106-acre farm expropriated by the Ontario Department of Planning and Development as part of a large housing development project. The farm was valued at $16,000 in 1948. On its expropriation he was offered $80,000, an increase of 400 per cent in eight years. He is seeking $220,000, or over 13 times what the farm would have brought less than a decade ago. Nor, from some testimony heard by the Board, does Mr. Little's plea appear entirely unreasonable. One piece of property changed hands five times between 1953 and 1955, the price climbing from $36,000 to $415,000.

It is fairly obvious that land which will bring a man even $80,000 for 106 acres is not likely to be retained for agricultural purposes. To realize even 5 per cent on his investment in the land alone, the farmer would have to clear $4,000 a year, over and above whatever figure he received for his labor and after adequate provision for all expenditures, taxes, depreciation and profit on his investment in equipment and buildings. That such a profit can be made off 106 acres of land, at the present level of prices for farm products, appears highly unlikely.

The individual farmer cannot be blamed if he decides that it is only good business for him to sell his land for use as building lots for homes or as sites for industries. Nevertheless, the continual expansion of urban communities into the surrounding countryside is fast creating a problem for Canada.

Not many weeks ago The Ontario Intelligencer published an editorial voicing regret at the rate at which the fruit orchards of the Niagara Peninsula are disappearing into city streets and factories. It was pointed out that Canada's industrial development makes many suitable sites for urban communities, but that there is little land in Canada which will grow the peaches and grapes which came from Niagara's orchards.

Support for this view is found in the latest issue of "About Agriculture," published by the agriculture committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The Chairman, the Conservation Council of Ontario, in an article entitled "Shifts in Land Use and the Need for Planning," says that "the rape of the fruitlands of Niagara in the Province of Canada is the result of what happen for want of forethought and planning." Governments, he says, are not yet sufficiently concerned over the problem to adjust their policies to meet it.

Mr. Hendersen makes a point which had not struck us before, but which any person familiar with Canada's history will recognize as accurate. "Except for the Province," he says, "most of the best farmland in Canada is situated close to the large centres of population." That this is so may be unfortunate, but it is not surprising. When the early settlers came to Canada, there were only two reasons why one site should be selected ahead of another for the establishment of those small hamlets which have now grown into great cities. One reason was the location of a "gateway," that is a river crossing, or "cross-roads," where a river entered a lake or two rivers joined. The other reason was that the surrounding territory might be rich soil.

Nobody in his right sense would criticize the pioneers for locating their villages in the midst of fertile farming land. But, by the same token, we should recognize that the agricultural land of Canada is only a small portion of its total area—Mr. Henderson places it at a mere 3 per cent. Mr. Henderson quotes Dr. K. W. Neatby, director of the section of Canadian History and Government in Agriculture, as declared that "we are rapidly approaching a position of mere self-sufficiency" in respect to our ability to produce food for our population. Under these circumstances, we cannot afford to continually take more and more of the best farmland in Canada out of food production. We must locate the expansion of our urban centres on land which is marginal. Of this land we have a vast supply. The trouble is that the pioneers were keen judges of land and they did not settle where the soil was thin. We must see that the present urban sprawl problem would be to seek to establish new urban centres rather than to expand present ones. Modern means of transportation have relieved us of the necessity of locating our cities in the midst of the richest farming districts.

VETERANS' VIEWS ON DEATH

An indication of the attitude of the average person towards death may be derived from a recent survey of 40 American male veterans of 65 years and over.

Forty per cent of the group said "Death means the end of everything, you're through." Another 40 per cent saw death in a religious aspect as "the beginning of a new existence, a new life in the hereafter." Ten per cent visualized death as "relief from pain, a peaceful sleep." The remaining 10 per cent responded "I'm not clear what happens, I don't know."

In regard to the hereafter, 90% expressed a religious belief such as 'you are judged by your life on earth, your spirit exists in some way in some kind of hereafter." Twenty-five per cent flatly felt that "when you're dead, you're dead." The 10 per cent who originally stated "don't know" remained unchanged, and the remaining five per cent saw life after death as "a long, sound sleep."

Ninety-six per cent of the group wanted to die quickly with little suffering and 55 per cent preferred bed as the place of death.

Prospector Denied Pistol

(Vancouver Sun)

We do not look for any drop in the crime rate as a result of the decision to deny B.C. prospectors the right to pack pistols. This has the sound of small-bore unlikelihood.

The average citizen, including the sportsman, has no complaint that General Curtis restricts guns upon the use of pistols and revolvers, the "concealed weapons" as our law classes them.

Prospectors, mining engineers, however, have a special need for hand-guns. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who themselves must often backpack through our wilderness, should be the first to realize it.

Unlike the city-dwellers, the be the first to realize it.

Unlike the city-dwellers, the prector usually travels alone and on foot. And always he runs travel light. Every additional pound in the packsack is a burden when a man is chopping his way through salal, or slogging it over the tundra.

The pistol's a shockum stillsmart, inexpensive weapon.

He knows grizzly bears don't attack men as well, not often attack men. But there is, miles away from another human and usually, if that bear does mean that prospector's bones will lurk in this hillside before another human is likely to find out what.

Who wouldn't want to feel the comfort, however slight it may feet it may be, of a revolver but in his hands in these circumstances?

Let's remember too that a pistol is handy for dispatching rattlesnakes. For example, there's the case of an Georgia prospector who killed 39 rattlers within 20 yards of his claim.

Finally, and perhaps most important, the prospector who treks farthest into our wilderness must have confidence that his food supply on game — which the law permits him to take under certain circumstances. What can take the place of that three-gun load of fool hens for the frying pan? Nobody's sure, a three-foot long fish, maybe. Most of them are heavy packboard.

We've heard a little fatigue drill for the bureaucrat who made this decision. Say, there's no sign of his take-anywhere-in-the-bush pistol holding a pump shotgun above his head.

Blasts Home To Avoid Tax

(Fort William Times-Journal)

The modern world economy which demands more and more from property owners in the form of taxes, is continually creating ruin of fine old homes in several communities. Many of these are substantial piles of stone which have been show pieces of architectural design and which cannot be saved meet the taxes assessed against them, even when commercial establishments a the same time.

Anyone who has had an opportunity to visit some of the splendid castles in Great Britain or the Continent will have noted these some sadness when noting in modern day that historic places which stood for the ages are crack and ruin.

Symptomatic of the trend was the dynamite explosion near Poitiers, France, the other day. The owner of this fine 30-room chateau could not afford the $90,000 repair bill for the heavily taxed chateau. He couldn't give it away. Quite understandably he could not take it. So he called in a team of dynamite experts. Two explosions and the historic chateau blown up with a mighty roar. Its contents it was only a pile of rubble.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

MOUNTAIN TOPS

Hills and mountains occupied a prominent place in our Lord's life. He preached from the greatest sermon on a mountain, to which he and certain of his disciples had gone to pray. He was crucified on a hill called Golgotha.

There is considerable significance in all this. The narratives of the Bible from beginning to end are not only accounts of events which transpired but also the symbolic setting forth of spiritual truth. Our Christian life was a mountain top, experience for himself and it has been a tremendous experience for the race. The whole world, Christian and non-Christian alike, looks to the teachings of Jesus and to his personal influence as our only possible escape from calamity.

It is a well-known fact that the mountain tops keep the valley green. The greatest rivers of the mountain tops, and especially the streams which originate there, are largely account for the fertility of the valley.

In spiritual matters, we have to look to the mountains for security and growth. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help." There have to be mountains in the world to provide for prayer reflection, and the affirmation by ourselves of the things we know to be true, if the life of God is to grow and prosper in our lives. The mountain top keeps the valley green.

Mathematics Really Poetry

(New York Times)

A report from the Educational Testing Service of Princeton reveals that in elementary and secondary schools mathematics is found to be the most hated subject." Yet it must be cultivated if we are to develop scientists and engineers who will hold their own in competition with the Russians.

The teaching of mathematics is mainly at fault. We go to great lengths to inculcate an appreciation of good literature and to arouse a healthy interest in history and economics.

But whoever thinks of the mathematician as a kind of poet? Men like Dirac, Einstein, Schroedinger and Heisenberg have fairly revolutionized our conception of matter and energy, have given us what are actually great epic poems.

To be sure, our elementary and secondary schools are not concerned with the higher dimensional geometries, curved space or the antics of electrons, but there is more to arithmetic than the subject was cordially hated by 150 out of 411 prospective high school teachers — than addition, subtraction, multiplication and division.

When the reasons for arithmetical operations are explained they can become fascinating in the hands of a good teacher.

Something can be achieved by giving scholarships to pupils who show a special aptitude for mathematics and placing them under competent teachers.

Do Teachers Talk too Much?

(Brantford Expositor)

There is rarely a conference of teachers at which someone doesn't get up and complain about how hard teachers have to work. No one scholars have to work. No one we do or speaks up for them more than they do. Most of them do work hard, but it does their cause no good for anyone to claim that they are more put upon than many other people who work. Into this category go the nurses, the hospital College teacher who demanded more free time outside the classroom, and added, "How can a history teacher have any brains left after giving 20 talks, talking five hours a day, and 40 weeks a year?"

How would he like to have to write, write, write, five in ten or more hours a day, and for but 50 weeks a year as many newspapermen do? And they are not saying the same thing over and over again as the teacher of, say, history or literature must do. What newspapermen and others have to produce must come hot and fresh off the griddle of their minds each time they get down to work.

And why should this teacher do so much talking? Wouldn't it be better for the students if he let the students get a word in edgeways sometimes? Wouldn't they be encouraged to ask questions and discuss points their teacher has made? Is the teacher's every variety and extra interest would be injected into the class? Wouldn't his subject might be improved and the strain relieved for everyone?

This particular teacher went on to urge that education should be aimed at teaching children how to express their thoughts and feelings. Quite right. But if he has no less talking and give them a chance for self-expression? What's stopping him?

Teachers Stymied

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Dean W. T. Sedgewick, who has resigned as head of the faculty of education at the University of Manitoba, left a group of Winnipeg schoolmasters that teachers in Manitoba are stymied in their efforts and do a poor job. He declared there was a lack of freedom and the enthusiasm that comes from freedom. Teachers were being treated as employees rather than as partners.

Where You Can Leave It

(Industry)

Bridge Murphy-may or may not have been around this mortal coil before; we modestly admit we don't know. And with such a plethora of "experts" of every description on hand to advise on the subject we wouldn't even presume to hazard an opinion.

However, the lady in question has certainly succeeded in capturing the imagination of a good many present day mortals, a fact which has not gone unnoticed by one local bank in the U.S.

Bridges is a wit, and as though determined to prove that enterprise, imagination and resourcefulness are not the exclusive prerogative of the psychiatric clinic, it is now advertising thus:

"Well, maybe you can't take it with you—but "we can tell you where you can safely leave it until you get back!"

This newspaper is happy to report, on the benefit of a large clientele, an almost 100 per cent augmentation of support for the proposition that the dandelion be made the emblem flower of Northwestern Ontario.

George Wardrope, M.A. has expressed his approval, especially prompted by the beauties of the rich golden fleece that is now to be seen in field and on roadside in all parts of the territory.

Mr. Wardrope has suggested that the dandelion be given added distinction by a new name which, he thinks, could appropriately be Northern Glory.

Another man has suggested Northern Ontario Golden.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Ignorance Is Embarrassing and Expensive

In a great hurry one day a lady wouldn't get in his car started, no matter how hard and often he pressed the button. The thing just growled back at him and refused to go. As you may imagine, he got into a state about it. Finally I was abusing my arterioles, a couple of schoolboys came along, observed the situation, and one of them said, "Just a jiffy." He raised the hood, reached into the works, jiggled a choke-key, closed the hood and said, "Try it now." Off we went, as smoothly as—it was plumb humiliating. Worse, the same thing or some of it, things of the same sort could happen to me again, in any circumstance, at any time. I feel my ears reddening when I think about it.

If I were a boy, or any of you readers, I might try to brazen it out and even put on a show of indignation when exposed, but in point that such embarrassment I suffered is due to ignorance.

But I'm not like you. I suppose I could study a diagram, complete, of the works and a lesson or two from a mechanic on the mystery of the automobile and, who knows, learn enough to save myself much woe or expense if not—nor should go dead sonstime when I'm far from skilled help. But this is not likely to happen because I rarely, if ever, get into such a predicament.

You understand, on the other hand, at least you on the callow side, are likely to suffer much greater embarrassment and expense from ignorance of marriage, pregnancy, childbirth, and the care of infants than I could possibly suffer from ignorance of what makes an automobile go.

No matter how ignorant you are when you leave school or college you can still learn enough by reading or studying those books to give you at least some dignity of assurance:

Childbirth: your questions answered, by Carl H. Davis, M. D. and Dorothy Deming, published by Harpers, $2.50.

Childbirth Without Fear, natural Methods Applied, by Grantly Dick Read, M.A., M.D., Harpers, $3.75

A Key to Natural Childbirth, relaxation exercises by Helen Heardman, Williams Wilkins, $3.75.

Book dealers have these books, or can may get them in your public library. There are many other pamphlets and books for prospective parents.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

COMPANIONSHIP OF BOOKS

There are few things so important and inspiring as an early habit of making the companionship of books an outstanding one. Said Thomas Carlyle: "Blessings be on us up in any way are profitable company." His book, "Heroes and Hero Worship" is a world classic. The more we know about great characters the nearer we feel to them.

If an early love of books and reading is cultivated, in later life that companionship will grow more precious and helpful. There is something immortal to the thoughts and expressions in the books. You can take them with you, or keep them close to you in your home. They mean much to sure and invitation.

Dr. Samuel Johnson once remarked that "A man will turn over half a library to make one book." It took Margaret Mitchell ten years to write her book "Gone With the Wind." Over 1,000,000 copies have been sold to date! How immortal are the plays of Shakespeare! One of my prized books is that by one Marcus Aurelius, the good Roman Emperor. Though written several hundred years ago, it is still alive and filled with comforting thoughts.

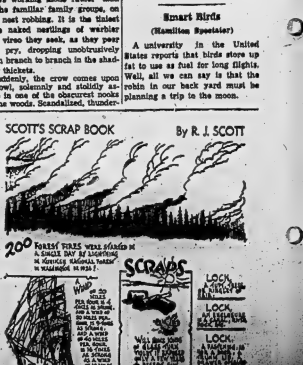
Then there is under our companionship with friends whose lives, for so many of the early ones are not recorded in us, but books ones are lected, may stay with us for so long as we live, and then be spread on to other lovers of the written word. I have books, for example, that have been owned by Sir Walter Field, Lafcadio Hearn, Jack London, and other famous writers. Books, as such, never grow old. Nothing lasts so long, constantly new thoughts and thoughts.

I have a collection of intimate books that have, and then be perpetual companions. Soon I plan to place them in the college in Kansas, where I graduated, and when in their new Library they will be available for students to love as I have loved them.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The crow is probably the most condemned of all our birds, but nonetheless it is one of the most fascinating of wild creatures to study. If the farmers across Canada had a good look at their wonder, thieves, burglars in the most frenzied sense, calling other crows names far and wide to come and help mob this villain, this monster of evil.



Set a thief to catch a thief is an ancient proverb. But the high moral attitude of the crows wheeling, circling and accusing an owl is colyboss of the characteristics of the black rascals that bear a cosmic resemblance to human characteristics.

As far as most observers can discover, owls at least don't rob nests.

Smart Birds

(Hamilton Spectator)

A university in the United States reports that birds store up fat to use as fuel for long flights. Well, all we can say is that the robin in our back yard must be planning a trip to the moon.

The Face on The Stamp

MOST REVOLUTIONARY NATURALIST

By Nicholas Mika

Men have always wondered how it happened that on earth are so many different kinds of people. Why are some white or brown and why are some black? Did the first people in different parts of the world look alike and speak the same language? Whence comes the amazing relationship between insects and plants, fish and animals that are thousands of miles apart?

Almost a hundred years ago a remarkable English scientist clothed that he had found the fascinating answer to evolution and published his sensational book "Origin of Species." This book came like an explosion in a society of thinking people. The first edition of twelve hundred and fifty copies was sold out in one day.

The explanation which he gave for the development of species was so simple and clear that every one could understand it. But when he extended his theory of organic evolution to men, he stirred up the most violent discussions in the world that ever have been raised.

His bold attitude has set afire the emotions and it probably will take many years until mankind reaches a point of agreement.

RAISED DARING QUESTION

He swept away the idea that man was set on earth just as he is today and raised the daring question whether the Bible was right in its statement that every specimen was created from the beginning. He claimed that all men developed through natural selection in their struggle for existence. Can you imagine how his contemporaries gasped at such boldness? The Bible was torn from hand to hand and despite of its scientific language, it was read like an exciting novel. In less than a year it made its way through Russia, Germany and America, China and other parts of the globe.

For twenty years he worked to prove his theory with facts. He got his first glimpse into the wonders of life when he went around the world during a five-year journey on board the ten-ton ship Beagle. In spite of being seasick most of the time, he collected thousands of specimens from the sea, from the forests of Brazil, from the Galopagos Islands and the shores of Africa.

The deck of the tiny boat was crowded with his treasures. Each specimen had fascinating characteristic before him, but their job was done when they were put in a museum behind the glass of a showcase, perhaps entertaining the rare when it was common on earth. Yet that was not his purpose. His inquisitive mind searched deeper into the mysteries of nature and he developed the theory that everything around us is in steady evolution, that nothing is changing constantly. The similarity or organic creations and the striking affinity ancient and living species led him step by step into the wonders of life.

His studied medicine, but when he witnessed his first operation he fled in horror and never again entered the operating room. For three years he studied theology, yet later he never went to church. He wrote numerous books and answered thousands of letters. But being among people irritated him so much that half an hours talk with a stranger made him ill. He was shy, but he wrote in his books what no other human being dared to think. Although he did not care for fame and his ideas stirred up the wildest controversies, he was one of the most honored scientists in the world.

In spite of his particular wish to be hurried near his home he was laid to rest among the famous in Westminster Abbey in London. And on his tomb and on the pages of his immortal work is written his name, Charles Darwin.

Charles Darwin appeared on Ecuador stamps in 1935.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

How do birds recognize other members of their own species? Why does Mr. Robin pick up Mrs. Least? Birds must be a great deal smarter about this than we are, because we find great similarity among members of certain families, and sometimes confuse seven unrelated species.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hey and Christine of Trenton spent "Old Home Week" at the home of Mr. Hey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sargeson.

Flycatchers in the Tyrannus family, four kinds of tiny Flycatchers are identical, and ornithologists depend on habitat, range, and behavior to name them with certainty by appearance, unless the bird is in the hand. Even then it is difficult. They tell us that the only two Waterfowl in the world, Least, Acadian, and Yellow-bellied Flycatchers is no blame for their calls and note their environment. The various kinds of Thrushes—Grey-cheeked, and Wood—have certain distinctive markings known to the practised eye; but undoubtedly it is extremely hard for a novice birdwatcher to tell them apart. We need to see the details: whether the underparts are streaked or spotted, and the color of those markings: if the bird is all one color, brown, or if one part is redder than another. Furthermore even their songs are too similar to be identified easily by the uninitiated or anybody whose musical ear is not absolutely perfect.

There are, too, some birds belonging to other families that might be mistaken for Thrushes. The Brown Thrasher, for instance, is often though erroneously called a Thrush, because of its appearance. Then observation will show a longer, down-curved bill, a much larger tail, somewhat fainter and less symmetrical breast spots, and two light bars on the wings, all of these plainly showing us that they cannot be any Thrush. Then again, is juvenile Robin (actually belonging to the Thrush clan) has breast spots.

BROWN BIRDS

Small brown birds known as Water-thrushes are, as a matter of fact, quite wrongly named. They are really Warblers with a liking for shallow pools and bogs, and are represented by two species very similar in appearance, and greatly resembling real Thrushes. Yet one of the Warbler is worse Thrush-like in looks. This is the Ovenbird. Even its eye, with a distinct ring around it, reminds us of a Thrush, not to mention its white underparts with very distinct black, almost round spots.

Now, then, can we account for the fact that there are extremely few Spring Warblers singing? The answer seems to be that the birds themselves are not fooled by all these shallow appearances—they sense differences that lie under the feathers.

BCI Cadets Finish Eighth In Nation-Wide Rifle Shoot

Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School - cadet marksmen, today rank eighth among the nation's sharp-shooting cadets.

Scoring 960 points out of a possible 1,008 BCI's youthful riflemen finished in eighth position in a Dominion field of 193 secondary schools in 10 provincial institutes stretching from Newfoundland to Victoria.

Only 37 points separated the city youngsters from the Chatham Vocational School which took top honors, the Challenge Shield, and medals with an aggregate score of 997.

Seven of the Chatham marksmen came up with possible scores of 100.

The BCI team defeated the best Eastern Ontario could produce. Finishing in front of them were two teams from the Belleville Secondary School from Hamilton, New Glasgow, N.S., Mont. St. Louis, Montreal; 84th Air Squadron Tech School, Port Arthur and the W. D. Lowe Vocational School from Windsor.

Ranked among the best rifle schools of the country.

In this Royal Military College Club of Canada Competition, BCI competition, BCI demonstrated a marked improvement over the possibility of the past few years. Not too many years ago they finished in the "Also-Ran" class. Today they have reached the near-top—and set their sights.

Scoring the closest marks to them in this district was Kingston C.I. which finished in 22nd place with 946. Next comes Brockville C.I. with 938 for 34th spot, Prescott High School shot a 918 for 62nd position, while Lindsay C.I had 913 for 67th place.

Pembroke C.I. shot a 906 for 78th place with a second team from Kingston C.I. registering an 899 for 82nd place. Brockville's second team placed 109th with an 871 and Barrie C.I. wound up in 118th position with 855.

A second Lindsay C.I. team placed 133rd with 808 while Peterborough C.I. was well down in the rank with a 762 for 167th position. The weakest team in the field was the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa, who finished last with a score of 514.

The best cadets and the standard army rifle with a .22 bore. Most schools used different types of rifles.

The system used in compiling the score is the various scores is a fair one. Twenty marksmen shoot for the highest aggregate. The top ten targets are aggregated and the score used to represent the school's standing.

Members of B.C.I.'s cadet marksmanship team are: Bill Morris 99; Don Whitford 99; Bob Owen 97; Don Wallbridge 97; Gerald Wallbridge 97; Maurice Wagar 96; John Hunter 96; Gerald Daniel 94; Donald McMahon 94 and Bruce Hall 94.

Fuel Pump Occasionally Needs Service

By EUGENE MILMOE

Just because fuel delivery has always been satisfactory, don't consider maintenance to the fuel pump and its connections unnecessary. An occasional service check is no project, and it can be your best insurance against future trouble.

Take the fuel pump filler bowl, for example. Water and dirt accumulate here. Thus, if removal and cleaning is continually neglected, fuel delivery is bound to be restricted eventually. This might occur on the road at just the most inconvenient time or under the most trying conditions. Another good worth checking is the flexible connection between the rigid gas line and the pump. Often after considerable service, this hose begins to crack or deteriorate, allowing a slight fuel seepage which may cause you to puzzle over poor gas economy as well as poor performance. One inside of the flexible hose will sometimes begin to close up, too, and block free fuel flow.

A.K. writes: "I have a new 1956 model with automatic transmission. The oil dipstick now reads considerably lower than it used to. Evidently, because of radiator weak spots, the cooling system cannot maintain the pressure specified for it and, in time, it may not hold the fluid level low pressures either. The practical cure is to have the radiator taken care of.

NO CASH FOR POCKET

MODENA, Italy (AP) — Enzo Cambi hit the jackpot on Italy's popular radio program Lascia o Raddoppia (Double or Nothing). Producers seized the $6,000 he won. Now authorities have told him that nevertheless he has to pay about a fifth of his winnings as income taxes.

(A) When your car is stopped on an upgrade, the hill holder prevents the brakes applied as long as the clutch pedal is depressed. Therefore, you may use the right foot to feel gas when you're ready to move, without fear of the car rolling back and out of control.

From T.C.: "I just installed a new set of spark plugs in my 1954 car. Since then, when I am driving on the turnpike at fairly high speed, the engine seems to miss frequently. The new plugs were all tightened properly and have new gaskets, so the trouble isn't there."

(A) But the trouble may lie with the type of plugs you installed. Hot spark plugs will cause engine missing under such conditions.

D.M. writes: "I have a 1953 model. With the correct seven-pound pressure cap on the radiator, I found leaks at the radiator seams in the corners. I then replaced the cap with a four-pound pressure cap and leakage troubles disappeared. Will this harm the engine or its operation in any way?

PRESSURE

(A) Since each pound of pressure raises the boiling point of the cooled approximately two-and-one-half degrees, you reduce this safety margin by using a four-pound cap instead of a seven-pound pressure cap. Engine efficiency will also suffer to some extent. Evidently, because of radiator weak spots, the cooling system cannot maintain the pressure specified for it and, in time, it may not hold the fluid level low pressures either. The practical cure is to have the radiator taken care of.

CGIT., Leaders Enjoying Camp At Skeleton Lake

Various activities such as swimming, canoeing, handicrafts and discussion groups are being enjoyed by 60 Canadian Girls in Training at Camp Kwasind on Skeleton Lake, from July 8th to July 20th, at the National C.G.I.T. Camp which is also playing host to C.G.I.T. leaders from all over Canada, India, Bolivia, Formosa and Korea.

The 1956 National Campers were chosen by the denominations and presbyteries from each province. There will be two from Newfoundland, 12 from the Maritimes, three from Quebec, 20 from Ontario, seven each from Manitoba and Saskatchewan and eight each from Alberta and British Columbia.

The Belleville Girls' Work Board to the C.G.I.T. has appointed Miss Linda Hogg as Tabernacle group as the representative from local groups. Miss Hogg has fulfilled the necessary qualifications, and at the present time is in camp at Kwasind.

There will be regular sessions for sharing experiences, C.G.I.T. group activities and for discussion of ways of improving the C.G.I.T. organization.

The girls' program will be attending the camp have also been given a tremendous responsibility.

They have to represent their home province as they share in the policy making for the whole C.G.I.T. organization. When they return home, they must pass on their experiences at National Camp with all their C.G.I.T. associates, which will be a big job, but one that the girls who have shared in the leadership training, spiritual life and fellowship at National Camp, will tackle with enthusiasm.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) Approval of a winery and courses in wine-making at Fresno State College was voted 9 to 2 here Friday by the state board of education. College President Arthur Gould Doyal indicated the winery would be a small pilot plant which would serve as a laboratory for curriculum in enology (wine-making).

Weddings

HART—COLE

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, July 7th, at 3.30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. George Adams, Madoc, when Madeline Beatrice Cole, of Madoc, became the bride of Lee Allerton Hart of Fenelon Falls. The Rev. M. W. Scully performed the ceremony in the presence of twenty-five guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Albert Adams, looked charming in a dress of pink taffeta.

Eva Poole, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, wearing a dress of blue taffeta.

Norman Cassibo, of Madoc, was groomsman.

A buffet luncheon was served at which a sister and sister-in-law of the bride, were the servitours.

Mrs. Hart, of Fenelon Falls, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, sang "Marriage Vows", to the accompaniment of the bridal music, guitar, played by Leo Hart.

The happy couple will reside in Burnt River.

STEELE—TAYLOR

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 30th, in Christ church, when Frances Marion, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor, Belleville, became the bride of marriage to Ivan Wilfred Steele of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Steele and the late John Steele, Archdeacon E. R. Creeggan, rector of the church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Steele of Picton, were the attendants.

On June 27th, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower by members of the Bible class of Montreal of which the bride is a member, with Mrs. Jessie Hunter as hostess. Many lovely gifts were received.

PUDDEPHATT—WILEY

Baskets of pink and white peonies formed a lovely setting in Bridge Street United church, Saturday, July 7, at high noon, when Rev. R. J. Snelgrove performed the ceremony uniting Doreen Evelyn Wiley of Frankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wiley, R.R. 2, Stirling, and Mr. Woodbine Puddephatt, of Codrington, Ontario, son of Mr. George Puddephatt, and the late Mrs. Puddephatt.

Mrs. R. Goodfellow presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Verna Mitkel, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Harold Wiley, the bride was charming in her bridal gown of lace and net over satin, fashioned with full skirt which had a scalloped neckline and, long, sheath-like sleeves. The skirt was full with lace-trimmed panel over satin, ending in a chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil and matching headdress, and carried a bouquet consisting of red roses and white stephanotis.

She was attended by Miss Barbara Wiley of Toronto, as maid of honor and by the Misses Mary K. Chase and Marion Puddephatt, both of Frankford, as bridesmaids.

The maid of honor was attired in a floor-length gown, and the bridesmaid in pale green crystal-ette. All wore matching shoulder dresses, and carried bouquets of Talisman roses.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Charles Puddephatt of Codrington, brother of the groom, Mr. Jack Wickens of Frankford, Mr. Donald Puddephatt of Morganston, and Arthur Smith of Codrington.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in Rose Lowery Hall, Frankford, where the bridal table was appointed with white damask, and centred by a wedding cake basked in clouds of pink tulle, and flanked by the bridal bouquets.

The bride's mother received, wearing dawn-rose lace over satin with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's sister, Joan, assisted in the receiving line, wearing a blue and white accessories, and corsage of white roses.

For the wedding trip to points east, the bride travelled in a light blue nobby silk linen ensemble with duster coat, white lace hat, pink accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Women's Activities

THE FRONT ROAD W.A.

The July meeting of the Front Road W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Mitchell. The vice-president, Mrs. C. Reid, opened the meeting in the absence of the president.

Mr. Bruce Bailey had charge of the devotional program and read Psalm 103. He gave an inspiring talk on "The Loving Kindness of The Lord," followed by a poem "Mount Tu."

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. G. Bradshaw, and correspondence was read and discussed. A petition against the sale of beer in grocery stores was discussed by the members.

The W.A. women are conducting the worship service at the Front Road Church next Sunday morning.

Roll call was answered with a verse from the Bible with "Love" for "Heart" in it. Mr. Bailey closed the meeting with a solo, "Breathe on Me, Breath of God," followed by a Bible quiz.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the convenors, and a social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Cleary.

TRINITY UNITED W.M.S.

MADOC — Mrs. Frank Defoe was hostess to the members of Trinity United W.M.S. on Wednesday evening at her summer home, Moira Lake.

Although the unusual summer weather was chilly, the gracious welcome of the hostess led to a pleasant time and meeting.

Mrs. Delbert Carmen was in charge and used the hymn "For the Beauty of the Earth," and the Lord's Prayer in unison for the opening exercises.

Business and communications were dealt with. The bazaar and home-cooking sale to be held on July 28th at 10 a.m. was arranged.

A nature quotation as a roll call proved interesting.

Reports of committees were given by Mrs. A. Empey, "Stewardship," who also offered prayer for the missionary. Mrs. Fleming gave "Community Friendship."

Literature convener reported 22 books read during the month and the treasurer's report was most gratifying.

The worship service was taken by Mrs. Carmen, her theme "Patriotism," and as a meditation, "My Own Country," and a reading "It's Our Forefathers."

Mrs. Earl Burnside read the Bible story from the book of St. Mark.

The program was by Mrs. P. Hall, Mrs. Defoe who read two poems, "The Music Makers" and "Custer Corners," concluding a pleasant meeting. Tea was followed by a social cup of tea and dainty lunch.

ST. ANDREW'S-GILEAD W.M.S.

GILEAD — The July meeting of St. Andrew's-Gilead W.M.S. will be held at the church on Wednesday with a fair attendance.

The meeting opened with vice-president, Mrs. Carman Huffman in charge.

After reading a poem, "Lets", the hymn "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" was sung.

The business consisted of an item of sewing which is to be handed to Mrs. J. O. Huffman immediately and that used Christmas cards be handed to Mrs. Wilfred Clare to be forwarded. Names must remain on the cards also.

Mrs. O. Bertrand had charge of the remaining program which consisted of the following items: "Take Time to be Holy"; meditation by Mrs. Bertrand Scripture, Mrs. E. Treverton; sentence prayers by Mrs. Carman Huffman and Yorke.

A reading, "Let Your Light Shine," by Mrs. Wilfred Clare; a duet by Mrs. Gerald Swan entitled "Jesus Is All the World to Me." Mrs. Swan delivered an interesting address with his theme "Friends."

A temperance skit, which took the form of a debate by a council of women on the question of a pic being "Should We or Should We Not Allow Beer on Grocery Shelves?" was led by Mrs. Gerald Swan and created many ideas for and against. This was followed with a timely song, "We'll Protect Our Homes."

A solo entitled "If Jesus Goes With Me," by Mrs. Gerald Swan, closed the meeting.

Mrs. McRae extended a kind invitation to the ladies to hold their September meeting at his parsonage, which was graciously accepted.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ploegman on August 8th at 2.30 p.m. with Mrs. W. Clare and Mrs. Albert Grills program conveners.

Motels Sometimes Cut Corners And Overemphasize Details

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE.

This is the third weekend of our latest family motor tour, and our portable is opened up on the desk of a large, airy hotel room in Madison, Wis.

It's not the most luxurious hotel we've met in our travels, but it represents a welcome breather for our tiring wallets; the rate is only $7.50 a day for the two of us plus Claudia and Jonathan, marking the first time in this tourist happy land and season that we've gotten off so easy.

The tendency of motels to develop an exaggerated idea of their own importance to the traveller, which we've touched on occasionally in this series, seems to have reached a crashing crescendo this year, or at least in this part of the midwest. But we suspect the tendency is general.

The AAA, upon which more travellers depend for travel advice and guidance than any other organization, has made a courageous attempt to pin down motel operators, by ordaining that rates proposed to limit — not necessarily a reasonable one, just some top figure. Yet even though the AAA's rate ceiling is

By MRS. BEECHMAN

ALL-WHITE, LIKE ALL-BLACK, IS DEEP MOURNING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My dear mother passed on very recently, and I am wearing all-black mourning and have planned to wear this for several months. My father-in-law is not very well and I are to visit my only sister at her country home for the month of August. Yesterday, when I was telling a friend about our plan, she suggested that it would be a comfort to me to wear all-white while I am on this visit to the country, and insisted that all-white is as "deep" mourning as all-black is. It doesn't seem to me that that could be true, but I would very much like to have it true. Is it, Mrs. Beechman?—Ruth.

Yes, this is true . . . that in summer all-white clothes are deep mourning, just as all-black is. And I agree with your friend that wearing all-white would be a comfort to you, as well as to your sister, your father, and those you will meet. But remember that the white materials must be dull, not shiny, and that all accessories must be white, and suitable to the mourning idea. And this season, with the various wonderful kinds of white materials in dresses (or available, not-available) you will have a comparatively simple time finding what will be appropriate.

THANK-YOU NOTE FOR GIFT

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have been secretary for my employer for about ten years. A few years ago he was married for the second time (he was a widower) and I don't know how to write to her. Yesterday they together sent me a beautiful wedding present with an enclosed "Mr and Mrs." card, and a gracious message of good wishes written on it). To whom should I address my thank-you note, since I don't know her wife?—E.E.

Write your note to the wife, even though you don't know her, and in the body of the note thank them both enthusiastically; for example, "It was most kind of you both to send me such a beautiful present, and Bob and I had so much wanted a pair of crystal candlesticks for our table, and you both made our dream come true. They are masterpieces of radiance and design, and we are thrilled. We both thank you, with all sincere appreciation. (In other words, mention the gift specifically and talk about its special beauty, as I have suggested above.) Then, on appropriate occasion, say to your employer, "I have written to Mrs. Thompson to thank you both for your beautiful wedding present, Bob and I are thrilled with the handsome candlesticks, and we thank you."

CORRECT FORMS OF CHEQUE-SIGNATURE FOR MARRIED WOMAN

Dear Mrs. Beechman,

We are a group of friends, all recently wed. We would like to have you tell us the proper way for us to sign cheques. Two girls said Mary H. Smith. One said Mrs. Linda Smith, and one said Mrs. Arthur Smith. Three of us insist the signature should be Mary Leighton Smith.—Wedweeds.

The best signature for a woman to use when signing a cheque is: Mary Leighton Smith. That is the form generally used. The point is that it is practical, sensible, for a married woman to include in her check-signature her maiden name (Mary Leighton) for the times when this may be useful for identification, particularly when she is recently married. (Many banks suggest this form of signature.) Also correct, but obviously not so identifying, is Mary L. Smith.

ALTERNATIVE-TO-SUGAR SERVICE IS "CORRECT"

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

On two occasions lately, when my husband and I have been dining in the homes of friends, I have been very interested to notice that the hostess provided a small container of saccharin or other sugar-substitute (one was an artistic little box, one a simple plastic container) on the tray with the demi-tasse service in the living room after dinner. Is this now considered a "correct service"?—Nan W.

Yes . . . correct service, considerate service, and quite often done today. (But of course not at all a necessary item of service.) This thoughtful and practical service of an alternative—sugar is offered also on occasions other than the demitasse service. Saccharin or some similar product is very often offered on breakfast tables, quite customarily now on the breakfast tray, with luncheon or afternoon beverages, with dinner or after-dinner tea, or coffee, hot or cold. It's often offered on the afternoon tea tray, and very often with buffet coffee service.

POLITE GUEST ALWAYS SPEAKS TO HOSTESS FIRST

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When a guest arrives at a large, informal party—for example, at a tea party or a cocktail party, or an informal evening party—should he or she speak first to the hostess, even though the host happens to be standing nearer the entrance of the room when the guest enters? In other words, would the guest make a definite point of speaking first to the hostess, or do you think it might be more convenient to speak first to the host? (We are having a party soon, and this has come up.)—H.

Yes . . . the guest who knows what's what makes a point of a social effort to go directly to the hostess (and a thank-you to the host, huge), and certainly not to speak to the other first. The host who is accustomed to his role in life is accustomed to his role in life that the polite and gracious guest will first welcome his wife, her hostess, and makes no effort to greet her welcoming guest before his wife has been given the opportunity to greet and welcome the guest. This important principle of speaking first to the hostess is one of those small and really significant social amenities!

INVITING GUESTS TO FORTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. We are inviting many guests to an "At Home" to celebrate our fortieth wedding anniversary. May we invite the many relatives in this town, all as earlier hour, and friends later?

2. May we invite the relatives by telephone? If not, may we invite friends by means of our local newspaper and our Church Bulletin?—M.

1. Yes. Or you might invite relatives for afternoon tea, and friends for evening hours. Keep in mind that it isn't always easy to have those invited for early-afternoon hours. If they're having a good time, naturally they want to leave!

2. Both as important Wedding Anniversary should, I think, be honored by sending special invitations, which charmingly invite, and which guests may treasure as souvenirs of this significant occasion. These need not be elaborate or expensive or formal, but they should be personal. The invitations may be written on plain white or informal, mid-fold paper. If it is the custom in your community, you may also, if you wish, invite by means of your local newspaper, and by your Church Bulletin.

QUESTION:

Many thanks for the wonderful help you gave me last time I wrote. The Chicken-cheese-broccoli casserole has been a standard entertaining fare ever since, and the plum puff pudding the perfect solution for my sour cream . . . some time ago I had "marinated" chicken livers at a restaurant. They were just delicious! very tender and tasty, though a bit sharp and vinegary. Could you suggest a similar way to prepare them that would not leave me gasping? Also I would like to know how to make my own peel, suitable for fruit cakes. How long does such a process take? (dear) somewhat would like a duplicate of . . . Golden Puff biscuits—very fluffy and tender. . . . which makes delicious crack in from the edges while being rolled? I can never get a nice round piece.—Elizabeth S. C.

ANSWER:

I have not marinated chicken gizzards but I have other meats marinated, this would be a suggestion.—For 1 lb. chicken gizzards mix 1/4 cup Savoury French Dressing and 2 tablespoon vinegar and one tablespoon soya sauce. Pour this over the washed and dried chicken gizzards, cover and let stand in refrigerator 24 hours, turning 2 or 4 times. Lift from marinade and add cold water to barely cover, and 1 teaspoon salt, and simmer covered until gizzards are tender. (You may have to add a little more water.) Allow to stand in cooking water until cold, then return to cold remaining marinade and let stand in it, covered, until ready to use.

Women too Nice For Tough Jobs In Politics

MONTREAL (CP) — It seems that a nursery rhyme's suggestion that youthful femininity was "sugar and spice and everything nice" is hindering modern woman's advancement to top level political and executive positions.

So Miss Ann Francis of professional women studying Canada's opportunities for a career have concluded that sweetness, "women are too nice."

When seeking elected positions in government and political posts, women are sometimes timid and shrink from criticism, and will not avoid the unpleasantness of political campaigns against the individual, the study group concluded.

Discussions on the gainfully employed women of today and tomorrow were held here this week, during congress again is celebrated International Federation of Business and Professional Women which ended Thursday.

WANT NATIONAL FLAG

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—A resolution supporting the adoption design recommended by the National Flag of Canada League was passed here Wednesday at the 35th biennial convention of the Native Sons of Canada. The flag design is red and white background diagonally divided with a large green maple leaf in the centre.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

COMPLETE MAKE-UP CHART: THE WHITE-HAIRED WOMAN

If you have white hair, yours is truly a "crowning glory." For with hair that is snowy white and lustrous, carefully groomed you can dominate any scene. Careful shampoos and sets are the most modern rinses, which prevent yellow streaks, will keep your hair snowy white. Try a blue rinse. If it's becoming to you it's very smart indeed.

Just a touch of blue eye shadow but darken your brows a bit, if your eyes are brown. Use only pale rose shades of lipstick and rouge. No vivid reds and no heavy make-up if you would avoid a hard look.

You can wear all the pastel colors as well as the deeper shades of blue, green, rose, purple; also navy, black, grey and brown. Nature designed orchids for the white-haired woman, also pink roses, pink camellias, violets, and cornflowers if her eyes are blue. Here is your make-up chart:

FOR DAYTIME WEAR

Foundation: If your skin is normal, a liquid foundation, either colorless or tinted to give the skin tone you want colour or cream to fit the skin texture or in the contour of the face.

If your skin is dry, sallow, muddy or aging, cream or paste foundation which cover the skin more completely than do the liquids.

Powder: Natural for fair skin. Rachel for medium skins. Pale rose or ochre shades or deep Rachel or weather-beaten or lined skins.

Lipstick: Rose, light, dark or medium. Harmonize shades of lipstick with eyes, clothes you wear. Drape chosen color about face and see what is close to skin and try different shades of lipstick and rouge to find the one which goes best with it.

Rouge: Rose shades, light for fair or cream skins, medium for dark skins, none at all for a skin inclined to be red. Cream or liquid rouge before powdering or dry rouge after powdering. Or make rouge from lipstick by blending it with cream.

Eye Shadow: Gray-blue, light green for blue eyes. Blue or violet for lids that are wrinkled or if eyes are brown.

Mascara: Light brown.

Eyebrow Pencil: Light or, dark brown or gun metal colour.

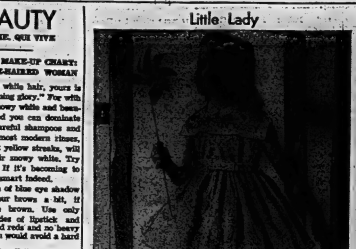
Nail Polish: Same as lipstick or lighter or darker shade of same.

FOR EVENING WEAR

Foundation: Same as day.

Powder: Natural for dark or fair or cream skins. Pale green for weather-beaten skins. Peach or Rachel for dark skins.

Lipstick: Cherry, ruby or raspberry tones.



Rouge: Light or medium rose shades. Accent color for artificial lights by dusting cake rouge over powder even if you have used cream or liquid rouge.

Eye Shadow: Blue, dark green or deep. Mauve eye shadow can be placed under the eyes to hide wrinkles.

Mascara: Dark blue or brown.

Eyebrow Pencil: Brown.

Little Lady

By TRACY ADRIAN

Little girls like pretty clothes just as much as their mamas and older sisters and we believe that this one is a choice which will charm the whole family.

The dress is sleeveless with a covered-up look and is made in a chromespun-and-cotton fabric with a beautifully detailed large square collar of imported linen. The collar is layered with a scalloped, button studded over collar of the dress material. It comes in blue and rose.

Subtle Empire Emphasis in New Falls Suits

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP — Ladies should lift their chins and look proud this fall, says diminutive designer Adele Simpson, whose collection of fall fashions climaxed a crowded week of style previews for the visiting press.

There's a subtle empire emphasis in her new suits, a new accent in her dresses and costumes, a prims and ladylike air to the entire group of fashions designed for a brilliant fall and winter season.

She refuses to snake clothes that nip the waistline or bind the bustline, preferring instead an unarched and semi-fitted line that accentuates feminine curves even more than the orange garbed clothes' waists and emphasized busts of a few seasons ago.

Suits are likely to have a tiny half-belt just below the shoulder blades in back, or a bow, or a detail of tucking or stitching. Jackets are either waist or hipbone length and skirts are uniformly slim. Fabrics are suave and sophisticated, the woollens whisper-weight, and silks rich and rustling.

CONTINUE TRADITION

Wider, softer belts are used on daytime dresses, and there is a directoire feeling through the collar treatment.

The House of Hattie Carnegie carries on the tradition of the "little Carnegie suit" even though the guiding genius of the house is no longer here. Since the recent death of the dynamic little queen of the New York fashion industry, her family and staff have continued in her footsteps, turning out a collection bearing the unmistakable mark of the founder. Here again are the perfectly executed suits with surprise feminine touches, the suave afternoon dresses, the well-bred cocktail and evening clothe that always manage to anticipate a change in the fashion picture, and usually to be one step ahead.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By HEATHER FAIRFAX

IF SHOULD SIMPLIFY THINGS IF YOU MARRY FIRST

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My problem started a long time ago when I had a steady date with Jack. I raised this daughter all by myself and today she is 25 years old. I have never married, and my daughter thinks that her father was a saint. I am not. Jack died a few years ago and I have been a wonderful person, as I have never had romance.

Since she has been grown, I have started dating a man who is well known and well liked in the neighborhood. He is a bachelor, has a very nice home and a good position. He knows of my daughter's birth out of wedlock and does not hold it against me. He says it was a bad mistake made a long time ago, but wants to marry me, but I would like to wait until my daughter is married, which will be in the near future.

I would like my daughter to have the same chance to marry and her away in marriage, as her own father is dead and this other man would be like a second father to her. However, she has had her father on a pedestal all her life. Worships him, and claims no man could ever be as fine as I am in any way. If she knew the real facts about her father, I know she would have little respect for me and her away, and it makes me feel very bad that she thinks as she does.

I have kept the truth from her all these years, and my friend says not to tell her now, but I think I should for her own good. If it would help, I could gradually change her mind and be willing to have her married and away, we would even get married before then.

I hope you can help me decide what to do.—C.

Dear C.:

Since you have kept the truth about your daughter's father a secret from her all these years, I think your friend is right when he says not to tell her now.

I think about it this way: Your daughter is about to be married. Just imagine what it would do to her state of mind to hear, at a time like that, that the character of her life, something that would be a source of shame should be her. It might even make her feel that she should not get married at all. That how would you yourself feel, knowing that you had ruined her happiness?

It seems to me you have already mentioned the best plan you could carry out, which would be for you and your friend to marry immediately. In that case, he would be your daughter's stepfather when your wedding day came up, and surely she would approve of a stepfather naturally assumes a dead father's role.

This man you are going to marry is evidently a fine character. The attitude he takes toward you makes you made bears this out. Surely, if he was already your husband at the time of your daughter's marriage, she would not only be willing, but happy, to have him give her away. You might, even, if you felt it would influence her, tell her that her own father would have wanted this. In view of all the circumstances, I can't feel that it would be wrong to say such a thing, when it is meant for the good of all concerned. Besides, if her own father had any manhood at all, it should certainly be a true statement to make of him.

This whole plan seems to me the simplest and best way out of the one that would have the best chance of making everybody happy.

RAWDON — Mrs. H. Beare, Mrs. Muriel McMullen, Mrs. Bailey and Janet Reid are visiting Quin-Mo-Lac Camp this week.

The Preston families for the 5th concession also neighbors and friends, attended the funeral of Milton K. Preston, at the new Funeral Home, Trenton, on Monday. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston; Harold R. R. 2. The interment was made in the family plot in St. Lawrence Cemetery, Rawdon township.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowe and family of Hoards, attended a birthday dinner for her father, at Moira Lake, on Sunday.

Several of the ladies have been busy picking and preserving green peas fresh from the garden.

Miss Hazen Bowerman, Mount Clements, Michigan, U.S.A., is visiting Rawdon relatives and friends for a month.

Mrs. James Sharp, Ridge Road, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson. She attended the lawn social at Wellman's and Mount Pleasant Church service.

Mrs. Gordon MacPhatter, president F.W.I.C., recently said, "Take time to think, it is the source of power; take time to read, it is the fountain of wisdom, and take time to work, it is the price of success."

Mrs. Doc Thompson was hostess to Bethel Girls' Club with the vice-president, Joan Barron, in charge. Gordon Reid read the Scripture lesson and all repeated in unison the 23rd Psalm. Fifteen members answered the roll call. Piano solos were given by Janet Fletcher and Donalda Heath. Joyce Reid read a selection and Linda McMullen and June Fox each gave a story. Margaret Mulhern and Judy Reid contributed a duet. A game of Riddles was conducted by Ellen Treneer. The hostess served refreshments and was tendered a vote of thanks for hospitality.

Miss Margaret Brooks is spending the summer months at Nain.

The Rev. W. G. Fletcher, Allan Fletcher and Ralph Reid attended Quin-Mo-Lac Camp, last week.

Miss Annie Holmes, Madoc, spent the weekend at the home of her brother, at Mount Pleasant, and attended the morning service.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Williams entertained to dinner on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tomlinson and their daughter, Mrs. Douglas Reid, Mr. Reid and children, Candice and Deborah, of Napanee.

On Sunday Mr. Blake Sharp was tendered a delightful birthday party by his family. The dinner was held at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McMaster, Moira Lake, and the large group had an enjoyable day.

Misses Gail Jeffs and Kaye David attended Girl Guide Camp at Glen Allen Park, Crowe Lake, last week.

Minto

MINTO—Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, of Belleville, and Mrs. Anita Reynolds of Toronto, were luncheon guests of Mrs. L. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Allan's Mills, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner.

The pea viner in this community started full time on Monday morning.

Mr. Ted Colden of Thomson, spent the weekend at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and daughter of Thomasburg were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Will Joyce.

Rylstone

LIVE WIRE ON CAR

RYLSTONE — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spence and children had a narrow escape on Sunday evening last, when driving to Campbellford the car left the electric line. When near the town power house on the bank, the car left the road, fell on their car, plunging the Town into darkness. The Spences escaped injury, as they remained in their car, until someone else came along and reported the break and summoned aid.

Mr. G. W. Jones is visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Ivan Jones.

On Friday evening, the pupils of the Ninth Line school, their parents, and teacher, Mrs. Gurney Mekleiohn, held the annual school ending picnic, at Crowe River Bridge. After the picnic lunch, swimming and games were enjoyed, an address signed by S.S. 13, Hastings, was read and read to their departing teacher, and a presentation made by Mrs. Mekleiohn from her pupils, parents and trustees, as a remembrance of her association with the ninth line school, and in appreciation of her services.

Mrs. Mekleiohn was presented with a hammered aluminum sandwich tray and tongs, for which she made a suitable reply, thanking them for their appearance and wishing them all good luck, in their next years.

TEAM HITS CAR

On Saturday evening, Billie Morton, Jr., met with an accident, along with two friends from Springbrook, Ronnie Smith and Larry Spry, when the car in which they were riding, driven by Larry Spry, encountered a bad skid, when he endeavored to steer clear of the Morton's car, on brook crossing. The rain caught the rear of it, completely upending it in the ditch, on its top. The boys escaped with cuts and bruises and shock. Ronnie Smith after a checkup at the doctor's office in Marmora, they were allowed to go home. They were fortunate to escape alive. This is another spot for a dangerous crossing. The rain cannot be seen for a bank and bushes, until the driver is right on the crossing, and with the irregular schedule on this extra caution has to be taken.

Mrs. Moe Washington and Mrs. Teresa Stewart, left for Copper Cliff, on Wednesday, enroute to their home at Weyburn, Saskatchewan, after spending the past month with their brother, Chas. ler Mekleiohn, his wife and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer enjoyed a picnic at the Booster Club grounds, Crowe River, Sunday with Mrs. Spencer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Bateman, Springbrook, and Mrs. Ruth Philip Vance, Minto and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Jones and Mrs. G. W. Jones were guests of Percy W. Wood at his cottage, at Hog Lake, near Madoc.

Owing to the thunderstorm, which came up just at concert time on Sunday night, the community concert was called off. Bridge, had to be called off. Quite a good crowd had assembled before the storm broke. The executive and concert committee of Rylstone Women's Institute are sorry to have the concert disappointed, but it was entirely in the hands of the weathermen. The rain was needed, but the overflow was not a total loss. Campbellford citizens' Band was on hand, prepared to give one of their usual good programs. However, it is hoped to have them appear in the near future, at a date, as yet undecided, in August or September next, July 15, it is expected to have the Pipe Band of the 48th Highlanders of Canada, will be quite a treat to all Scotsman. There will be community singing and some high talent with accompaniment by the travelling organ. Concert time is 8 p.m. There will be concerts each Sunday night during July and August, in the Rylstone church.

Congratulations to Mrs. Cora Reid and all her assistants, who were successful in passing their examinations. Carol Milne was successful in passing her Grade 10 entrance examinations.

Mrs. Ross Mekleiohn of the 9th Line school, also had a successful year with all her pupils successful in passing examinations.

Rylstone United church, four high school entrance pupils were, Donna Fetherstonhaugh, Ronnie Glen Stewart and Jimmie Gray. All the high school pupils are to be congratulated on their successful examinations.

GOOD TRY—

A news item and photograph in the Montreal Gazette of yesterday recalls to mind the rollicking days when Belleville had the "blues."

Not the St. Louis brand nor that which is the inevitable aftermath of the perusal of the annual income tax return.

"Them were the days" when the war drums thundered over a weary world and the streets of this city echoed to the tramp of armed services' feet, 90 per cent Royal Canadian Air Force.

Some fifteen thousand of the flyboys were quartered in the city and district. And some of Canada's most distinguished airmen were stationed here in high-ranking positions over the course of time.

Among them was the present Air Vice Marshal Frank McGill, who commanded Trenton Station RCAF. He was a strong supporter in those hectic days—but understands his hair-breadth tussle and gold-braided cap beat the heart and spirit of the sportsman.

One of Montreal's outstanding athletes, AVM McGill was honored at the Montreal Sportsman's Association annual field day. He spoke on his three favorite sports, football, hockey and water polo.

There was nothing of the "brass" snob about McGill, when he entered Instruction Time. An ardent swimmer and an expert boatman, he developed himself at the old rubber-galls, donned swim trunks and a towel and gave personal instruction to the troops under his command. He was one of the more popular OC's to command the station.

During McGill's tenure of command at Trenton, he took more than passing interest in the various "Victory Loan" campaigns.

On one occasion a "commando dagger" was presented to each city, town, district or community which oversubscribed its quota.

In this district two daggers were to be presented, one for Prince Edward and the other for Hastings County.

This resulted, along with the then mayor of the city, ex-Major Glen Thompson, now of Toronto, in a party which flew to Toronto to deposit the daggers at RCAF headquarters.

We took off in a Lockheed "12" bomber. The pilot was Wing Commander Joe Stevenson, with bombing Wing Commander Carling-Kelly who was well known in the city. Group Captain McGill rode the co-pilot's seat most of the way. The rest he kindly consented to sit with this scribe.

Between the thunder of the motors, the "chawing" of a huge wad of gum (and swallow often) and a distinct lessening of the functions of our ear appendages, we managed to get some of McGill's conversation.

In his younger days McGill was an outstanding star on the Montreal AAA football squad. He was as popular at the field as the gridiron and he was well known in many circles outside of sport in Montreal.

His most amusing yarn he told on himself. It seems that some years or so after he "graduated" from the football ranks, he was driving along St. Catherine Street, when he committed a breach of traffic rules. A burly Montreal gendarme approached his car and it was not a friendly gleam that lightened up his eyes.

"You are in de beeg hurry, no?" grated the cop.

McGill thought for a moment. "No, officer, I merely made slight mistake."

Then he thought, "maybe I can get out of this one," so smiling benignly at the gendarme he said: "Did you know any of the Winged Wheelers?"

He was in luck. He had struck a sports bullseye. The scowl faded from the gendarme's face. It lit up with a smile.

"Out, out," he said.

"I played with the Wheelers," said McGill, feeling more comfortable. Then he added: "Say, officer, did you ever know Pierre Corteau?" (that is not the correct name, it has slipped the memory, but it will do.)" McGill didn't, he had read about him.

"Out, out," said the cop. "I know-a dat guy well, was of my boat' frens."

"Mine, too," echoed McGill, envisioning a pardon from a ticket. "Say," he added, "do you know where Pierre is now. I would like to see him."

The smile faded from the gendarme's face.

"Sure I know where dat guy is," he said stonily. "He is right here," and he pumped a forefinger against his chest. "Pull over, m'friend. Dat was wan dam good try."

Bedard, Fontana Meet in Tennis Finals

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Bedard and Don Fontana, Canada's top tennis doubles team, split up today and Sunday to settle two singles crowns between them.

The David Cuppers reached the singles finals Friday in the Quebec open tennis championships here, to be played off today. Sunday they are scheduled to thrash out the eastern Canada singles crown at Quebec. It was postponed by rain.

Mrs. Hanna Sladek of Toronto and Mrs. Louise Brown of Toronto meet today in the women's section finals.

Bedard, Sherbrooke, Que., ace who is Canadian champion, advanced in a straight-set victory over Lawrence Barclay of Vancouver and Montreal, winning 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

But Fontana, of Toronto, had his troubles before defeating Henri Rochon, the little Montreal insurance salesman who grew on his considerable experience to run the younger man to five sets.

Rochon (4-6) at Mont Bleu lead at one point in the fifth and final set, but finally yielded 7-5, 6-1, 3-6, 3-6, 9-7.

Mrs. Sladek sidelined Eleanor Dodge of Montreal 6-3, 6-3 and Mrs. Brown took three sets to eliminate Mrs. Shirley Hartt of Montreal 6-3, 5-7, 9-7.

ZULUETA SURRENDERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Orlando Zulueta, a 3-to-1 underdog, used a flicking left jab to pile up points for a surprise unanimous decision over Ludwig Lightborn of British Honduras in a 10-round match Friday night at Madison Square Garden. Lightburn weighed 138, Zulueta 136½.

Two-Hits Tribe in 10-0 Win As White Sox Lose to Boston; Redlegs Tumble to 2nd Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Young Tom Sturdivant is proving a pesky obstacle to Cleveland Indians' drive to get back into second place in the American Baseball League.

The right-hander, with an 8-3 record, breezed to a 10-0 victory over the Tribe Friday night. His two-hitter was his second against Cleveland. He also two-hit the Indians on June 16 when he beat them 3-1.

His Friday night efforts were aided by the powerful bat of Bill Skowron, who walloped in four runs with a single and home run. It was only the second complete game for the 26-year-old Sturdivant. Considered a comer by the Yankee manager Casey Stengel until last month, he was making his fifth start.

The victory, the Yankees' seventh straight, hoisted their bulging league lead to 8½ games.

Chicago's White Sox lost their fifth straight, but stayed two points ahead of the third place Tribe, in a 5-4 defeat at Boston. It was the Red Sox' fifth victory in a row and put them within two games of the Chicago and Indians. Washington edged New York 12-11. Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-2.

The Yankees broke the game wide open with a five-run seventh inning blast off loser Jim Wilson. The only hits off Sturdivant were Preston Ward's fourth - inning single and Al Smith's seventh-inning double in the fifth — after which he retired 16 batters in order.

Chicago blew a 4-0 lead as the Red Sox got to Jim Wilson for three in the sixth and a wrap-up rally in the seventh. Ted Kazanski's Texas leaguer scored the decisive run. Ike Delock fanned five of the nine men he faced to win his sixth in relief. Wilson is 11-6.

HITS FIELDER

Lou Skizas smacked his first major league home run, with a man on, in a three-run first off Baltimore's Connie Johnson and Alex Grammas also did make it stand up—giving homers to Dick Williams and George Kell—for his seventh victory. The As were out-hit 10-7.

Washington and Detroit each had 13 hits—13 singles and a home run. Roy Sievers for the Nats, Frank Bolling for the Tigers—and each scored five in the eighth inning. A sacrifice bunt by Jose Valdivielso was the difference.

Pitching: Tom Sturdivant, Yankees—gained first major league shutout and eighth victory by tossing second straight two-hitter against Indians', retiring last 16 men he faced, in 10-0 breeze that hiked Yankees' lead to 8½ games.

Hitting: Joe Adcock, Braves—Slammed his 14th and 15th home runs, the latter a grand-slammer in the eighth, and also drove home seven runs with four hits in six trips in 5-4 and 7-1 twi - night doubleheader sweep over Dodgers that put Braves back in first place.

As you address the short pitch shots, have an open stance, with your feet close together, the ball about opposite your right heel and your weight on your left foot. Now, about the hands: They should be well ahead of the ball so the left arm and shaft are about in line. Your right elbow is close to your body as you address these shots. This sets you so it's easy to snap the leading edge of the lofted iron under and ahead of the ball and you're certain to pop it up. You want an upright swing with plenty of wrist action used in the hitting. Then you must keep the wrists from bending forward prematurely.

Royals Take Top From Idle Leafs With Twin Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal Royals were back on top of the heap in the International League today.

After being pushed out of first place by the surging Toronto Maple Leafs, the Little Dodgers reacted violently Friday night and won a doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons, 8-4 and 3-2, to jump three percentage points ahead of the Leafs whose game with the third-place Rochester Red Wings was rained out.

In other action, Columbus Jets whipped Miami Marlins, 7-1, and Havana Sugar Kings shut out Richmond Virginians, 7-0, behind Rudy Minarcin.

WALK STOPS RALLIES

Bob Walz rescued both Montreal starters. In the opener, he rushed to the mound in the sixth after Leo Cristanis had given up a three-run homer to Luke Easter.

In the second game, he arrived on the scene after Frank White had loaded the bases with two out in the sixth. He got Lou Ortiz on a grounder and checked the Bisons the rest of the way.

Four Miami pitchers gave up 13 hits to the Jets. The big one was a three-run homer by Frank Saucier.

Owen Friend hit a two - run homer for Havana and that was all Minarcin needed. His mates collected only four hits off Al Cicotte.

Acrobatic Frenchman Aerials Way to Victory Over Atkins

By GEO. H. GARVEE
(Sports Editor)

He flew through the air with the greatest of ease,
This daring gaucon who works some in the trees.
He swirled Mr. Atkins through a smoke-laden breeze,
Vive La France and M'sieu Poudreau!

A barrel-chested muscle-ripping young Frenchman "pas mal" at les Anglais," back-flipped his way into the hearts of Memorial Arena's faithful last night.

M'sieu Edouard Carpentier, nephew of the famous of the same name, France's former "Orchid Man" of boxing fame, who time his billet-doux in Paris, ousted the mat darlings from local carcass in his debut here.

The way was eased by his second-to-none reflexes of Fred Atkins, No. 1 public enemy of the rasslin' masses thisaway.

But he went to the hard way. He took more punishment than a week at Bronson lax time but rallied to strike muscled lightning to win the third and deciding fall.

Atkins was tough. He had about as much respect for Frenchman Bunny Dunlop as a corset for upholstered virtue.

In the ornate rabbit of officialdom bounced a few smashed on the Atkins chops headlocks grabbing a few handfuls of hair occasionally. He might as well have blown kisses.

The Austrylian broke up a beautiful flying mare in the first fall when he grabbed Carpentier and catapulted him into a ring corner.

Unfortunately Dunlop executed a box seat there and got caught in the traffic jam. Atkins let loose a beautiful uppercut from centre field. Carpentier ducked and Bunny's button absorbed the shock. He tried, but he's a one-day-old lettuce head. That was it. Atkins was sent home from school.

The second fall was more or less a navel engagement. Both sides fired broadsides into enemy shipping and finally Atkins scuttled Carpentier after tossing him overboard. The French-man failed to come up for the third time and Atkins clambered aboard in time to grab the loot from the white-shirted skipper.

Danged if Australia's gift to mat mayhem didn't have the better of the deal for four minutes in the final fall.

Then it happened.

M'sieu Carpentier was in the throes of an armlock when out of the blue he whirled high overhead in a whirling arc of flying arms and legs.

He back-flipped high over Atkins' snapping and that worthy crumpled like a deflated accordion. They call it a reverse headlock and fold-up shoulder stand. It was a inside-ring whirlygrowl.

Carpentier "vived" his victory with a few neat standing somersaults and bowed for the fans' approval.

Multiple-toughie Roberto Pico of Mexico, hand-taped his way to victory over popular Orv Mills at 1:40 of the second fall of mauling, while Pat Flanagan "mule-kicked" a win over Frank Valois in the opener.

Weslock Out As Member Willingdon Team

OSHAWA (CP) — Rick Weslock of Whitby Athletic Club will not be a member of Ontario's Willingdon Cup team, it was announced Friday.

Weslock, who had qualified for a spot on the team, placed third on the four-man team. He did not show up at the Amateur due to previous business on Wednesday's opening day's round. An Ontario Golf Association ruling said all the players qualifying for the team must play in the Amateur.

OGA president Wes McKnight said Weslock asked for a reconsideration of the ruling, but that the OGA decided not to set a precedent by allowing him to play. It also ruled that Weslock has applied for United States citizenship papers but nothing to do with the decision.

LEAVES VACANCY

The team had been composed of Moe Norman of Kitchener, Gerry Magee of Toronto, Weslock and Jerry's Pat Moreland. With Weslock out there is a vacancy which is honourably filled by Woodstock's Bill Parkes. He placed fifth in the Willingdon Cup tussle.

However, the winner of the Amateur automatically gets a spot on the team. Magee is the only one of the four members not in the running. If he should win today's round, Parkes stays on the team. If he should lose, then the winner gets Parkes' spot.

It's the hunt for that spot will be Hamilton's Ray Coole, Jack Lowery of St. Catharines and Weston's Bruce Castator in semi-finals at the Amateur being held here.

Power and Sail

(By Bill Robinson)

One of the major headaches to come about from increases in boating popularity is the "parking problem."

There is plenty of water for everybody in the nation's coastal and inland areas, but access to it is something else again. When there is no room demand is there is for boating facilities, however, there will always be people with the get-organ-ized to meet the problems involved.

Boating facilities fall into two classes. The first one is permanent storage for boats too big to move around in winter owners prefer to remain on one body of water. The other is access to the water for the cartop and trailer-boat class.

Permanent storage is a real problem in most boating areas. There are very few boat yard operators who have not expanded to the number of slips for permanent mooring. The wide-awake ones are constantly dredging and filling all available land trying to keep up with the demand, but they all have their limits. Also, slips are expensive to build and the return on the investment is slow.

NEW METHOD

To get around this, a new method of boat storage that started in southern Florida is rapidly spreading throughout all areas. It requires a good amount of parking space on land and some sort of rapidly operated mechanical device like slings, a hoist, or an elevator cradle. The boats are kept out of the water all times when not in use, stored on their own trailers, for instance, one slightly to slip ernetal. When a yard is properly set up, it is a matter of minutes to move the trailer under the launching rig and drop the boat into the water.

With this method there is no worrying about having to have a boat pumped out, about mooring lines givin gway or about pounding into the water. Owner can leave a boat when he goes back to the city overnight or whatever he is sure.

There might sometimes be a wait for the hoist, both in and out, during weekend rush hours, but each launching is only a matter of minutes. This method is not practicable for all that city out and open up when out of water, but is thoroughly practical for those in built-up construction, planked or molded plywood, fibreglas or metal.

INCREASE IN FACILITIES

Many of the operators now featuring dry storage with in-and-out service are also opening their facilities to the trailerist who likes to drop in at a different spot each weekend. Often these cartop or trailer owners get the bum's rush from big, busy yards and have to search hard to find a launching spot. Along with the progressive yard operators who have prepared themselves to service these types, there is also an increase in public facilities available.

In many states, state parks have now specially designated areas for launching boats and parking trailers, and towns fortunate enough to have waterfront are doing the same thing. Nominal fees are made the areas self-supporting and provide a valuable recreational service.

If your favorite boating area has not kept pace with these developments, it is time to bring pressure on private yard operators and public officials alike to recognize the trends of a fast-growing sport and recreation.

Babe Risks Leg Paralysis In Operation

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Knowing that the operation might cause paralysis of her legs she might never walk again, Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias chose surgery in order to get relief from cancer pains.

Today the indomitable Babe, greatest woman athlete of the modern era, underwent the surgery she made it—she could wiggle her feet and toes.

It was another trying time in the Babe's fight against cancer—and cancer of the colon. In 1953, seemingly had been beaten four times before, she returned to winning golf, and then cropped up again last year.

She survived five hours Friday for the operation to be performed. It was a complicated surgical job to divide the nerve track that caused the sensation of pain in her legs. The Babe, her physician and her husband all feared she might suffer partial paralysis because spinal sensory nerves that lead into the legs were to be cut. But the pain has been increasing with each day and had reached the point where it was almost unbearable. So the Babe just said "Well, here we go again," and was wheeled into the operating room.

A spokesman for John Sealy Hospital said the operation may cause some difficulty in the Babe's ability to walk, but "it does not necessarily mean she will be paralyzed . . . Mrs. Zaharias has not been able to walk for some time. Since her last birthday she has been confined to her bed."

BEATS LEW HOAD

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Michael Davies, 20-year-old Welsh Davis Cup player, defeated Lew Hoad of Australia, the new Wimbledon champion Friday in the men's singles semi-finals of the Midland Counties tennis championship. Set scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Davies meets Trevor Fancutt of South Africa today in the final. Fancutt defeated former Wimbledon champion Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt 5-3, 6-4 in the earlier semi-final.

Police Protect Soccer Referee

TORONTO (CP) — Police were called to protect a soccer referee from angry fans and players Friday night during the Danforth-Slavia game of the Football Association of Canada series.

Aubrey Harries, the berated official, called the game with eight minutes remaining after he had been jostled by Slavia players for ignoring their claim of a foul.

Slavia, leading 2-1 at half-time, fourth players escorted the referee

After a successful trial game last Saturday a strong Eastern Ontario League team was organized to take on the Toronto Senior League All Stars in Toronto's Greenwood Park on Saturday afternoon. The following players were selected to represent Eastern Ontario All Stars: Ownsworth, Machin, Cooper, Wilson, Gee, McCabe, Gibson, Gordon, Grieg, Grey, McDougall with subs Gilchrist, Sneis (J), Peterson, Kusters.

Next Saturday league play is resumed in the Eastern Ontario set-up when Kingston visits Batawa to play for a game that was postponed from June 9th.

In the Bay of Quinte circuit the clean-up stage has been reached. Only two postponed games remain to complete the league schedule and then the clubs start afresh. The Belleville Charity Cup and Trenton Challenge Cup series which start on August 1st. In both these competitions will be run on knock-out lines and the finals are to be completed before the end of September.

One postponed game was played off on Monday evening. This was the game between Belleville and 6 RD on the Northern Electric grounds. This proved to be a real title-chaser battle with the much-improved Belleville Rangers coming out on their best showings of the year. 6 RD finally edged the homesters out by the odd goal, the match scored by Critchley. 6 RD were thus able to maintain their record as being the only unbeaten team in the league. This win over two place Belleville Northern Electric.

Trenton Merchants were defeated by four goals to one, while in Batawa the Batawa RCAF and 30 Merchants by the same score. RCAF therefore remain in the championship fold for the present time. Next Wednesday RCAF play Batawa in the Shoelown, while Trenton Merchants and 6 RD league winds up with the RCAF visiting 6 RD in the Sidelown. A game postponed from June. This game could very easily decide the fate of the league championship.

As this is vacation time this column will not appear again for the next two weeks, but will be resumed on the 28th of August 1st.

Solmar Notes

All About Fishing for Bass

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables.)

The other day a letter came in from a bass fisherman. He wanted information. He fished for large-mouth in lakes mostly, and he has good fishing in the early morning and late evening. Now, he wanted to know, could he catch bass through the bright daylight hours.

Always it is difficult to answer a question like that at long range. There is no way of knowing how good a fisherman a man may be or what kind of lakes he fishes. But the assumption must be made that he is an adequate caster and that the lakes are typical largemouth lakes and go on from there.

Largemouth bass, which is what they live, largemouth generally have universal characteristics. In the winter either they hibernate or go into semi-hibernation in the deeper water. Little or no feeding is done.

With the coming of spring and the completion of spawning operations, they gradually commence in preparation for the warmer months to come. A good many of them take up residence where they can find satisfactory protective cover in the shallow water in the neighboring quarters in the comparatively deep water offshore and there they remain most of the time.

They go on the feed when they are hungry. Unlike trout, who feed when there is a wide variety of insect life that must go and find their food. The great majority of bass feed on the fish that come to them they must go to find it.

Mother Nature is a wise old lady and she has things arranged quite well in this regard. As a matter of general conversation she has fixed a daily schedule for all wildlife and fish creatures. Some creatures are active as well as it does to those who live on land.

Then, there are four activity and feeding periods during each day—they rather have four periods and not two. The intervening times, between feeding periods, are used for resting and relaxing in the shade, thereby missing the best fishing of the day.

So we replied to that letter from the bass fisherman, telling him these things. Here's hoping that he takes heed to our letter. We are sure that he will, and fish more accordingly.

Meanwhile, for your convenience, the weekly schedule of Solmar Periods is published on the sports page of the newsprint. This section try keeping track of the daily Solmar Periods. You will find that this habit will pay big dividends in the sport of angling.

AUCTION TAYLOR HORSES

TORONTO (CP) — Ten horses from the stable of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Taylor were auctioned off for $29,900 Friday in a sale held in the paddock of New Woodbine race track.

Top price of $5,100 was paid for Bunky's Joy, a three-year-old filly by Illuminate out of La Duchess, which went to William Gray, suburban Weston.

George Christie of Kitchener paid $4,100 for Landscape, a three-year-old son of Bull Page.

MaGee Favored to Retain Amateur Golf Championship

By JOHN VOJTECH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OSHAWA (CP) — The Ontario amateur golf championship was narrowed down to four players today, and defending champion Gerry Magee of Toronto favored to retain his crown.

The 32-year-old Magee was matched against Ray Coole of Hamilton in today's early semi-final. In the other match, Jack Lowery of St. Catharines goes against Bruce Castator of Weston.

Castor provided the thrills Friday on the links of the Oshawa Golf and Country Club by winning his match with Bill Harrison of Windsor on the 21st hole.

Harrison was one up on Castator going into the 18th hole. Bill missed two successive putts, one a four-footer, while Bruce birdied the hole to win the hole and tie the match.

Harrison, who in the third round upset Moe Norman of Kitchener, last year's Canadian amateur champ, got into trouble on the 21st hole. He sent his second shot into the rough and from there he needed two more shots to get to the green where Castator birdied the par-five hole.

BEAT GARY COWAN

Magee, the only former champ still in the running, had little trouble in his match with Gary Cowan of Toronto. He notched a 3-and-2 victory.

Magee had a comparatively easy time in getting rid of Lorne Oglan of Toronto, 4-and-3. Coole defeated Jim Jamieson of Hamilton 4-and-2.

Ray Coole, 25-year-old Hamilton golfer defeated three-time Ontario amateur winner Jack Nash of London, 2-and-1.

St. Catharines golf star Jack Lowery defeated Bill Parks of Woodstock 4-and-2 in the afternoon round.

Casper Tops Par-Ripping Pack In Third Round Annual Open

By CHARLES BARRY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOISCHATEL, Que. (CP) — A likeable, 25-year-old golfer, just starting his second year on the pro trail, has set a par-wrecking field into the third round of the fourth annual $35,000 open golf tournament.

After scoring his second straight 68 Friday, Bill Casper, 25, of San Diego, Calif., said he likes Royal Quebec's par-71 course, "but then, all the courses are fine when you're playing well."

Strangely enough, Casper said he "drove better much worse" than the first day. But he was hitting the target with his "deadputts"—"nine miles long," he said later—and the important irons. He sank 15-, 30-, 35- and 25-footers for birdies.

His halfway total of 136—eight under par—gave him a one-stroke working margin as the third round got under way at 9 a.m. today.

Casper came in late Friday to steal the lead from Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and the veteran Jimmy Demaret of Kissemmee Lake, N.Y. Kroll, who went fishing after posting a second round 68, and Demaret were tied at 137.

Demaret played out his round Friday with a sore finger from his left hand. He hit the turf too hard with an iron on the first fairway. The finger didn't damage his iron game, however, and he birdied the last four holes on the back nine.

Casper was playing par golf up to the 15th. He started laying them up accurately, and needed birdies on the last four and five feet for his birdies.

The 68 is one of the finest-conditioned golf courses we've ever played on," Demaret said later. "It's one of the best fairways of any course in the northern part of the country."

Two shots off the pace at 138 were Gene Littler of Rolling Hills, Calif., with a five-under-par 67 Friday; Al Besselink of Grosse Pointe, Mich., with an 1963 record leader Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who climbed to second-day 71; and club-flinging Tommy Bolt of Houston, Texas, with a 69 and second straight 68.

Bolt, who manhandled his clubs on the Friday, said there was "not much improvement" in his putting. He said he wasn't happy with his putting, but pointed out "maybe this course was in to long, they suffer partial paralysis because spinal sensory nerves that lead into the legs were to be cut. But the pain has been increasing with each day and had reached the point where it was almost unbearable. So the Babe just said "Well, here we go again," and was wheeled into the operating room.

A spokesman for John Sealy Hospital said the operation may cause some difficulty in the Babe's ability to walk, but "it does not necessarily mean she will be paralyzed . . . Mrs. Zaharias has not been able to walk for some time. Since her last birthday she has been confined to her bed."

Fuca Claims Another Victim; Housewife Fails

VICTORIA (CP)—Wild Juan de Fuca Strait won again Friday night, but today another challenger is heading for the southwest corner of Canada to test the 18.3 miles of temperamental tides.

Amy Hiland, 33-year-old housewife from Long Beach, Calif., stayed in the 67-degree water for 12 hours, 15 minutes, 9 seconds Friday and came within 2½ miles of duplicating Bert Thomas' year-old feat of swimming from Port Angeles, Wash., to Victoria.

Marilyn Bell, 18-year-old Toronto schoolgirl and conqueror of Lake Ontario and the English Channel, leaves today from Toronto to begin training here for her attempt at the strait next month.

Mrs. Hiland had been cold of the water for more than four hours before she gave up the fight and made it. Dr. William Slater, one of her trainers, said she spent the rough trip here in Port Angeles aboard the yacht Vermarko wrapped in hot towels.

"I'm so glad I made it," the hysterical woman kept saying.

"For the first mile I thought the sometimes choppy, sometimes calm water she fought along in a crab-like sidestroke—her left arm paralyzed and hanging useless—"that I was going to give up and—with Victoria less than two miles away—swam in circles as salt water seeped under her goggles and blinded her.

"I'm sorry I didn't make it," Marilyn said in Toronto. "She made a marvelous try. It is heartbreaking to get so close and then fail."

Marilyn, at 17, is the youngest person to have swum the Channel and the only conquerer of Lake Ontario.

Mrs. Hiland has a few records too. She set the amateur record for the Catalina Channel swim and became the first woman doing the last of the 24 miles with a paralyzed left arm. She is one of only three women ever to swim the Salton Sea.

DESPERATE

It took them two minutes to "beat" the passengers into submission, he added. Meanwhile, the pilot threw the plane into a series of violent loops and more people were hurt.

FIGHT IN COCKPIT

Polyak then broke open the door leading to the crew compartment with a screw driver.

"But just inside we saw the secret policeman, who had set down among the passengers after all," Izar continued. "The policeman drew his pistol. Polyak hit him on the head and grabbed the pistol. But the plane's mechanic hit Polyak over the head with a rocket flare gun.

"Balla, who is one of the toughest of us, set about the mechanic with his fists. That fight lasted several minutes."

"Polyak fired a warning shot into the air and everyone raised their hands over their heads. The pilot and his crew also gave in.

"Polyak, who was bleeding profusely and looked as though he would collapse, put into the co-pilot's seat.

"I held the old pistol against the head of the real pilot who ceased to control the plane and Polyak took over."

Inside Austria, the plane gained height. They tried to follow Dan Daube but clouds obscured it. They became undecided about which way to turn, Izar said. But with the aid of a small school map which he had brought with him he spotted the road which runs between Munich and Ingolstadt.

With Polyak, Izar and Balla, were Izar's wife, Emese, Joseph Laky, Zoltan Bacso and Peter Ester.

Before German police managed to take command, several brief brawls broke out between the anti-Reds and those who wanted to go back to Hungary.

The seven plotters and another passenger asked West German authorities for political asylum. The four crew members and seven other passengers said they wanted to go back to their Communist homeland.

Police said the plane, an American-built DC-3 and the first owned Malav Airlines, will be returned to Hungarian authorities after a check to see whether it is safe to fly.

The plane was en route from Budapest to the provincial city of Szombathely, southwest of the capital.

Details of the escape were given by one of the seven pilots—Joseph Jakaby, 25, a Budapest student. He said all seven, including a young woman, bought tickets for Szombathely and boarded the plane at Budapest.

"Before we boarded the plane," Jakaby said, "we received a tip a Communist secret police officer was among the passengers. When we were near the town of Gyor, the lieutenant drew his gun and hit the man sitting beside him over his head."

Then, Jakaby continued, the lieutenant ordered their four cars and charged passengers not believed in the group in a determined attempt to knock out the secret police agent they did not like.

"Then the secret policeman drew his pistol and wanted to fire at us. But the lieutenant knocked him down immediately with an iron bar.

"While all this went on, the pilot suddenly noticed what happened, flew loops, turning everything in the plane upside down, during which passengers were injured.

"But the lieutenant managed to break into the cockpit and forced the crew at gunpoint to change course for Austria."

The plane was ready to take off at Szombathely when the anti-Communist group broke in.

Trenton, Bobcat Game Postponed

The Belleville and District Softball League contest between Trenton Legion Juniors and the Belleville Bobcats last evening was postponed due to rain.

Rain started shortly before game time and by the time Trenton had arrived, twenty minutes late, the Belleville management had decided to cancel the game. The two clubs did participate in a short exhibition tilt, however.

This was the sixth game which has been postponed to date. The regular schedule will be completed next Wednesday. Likely a week will be set aside before city playoffs get under way to play the postponed contests.

Each team has at least one postponed game. Trenton is involved in four, Bobcats in three, Point Anne and Madoc in two each and Frankford in one.

Britain's Jolly Old Solomons Has Fight Status Figured Out

TORONTO (CP) — Boxing promoter Jack Solomons breezed into town from England Friday and was serenaded by a band playing Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here. The piece was appropriate.

Solomons' presence completed the tub-thumping brigade for the Archie Moore-James J. Parker heavyweight fight here July 23. The whole gang was on hand to meet the jovial Englishman.

Heading the welcoming committee were co-promoters Dave Rush and Wu Bagnato of Toronto and Jack (Doc) Kearns of New York. Lending verbal support were Charlie Johnston, manager of Moore, and Bill Daley of Patterson, N.Y., who owns a piece of Parker with Rush.

Solomons, who will handle the promotion of the 15-round fight, proved as neat a shadow boxer as the boys when the question of billing the fight for the world title was raised by reporters.

"Why isn't it a world title fight?" he asked, and then went on to explain his reasoning:

"Moore is the best heavyweight in the United States—no one will dispute that. Now, about Patterson. He knocked out Hans Neuhaus of Germany, the European champion so that makes Parker the best in Europe.

"Don Cockell lost his British Empire title to Kitimee Lave and then had his licence taken from him. Lave beat a has-been and his fight with Cockell doesn't even count. So that also makes Parker the best in the British Empire.

"It follows that when the best in the States meets the best in Europe and he British Empire it must be a world title fight. Right?"

The reasoning had his questioners a bit confused and someone changed the subject.

The British promoter expects to remain in Canada a few weeks but first he will attend a luncheon in New York next Monday with Rush and Kearns. The threesome will talk to New York sports writers about the Toronto fight.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to stars.

For Monday, July 16, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Benefic influences. Projects requiring keen mental work, quick judgment, discernment favored. Don't waste income on nonessentials. P.M. favors detection, police work.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Think before you act. Through wise management much progress can be made. Your intuitive powers could be used to advantage.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Encouraging vibrations for you on. Give a full measure of performance. Direct energies needed benefits. Don't burden yourself with unessentials.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Like Geminis, you have friendly influences. Complete assigned tasks with speed, thoroughness. Remember that actions speak louder than words, so make a real name for yourself! Relax in free hours.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Busy eager-to-get-ahead folk can turn this day's activities into real gains. The bizarre and unconventional should be avoided. Use discretion in personal interests, investments.

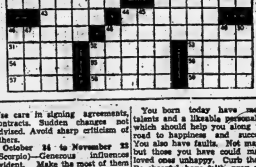
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Benefits are possible through sound management. Don't promise or act without forethought; be constructive. Little details can be important to the whole picture as the prime idea.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—As the day proceeds, complete unfinished business and use care in signing agreements, contracts. Sudden changes not advised. Avoid sharp criticism of others.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Generous influences evident. Make the most of them and give a top performance. Let your pleasant disposition shine where it will do the most good. Proceed with definiteness, simplicity.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Avoid extravagance. Co-operation with worthwhile individuals pays dividends. Many times these are not monetary but often more valuable. For contrast, engage in some light fun in free hours.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Families matters, including accomplished work highly favored. Affairs pertinent to inheritance, taxes, insurance and investments call for alert attention to details. Be awake!



January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Your sympathy and the humanitarian instincts of your Sign can lead to unwise connections if you are not careful. Your ability to deal in facts rather than theories can be of great help.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—A day for keeping in touch with associates, friends, and for cultivating new and qualities. You born today have many talents and a likeable personality which should help you along the road to happiness and success. You also have faults. Not many, but those you have could make loved ones unhappy. Curb them. Be cheerful, have faith, pray and don't anticipate trouble or unpleasantness. Let your intelligent mind concern itself with good conversation, reading, culture. You have the ability to succeed in a profession, trade, business or as a mechanic. It's up to you and what you choose.

Birthdate: Sir Joshua Reynolds, noted painter.

Little Benny's Notebook

I went to the market for ma and came back with a dime change, and I put the bag of stuff on the kitchen table and said to ma, Ma! ma, there was a dime change.

I'm glad to hear there's any at all, with the price of food creeping and bounding the way it does, ma said, but what do you mean there was a dime change? Isn't there still the same?

Sure one it it's right here; I said. But anyways, ma, suppose the lady at the desk had added the things up wrong and told me there wasn't any change? Then I wouldn't of been rich, would it, ma? I said.

I suppose not, but everything is plainly marked on the packages, and it's time you learned to count them up for yourself, ma said. How do they teeches you arithmetic in school? she said, and I said, Just to harness you up for a good paying polt card, I guess. But gosh, ma, suppose something like that had happened. Suppose some big holdup man pointed a gun at me on the way home and made me give him my money or my life, so I had to choose? I said. I'm sure I couldn't blamed me for that, ma, I said.

Now you're descending from the absurd to the ridiculous, and if this is a long winded roundabout way of trying ole get around an ironclad rule, you are sadly on the wrong track, ma said.

Meaning the rule about me never being suppose to ask if I can keep the change, and I put the dime on the kitchen table slow, saying, Anyways, ma, I'm sure that little peece of lemmon merrang pie in the refrigerator?

Oh, I suppose so, but dont blame me if it spoils your appetite for dinner, ma said, and I said, Dont worry, ma, it wont.

Which it didn't.

Nehru Visiting West Germany

BONN (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Nehru arrived for a four-day visit to West Germany Friday. A huge crowd gave him a thunderous airport welcome.

Nehru is on his way home from the Commonwealth prime ministers conference in London. He goes next to Paris, then to Yugoslavia to confer with President Tito and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

At London airport, before leaving England, Nehru told reporters that it is "essential" for Communist China to be represented at the United Nations.

"Otherwise, all the problems of the Far East cannot be dealt with adequately," he added.

Cypriots Refuse To Meet Radcliffe On Constitution

Youth Sentenced to Death For Throwing Hand Bomb

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — An 18-year-old Greek-Cypriot was sentenced today to death under emergency regulations for throwing a bomb at a British military police barracks in Famagusta.

It was the first time the death sentence was handed out by the courts for bomb throwing since anti-British terrorism started last year in the Mediterranean island. The defendant, Chrysostomos Papazoyi, pleaded not guilty.

He was the ninth Greek-Cypriot to be sentenced to death since the resistance started 14 months ago. Two Cypriots have already been executed.

"WASTE OF TIME"

Meanwhile, lawyer John Clerides said today he saw "no necessity" for another British jurist Lord Radcliffe, who has been sent to the island by Prime Minister Eden's government to draw up a liberal constitution.

Clerides, a former member of the Cyprus governor's executive council who resigned when Britain deported Archbishop Makarios, said the Greek Cypriots want a meeting "would merely be a waste of Lord Radcliffe's time and money."

Radcliffe arrived Saturday for consultations with Cypriot leaders. But Greek Cypriots have refused to meet him while Makarios, leader of the movement to unite Cyprus with Greece, remains in exile in the Seychelle Islands.

NEVER PUBLISHED

Clerides told The Times that a constitution was worked out early last year. When British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd visited Cyprus last year, Clerides said he asked him to introduce it and so help suppress terrorism.

But, he added, "the people were unable to express their opinion on this interim project and it was never published." Instead, Britain started talks with Greece and Turkey on the Cyprus problem which ended in a stalemate.

Meanwhile, Greek Cypriot rebels have warned the British government that Lord Radcliffe on their policy will be eye for eye and tooth for tooth.

Leaflets distributed Saturday in Nicosia said that since Cyprus Greek civilians killed by British security forces the rebels will kill a British civilian. And, for each Greek-Cypriot killed a British woman will be slain.

The leaflets bore the typed signature "EOKA, the leader Dighenis." EOKA is the underground of the movement fighting for union with Greece. British authorities say Dighenis is Greek Colonel George Grivas.

Police records show two Greek children have been killed and 44 wounded in the past week. A child was shot at Larnaca last March. Soldiers overturned the army vehicle. Police and British soldiers tried to disperse them with tear gas and a crowd. It was seven-year-old boy.

The second child was killed in the village of Koma Yialou. A Greek Cypriot extremist threw a bomb at a British motorcyclist convoy and killed the child who happened to be on the scene.

Youth Charged With Rape Slaying At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A young man was charged with murder Sunday in connection with the sex slaying of a pretty nurses' aide a month ago.

more than two weeks ago.

Police said they had arrested and charged 21-year-old William Ibey. They would not reveal details because investigation has not been completed.

City and provincial police joined forces in the greatest manhunt in the city's history after the almost-nude body of Miss Lillian Massey, 22, was found July 1 under the back porch of a store near her home.

She was last seen getting off a bus near her home after finishing a night shift June 23 at a hospital. Police said she had been raped and strangled.

The murder touched off fear of more attacks. Taxi companies reported women on late shifts called cabs even when they lived only a few blocks away.

Ibey, 21, is employed by Canadian Pacific Railways here.

TRAFFIC CRASHES CLAIM 31 LIVES, TWELVE DROWNED

Nearly Half Deaths Occur in Ontario

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thirty-five Canadians died accidentally during the weekend, 21 in traffic accidents. Twelve others were drowning victims and two persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

Ontario accounted for nearly one-third of the total deaths.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time to midnight Sunday in provinces listed with 29 fatalities, 17 in traffic and two drownings.

Quebec was next with a total of 11 accidental deaths. There were six in traffic and five drownings. The other provinces:

Newfoundland: Three in traffic; one drowning; Alberta: Two traffic; New Brunswick: One drowning; Newfoundland: One drowning; Saskatchewan: One traffic.

Not included in the survey were deaths from natural causes and suicides. Three provinces were fatality-free — Manitoba, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia.

Isreal Asks Tito to Help Settle Troubles With Arabs

JERUSALEM (AP) — As he learned peace said today Israel has asked Yugoslavia to help unravel her troubles with her Arab neighbors.

Presumably Israel hoped Yugoslav President Tito would encourage the Arab states to enter peace negotiations. Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, one of the most influential Arab leaders, recently is visiting Yugoslavia.

The Israeli source made it clear his government has not asked Tito to mediate the Arab-Israeli dispute. Instead, he indicated, the request was for help in arranging direct talks.

A foreign ministry spokesman confirmed that Aziz Levavi, Israeli minister in Belgrade, handed the Yugoslav foreign ministry a note July 9 explaining Israel's Israel.

views on the Middle East tension.

It was learned. He said specifics that Nasser constantly Telephone Direct negotiations, and that he publicly threatens Israel's annihilation.

Israel reported new shooting on both the Egyptian and Jordan borders.

An military spokesman said Egyptian positions in the Gaza strip fired three times Sunday on Israel outposts near Nitzana. He said there were no casualties and that the two not returned.

In Amman, Jordan, a government official quoted Col. Sahi Mustafa, Egyptian military attache, as charging Israeli agents mailed a small post bomb that almost killed him Saturday. There was no immediate comment from Israel.

Steel Strike Into 16th Day With No Signs of Settlement

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The country-wide steel strike was to enter its 16th day today with no outward sign that industry or labor are prepared to make concessions that could lead to a settlement.

All appearances are that the United Steelworkers are standing pat on their demands as they gathered for another negotiating session. An industry source said there was no indication the bargaining would change their offer of a 35-month contract which they say would provide a 17 2-3 cents hourly package pay boost in the first year.

David McDonald, USW, president, has estimated the package at 14 cents an hour. He has made public exact monetary demands for the 650,000 striking steelworkers but has said the union wants a shorter contract. McDonald said no progress had been made since negotiations resumed last Thursday.

Steelworkers averaged $2.46 an hour under the old contract.

Joseph Finnegan, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, came back to Pittsburgh for resumption of the talks after making a report to Labor Secretary James Mitchell in Washington during the weekend. Finnegan said he did not expect to participate in the negotiating sessions themselves.

John Stephens, vice - president of U.S. Steel Corp. and the industry's chief negotiator, has had no comment on the negotiations. He is being aided in the talks by representatives of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Republic Steel. They, with U.S. Steel, represent the "big three" of the industry.

Some 75,000 workers in allied industries have been laid off since the strike shut down 90 per cent of the basic steel production in the U.S.

Steel Magazine reports most steel users had a good supply of steel on hand when the strike started July 2. As a consequence, it says, "the strike hasn't had such a sharp impact on the U.S. economy as previous shutdowns.

Offer to Pay Malaya Reds For Year if They Surrender

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters) — The chief minister of Malaya, Tunku Abdul Rahman, today offered to pay the Communist terrorists who surrendered, and give them a living allowance for a year.

He said his government would pay the terrorists $100 straits (about $33) a month, described simply as a subsistence wage.

His said terrorists in Malaya have reached a stage where they would not fight and could not quit. The war against the Communist rebels is costing about $200,000,000 straits ($64,400,000) a year, but outpaces their income.

Tunku Rahman said that if 2,000 of the 3,200 Communist terrorists still in the jungle accepted the offer, it would cost $2,400,000 straits ($772,800) a year. "It is a low price."

Terrorists were offered passage to Communist China under the terms of an amnesty announced by the government. The amnesty period ended in February.

GAMBLING WORLD PRIME TARGET AS MURDER PROBED

Ukrainian Immigrant Believed Taken for Ride

HAMILTON (CP)—Known gambling haunts were checked today by police seeking the slayer of Anton Kuternoga, found dead Saturday on bullet fragments in his head on a lonely sideroad embankment.

The 29-year-old Ukrainian immigrant, police said, was probably taken for a ride for not paying gambling debts or possibly for cheating at cards.

They said Kuternoga was variously known to underworld circles as DP Tony, Tony Kut and Little Rocco Ferri.

RECALLS 1954 SLAYING

Inspector David Adair, provincial police criminal investigator, said there is a striking likeness between the death and the slayings of Tom Codispodi in the summer of 1954, and Lloyd Hall, whose body was found shot three times in the head by a 38-calibre revolver.

"Kuternoga probably signed too many IOUs," commented the inspector.

Police said Kuternoga was called Little Rocco Ferri because of his flashy manners and clothes and also because of his cards-playing skill. Hamilton-born Ferri was Hamilton's wealthiest and most colorful gambling character until he unexpectedly disappeared 10 years ago.

IMPORTED KILLERS?

Police said they believe Kuternoga was driven to the death spot in his own car by two gunmen, possibly called in from the United States, and then killed.

Kuternoga's widow has locked herself in a friend's apartment with a fierce dog as her only companion. She said her husband had a double life, working as a real-estate salesman during the day and "God knows what" at night.

Bullet fragments were found imbedded inside the man's skull, an autopsy showed. The bullets entered the face near his left ear.

Police found Kuternoga's late model car in a local parking lot Sunday morning. The interior was smeared with blood, supporting a theory that his own car was used for the trip to the death scene.

GUARDED BY DOG

Mrs. Elsie Kuternoga abandoned her own apartment Saturday night and spent the weekend in a friend's apartment in the east end. She stayed behind a locked door, attended by a collie dog. Friends said.

The body was found Saturday morning by farmers Lloyd Casey and Lloyd Hall, both of nearby Ancaster. They told police they found the body on property of Shaver's sidroad, in Hamilton's western suburbs.

Two days before someone had killed a deer and dragged it off to the side of the road," said Mr. Caesar.

Marilyn Bell Enjoys Last Day off Before 6-Week Grind for Fuca Swim

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — Marilyn Bell gets a day off today — possibly the last breather she will have completely for the next six weeks.

On Tuesday the 18-year-old Toronto swimmer starts training for "my biggest swim yet," the 18.3 mile-wide Juan de Fuca Strait.

The strait, separating Victoria from Washington state, has been beaten only once in about 20 tries.

Bert Thomas, a former United States Navy man from Seattle, Wash., weighing almost twice as much as Miss Bell, swam it successfully from Port Angeles to Victoria on July 8 last year.

Marilyn's coach Gus Ryder, friend Marie Brenk and three Victoria sportsmen will accompany her plane into one of Victoria's biggest welcomes Sunday.

A crowd of from 1,500, seeking autographs and snapping pictures, is expected in the wire fence around the loading area and overflowed into the waiting room and out into the parking lot.

Three unsuccessful strait swimmers were in the receiving line. Amy Hiland, Bill Muir and Ben Laughren welcomed their good friend to Marilyn.

A cavalcade of 20 cars, grouped as it approached Victoria, sped through the city behind two police motorcycles. Then the cavalcade started a few small groups of Victorians but at the local headquarters for the team about 200 persons gathered on the lawn.

Short thank yous to the big crowd, Marilyn said she would do her best in the swim.

After a day of training, probably the last week in August or early in September, Marilyn will make her bid to beat the tricky strait. An unsuccessful attempt will be her $25,000, a three-way swim an extra $10,000. The money will go to the Canadian Olympic team, the Victoria Times and Weekend Magazine.

Marilyn and Gus indicated, however, there would be more attempts if the first fails.

Asks Britain, U. S. To Join In Pact Ending Blasts

Soviet Backs Jap Demands For End Bomb Experiments

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia today called on the United States and Britain to agree that all three countries stop testing nuclear weapons.

Dmitri Shepilov, making his first public address here since taking over from V. M. Molotov as foreign minister, told 1,300 delegates to the Supreme Soviet that this could be achieved in any one of three ways. He listed these as:

1. Within the framework of the United Nations.

2. A tripartite agreement among the three powers concerned, which other countries could join later.

3. Separate official statement from each government declaring they were abandoning nuclear tests.

ASK END TO ARMS RACE

Shepilov urged the three-way agreement as a step after the Supreme Soviet unanimously adopted an appeal yesterday to other parliaments in the world to join with the soviet legislature in demanding an end to the arms race and swifter progress toward disarmament.

His statement came in a debate on a motion, later adopted unanimously, extending Soviet support to an appeal from the Japanese parliament for an end to nuclear weapons tests. The Soviet action came a week after Moscow decided unilat- erally to end its state of peace treaty talks with the Japanese.

Shepilov, his loud nodding vigorously as he addressed the delegates from the rostrum, said:

"We consider that the question of the prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapon can be separated from the general problem of disarmament, can be decided independently now and not made conditional on the general level of armaments."

Accusing the United States and Britain of "the deadliest evil" in refusing to suspend tests, Shepilov said:

"The Soviet government proposes the full prohibition of atomic and hydrogen weapons and the production of nuclear weapons as well as the liquidation of nuclear weapons and their removal from arms piles. It now is exclusively up to the governments of the Western powers. Prohibition of the atom and hydrogen tests could be the first step in this direction.

"The complete system of control would be needed as technical levels in the various states are high enough to disclose any nuclear explosion."

New York Subway Flooded as Water Poured on Blaze

NEW YORK (AP)—A weekend fire which destroyed the old, abandoned John Hanamaker department store and knocked out a section of the subway system for unprecedented lineup of riders at Grand Central terminal today.

Nearly a dozen persons were felled by the heat during the morning rush hour as what a policeman described as the largest crowd he had ever seen at the normally busy terminal.

Water from fire hoses poured onto the burning building on Astor Place cascaded into the Interborough Rapid Transit Lexington Ave. line and the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit subway. Both link Brooklyn and Manhattan and serve a large area of Manhattan.

ONE TRACK LOOMED

IRT trains today were getting through on three of the four tracks.

The IRT line, however, was out of service between Grand Central terminal and Brooklyn Bridge. Commuter crowds that normally use IRT trains to get to 42 Yall Street area and other downtown points also got off at Grand Central. They jammed the huge station seeking alternate means of transportation.

The stubborn fire, meanwhile, at last was reported to be in the ruins of the old block-square building in lower Manhattan.

FIRE FIGHTER TREATED

The toll of firemen treated for smoke poisoning, cuts and bums mounted to 218. Twenty were in hospital.

Flames laid a spark from an acetylene torch may have started the blaze, fire officials said. It began demolishing the ornate stone and iron structure.

The fire apparently smoldered in the basement until late Saturday afternoon. Then flames suddenly shot up in an air well in the centre of the five-storey building and spread to the roof.

The five-alarm fire roared out of control Saturday night and Sunday. Early today an assistant fire chief said the blaze "is now under control" and firemen were mopping up. A few flames continued flickering at the rubble, however.

The building, a Manhattan landmark, was left a hollow shell.

Trouble started for the nearby subway lines Saturday night. Water cascaded through the ceiling of the mezzanine level to the Astor Place station of the IRT line. The line handles 250,000 riders a day.

The torrent washed out the roadbed, leaving a sagged under 15 feet of water.

Canadian National Railways Picnic Enjoyed by 450 at Cobourg Beach

A trainload of Canadian National Railway employees, their families and friends numbering 300 plus another 150 by car, travelled to Cobourg beach on Saturday morning for their annual picnic. The outing on the Lake Ontario beach lasted from 11.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m. with musical talent, swimming, a varied sports program and plenty of food provided for an enjoyable day.

The picnic was under the auspices of the Canadian National Railways Athletic Association and the various committees are to be congratulated on their work.

Despite a rather cloudy day there was not a dull moment as the fine facilities were used to the utmost.

The train pulled out of Belleville shortly after 9.00 a.m. with its laughing, shouting contingent. A goodly number of coaches was necessary to convey the party, baskets and children to the picnic spot. The hummaking began as soon as the train was loaded and never slackened off until its return here in the evening.

The afternoon entertainment staged in the bandshell was highlighted by Dorothy Dickey's dance studio. The stage show was arranged by Mrs. Jessie Dawson with Mr. Pete Toma acting as master of ceremonies.

Included in the acts were 3 stray kitty and dance by sisters Grace Sinclair and Barb Maitly; an acrobatic dance by little Judy Robinson; a roller skate dance by emcee by Miss Carolyn Chisholm; a baton twirling solo; a comedy solo; song and dance by Rickey Lough; ballet dance by sisters Jane and Peggy Cutcheon; cornet duet and emcee featuring Larry Chisholm and Carolyn Dawson; Rickey Lough and Karen Post in a song and dance routine; song and emcee; a song and emcee by Miss Joan Pratt; tap dance, Allen Cadden and David Bowers; the highland fling by Karen Post and Carolyn Chisholm and Scotch dance by Barb Maitis and Grace Sinclair.

GRAND FINALE

'A grand finale' composed of a military number by the entire cast, which received a tremendous ovation as each of Canada's forces appear on stage wound up the stage show. First the army and navy made an appearance with a comedy duet "Anchors Away" by Larry Rowbotham and Allen Cadden. The air force cadet Charles Rattan came on followed by Muriel Bice and Joan Pratt doing "I Love You Canada" in their St. John Ambulance uniforms. Miss Lloyd did another chorus of the song and Rickey Lough sang "Canada" presenting the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and leading the other performers, each carrying a flag. They formed a "V" in the centre of the stage and Rickey Lough did a very smart baton number.

Following the stage performers, Mrs. Jessie Dawson and Mrs. Doris Robinson presented each performer with a gift. Also receiving gifts were Miss Dorothy Dickey and pianists Mrs. Bice and Lil Williams.

The beautiful costumes were highlights of the stage show.

Horse shoe pitching, swimming and games of scramble took place as well as foot races.

The prize for the oldest lady present went to Mrs. Gregory while Mr. Glover took the eldest gentleman's award. The ladies' novelty race was won by Mrs. K. Young with Mr. Joe Mattis copping the men's award.

Foot Race Results — Girls: 3-4 Gale Wood; 5-6 Judy Stewart; 7-8 Pearl Alison: 9-10 Carol Brown: 11-12 Patty Bradford: 13-15 Pat Jones. Boys: 3-4 Randy Freeman; 5-6 J. Fiddin: 7-8 Allen Lupenette: 9-10 Bob Fiddin: 11-12 Lyle Adams: 13-15 Austin Anderson.

Police Blotter

That irritating — and oft-recurring — instance of vandalism, smashing of school windows, again was reported to city police over the weekend.

This time the building singled out was King George School. In all, a total of 36 panes of glass were smashed some time over the weekend, school authorities reported.

District police also were alerted over the weekend to be on the watch for an escaped inmate of the Ontario Hospital at Kingston, Albert Lickorish, who is considered of this area.

An accident in the city Saturday afternoon has resulted in a man being charged with impaired driving. Charged is James Balzy, 30, registered at the YMCA here. Police say that Balzy's automobile rammed the rear of a car driven by Isidore Rubeck, Long Island, N.Y., at the corner of Bridge and Everett Streets when the Rubeck car stopped for a traffic line-up.

Damage to the Rubeck car was $350 and to the Balzy automobile $150.

Police also are investigating a report by Jack Both that a hose he is building on Dundas Street was considerably damaged over the weekend.

Provincial police reported all quiet on the highways over the weekend, with the exception of a few minor accidents.

Kinnette Wading Pool Opened by Wm. Van Tassel

City and service club officials gathered at Kinnette Street Saturday afternoon to half a new addition to the city's recreation facilities.

It is the $2,500 wading pool, now open for public use, constructed in front of the Kinsmen's full-scale swimming pool.

The wading pool was made possible through the sponsorship of the Kinsettes, ladies auxiliary to the Kinsmen.

Started in June, the pool had its official opening Saturday afternoon by William Van Tassel, chairman of the city's recreation committee, standing in for Mayor Jane Forrester.

Mr. Van Tassel had high praise for the work of both service clubs to further the facilities of their community. "The swimming pool, opened some years ago, and now the wading pool, was tangible evidence of the ambitious programs both organizations foster for betterment of their city," he said.

Both pools were constructed by invaluable additions to recreation for the city, he said, thanking the Kinettes and Kinsmen for their work.

Lloyd (Red) Doran also had much praise for the efforts put forward by the Kinsmen in serving the community and expressed gratitude that they would be a welcome new feature to the city's recreation programs.

Other guests included A. V. Smith, chairman of Kinsmen's swimming committee; Alex Ault, president-elect and Jean Smith, Kinette president.

The pool is supervised daily by a fully-qualified city recreation supervisor. In the pool itself, measures about seven inches, while at the edges the pool has a two-inch depth.

Man Admits Burning Crosses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police charged a 36-year-old Arlington, Va., man Saturday in connection with the burning of crosses outside a hotel where Chief Justice Earl Warren was the only outside friend home of Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter. The crosses were burned Friday night.

Deputy police chief Edgar K. Scott said Donald Eugene Rowley admitted setting the fires.

Signs found near one of the burning crosses indicated a protest over a supreme court decision against racial segregation in schools.

Garvin with Rev. J. C. Maloney of Campbellford as Deacon and Rev. D. Mackenzie as sub-Deacon. Rev. Peter Murphy of Stella lived over the mass that morn

During the day would bring:
For the cold was endless, the dark was drear,
And I sat with a heart as sad as clear.
But I knew it is hard to complain,
And I knew that I must not be sad,
Sat in His window God has planned,
Forever your love and care
God gave us strength to fight it,
And I know that He will be there.
But what if cost to him her,
To take her from here,
He knew best, and I must remember
Served by mother, father, brother
—Lovingly remembered.

Foresters Greet District Manager

Court Friendly City, No. 1757, Canadian Foresters, Belleville, held a special meeting to welcome Bros. O. K. Cook, Brantford, and Cal Braun, newly appointed district manager. The visiting brethren were welcomed by Carl O'Hara, chief ranger of the local court.

In his remarks, Bro. Cook gave a very interesting outline of the progress of the order in Canada, and the problems facing all fraternalists today, in keeping alive and active the spirit of brotherhood, in the face of a world where materialistic values were claiming the souls of men.

Bro. Cook concluded his remarks by introducing Bro. Cal. Braun, stating that while Bro. Braun was new in Belleville, he has been active in fraternal circles in many parts of Canada.

Brother Braums explained that in the year, 1879, a small group of men banded in the city of London, Ont., and motivated by high ideals, and industrial vision, laid the foundation for a purely Canadian fraternity, the Canadian Foresters. From that small beginning the order has now spread to every corner of this great dominion.

The speaker then went on to outline the original foundaers, like many great pioneers, had a vision, had a determination and courage Christian leadership, to encourage thrift and by fraternal and united action, overcome the problems of life, that cannot be overcome through selfish isolation.

Nehru Says U.S. Policy Could Split World

BONN, Germany (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru says U.S. policy could split the world into two hostile camps.

"The United States expects others to follow its will," the visiting Indian leader said in a speech to the West German Foreign Policy Association Thursday.

"If they do not, they feel hurt and think there is something wrong with them," the Associated Press reported him as saying.

"This kind of thinking leaves no room for any country to sit on the fence. If carried to its final end, it divides the world into two hostile camps, each of which is ready to spring at the throat of the other."

Nehru said the Cold War "leads to encouraging hatred, suspicion and fear of the other."

"A state has only be justified if, sometime or other, there is going to be a hot shooting war" he said.

DOLLAR RATE

Astonish Doctors As Baby Born With 10 Teeth

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (AP) — James Meeks was born with the following statistics: 10 pounds, 10 ounces and 10 teeth.

Born right, 10 teeth, to the astonishment Saturday night of doctors and nurses at Sun Valley Hospital and parents Lewis and Maria Meeks. They have four other children.

Baby James has more teeth than his brother, Lewis Jr., who is nearly two.

U. S. Soldiers Blamed for Two German Deaths

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — American soldiers today were blamed for two more attacks on Germans and a new wave of U.S. spokesman fired off the strongest official blast so far at the alleged hoodlum in uniform involving American soldiers in Germany.

German police announced that a 30-year-old construction worker died after being "seriously maltreated by a drunk American soldier."

They said a group of soldiers attacked him as he was standing with his fiance and friends in a Munich street. U.S. military officials said military police are investigating.

Bavarian police at Fuerth also reported that a 20-year-old German was struck fatally in a weekend argument with a U.S. soldier.

Meanwhile, state government press officer Karl Gerbert wrote in the official gazette of the Rhineland-Palatinate state that "there is no room for gangsters and criminalacs in the federal republic." He claimed state authorities had registered almost as many indignities by Allied troops in the first five months this year as in the whole of 1955.

500,000 Persons Out to Watch Beauty Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A hot sunshiny day carried an estimated 500,000 persons out to watch the Miss Universe contestants parade Sunday.

Each shapely contestant had her own float, was escorted in the motif of her own country or state. The floats were pushed by eager volunteering sailors.

Because of the sun, contest officials took special care to protect the delicate skins of the swimming suit-clad girls. But even the heavy coating of grease didn't save some of the lighter skinned contestants from severe European countries from getting slightly pink.

Canada's entry is Elaine Blahedon, an 18-year-old Toronto brunette who was chosen Miss Byline by the Toronto Men's Press Club last April. Preliminary judging starts Friday.

12 Men Attack Two Teen-Agers, Biting Them

TORONTO (CP)—A gang of 12 men attacked and savagely bit two teen-agers Sunday — tearing their teeth like "a pack of wild dogs," police said.

The attack occurred after a ball, fumbled by one of the teen-agers in a game of catch, struck one of the 12 men on the leg.

Joseph Marra, 21, and his brother Frank, 19, were charged with assault. Police said 10 men rushed off when they arrived.

Ross Acheson, 17, and Douglas Canfield, 18, were released from hospital after treatment for tooth-puncture wounds.

Acheson was bitten on the arm, ear and back. Canfield suffered bites to one arm.

Police said the man struck by the ball and 11 others jumped Acheson and Canfield and pinned him to the ground. They held him there and bit him. After that they attacked Canfield, throwing him down and biting his arm.

Ship-Launched Atomic Missile Now in Making

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. navy has told congress that a new ship-launched atomic missile now in the making will be able to hit any target within a three-tenths of the vast Communist domains of Russia and Asia. That assumption is based on ability of the launching ships to get close enough.

Senior officers backed up their opinion before the 1,200-mile Jupiter missile with statements that the navy has already started designing and preparing vessels to handle the new weapon, now being developed with the army, Associated Press reported.

The navy disclosed some of its secret testimony before the Senate airpower investigating committee headed by Senator Stuart Symington (Dem., Mo.).

Rear-Admiral F. R. Griffin testified that all of Eurasia, except a portion in the central section is covered by navy plans for the use of Jupiter missiles carrying nuclear warheads.

He said the Jupiters will hit their targets with "a relative high degree of accuracy" whether launched from submarines or surface ships. Officers appearing with Admiral Griffin supported an observation by Symington that the inland parts of the Communist world lying beyond Jupiter's range was less than 10 per cent of the total land mass of Europe and Asia.

MIXED BLESSING

HAMILTON (CP)—The health department here has announced approval of a type of gravity dispenser which will allow restaurateurs to sell milk in bulk. Formerly no such container met the health standards. Now, consumers who formerly received 10 ounces of milk in a bottle for a dime will probably get a five ounce glass for the same price.

Officer Locked In When Door Blows Shut

MONTREAL (CP) — It was an open and shut case.

An unidentified constable on a downtown beat detected an unlocked door, made a routine report to the patrol car and slipped inside to see if anything was wrong.

The wind blew the door shut and it locked. The policeman bodies couldn't get out. His buddies in the patrol car couldn't get in.

Finally they located the owner, who solved everything with his key. There was nothing missing.

Jordan Censured For Ambush Near Dead Sea

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli-Jordan armistice commission censured Jordan today for a bloody ambush south of the Dead Sea July 5 in which two Israeli photographers were killed.

The Jordan delegation walked out.

At the same time, Israel reported new shooting incidents in territory and from the Egyptian held Gaza strip, both covered by cease-fire agreements negotiated on UN. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold's spring peace mission.

A military spokesman said a man moving a heap of stones in the Kastel area west of Jerusalem was injured by explosives. Jordan's grenade and fire was opened on him from a Jordan army position across the border.

Israeli officials said an Egyptian position in the Gaza strip fired into Israeli territory near the Beth Rem settlement.

Eight Killed As Insurgents Derail Train

ALGIERS, Algeria (Reuters) — Eight persons were killed when nationalist insurgents derailed a train Sunday near Blidra, eastern Algeria, according to reports received today.

Seven of the dead were soldiers. Nine others were injured.

Damage was reported to be extensive.

In Morocco, a bomb exploded today in front of a Moslem merchant's home in Casablanca, blowing in the door. A second bomb, the fuse of which had gone out, was found in the inner court of the house.

Whooping Crane Chick Found Dead in Cage

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Audubon Park's baby whooping crane No. 1 about whom there was so much whooping, is dead.

Doctors said the chick, found dead Friday in its cage, died of an overdose lung infection.

The bird, widely celebrated after its emergence into the world last month, had been given a good chance for survival. Before its death it had grown 23½ inches tall and weighed nearly five pounds.

A second baby crane hatched three days after the first, but it disappeared within a few days.

Special precautions had been taken at the New Orleans zoo for the safe survival of crane No. 1. The cage was enclosed with wire, canvas and a wooden floor.

Before the arrival of the two little cranes at Audubon Park, there were only 30 whooping cranes known to exist in the world.

PRISONERS GAIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal prison bureau said Sunday the prison population in the United States continued to rise last year, with 185,000 persons in state and federal penal institutions at the close of 1955. This was the largest prison population since the bureau started keeping count in 1930.

RUSSIA OFFERS TO REDUCE ARMY

It would be easy to read too much significance into the announcement by Soviet Russia of the level of armed forces proposed by the Western nations.

Limiting the armed forces of the Soviet Union, the United States and China to 8,500,000 men for each of these countries, and the forces of Britain and France to 750,000 each is not disarmament in any real and effective sense of the term.

Yet it can certainly be considered as the first essential step towards eventual agreement on a plan which would lift from the shoulders of the nations of the world the crushing burden of maintaining armies, navies and air forces at the present high level.

There may be some who will argue that the Russian agreement is of no importance at all, since Soviet Russia had already announced its plan to reduce by one million of its armed forces. This reduction, it has been said, is an economic necessity for the Soviet Union, which needs the manpower now in the army in order to increase the production of its factories, fields and forests.

To dismiss the Russian agreement to accept the West's proposed level of armed forces in this summary manner would, however, apparently be an incorrect explanation of the situation, judging from some figures which, by a curious coincidence, were released the same day as Russia's acceptance of the West's plan. The United Kingdom Information Office at Toronto had prepared and mailed an article by Jules Menken, entitled "Sincerity and Disarmament." In this article Mr. Menken says that "Soviet regular forces now number about 4,200,000 and the Soviet para-military forces about 400,000. Regular military forces of the Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe amount to about 1,200,000." Thus Russia in accepting the West's figures is agreeing to reduce her present forces by at least 1,700,000 men.

The United States, according to Menken, now has 2,800,000 men in its armed forces, so that it will cut these by only 300,000. Britain has 760,000 men. The Russians, therefore, will be agreeing that their reduction in their forces will exceed the reduction in the U.S. and British forces by some 1,400,000 men. This reduction will be over and above the cut in the Communist forces already announced.

As we noted in the opening sentence of the editorial, it would be easy to over-emphasize the importance of the Russian acceptance of the principle of a level of disarmament plan. At the same time it would be incorrect to maintain that it was entirely without significance, or that it offered no visible hope of eventual agreement on a realistic, effective disarmament program.

EDITION DO NOT LIKE TO LOSE

The Windsor Star explains the failure of United Kingdom golfers to capture the British Open Golf Championship, (won by the American, Peter Thompson), and other athletic setbacks of the citizens of two world wars, playing the game for the game's sake and emphasis on more serious aspects of life such as economic recovery.

From this viewpoint it appears this "Star" writer is perpetuating a well-worn myth concerning the attitude of British athletes towards sports and winning.

From close observation of many British stars in action, we have noted their desire to win is as great as that of any other nationality.

This dedication towards winning is indicated in the training methods of British athletes. Roger Bannister was the first man to crack the four-minute mile barrier, but his speed and stamina on the most scientific and methodical approach based on his own medical knowledge; Gordon Pirie, runner of the 5 and 6 mile records, trains for more than 50 miles a week for practice and Chris Chataway, who appears to have set a world record for two miles in Russia, trains for hours each day; more than most Canadian or American racers in a month. Former Olympic marathon champion Jim Peters, who had previously been under a cloud of trouble, accepted the chances of death when he ran himself to complete collapse and permanent retirement at the British Empire marathon at Vancouver.

Fred Perry, the last British Wimbledon winner and world tennis champion, was one of the most offensively cocky and aggressive competitors ever to step on a tennis court.

Anybody who says a professional golfer of any nationality, whose livelihood depends on his score, plays the game for the game's sake has never heard a post-mortem in a locker room after a disappointing tournament. The pro's attitude toward losing is exactly the same as that of the business man who fails to put through a deal. The whole economic recovery they are concerned with is their own.

If there is any factor in the Old Country make-up which might contribute toward a losing performance, it is an antiquated inclination to place professional athletes in one of their several lower classes.

This gives the athlete a heavy inferiority complex sometimes robbing him of the flair and dash to match cocky, embullient performers like Peter Thompson and Lew Hoad of Australia.

PRAISE

Once in my cub reporter days
My wise old editor says,
"My son, beware of words of praise.
"They are worse than wine for the head.
So write this down for your motto instead:
Remember it long and well:
No man is as bad as his foes can paint,
Nor as good as his flatterers say.

"Though a little praise is a tonic to good,
Too much will go to the head.
For he most has ever lived up to
He could
To all that his flatterers said.
Truth you may learn from your Mistress and

But you'll never improve your ways
And never you'll wiser or stronger grow
If you listen too much to praise.

"For praise is stronger than fiery drink
It has broken both king and czar.
And all men go down when they start to think
That lords of the earth they are.

Be beware of praise when it
Concerns your ways,
Though a little may serve you
It is better to heed what your critics say
Than the stuff your flatterers

Dutch Clock Impersonal

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

The introduction of the new "Dutch clock" system of auctioning tobacco is the end of the old cheese board, or exchange. It is not quite settled yet that the cheese boards will be abandoned, but every encouragement is given.

The Ontario Cheese Marketing Board would not have gone to the expense of importing the special clocks from Holland, arranged them from Holland, and setting up a Kingston office for it if they did not expect that it would supersede the old method. Unless the clock plan is a success the factory and the trends refuses to buy from it, the days of local cheese sales are over.

The exchange and the sorter boards are highly impersonal affairs. They were local in character and there was a personalized way of doing business. No doubt every man who sat down around the table at the old cheese board last Thursday afternoon, probably for the last time, knew the factory and the trends refuses to buy from it, the days of local cheese sales are over.

No doubt every man who sat down around the table at the old cheese board last Thursday afternoon, probably for the last time, knew the factory and the trends refuses to buy from it, the days of local cheese sales are over.

The new plan, not quite unique in the history of the dairy industry, is essentially mechanical. The cheese will be graded and sold and must be more convenient for the buyers, who can purchase according to their own needs and wish. The sellers expect that the cheese will be sold after auction plan, which allows no room for hesitation or change of mind, and that will rely on the skill of the auctioneer, will result in more satisfactory and higher prices. It ought to work out well, and it is time to get an adequate trial. But the sense of will else the week by exchanges.

Hard to Get Planes Down

(Scientific American Bulletin)

Now that jet fighters have smashed the sound barrier, another hurdle, the low speed barrier, has risen to plague aircraft designers, according to Eger Eastman and Rudolf F. Lehnert of the subsonic aerodynamics laboratory at Princeton University.

"As faster aircraft are built, it becomes increasingly difficult," they reported Hazel Sorensen, "their minimum landing speed has increased from 50 miles an hour in World War I, to 100 miles an hour during the end of World War II, to 120 to 130 miles an hour today. The minimum landing speed for the latest jet fighters is 150 to 200 miles an hour. During the next decade, they said, it will be between 175 and 200 mph. The problem of bringing a heavy jet plane to earth in such a speed is appalling. The strain is terrific on the pilot, the plane and the runway.

The air force, explained the scientists, is now building its runways several miles long and barely adequate, and the navy is now producing huge aircraft carrying gear and catapults capable of launching planes from decks on carrier decks.

The present civil airfields are blanks for the jet air liners that are already flying or projected, reported the scientists.

The low speed barrier is being attacked in the wind tunnels of the Princeton laboratories in which curving ribbons of smoke flowing over wings reveal the way their patterns the forces developed at high speeds.

This wings, while capable of superior performance at higher speeds, have a tendency to stall and thick cases at low speeds. What is needed, the two scientists said, is method of altering the characteristics of a wing so that it behaves in one way for the airplane is cruising and in another when the plane is landing or taking off.

The problem, it was explained, like the sound barrier, is to contact with the wing surface, the so-called "boundary" layer. If this layer can be kept moving, the wing will not prevented swirls from developing in it and which would keep it from separating at the surface of the wing, the lifting power would be enhanced and the landing speed reduced.

"This can be done in two ways," says Hazen and Lehnert. "First, we can blow high energy air into the boundary layer, thereby putting a slot at the wing's leading edge to speed up flow in the upstream or by pumping jets of air into the layer from within the wing itself. Secondly, we may suck the air immediately next to the wing surface into fine perforated holes or slots in its surface and thereby prevent the separation of the air stream into the boundary layer.

"Until the arrival of the jet engine airplanes did not have any boundary layer problem that could be diverted to operating blower and jet suction systems. Now the jet engine has presented aeronautical engineers with a high power package from which they can bleed all the power they need for auxiliary devices.

"The advent of the utilization of power in influence the lift of airfoils directly is the first step toward machines which will be vastly more flexible and easier to handle than those we have today."

Weddings Finnish Style

(Friendly, Pictorial)

Even today, a wedding is still a wedding in Finland and not a hole-in-the-corner affair as it is in a dusty office. And this is especially true of rural Finland.

When the daughter of a large family is to be wed, the entire community takes part before some weeks ahead. Formal invitations may be sent out to as many as 300 guests. The neighbors attend only the wedding ceremony and the banquet that follows, but the bridegroom's relatives and other guests from further afield are expected to stay a few days and are put in the farmhouse and with neighbors.

That very important person, the chef, takes over the kitchen as long as two weeks before the wedding day, in rural districts of Finland there is a chef whose paramount responsibility is getting from parish to parish preparing wedding banquets. Of course, there must also be a parson, and he is usually a relative or very close personal friend.

For a couple of weeks, then, the house just lives wedding.

At the wedding of the daughter of Ojala Farm, Rauajarvi parish, the bridegroom's parents learned, the chef was Helvi Sykari, known to all the surrounding parishes for her skill at the task. She was a hypotic ruler of Ojala's kitchen for several days before the wedding. She and her assistants baked the bread, cakes and pastries, cooked the roasts, made cheese and prepared cold meats. A calf, a pig and a turkey were slaughtered.

Every room of the two-storey farmhouse was turned upside down and cleaned till it shone. Cars were provided to bring in guests from the railway station, 15 miles away. The white aprons and kerchiefs of the women who were to wait at table had been starched.

The banquet proper, of course, came later. After a generous table of hors d'oeuvres the chief course heaped helpings of good food. Quantity and quality are considered important in the service of the farmhouse maids. As the dinner dragged on its bewildering course, the young couple slipped away to change and leave for their honeymoon in Helsinki. A few of the guests caught them with rice as they drove off.

News Timing Questioned

(New York Times)

Attorney General Herbert Brownell has raised certain questions by his choice of conventional time for a record television program to break what was obviously saved-up news that the Federal Government will file an antitrust suit against General Motors. It is just possible the official to withhold until it can be announced officially the future guidance of a sponsored program, a news announcement of such import as this is sure to be made. But will this example of reserving and withholding a distributing gear and catapults capable of launching planes from decks on carrier decks.

The present civil airfields are blanks for the jet air liners that are already flying or projected, reported the scientists.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In many areas of this continent, the point of efficiency of the motor car has been passed, and its inefficiency is well advanced. It is geared to travel at high speed for long distances with comparative comfort on great open highways. It is also expected to speed around in the unviewable machine-hours tangled up in the slow-motion, extremely uncomfortable and inefficient human mixup of the modern city's and town's congestion. There it takes on an absurd amount of space for the one or two persons it transports. It is expected to travel four to ten miles, briefly, awkwardly; and then all somewhere for eight hours of the day or, extremely expensive real estate.

So far, the automotive industry has resolutely ignored its own basic problem, which is the ever-increasing obsolescence and inefficiency of its product. Detroit today's only concern is, will it sell. And with the help of modern advertising, which is an art and science that can sell anything, the industry is going ahead selling at a rapid rate is building up the problem to still greater proportions. Every year it becomes a greater liability to own a beautiful, high-powered motor car in the cities of northern Saskatchewan, and more of a headache to own one in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver. We can't do without them, but they are a nuisance. On any day you can bright character is going to introduce the building in our cities. The bicycle may stage a comeback. It is a much more practical vehicle in our cities, much more efficient, though less comfortable. If were a city planner, I would declare that within twenty years our cities would be entirely converted to private motor cars and open only to buses and bicycles. Maybe wheelbarrows will be allowed. A move towards the wheelbarrow has already been made by those little wire push carts lady shoppers trundle about.

The important thing to bear in mind is that we are not getting ourselves into a pickle; we are already in a pickle.

Even the transportation industry has been asleep on the job.

Vitamins and Minerals in Skim Milk

Since skim milk (separator milk) was created around milk, it is used in the diet by many persons who formerly regarded it as suitable only for pigs.

Skim milk is second only to whole milk in its all-around food, and whole milk is probably the best all-round food available. A glass (8 oz.) of whole, fresh, sweet milk yields as many calories (170) as two glasses of skim milk, separator milk, sour milk or buttermilk. Whether it is good economy to pay half as much for skim milk as you pay for fresh whole milk, I don't know, but I am inclined to believe a large family should buy a gallon of skim milk or buttermilk if you prefer, rather than two quarts of fresh whole milk daily.

Then-again assure me they like skim milk and do not like whole milk.

Personally I drather go hungry, if is a milk or buttermilk contains virtually no vitamin A or vitamin D. They are in the milk fat or butter fat removed by skimming or separating. In the fresh whole milk, the fat globules of milk is as rich as whole milk. As a source of calcium, skim milk or buttermilk is richer than whole milk. And most Americans, from children to old, mature are "starved" for calcium deficiency.

Skim milk powder, buttermilk (or Bulgarian fermented milk or Acidophilus milk) is one of the best food sources of riboflavin, Riboflavin, or vitamin G, is essential for the health of the body and right use of the vitamin. Prof. R. J. McCollum, a famous nutrition authority, said: "Milk is one of the characteristic foods of youth. People who take less than a quart (four glasses) of milk cream, butter, skim milk, separator milk, buttermilk as a daily beverage, added vitamin A or other sources of youth are very long. They feel, look, behave, and are prematurely aged.

The basic, corrective, protective, restorative universality of milk, or model health diet calls for not less than a quart (four glasses) of milk (whole milk) daily, for most men. The milk alone recommends 440 calories a day. It is a reduction diet, mind you. Title.

Many people drink a pint or quart of milk with a slice of plain or whole wheat bread and butter and no other sugar, with eight at breakfast time, will gain 30 pounds in a month.

Milk is "the most nearly perfect food." Any reasonable diet will not supply adequate amounts of three elements which are essential for the health of good health — namely, iron, iodin and calcium. Iron is a mineral found in 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk daily is irreplaceable in a health diet.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ON FINDING LIFE

As older minister speaking to a group of young ministers endeavored them that when they went to their first parish they should become acquainted with their new surroundings by walking through it. "Go to nature and know your parish," said the old teacher, "until you find its first walked through it. Tramp through it step by step until you know its life. Get down in the grass and watch the ants, walks, and you will understand your people and your problems better."

We never understand life by studying about it or reflecting upon it or theorizing about it. We understand life only by living it. We know our fellow men not through books and lectures but through daily contact with them. If we love to know life, we have to get down into the daily walks of life, not shut ourselves up in some ivory tower and believe that the truth will come to us.

One of the conspicuous things about Jesus of Nazareth was the way he lived his life amid the ordinary affairs of his day. John the Baptist lived in the wilderness and people went out to hear him. Jesus came into the busy thoroughfares and the city and villages and countrysides of Palestine. This was one of the differences between Jesus and John the Baptist, and one of the things that made Jesus completely first and John the Baptist only a forerunner.

Don't ride through life—walk through it. Enter into its life, and by so doing you will find its.

TODAY'S TALK

KEEP THE LIGHT BURNING

There is something within us all that drives us on, that tells us we are here for a purpose, that we must not get tired. I like to think of it as an Inner Light that is forever sending its beams forward as it reveals to us the object of our dreams.

Nowadays in light, as well as power, and the more you have of it the abler you become to face all that confronts you. I like to think that line from Emerson: "No matter how often defeated, you are born to victory." That's what the Inner Light does—keeps you from being defeated, keeps you looking ahead.

That light, however, must forever be kept burning. I once read the story of a mother who lost her little girl and as grief-stricken as she was, that her nearest friends gradually left her alone with her grief. But one day, after long hours of shopping, she returned home very tired, took a hot bath and fell asleep. Suddenly she awoke, having dreamed that she was in Heaven, where she saw a procession of little girls like her own, each carrying a lighted candle—all except one. She cried: "Why, darling, is your candle not burning?" And from that time on she could see a man like a book—and run the chance of winding up on the shelf.

Senator W. A. Fraser, of Trenton, introduced prominent Canadian and U.S. businessmen and leaders from all levels of government gathered to witness the beginning of the second big acquisition to Prince Edward County industry in two years. Picton with the dock facilities for Bethlehem Steel ore shipments will be utilized by the cement company in moving products to markets in Rochester and Toronto.

Labor Minister Gregg Pushes Plunger on First Blast to Open Work on Cement Plant

PICTON (Special) — The second chapter in the story of Prince Edward County's rapid industrial growth has been written into the records for future generations.

Like the first it was an occasion when men of two great democratic nations, confident in Canada's future, gathered on the high shore overlooking the Bay of Quinte for official opening ceremonies.

Senator W. A. Fraser, of Trenton, and Harvey J. McFarland, mayor of Picton, two prominent businessmen, whose names are synonymous with this part of Ontario's commercial growth, received boundless credit for moulding the dis that resulted in the birth of the Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company of Canada Ltd.

The project which involved more than a dozen-and-a-half million dollars is scheduled to go into operation next year. The raw materials will be taken from a 700-acre deposit including 165 acres of tested limestone and 300 acres where there are formations of clay and shale. At anticipated annual production of 1,- 850,000 barrels of cement and the commercial aggregate at a yearly capacity of 600,000 tons the company estimates its reserves are sufficient to maintain the plant for 43 years.

Introduced as a joint U.S. - Canada venture the company plans to market cement and the aggregate from warehouses in Rochester, Toronto and Picton. Deep water dock facilities at Picton will be utilized, excepting in the winter months. The CNR is running a spur into the proposed plant from the mainline between Picton and Trenton.

SET OFF BY MINISTER

When Labor Minister Milton Gregg, V.C., pushed the first dynamite blast here at 5.35 p.m. Saturday it was the signal for construction crews to move in and commence the big job of building the plant. People in the area foresee further prosperity and employment as a consequence.

The Federal minister emphasized the project of producing cement is a key one and contributes in no small way to the country's future stability. He observed that the Picton development was strategically situated in the heart of Canada's industrial area, creeping further east and west and north more and more each year. Much of the community's prosperity depends on rock dug out of the ground under our feet and the surrounding area. He referred to Senator Fraser as the advance guard of the atomic bomb and Mayor McFarland as the personification of courage and perseverance.

The Honorable Ralph Campney, minister of National Defence, was scheduled to give the project an official send-off but in his absence for health reasons, the Labor minister officiated.

WILL BE SUCCESS

From a platform bedecked with the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes the cement company's president, Senator W. A. Fraser, assured leaders of business and officials from all levels of government that the Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company was going to be a success. "Not only for the shareholders", he ruled, "but for Prince Edward County and all of Canada." Senator Fraser, in his own matchless manner introduced the guest speaker. He said he regarded the project as one of the most important ever established in the country.

Injecting amusing comment the Senator said one of his associates told him the representative of another cement company had pooched their idea adding the remark that in two years there will be much surplus cement that there will be stock piles of it all over the country. "Why didn't you tell that illustrious gentleman it will be yours not ours!" the Senator stated his friend. Senator Fraser said the bulk of the credit was due Mayor McFarland who worked for weeks and months to bring along the day when people would see the physical development get underway.

DREAMED OF FOR YEARS

Picton's colorful mayor dressed in flowing black robes and mortice-board hat imported from England last year, claimed the project was only starting. "This is something I dreamed about for years," he disclosed. He explained that many things had been on his mind but his thoughts always came back to a cement plant at Picton. He said the extra responsibility placed on his shoulders had caused him a lot of sleepless nights.

When I first started to work this out I wondered where the money was coming from. Then I looked across the water. I most say they (U.S. financers) have lived up to everything they promised in the interest of the company and country, continued Mr. McFarland who is one of the two vice-presidents of the company. "Nobody seems to realize what it takes to build an industry, what it is going to mean. It will be an advertising medium for Ontario, Canada, and the United States. In five years it will be one of the biggest in the two countries, predicted Mr. McFarland.

REFERRED TO HOUSE

Mayor McFarland referred to an article in Saturday's issue of a Toronto newspaper commenting on control of new Canadian industry moving southward. He revealed that people of province holding stock in the Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company began to take profits and their shares were being bought by U.S. investors. Expressing concern about the situation from a standpoint Canadians are losing hold on their own natural resources Mr. McFarland implored people of Ontario to buy, hold and put away shares of the new cement company for children of the future generations. He appealed for control of the company to remain in Ontario.

The stock of the Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company Limited was issued originally on a basis whereby there would be equal distribution in United States and Canada.

Senator Fraser read a telegram from Donald Gordon, president of the C.N.R. Mr. Gordon conveyed regret he was unable to attend, expressed opinion that the new development would make a valuable contribution to Canadian economy. He pledged the complete co-operation of the Canadian National Railways. The Senator noted that the project would be tied into the C.N.R. siding at Picton.

MESSAGE OF WELCOME

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare for Ontario, brought a message of welcome from the province. He said the country needed more men of imagination and ambition like Fraser and McFarland. The country also needs development be continued, and if we cannot provide the money, ourselves let us seek it elsewhere in order to let our families enjoy everything modern living has to offer.

County Warden Reeve Clifford Wilson and Reeve Leland Doxsee extended greetings to U.S. visitors. They looked for the enterprise to bring a profitable future to the county and township.

ONLY SMALL TRIBUTE

Allan Lamport, former Mayor of Toronto, now Toronto Transportation Commission chairman, in his remarks maintained all the honors bestowed on Mayor McFarland were but a small tribute for the great things he'd done for the great town of Picton. "Things so seldom found in men today you can find them in Harvey," he explained. Making reference to the company he declared: "It can't help to be a success with dynamic Billy Fraser at the head."

J. C. Udd, from Brockville, the other vice-president of the company, said he held no fear of American capital and intended to introduce more to come into the country. Commenting on Mr. Udd's remark Senator Fraser agreed that in finance there are no international borders. "We are fortunate to have great wealth below the 49th parallel when the population of Canada is not large enough to provide the required star capital for the lasting prosperity of the country.

Ed. Webster of Kidder, Peabody and Company, of Wall Street, New York, said Mayor McFarland in ten minutes sold him the best project he'd ever seen. You've got a great man here. He convinced us. He told about how the decision was made to make the stock a joint issue. "I've been buying the stock. I think it's cheap, but I would not like for Ontarians to lose control." Mr. Webster added.

G. M. Drake, president of Johnson, Drake and Piper Overseas Corporation, connected with financing of the company went high in his praise for the Fraser-McFarland team. He envisioned great benefits resulting from their decisions.

D. K. Baldwin, Nesbitt, Thomson and Company, Montreal, paying tribute to the Senator and Picton's Mayor called them "Men of Picton". I would also like to compliment the citizens of the county for having two great developers in their midst. My personal conviction is that as this company grows people of the county and province will benefit. While I had a humble part to play in the financing I would like to express my faith in the outcome.

Senator Fraser bringing the program of speech-making to a close commented: "I think I would be less than fair if I did not mention the magnificent support the Canadian Bank of Commerce has given us since starting. I do hope all our fondest wishes will be attained."

Earlier the Senator called for 30 seconds observance in memory of the late Reeve Jack Welsh, who helped in the first stages of the development.

TONIC TABLETS FATAL

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A three-year-old girl who swallowed 37 iron tonic tablets died Saturday night. Mary Louise English ate the pills Friday morning. Her mother, Mrs. Jack English, had bought the pills two days earlier to combat a run-down condition.

Federal minister of Labor, the Hon. Milton Gregg, V.C., pushed the plunger that set off the explosion marking the official opening of the Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company of Canada at Picton Saturday afternoon. With the minister are shown Senator W. A. Fraser (left) of Trenton, president of the company and Harvey J. McFarland, mayor of Picton, vice-president. The company plans to start to market its products in 1957.

Welcome to the visitors from the Province of Ontario was brought by Welfare Minister Wartmen, both of Napanee, among the many the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, shown left. With prominent invited guests.

Seek Kidnapper By Checking Car Registrations

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—More than 30 detectives checked through stacks of 300,000 auto registrations Sunday to compare signatures with the writing on the ransom note left when Peter Weinberger was kidnapped July 4.

Chief of Detectives Shuyvesant Finnell was silent about the results. But it was learned that a few registration signatures were set aside for further checking.

FBI agents also were said to have joined local police in examining files of the earlier-Stephen Damman kidnapping, to see if there could be a link between the two.

The three-year-old Damman boy was snatched last Oct. 31 from in front of a store in East Meadow, three miles from this Long Island community.

No ransom note was left but several were received in the mail. No trace of the child was ever found.

The Weinberger child now six weeks old if alive, was stolen from a carriage on a rear patio of his home here. A ransom note demanded $2,000.

Later a man believed to be the kidnapper telephoned the parents and asked $5,000.

50,000 Persons Turn Out to Watch Orangemen

TORONTO (CP)—An estimated 50,00 Sperconus turned out Saturday to watch Toronto's four-mile long parade of orangemen, believed to have been the biggest ever.

Officials estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 Orangemen marched or rode in the parade itself. They represented more than 200 lodges marching to the music of 30 bands.

It was the city's 133th annual parade to commemorate the 266th anniversary of King William III's victory in 1690 over James II at the Boyne River in Ireland.

"King Billy" was chief county marshal Fred Woods. Astride a white horse, loaned by a bakery and groomed for the occasion, he sizzled beneath an enormous black wig weighing two pounds.

At a meeting after the parade the Orangemen approved a resolution opposing the idea of Canada having diplomatic representation at the Vatican.

Marching in the parade was an Indian, Chief Little Bear of the Six Nations Reserve, near Brantford.

STILL PLAYING

NORTH BAY (CP)—Fifty-seven hours after starting his assault on the world's piano-piarathon record, Donald (Tiny) Bird, 33, early today was showing no signs of letting up. Tiny's attempt to surpass the 71 hours and 30 minutes of consecutive piano-playing marked up by a United States airman in Phoenix, Ariz., two weeks ago must last until 8 p.m. tonight.

Woman Severely Hurt

GUELPH (CP) — A runaway horse, frightened by the blare of a band, bolted through marchers in an Orange parade Saturday, severely injuring a 67-year-old woman.

Scores of other marchers and hundreds of spectators scattered in all directions as the horse, pulling a milk wagon, galloped down on them.

Mrs. J. Ross Brown was knocked to the ground and dragged under the wagon. She suffered a double fracture of the pelvis, a fracture of the spine, a fractured ankle and a broken nose.

"Jest a Second"

"Stationmaster! When my husband arrives could you give him a message? Oh you'll recognize him all right."

EVANS—WANAMAKER

A lovely background of peonias and ferns formed an attractive setting in the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Picton, at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 30, when the Rev. Robert Wright, pastor of the church, united in marriage, Meribeth Marie Wanamaker of Wellington, R.R. 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wanamaker and Walter Alexander Evans of Wellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Evans.

Mrs. M. Walmsley, organist, furnished the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Jack McNeill, who rendered, "The Perfect Love", before the ceremony, and "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Arthur Wanamaker, the bride was attendant in her bridal gown of white nylon and white slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice with shortly gathered sleeves. The skirt, featuring princess front panel from which an organdie net underskirt, overshirred satin. She wore a white satin headpiece from which the shoulder-length veil cascaded. She carried a white prayer book crested with dark red Joy roses with white satin streamers. White net wrist-length mitts and pearls completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Mavis Scarf of Ottawa, as matron of honor, attended the bride, gowned in pale blue lace over satin. Miss Doreen Evans, Wellington, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, wore light blue lace over taffeta. Both wore matching headdresses and carried bouquets of white Shasta daisies.

Little Pamella Power, niece of the bride, was flower girl, demure and sweet in Alice blue lace organdie, with bandeau of yellow daisies. She carried a basket of daisies and carried a basket of yellow Shasta daisies pitted in yellow tulle.

Mr. Robert Everleigh of Picton, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Lionel Tennant of Bowmanville, and Mr. David Evans, of Peterborough, were ushers.

The reception was held on the lawn of Maple Lane, Bloomfield, where the bride's mother appeared in French blue crepe with lace insets, navy accessories and pink rose corsage with matching ribbons, received the guests. She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy and white with blue jacket, white accessories and white rose corsage.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask, and centred by a three-tier wedding cake set in tulle and roses. Tall pink candles added their pretty accent. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. J. F. Lane, to which the bridegroom responded. Those who served were Mrs. J. Hannah and Miss B. Fenn.

Following the reception the guests were invited to the home of the bride, which was adorned with baskets of peonies, to view the lovely bridal gifts.

For travelling to Ottawa, Algonquin Park, Muskoka and the Rideau Lakes district, the bride chose a moss green flowered sheath dress with duster, new jacket, Panama accessories, and corsage of red roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Evans will make their home in Picton during the summer months.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Cross, Tyrone, Madoc, Cumberland, Richmond, Belleville and Bowmanville.

Marilyn Would Like to Play Lady Macbeth

LONDON (CP) — Marilyn Monroe says she'd rather play Lady Macbeth than any lady involved with the world.

"I have to say this," she told press conference Sunday attended by more than 300, "because, when I said I wanted to play Grushenka in Dostoievsky's 'Brothers Karamazov,' people laughed.

"But, since you ask me what part I'd rather play, let me say it's Lady Macbeth."

Marilyn wore a black dress that fitted her as tightly as Bond clings to a window pane.

Asked if the 30 hours she's spent in chilly Britain had changed her mind about sleeping not in nightgowns or pyjamas, but just in Chanel No. 5, she turned her blonde head to Arthur Miller and thought for a moment.

"No, Well," she laughed, "let's say that now that I'm in England it's like sleeping in just Yardley's lavender."

Saturday Marilyn moved into a swanky country house complete even to a butler and said it would be "very nice indeed" to meet her fellow-guest, the Queen.

She and "her husband of two years" were to have a dinner party rented Viscount Moore's country estate only a short distance from Windsor Castle.

Treverton, opened the meeting with a poem "Has Jesus Christ Christ In You Today?", followed by prayer.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Stan Hazard, who gave a reading. She was assisted by Mrs. Elliott who read the Scripture from Psalm 91. Mrs. Hazard gave a reading on the meaning of "Faith" which she said is one of the first things in giving quality to one's life.

Letters of appreciation from Mrs. A. Meeks and Mrs. H. Robin were read.

The call was answered with the word "King" used in a Scripture passage.

The business session included two contributions to the birthday box and the treasurer's report quoting $98 from the last Scott's Sales.

The offering amounted to $4.80.

The program, taken by Mrs. C. Flatt, consisted of a short poem by Miss Olivia Gillespie; Bible references by hymn, "Rock of Ages", a reading by Mrs. Jack Skelly, "The Bad Habit of Judging Others," and one by Mrs. S. Emmerson "If There Is Anything I Can Do".

The closing hymn showed actions in helping the needy speak much louder than words.

Mrs. Bernice Moore's rendition of the hymn "Open My Eyes That I May See", was especially appreciated by all.

After the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess and committee during the social half hour.

CANADA TO PLAY HOST TO GUIDES' FIRST WORLD MEET

A beautiful Muskoka camp has been chosen as the site for the first World Girl Guide Camp in history. The camp, summer training centre for Ontario Guides, will be enlarged to accommodate some 1,500 Guides from around the globe who will assemble in August, 1957. Many of the 35 countries invited have accepted already, and camp officials are busy preparing for the big event, which will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of the founder of the Girl Guide and Boy Scout movement. To ensure the success of the camp, Canadian Guides are making a public appeal for funds. (Central Press Canadian).

Alliance Daily Vacation Bible School Holds Closing Exercises

Friday evening last was the closing program of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Vacation Bible school, with many parents and friends present to see the children's work and to hear them recite and sing the many things they had been taught.

The program followed closely the daily procedure of the school with the children coming to attention to the strains of the "Trumpet Call" sung by the Senior class and answered by Primary and Junior classes. This was followed by salutes to the Flag of Canada, the Christian Flag, and the Bible, which were displayed on a table at the front of the church.

The beginners, under Kodak direction of Miss Joy Anderson, who had full charge of them during the week, followed by the Primary school under the leadership of Miss Christ", which was the theme of the course during the school.

Mrs. E. Meeks, the director of the school, gave a special welcome to the parents thanking them for sending their children and for the co-operation of the children; stating that it had been a real privilege to teach them—with over 100 registered with an average attendance of 58.

At this point Scripture was read by Mrs. Meeks. The beginners, dressed in crowns and coats they had made, after hearing the story of Joseph, sang "Children of the King" with Miss Catherine Millard at the piano, followed by their Scripture verses.

The Primary boys, under the direction of Miss June Whittaker, contributed their part, wearing crowns and carrying Christian flags that had been made in class. These pupils repeated Scripture verses and sang, illustrating their study of "Friends of the King".

The Junior class, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Millard and Miss Dorothea Clemens, demonstrated Knights of the King dressed in helmets, breast plates and belts, carrying swords and carrying shields. They quoted Scripture and sang "The Christian Soldier". Their teacher, Mrs. Millard gave a brief talk on their course using a miniature castle for visual teaching.

The young people's class was under the direction of Mrs. George Millard, ably taken over from Mrs. Kenneth Dixon, who is confined to her home because of illness. The course "Crusaders of the King" was explained by Miss Mary Simpson with the class present responding with the Scripture to illustrate their study. This course covered world missions and there was much concentration on the class of two teams led by Lenore Dixon and Alfred Baker.

During the school, a score was kept of each child's work, which led to a Knighting service, during which time the new pastor, the Rev. S. Palmer, challenged the children referring them to Ephesians 6:14-16 "Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; and our feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked." Nine girls and one boy then knelt down damsel hats and swords before the pastor, who, as he touched each, leaving the old, they were then dubbed "Lady" and "Sir" in the Name of the King, the Lord Jesus, by Mrs. Masse.

Miss Ferne Gerrie, missionary, recently returned from India, in native costume, showed her curios and brought an impressive message.

Miss Gerrie had been present many nights at school, giving missionary stories and helping in other ways when available.

After the offering was received by the pair of the children, all joined in singing "O Worship the King".

Awards were presented to 24 children for perfect attendance; to 29 children for learning Scripture verses; to one boy and two girls, who tied in bringing new scholars.

A number of other children were recognized for their work by certificates and book marks.

The evening closed with a thank-you to all helpers, after which the pastor gave the dismissal prayer.

Twenty-one children expressed desire to follow the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour and King.

Other helpers were Mrs. Daniel Benn, Miss Selma Warren, Miss Lois Wright, Miss Barbara Wickett and Miss Marjorie Willis.

White Collar Women Wind Up Meeting

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's white - collar women concluded their biennial conference Saturday at which they reiterated appeals for wider training representation on private and public policy-making bodies.

It was the 19th convention of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women. The two-day meeting was attended by some 150 delegates. The International Federation of Business and Professional Women met earlier in the week.

Resolutions were passed urging appointment of qualified women as directors of chartered banks and to governmental policy-making boards.

MORE WOMEN SENATORS

Others pressed for appointment of a woman to the civil services commission and suggested that 13 vacancies in the 102-member Senate be filled by women appointees. There are five women senators now.

Yet another called on the federal government to enact an act providing equal pay for equal work. This was also approved at the 1954 convention.

Ruth Tomlinson of Spark, Bridge England, president of business and professional women's clubs, in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, told final session that girls should have the same opportunity to use a hammer as boys.

BACK MOSCOW

LONDON (Reuters) — British Communists Sunday fully backed the Soviet Communist Party's current line in debunking Stalin and declared that the world should pay more attention to the "positive" aspects of the 20th Communist Party Congress last February.

Miss Tomlinson said she knew little girls liked mechanical toys, but believed it was a "healthy beginning" for girls who wanted to progress in technical education. She added, "If there is emphasis on domestic subjects for girls, domestic subjects should also be emphasized for boys."

Mrs. Maude Bayley of Toronto was elected president, succeeding Mrs. Hazel Laycock of Winnipeg.

Isabel Masse of Montreal was elected first vice-president and Mary Flanagan of Saint-Jean-Baptiste, honorary secretary-treasurer.

The 1958 convention will be held at Kitchener.

HEADS WOMEN'S FEDERATION

Margaret Paton Hyndman, Toronto lawyer, has been elected president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women at the convention held in Montreal. More than 270 delegates from all parts of the world attended the congress. Miss Hyndman is the first Canadian to head the Federation. (CP Photo).

Carmel Comrade Club Enjoys Social Evenings

The members of Carmel Comrade club recently enjoyed two social evenings, the former in the form of a bowling party held at the Bowl-O-Drome, Belleville, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Laurenson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thompson. Prizes for hidden scores were awarded to Marion Rodberg, Olive Thompson, Patsy Dafoe, Clarman Dafoe, Pat Cole, Russel Ritz and the low prizes to Ken Gean and Marilyn Turle.

All returned to Carmel Hall where the children enjoyed fireworks while the ladies prepared coffee, pie and ice cream.

The second meeting was held at Carmel school grounds at which all enjoyed a game of ball until dark and then Mrs. Harold Howes and her newly formed troup of Girl Guides gave a fine program relating the story and meaning of Guides.

Master Dale Sullivan favored with a piano instrumental. This meeting was under the convenorship of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gean and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howes.

Following the program, a huge bon-fire was built around which both parents and children, accompanied by the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. McCrea, enjoyed hot dogs and soft drinks.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WAIT AWHILE LONGER BEFORE DECIDING ON DIVORCE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I've been married 12 years, see my husband and I seem slowly ... a and a half years before we married. He is 34 and I am 31. I thought that ours was a happy and successful marriage, but now it seems I've been wrong.

Six months after our eleventh anniversary my husband met a 19-year-old single girl who worked for the same firm he did. What she did first was to ask him to teach her to drive—we had just got a new car—and my husband asked me if it would be all right. Always having trusted him, I agreed. Then, after he had taught her to drive, she was forever borrowing her old boy friend's car so she could come into our neighborhood to chase after my husband. Finally, he started sneaking off to date her.

When I found this out, I tried to talk with her mother about the situation, but she said she had never been able to do anything with her daughter since she was 13 years old. That woman ruined myself at the time herself, however, so the daughter is the type that she likes, which includes frequently staying out all night, many nights with my husband.

Finally, I couldn't take it any longer, and five months ago I told my husband to leave. In return, he asked me to give him a divorce. I talked with a lawyer, who advised me to try a legal separation for awhile, so that's the way it's been for some time now.

Maybe that was a sound foolish to you, but deep in my heart I still love my husband, as he was always good in every until this girl started chasing him.

Do you think it would be better for me to start divorce proceedings or do you feel it might help things to continue the legal separation for awhile longer? I thought my husband would straighten himself out, but so far nothing has changed. He still goes with the girl and tells me he has frequent relations with her at her urging, he says.

Mrs. C.M.M.

Dear Mrs. C.M.M.:

Somehow, I believe the wise thing would be for you to wait awhile longer before deciding on divorce.

In the first place, even though he has treated you so badly, you still love your husband.

In the second place, your husband may, in time, come to realize what he is doing not only to you but to himself, bitterly regret it and want to spend the rest of his life making up to you for his despicable conduct. If this happens and since you know you still love him, you probably would want to take him back to try, with him, to erase the past and work together to build a happy life together again.

These are two reasons why I feel you may be glad, in future, if you delay a divorce action.

However, there is one more thing I think it would be well for you to consider. The girl can be summed up in the following question:

As you look back over your knowledge of your husband and your life with him, do you feel certain that he is the type of steady sound character who has temporarily lost his head and his perspective, or does it look to you as always been a weak man without the first principles and high standards which are essential to living a good life?

If you are sure he is the first type, then you have real reason to hope. But, if, as you look back honestly, you come to see that he is the second type, then it may be that, in the end, it would be better for you to free yourself and let him go his way.

Take time to give very careful thought to all these points that I have made and I believe the steps you should take will gradually become clear. I think it would help if you could go away to some place where you will not be in constant touch with your husband, as I gather you now are. You will think better, off by yourself, and he may suddenly discover, when he cannot see you at will, that you are more important to him than he now believes.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

HIS EYES ARE A "REAR VIEW MIRROR"

How do you look when exposed to the "double take!"

It's practically inevitable that when boy walks down street, some pretty girl and passes her, he turns backward for the "double take" that immediately spells complete enchantment or complete disillusionment.

Yes, girls, the dividing line is as slender as that. And that's why, when it comes to appearance, one should give as much thought to the rear view as to the frontal effect. After all, people—and this goes for friends and acquaintances, as well as for passing strangers—not only see you coming, but going, too. How you look from the rear is important.

Bear this in mind when buying clothes. A frock may have a perfectly divine neckline when viewed from the front but may "bunch up" unbecomingly at the back. A skirt that's infinitely flattering from the front may hug the derriere too tightly or hang dowdily over the hips. The hem may dip or it may rise awkwardly over leg calves. Consider, too, the material of suits and dresses. Is it the type that will crease badly when sat upon? Or will it hold its line and shape after eight hours at a desk?

Then there are hats. So many girls buy little numbers that tilt over the face but do nothing at all for the profile or the line at the nape of the neck. This is a mistake. When buying a hat, don't let anyone rush you. View it from all sides and if it doesn't do as much for the back of your head and your profile as it does for your face, try something else.

And coiffures! It would be nice to have a dollar for every minute girls take to carefully brush and comb tresses so they look pretty from the front—with never a thought to the back yet how a few straggly wisps at the back can undo the whole effect of what otherwise would be a lovely hair-do!

In your "backward glancing," consider stocking seams, too. Even slightly off perfect alignment, they can spoil your whole appearance. The same goes for run-down heels and slips that show—even a fraction of an inch. We can't all have triple mirrors in our homes as they have in fashion salons but, with the aid of a hand mirror, there's no reason why your slip shouldn't be able to use the longest mirror she has to "see herself as others see her"—both coming and going.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEEJUMAN

EIGHT POINTS OF SERVICE AT 4-H BANQUET

Dear Mrs. Beejuman:

1. The 4 H Beef Club her is giving a banquet and inviting the parents and a guest speaker. The 4 H Clothing Club girls are serving. And as the leader, I need some advice, please.

The menu is to be very simple: fruit cocktail; cold plate (using beef, of course), potato salad, and a green salad cup; pickles; ice cream and angle food cake. A bun and a pat of butter will be on each bread-and-butter plate, plate of extra buns between every two couples, and several dishes of pickles also on the table. Is it necessary to have a dinner fork and a salad fork, or will the dinner fork be enough?

2. Is everything served from the right?

3. When the water glasses are refilled for the toast, do the girls fill them or ask if the guest wishes the glass filled?

4. Are sugar and cream on the table, or do the girls ask the guest's preference about these, as at a formal tea?

5. If the spoon on the saucer when coffee is served, or is it placed beside the cup after pouring on the table?

6. I plan to have one waitress to six guests (except at the head table, which will have an extra waitress). If you wish, said would be good service, place both a salad fork with either the dinner fork or the medium-size fork.

7. Salad and the reverse. All food is offered at the left of the guest. And used plates and dishes are removed from the left of the guest (although they may properly be removed from the right). The water is poured at the guest's right.

8. The girls should refill the water glasses; no need to "consult the guest about it.

4. It would doubtless be more convenient and practical to have "cooperative service" of the sugar and cream — that is, have the sugar bowl and cream pitcher (or several, if convenient) set on the table to be passed by the guests from one to another. If there are enough trays on hand, it's a gracious form of service to have the waitresses pass the sugar and cream on trays to the guests (at the left).

5. It's best to have the spoon placed on the saucer when the coffee is served.

6. Yes . . . although you may have one waitress for six guests, if you wish to speed up the service a bit, and also give the waitresses plenty of time to be on the alert to notice any service needs of the guests.

(More water, for example, more butter, and so forth.)

7. The guest speaker, who is the guest of honor at the banquet, should be served first.

8. Suggestion: When the tables are set, have the silverpieces (or spoons) placed in the correct way, as above the individual place. If there are two, dessert spoon and dessert fork, with the spoon placed parallel with each other, the tip of the handle of the spoon toward the right, the fork handle toward the left.

Best wishes for the joyous success of the Banquet!

AVALANCHE KILLS GIRL

Natalie Wood, pretty Hollywood star, likes to relax on the beach in her swimming pool when she is not busy making motion pictures. She is shown wearing a bathing suit that she selected for her own personal wardrobe.

The swim suit is a one-piece model made of cotton printed in an exotic design. It is very form fitted with a built-in bra so no shoulder straps are necessary though they may be added if desired.

Women's Institute

BAY OF QUINTE W.I.

The Bay of Quinte Institute held its July meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, on Wednesday evening with a fine attendance.

Many letters that had been received since June meeting, were read. At the business session it was decided to buy something on which to make some money, held at the cottage of Mr. and held at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Boulton with Mrs. Boulton and daughter as conveners.

The meeting was then handed over to the convener of "Community Activities and Public Relations", Mrs. Don Sandercock who said "Most of us feel a little shy about considering ourselves as possible leaders. We should realize that leadership is service.

"If we wish to develop leaders we should carry on a program that gives scope for our members to use their talents.

"The leader must be well prepared beforehand for what she wishes to present. To be a good leader one must have vision and even dreams. She must be friendly; like folks and appreciate the worth of every individual, and go after women who stand back for some of these turn out to be some of our best members. We need a lot of leaders in the W.I. —women who have a gift for bringing other women in with us.

"Farm people express themselves in many ways: square dancing, folk songs, hooked rugs, patchwork quilts, music, handicrafts and architecture are some of the activities of our people.

"Public Relations is not something that you can do one day and forget all about it. It is ...something that requires constant attention and cultivation for we have it whether we like it or not. In fact, one cannot remain in business long without the good will of his fellowman. So we must all be interested in it, for the simple reason everyone needs the good will of all people."

Mrs. Arnold Kelchesson thanked Mrs. Sandercock for the fine report.

A contest was put on by Mrs. Sandercock and won by Mrs. Palmer. It was noted by Mrs. Palmer that six school teachers were present. Mrs. A. Meyers moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for the use of her home.

Refreshments were provided by the hostess and conveners.

Oppose Central Penitentiary For Women

MONTREAL (CP) — A recommendation urging the abolition of a central penitentiary for women has been placed before the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women by a provincial member association.

Approved at the 13th biennial convention of the federation, the recommendation was presented Friday night in the report of the Ontario provincial association's president, Mrs. Margery Fewtres of Cobourg.

The recommendation suggested that the national body make further representations to the federal government to abolish the central penitentiary for women at Kingston, and to establish institutions to incarcerate women federal prisoners in their own regions.

Resolutions asking the Ontario government to make arrangements with the federal government to detain women federal prisoners in provincial institutions have already been passed by the provincial organization, the Ontario president reported.

REPORT IGNORED

The main objections to a central penitentiary for women, however, were outlined by the Archambault royal commission investigating the penalties for prison in 1938. The report said that the women's jail "can be defended in the same institution with men, but also found no justification for the erection and maintenance of a separate women's penitentiary.

The federal government, however, has started to build a new central institution for women at Collins Bay, near Kingston.

The fact that in a central prison women would be freed from behind their friends and relatives was another objection cited by the royal commission.

Casual Entertaining Is Organized

By Mary Moore

It looked easy, but was it? The guests loved it and whether it was easy or not it is a delightful way of entertaining and the guests had a grand time. I know.

The illusion of casual entertaining reminded me of one hot summer Sunday afternoon in Port Nelson. We were limp with the heat in our garden chairs when around the corner of our house appeared a dear friend of ours in filmy green dress, smiling, and looking as cool as a crisp cucumber. It was refreshing just to see her and set one's mood.

Our hosts acted calm and easy and unhurried all evening while they served an Italian spaghetti supper. They were Herbie's Commanding Officer and his wife, Louise and the C.O. made the spaghetti dish, draped with a leopard skin apron. It was perfect and more guests than I had two servings. Louise dressed the tossed salad more with oil than anything else and rye bread and Chianti were the other accompaniments.

To give you an idea of its popularity Cliff cooked an we (14) ate spaghetti and Chianti.

Even if you were not there you know as well as I that to feed and entertain that many folks takes organization with a capital O.

The meat sauce of course is the important concoction that gave the meal its authority and its character. Cliff simply calls it

SPAGHETTI SAUCE

He makes it 4-5 times this amount to serve our crowd so this amount will serve 6 or 9.

Two tablespoons chopped parsley, 4 medium onions chopped, 4 cloves garlic, 1-4 cup butter, 1-4 cup olive oil, 2 8-oz. tins tomato purée, 2 8-oz. tins tomato paste, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce, 1 1-2 lbs. ground beef browned separately, 1 or 2 lbs. long spaghetti. Melt butter, add oil, tomato puree and tomato paste. Add parsley, onions, garlic and Worcestershire sauce. Then add browned beef. Simmer 2 hours. Add water if too thick. Variation: (1) for high tomato flavor add 1 can tomato puree during last 10 minutes of cooking. (2) Use 2 lbs. browned beef. The contents of 2 packages of grated Parmesan cheese were tipped into a pretty bowl and disappeared like so much melting snow on our mounds of plates.

The dining-room table was set buffet style and guests were invited to help themselves which they did promptly and liberally—then took themselves off to the living-room where assorted tables were handy to each chair. Since some of the guests were veterans from the campaign in Sicily and Italy they twirled spaghetti on their forks like natives.

An hour or so later a purely American dessert came on the scene and out of two full-size Raspberry Angel Pies one long narrow serving was left. (See tomorrow's column for recipe for Angel Pie.)

We ended up on the Indian rug playing Bummoli until midnight.

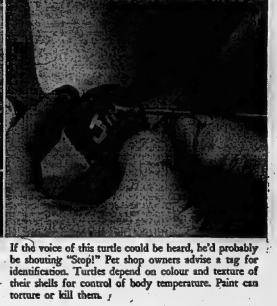
Pets with Personality!

"Chewy" the Chihuahua presents a pretty pessimistic puss to people visiting the pet shop where he lives. His roommates include puppies and guppies, cats and rats—but no bats. And when he lifts his South-of-the-Border baritone in song, he can be sure of some powerful company, including the gurgle of goldfish and the wistful warbling of the canary. Pets like Chewy appeal to children and adults alike, help to take people's minds off their troubles. Through this appeal, pet shops today are a million-dollar business.



Few children can resist the appeal of the saucy parakeet, one of the most popular personalities in Canadian pet shops. Although there are hundreds of varieties of this charmer—also known as the budgie or love-bird—the one we know best is the grass shell parakeet, shown here. Back home in Australia, where he's been talking for centuries, the plains people call him the "betcherrygah" or "pretty bird". We bet the first native who called him that got a shock when the bird gave him the bird!

National Film Board Photos by Chris Lund

Pardon me, miss, but did you see a piece of cheese pass this way? Maurice the white mouse, pride of the pet shop, seems to be asking this question of a pretty visitor to his domain. Maurice and other animals like him make pet shops big business today.

If the voice of this turtle could be heard, he'd probably be shouting "Stop!" Pet shop owners advise a tag for identification. Turtles depend on colour and texture of their shells for control of body temperature. Paint can torture or kill them.

Massey Meets Haida Indians In B. C. Visit

By EAWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SKIDEGATE MISSION, B.C. (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey left the Queen Charlotte Islands today after a three-day visit at Canada's westernmost point.

Mr. Massey indicated the "most inspiring and wonderful" feature of the visit were his meetings with the island natives, the Haida Indians.

At the two major Indian villages, Masset and Skidegate, he was honored by speeches of welcome and loyalty, by huge dinners at which the whole Indian community was represented and by gifts of totem carvings from slate or argillite for which the Haidas have long been famous.

There are indications the Haidas, physically and intellectually among the foremost Indians on the continent, are being absorbed by the white man. At one time they numbered more than 8,000; now they are possibly 1,000.

Many are intermarrying with the 1,600 white population. Only a few oldtimers speak the Haida language. The children do not even understand it.

In an address at Masset, Mr. Massey entreated the Haidas not to allow their ancient culture, which has been an inspiration to many modern - day British Columbia writers and painters, die out.

Sunday he read the lesson at a United Church service at Skidegate and attended a banquet and visited a 22-bed United Church hospital at Queen Charlotte City which is administered by Dr. Mabri MacLean, 39, formerly of Alexandria, Ont. She is one of the youngest hospital superintendents in Canada.

Mr. Massey returns to Prince Rupert today continuing his 10-day tour of B.C. hinterior points.

Empey Hill

EMPEY HILL — Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Gaylord who were recently married. A noisy welcome was given to them on their return home on Thursday evening.

A large crowd attended the lawn social sponsored by the Lennox and Addington Four-H Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. McTaggart, on Wednesday evening.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Marlette were: Mrs. Harold Faul; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Faul; Mrs. Gordon Chapman; Miss Cheryl and Master Randy Marlette of Trenton; Col. R. Vanderwater, of Marsh Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sills, also Mr. and Mrs. Keith Sills of Centenary.

The sympathy of this community is extended to the families of the late S. E. Winter of Napanee; Mr. Will Storey, and Mr. Ross Dudgeon of Selby, who passed away last week.

Mr. Robert Mitchum of Toronto is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker and family.

The Rev. John Renshaw of Selby made some pastoral calls on Wednesday.

Planes Await Clear Skies to Continue Search

MONTREAL (CP) — Search planes awaited clear skies today to check whether Labrador forest fires might lead to two fliers missing since July 5.

A spokesman at the RCAF Air Transport Command said Sunday night it is hoped that the two are responsible for fires sighted in the Robertson Lake area of Labrador. They disappeared in a Norseman aircraft bound from Fox Harbor, Nfld., to Goose Bay, a 200-mile flight.

The pilot was Herb Whipe of St. Thomas, Ont., and the passenger is unidentified. The plane, owned by Wheeler Airlines of St. Jovite, Que., carried food for 30 days.

Rain and poor visibility prevented RCAF, United States Air Force and private planes from pressing the search Sunday.

Marine Sergeant Goes on Trial For Death of 6

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—Staff Sgt. Matthew McKeon, accused of involuntary manslaughter in the drowning of six marine recruits on a disciplinary night march, goes before a general court martial today.

Both the defence and the Marine Corps commandant, Gen. Randolph Pate, have said Mc-Keaon's trial is almost incidental.

The larger issue, they said, is whether the marines' past methods of turning out hardened, disciplined warfighting men was justified and, if so, was McKeon merely following known customs.

FOUR CHARGES

McKeon is charged specifically with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits, possession of alcoholic beverages and drinking in the presence of a recruit.

The 31-year-old former drill instructor could receive a maximum sentence of four years and eight months' imprisonment if found guilty.

McKeon, who has two children, said he ordered a night march for his recruits April 8 after he caught some of them frolicking during a smoking period. He said after the tragedy that the march was "to teach them discipline."

PANIC IN DARKNESS

He led a platoon of 78 recruits into a tidal creek on a moonless night. There was panic, and only 72 came back alive to this marine corps training centre.

It is expected most of today's session will be consumed with the formalities of selecting a court-martial panel and swearing in the court officials.

Defence lawyer Emile Berman, a former air force colonel, said at a press conference Sunday that he would move for the elimination of the two lesser charges involving alcohol.

Both, he claimed, prejudiced the case since neither was mentioned as a factor in the graver charges.

Woman Doctor Delivers Own Baby in Car

NEW YORK (AP)—A young woman doctor delivered her own baby on the front seat of her car Sunday as her husband was driving her to a hospital.

Only a few hours before, Dr. Helen Stein, 28, an intern at Long Island College Hospital in Brooklyn, had gone on a jolting ambulance call to an emergency maternity case.

She helped deliver the woman's baby, finished her tour of duty at 8 a.m., and went home. About 10.30 a.m., Dr. Stein told her husband, Martin, she thought her own time had come.

He began driving her to her hospital. About halfway there, she said: "I guess this is it. I think I'm about ready to give birth. But you just keep driving to the hospital, honey. I'll manage all right."

The nervous husband drove on and before he reached the hospital his wife had delivered the baby, a five-pound boy. Both were bundled into the hospital and were reported in good condition.

Was it an ordeal in the cramped front seat?

"Gosh, no," said Mrs. Stein placidly. "Women today make too much of giving birth. The natural way is the best. This was by far my easiest delivery.

"And my other two boys, Erwin, 3, and Marvin, 1, were born in the hospital."

SIGNS PRESLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan announced Friday he had signed rock'n roll singer Elvis Presley on the Ed Sullivan Show. The singing idol of the teen-age set will receive $50,000 for three appearances, CBS said. His first appearance will be Sept. 9 and the other two will be at approximately eight-week intervals.

REPORTS PINCHING TOM

DES MOINES (AP) — A Des Moines woman complained to police Friday that as she was drying herself after a bath someone reached through the bathroom window and between slats of a venetian blind and pinched her. She told officers the hand and baby, a five-pound boy. Both arm disappeared when she screamed.

RAWDON

Residents Honored on 25th Anniversary

RAWDON — On Sunday evening approximately 50 guests, friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGee, Rawdon township, and tendered them a delightful surprise party on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Don Rodgers was master of ceremonies and the group enjoyed assembly singing and a program of readings, duets, solos and music.

Mrs. L. Rodgers read an address on behalf of the relatives and Messrs Harold McGee and Clarence McGee made the presentation of a tri-light, floor lamp and a silver cream and sugar set. The recipients voiced grateful thanks after which several flash pictures were taken.

The cousins served anniversary cake and ice cream and other refreshments.

The supper guests were:

Mrs. McGee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McGee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Rodgers, their daughter Laura, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sine; another daughter, Miss Eleanor Sine of Toronto, and Joyce and Eugene at home. This group presented their parents with a set of dishes in "Old Silver" pattern and a "Brilliton" butter dish at the close of the meal.

Later the relatives arrived for the surprise party. This group included:

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Percy McGee, Mrs. L. Rodgers and their respective families.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Little Miss Joan Vandervoort and Miss Evelyn Harry, pupils of Mrs. Scott, Trenton, passed their Royal Conservatory Music exams at Albert College Manor on the 15th of June, Joan Grade 4 with honors and Evelyn of Grade 8, honor, distinction too.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman French of Trenton, and daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kirkpatrick of Eggertsville, N.Y., were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers, and joined the evening viewing Mr. Arnold Meyers' slides of Toronto and Guatemala.

Several of the Johnstown ladies attended the Bay of Quinte Institute held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, Bayside, on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Frank Brooks spent Sunday with his daughter, husband and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sandercock and Mr. and Mrs. Don Sandercock.

Mrs. G. Blackman and Bill, of Wellington, Mrs. W. East of Toronto, spent Sunday dinner hour and afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. George Warren of Agincourt, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lobnes over the weekend.

Mrs. Henry Walker, of Bancroft, spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers and Arnold entertained Mr. and Mrs. Freeman French of Trenton, also Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kirkpatrick of Eggertsville, N.Y., Sunday afternoon.

Linda, Bobby and Anne Soaf of Belleville, are spending their holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers.

Point Anne

EUCHRE-DANCE

POINT ANNE. — The annual euchre and dance of the Canada Cement employees was held recently in the Point Anne parish hall. Music was by Hugo Diggins and his orchestra.

Winners in euchre were, Mrs. Maria Forsyth, Mrs. Charles Hart, consolation, Mrs. Ed. Fraser; men, Jim Gannon, Thorold Horwood, consolation, George Botting. Lone hand, Jim Gannon.

The committee in charge of the field day and picnic were, Mr. Phil Loft, Mr. Ray Brenigan, Mr. Maurice Bradshaw, Bernard Bennett, Murney Carter, Jack Bailey, Jack Hart and Thorold Horwood.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the members of the sports committee for a successful event.

Mr. and Mrs. William Juby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Abey and family, at Long Lake, Ontario, at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bradshaw spent a week's holiday with Mr. Bradshaw's daughter, Mrs. Donald Revell and other relatives in Buffalo, N.Y.

HALT PRESLEY PARTY

OTTAWA (CP)—Police Wednesday night broke up a session of an Elvis Presley fan club. Six teen-agers were taken to headquarters for questioning, four of whom were charged with drinking beer under the age of 21. Mrs. Rita Primeau, 21-year-old widow of whose home the meeting was held, was charged with supplying beer to a minor.

IT'S FASCINATING BUT PUZZLING

Arranging Flowers for the Table

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Attractive flower arrangements lend grace to any occasion. They give a lift to the spirit and can be a conversation piece. Family meals need this finishing touch of the thoughtful hostess as much or more than the party or banquet board.

Bright faced pansies in a pretty cup, or a few bright hollyhocks floating on a glass plate strike a cheerful note to begin the day. The most humdrum breakfast will taste better when accompanied by a squat jug of nasturtiums, of feathery celosia (plume type cock's comb). Keep it simple and change it often is the rule for breakfast bouquets.

Professional flower arrangers are always seeking new material for their pictures—fruit, dried seeds, leaves and ornaments which help to extend the mood of the flower piece are often used. Since fruit is often the dessert for luncheons make use of it in your table centre occasionally. If you wish to retain some of the arrangement place a pedestal bowl on top of a deep, or other less handsome plate, or tray. Use the bowl for a wide low spreading flower arrangement and pile the fruit on the plate or tray. A few sprigs of foliage, grape leaves and tendrils of flower clusters among the fruit will tie them together.

For a formal luncheon select a large wide bowl—an old fashioned soup tureen is good—arrange in this a number of individual corsages. Sprays of ivy, or grass like foliage will prevent a packed look. Distribute these to the guests after the meal is over. If you must buy flowers for table arrangements select short stemmed blooms; they are much cheaper and answer the purpose just as well as the expensive long stemmed beauties.

Copper, pottery, and pewter are suitable containers for informal table settings. Silver, crystal and other fine receptacles will be needed for the dainty formal occasion.

Flower arrangements for meals tables should be kept quite low. The size and shape of the table will determine somewhat the size and shape of the arrangement. A round table will call for a round, square, or slightly oval piece. On a very long table two arrangements may be featured tied together with such accessories as glass or silver birds, or figurines or candelabra. A group of candleholders, or a long candelabra may be used in the center and two low arrangements run out from it. You can buy candles to fleet with flowers if low containers for a novel touch, or you can arrange bright china birds with your plant material.

ARRANGEMENTS

Flowers for floating arrangements include full blown roses, camellias, tuberous begonias, cacti dahlias and gladiolis. Before starting the arrangement fasten a pin point holder to the bottom of the dish with floral clay. Fasten the short stemmed blooms into the pin point prongs (Sometimes two pin point holders are needed). Add water last seeing that the flower head is just above water to prevent water logging. A variety of foliage may be used to give contrast in form and texture. When flowers are expensive, three perfect blooms with two or more types of foliage for background can be quite effective if used with interesting accessories.

HOCKEY RIGHT IN BELLEVILLE!

Tonight the out-of-town "mystery" hockey promoter meets the city Arena Commission with his proposition to operate a senior "A" hockey club here next season.

A short time ago the Belleville Senior Hockey Club executive handed the senior franchise back to the commission with the unworded comment "too heavy to handle."

It looked like the death-knell of senior hockey in any form in the city. It may yet come under that category.

Whoever the personnel is, under the circumstances, we will demand the fans's share of the gate, besides other concessions. The answer to that will settle the question one way or the other.

Hockey has been a losing proposition to the franchise operators here for the past few years. The commission stated it lost heavily during its years of operation.

Hockey is the main winter source of revenue for any ice arena. Without it the city commission here stands to lose if it operates the arena next season. Operation or artificial ice means its Number One money maker will cut down practice income. We are not aware of other revenue-producing items on the arena agenda for next winter but they'll have to be juicy ones to offset the all-winter cost of operation! Skating, after January 1st, hasn't paid the light bills in past years.

So it seems, at the moment, that senior hockey for next season lies squarely in the hands of the Arena Commission.

And in passing, it should be noted that Orillia has dropped out of senior "A" contention. This was announced by Orillia Hockey League Club. That leaves Kingston, Cornwall and Whitby in the eastern senior "A" league, at the moment.

SOFTBALL CLASSIC

While the mound reputations of Lakefield's Ray Judd and Point Anne's ageless Pat Marucie remain unsullied after that 15-homerun-between-them Wednesday night, the hill duel between those peerless shockers brought out the Ox Point defensive strength potential to the full.

Outside of an odd fly ball or so and a few infield outs, and of course the two clean outfield hits, the Lakefield squad had little opportunity to show its defensive power. On the other hand, the Ox Point crew, especially its infield, opened the eyes of the near 900 fans with a sparkling display of defensive ability.

True, Dougie Hall made the only two miscues of the game but nothing came of the situations and all was forgiven. To offset this was the fine infield stickum of second, that runs on three occasions while Judd walked—all—going from third to make a top foot sortie of the inside kennel—the crowd in its feet. Pat Gilmour's running grab of a hard hit fly-ball was another highlight.

Judd lived up to his reputation. He is a hurler of sensational ability with a variety of pitches that had 19 Pointers stirring the piling high. We're told this "drop" is something out of this world and the Mormon missionary's ability in the clutches was never more clearly demonstrated when he retired the Ox Point side after they had loaded the bases with only an out. He calmly whiffed the next two batters and the third heaved out a bump-backed fly. That was it.

Meanwhile, Pat Marucie refused to be perturbed by the reputation of his sensational, batter-whiffing opponent, Pat, whose name could get him a job as a pitcher's mate, came up with another brilliant exhibition, and backed with sterling infield defensive work he aimed Judd in the hit department, even though his control seemed more than adequate for the occasion. The bent the Lakefield batters could get off his delivery was a few infield dribblers, two solid hits to the outfield and a pair of looping flies that were cleverly taken care of by Jake Wade and Pat Gilmour.

There were no breaks in the game. It was strictly a hurlers' battle and on performance deserved to end the way it did. The Pointers, however, saw ample evidence of the Judd wizardry, when the lad's left on three out of contention in the 7th. He struck out the entire Ox Point batting line order on this occasion and added one for good measure.

Sammy the Man Maitland may have established something at a ball park with his registered three hits off Judd. It is doubtful if any player in the Peterborough Softball League has that honor, that's one of the hits were of the bunt variety, the other an infield hit and a "scrummy" to serve the man his hits in one game by any team against Judd is four. However, three hits goes into the record—and it may be something of a mark.

And don't let the "wise guys" influence you. A couple of these guys crashed after the game that Judd was coasting, content with merely giving an exhibition. Mr. Judd has no intention of letting any team spoil his record, exhibition or no exhibition. He was out there to win Saturday night and would have done so except for nine or more roadblocks from Point Anne.

The fine exhibition was productive of two things. A guarantee of a sell-out crowd when the teams clash again in Peterborough and further proof of the sports editor's "Give the public something that is different—and it won't let you down". The near 900 fans in CNE Park Saturday substantiates that.

HOCKEY VETERAN DIES

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—George S. Masscar, 52, a former professional hockey player, died here Saturday. Born in Waterford, Ont., he came here 46 years ago. In 1927 he turned professional and played with New Haven, New York Americans, St. Louis, Detroit and finally Buffalo.

Mr. Masscar coached the Good Cheer club, OHA Junior B champions in 1934-35.

NEW CHAMPION

How about a split season in the American League? With the New York Yankees 10½ games out front, they can start the second half any day now.

With the exception of Boston and Baltimore, the rest of the league has taken off in a southerly direction while the Yanks pile it on. Chicago dropped all the way to third place and Cleveland struggled back into second only because the White Sox have dropped right straight.

Perhaps Boston will make a second half challenge like last year but they'll have to learn how to beat the Yankees.

Casey Stengel's runaway Yanks shaded Chicago twice Sunday—4-1 in 10 innings in the second game on Hank Bauer's two - run pinch single. Cleveland trimmed Boston 10-7 in the first game with Sam Mele driving in four runs but the Red Sox got even 3-1 in the second as Dave Sisler and Ike Delock teamed up on a two-hitter.

BALTIMORE TAKES TWO

Baltimore stormed past Detroit into fifth place by sweeping the Tigers twice 7-2 and 6-3 on complete game pitching by Jim Wilson and Hal Brown. Kansas City split two at Washington, winning the first 8-5 as Athletic hurler Wally Burnette, just purchased from Denver, was lifted for a pinch hitter when the Senators clubbed Robin Shantz in a six-run rally.

If the Yanks' margin in the American is hurting attendance at New York, that's hardly the case in Milwaukee. The season's largest crowd, 61,351, turned out to see the Braves sweep New York stretch its winning streak to 10 games.

Milwaukee pitched a brilliant game to beat Billy Pierce, retiring the last 15 men to face him. Andy Carey's two-run single in the second was enough for Ford's 11th victory.

Fred Hatfield hit two homers for the White Sox in the second one to break a 4-4 tie in the 10th, but the Yanks rallied in the bottom half on two walks and Bauer's clutch single for Johnny Kucks' fifth victory.

SUSPECTS RIDE CAR

Umpire Ed Hurley brought the White Sox were apprehended prior to the ball thrown by pitcher Dick Donovan in the second game. He ordered the car searched after examining the gloves of catcher Sam Mele, pitcher Ray Narleski and third baseman Hatfield.

Mele drove a car with a double single and sacrifice fly for Cleveland in the first game at Boston but nobody else got a hit against Red Sox pitching in the second. When Sisler retired the first batter and walked two, Delock struck out Al Rosen and Bob Lemon and got Hal Naragon on a fly ball.

Baltimore's pitching received fine support in the Tigers' pitchers who hit a homer in each game. Moore helped himself with two singles and a triple in the first and Francona's grand slam homer helped him get six runs batted in for the day. Ned Garver and Virgil Trucks were the Tiger losers.

Burnett's debut was most encouraging for the Kansas City Athletics. He was backed up by Joe Demaestri with a double and belted a 13-hit attack. Lou Berberet's three-run homer was the big blow for Washington in the nightcap against Shantz in the fourth inning of the second game.

PITCHES NO-HITTER

On Saturday, Mel Parnell, slim Boston lefty, pitched a no-hitter and pitched himself into major league history by throwing a no-hit 4-0 victory against the White Sox.

Veteran Parnell became the first Boston pitcher to toss a no-hitter since Howard Ehmke did it in 1923. He faced 28 batters. Two reached first on walks, one scored first on an error.

The Yankees edged Cleveland 2-1, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 1-0 and Detroit edged Washington 6-5 in the Saturday games.

Pitching: Buster Freeman, Cincinnati — Won twice in relief against New York, 4-3 in 10 innings and 4-3 in 11 innings to make season record 7-2.

Batting: Stan Musial, Cardinals — Took over National League batting lead at .337 with seven hits in nine trips, including three doubles, one triple and one homer.

WINS BIKE RACE

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., won the annual 50-mile bicycle race Sunday in the record time of two hours, 31 seconds.

He received the Maurice Dupuis trophy and $200, besides a strong wind to lead his nearest opponent by a half-mile at the finish.

The National League's 10-day suspension rule against a pitcher intentionally throwing at a batter makes a manager think twice when he has his ace hurler on the mound, bent on gaining revenge by dusting off a batter.

That's why Don Newcombe was yanked Sunday by Brooklyn manager Walt Alston.

Newcombe, fired up after being hit by a pitched ball, was all set to "get even" with Ed Bouchee of Chicago when Alston made his seventh - inning pitching change. The game, won by Brooklyn 10-4, was a rowdy contest from the outset. Carl Furillo and Don Newcombe for the Dodgers, one with the bases loaded.

The throwing started in the early innings and the Cubs were angered when Newcombe and Gene Baker sprawling twice after being "it" in a play. Baker's second grand slam homer to put Chicago ahead, 4-1.

OUT TO GET EVEN

Jim Hughes, formerly of the Dodgers, hit Newcombe with a pitched ball in the second and Newk apparently was all set to get even.

However, all four umpires called out Alston and Cub manager Stan Hack and warned that another case of intentionally throwing "it" at a batter would result in the banishment of both the pitcher and the batter's manager, ending in a 10-day suspension for both.

"The Dodgers could get along without me for 10 days, but not without Don," Alston said when Newcombe told him "if they throw at me, I'll throw at them."

Alston figures Newcombe at 10-4 lead "we could coast and there was no use in taking chances."

The National League race remained tight with Milwaukee still leading Brooklyn by five games and Brooklyn five games back. Cincinnati defeated New York 4-3 in 10 innings on Bob Thomson's double and 4-3 in 11 innings on Ted Kluszewski's single.

MUSIAL TAKES LEAD

Stan Musial surged into the National batting lead at .337 with seven hits in nine at bats, including three doubles, a triple and a homer. Lead - off man Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, Musial and Al Dark drove in a total of nine runs as the Cards' 9-1 opening romp. The Phils snapped St. Louis' fourgame winning streak 5-3 as Curt Simmons and Jack Meyer combined for a two-run rally in the ninth.

The eighth base on balls by Pirate pitching forced in the winning run in the eighth inning as Milwaukee's first game victory. Joe Adcock's long homer and his eighth in the last nine games, made the easier for Bob Trowbridge and winner Taylor Phillips in the second.

Closer rally were down the Giants twice, taking the rain-spattered opener on Willie Kirkland's single. Reliefer Buster Freeman won his second decision of the day when Bridges singled home Ted Kluszewski in the 11th. Willie Mays' 11th homer with a man on had tied the score in the eighth.

BRAVES WIN SATURDAY

Milwaukee swept the Dodgers 9-3 for their fourth straight victory over the fading world champions. Saturday.

Robin Roberts held Cincinnati to four hits in 7 2/3 innings before Phillies to a 2-0, third-straight win over the Redlegs.

Vinegar Bend Mizell held New York Giants to five hits for a 5-3 St. Louis Cardinals victory.

Chicago Cubs swept a double-header from Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4 and 6-5. Bob Rush set the Pirates down with little trouble in the first game, but Dee Fondy had to come through a 10th inning homer to wrest the second game from Pittsburgh hands.

Cleghorns Together To Last

Inseparable Hockey Greats Rejoined In Death Line-Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Sprague and Odie Cleghorn, the inseparable stars of professional hockey's early days, were rejoined in death Saturday.

Odie, the dapper little forward who believed in finesse rather than force on the ice, was found dead when his sister went to awaken him to attend the funeral of brother Sprague, whose favorite moments in hockey came when he was in the centre of a fracas.

"I'm sure Odie died of a broken heart," said Ottawa sportsman Tommy Gorman, an old - time friend of the Cleghorns, suffered a heart attack Friday and has been confined to bed.

LIKE TWINS

Leo Dandurand, veteran Montreal sportsman and a long-time friend of the Cleghorns, said: "They were almost like twins."

Sprague died Thursday of injuries received June 20 when he was struck by a car. Odie appeared in good health when he greeted mourners who visited the funeral parlor to pay their respects to the all-time defence great. But he told his friends:

"I guess I haven't too much longer to live. I don't know I'm only a year younger than Sprague."

Sprague was 66 and Odie 65.

KEYED SHOCK

The news of Odie's death came as a severe shock to those who had not heard of it before going to bed Saturday night.

Dandurand, his voice choked with emotion, had difficulty in relating the sad news.

"Odie was very well yesterday" he said. "Nobody knew he had a heart condition."

Odie was recognized as one of the greatest stickhandlers of his time. When his playing days as a centre ended he became a coach and he became an outstanding coach and referee.

Strangely, as a coach, Odie was the man mainly responsible for the end of the era of the defensive man at which both he and Sprague excelled.

THREE FORWARD LINES

As coach of a weak Pittsburgh team, he instituted the system of using three forward lines and changing them often to get the best out of his players. Soon every team adopted the plan.

Odie was also a fastidious about his clothes and even before appearing on the ice he would carefully comb his hair. Sprague, rough and always ready for a battle, was an extrovert and given to practical jokes.

Sprague was also the self-appointed protector of Odie and engaged in many fights because someone had roughed up his brother.

One of the bitterest brawls in his career was a result of this. Sprague thought Newsy Lalonde, another of hockey's all-time greats was picking on Odie and the two started a fight that ended with Sprague in a stretcher and both under arrest.

Newsy, who became a good friend of the Cleghorns, suffered a heart attack Friday and has been confined to bed.

LIKE TWINS

Mrs. Lalonde said he spent a comfortable day yesterday but was allowed no visitors. She added that he had talked of little else but Sprague's death the day prior to his attack. Newsy is 68.

Odie and Sprague started their hockey careers with Montreal Westmounts in the old Provincial League. They went to Stars to play for the St. Nicholas squad for a time but returned to the Canada to join the famed Renfrew Millionaires.

After a year there they returned to their native Montreal to join the Wanderers. Odie's playing career was interrupted by service in the First World War. In 1918, when the Westmount arena burned down, Odie switched to Montreal Canadiens and Sprague went to Ottawa to finish his career with the Senators.

Sprague helped the Senators win two Stanley cups before hanging up his skates.

Leonard Ties For Fourth

Bill Casper Has Sub-Par 274 Wins $26,800 Open Tourney

By CHARLES HAMM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMERSET, Que. (CP)—Bill Casper, Jr., a pleasant, 25-year-old San Diego golfer, went fishing today to reel in after winning the fourth annual $26,800 open tournament and the Labatt trophy. It was his first pro golf event victory since turning professional two years ago.

Richer by $5,000, Casper said Sunday: "I've been waiting a long time for this to happen, especially this year. I wanted just one big win so I could qualify for and take a rest."

Casper took his wife, his two-year-old son Lloyd and a baby and a few friends on a fishing trip.

His four rounds of 68-68-67-71—274 were 14 strokes under Royal Quebec golf par and three strokes better than Jimmy Demaret's 276. Demaret, who has played out of Bismarck, Lake, N.Y., went through the final round with a sprained finger.

Casper started the final round Sunday at Quebec golf course in a lead. Starting down the last nine he had Demaret by two; lead to six strokes over Demaret.

Casper said he "started playing it safe." Then he played three of his last four with a three-under-par 34. Casper went over par at two holes and had a 36.

"The Knoll was with me all the way," he said Sunday. "I had a par posted on Demaret's round and wished it up with me." Knoll, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was playing in Casper's threesome, along with Al Mamalian of Greenwich, N.Y., who finished in third place, one stroke behind Demaret at 277.

KROLL FOURTH

Kroll himself was in the running until the last round, when he had a one-over-par 73 and had to settle for fourth-place with Don Dow Fleetwalk of Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Demaret's second place take was $2,700, Mamalian received $1,- 350 and Fleetwalk and Flusterwald each banked $1,025.

Flusterwald, who won $2,400 first prize in the Canadian Open at Beaconsfield last week, had a profitable outing into Canada. He is currently the second-ranking PGA money winner, with more than $21,000.

Canada's Stan Leonard had a four-day total of 289 and was tied with Tommy Bolt of Houston, Texas, Bo Wininger of Odessa, Texas, and San Francisco's Bob Rosburg.

At 361 were 1954 winner Fod Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., and Henry Ransom of St. Ansom of St. Andrews, Ill.

Some big names, including defending champion Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and 1953 winner Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., finished in the money but out of luck.

BLEW CHANCES

Ford blew his chances Sunday when he ruckated to a four-over-par 76 that gave him a 284 total, which tied him with five others, including the present Canadian Open champion, amateur Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla.

Littler was one stroke back at 285, with four others.

Other Canadians beside Leonard to finish in the money were Lyle Crawford of Vancouver, with 293, Gerry Kesserling, of Toronto with 297, and Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver with 298.

Toronto's Al Balding had a four day score of 301, good for a share in the $1,800 reserved for Canadian prizes.

Favorites Win Quebec Tennis

MONTREAL (CP) — Favorites triumphed down the line as the Quebec open tennis champion ships concluded Sunday.

Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and Mrs. Hanna Sladek of Montreal took the singles crowns with ease.

Bedard, who raced past Don Fontana of Toronto 7-5, 6-0, 6-0, teamed with Fontana for the men's doubles title. Mrs. Sladek and Theresa Rinfret of Montreal won the women's event.

Bedard kept a finger in all the doings by joining Odette Dodge of Montreal in the victorious mixed doubles duo.

Most of the entrants have headed for Ottawa and the Ontario tennis championships now under way. The Quebec open finals crowded out the second playing of the eastern Canadian finals at Quebec, postponed by bad weather.

Bedard and Fontana have to play off for the men's singles and also are in the men's doubles final. They now are down for the week of Aug. 12.

Teams Split Double Bills; Royals on Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dutch pinning day, Montreal lefthander Fred Klipp makes it more apparent that he's ready to return to the parent Brooklyn Dodgers.

How soon the Brooks call him back depends largely on whether Klipp can come back to win the second game of a double date with Syracuse Chiefs, one of Montreal's International League rivals.

Today's big day for a mere game and a half Montreal lead over second Toronto, so Klipp's services are needed urgently. He held Buffalo Bisons to four hits in the Royals' first - game 5-3 victory Sunday, but Buffalo southpaw Connie Ryan came back to win the second game 3-2, on Lou Limmer's three-hitter.

Monday day's other double bills also resulted in splits. Toronto won the first 6-5 over Rochester, but the Red Wings took the second 4-1. Miami whipped Columbus 5-4, but the Jets bounced back to win 4-3. In Havana, the Sugar Kings cuffed Richmond 6-2, then dropped the nightcap 4-1.

Klipp's record for the season is 14-4. Dick Brodowski added the cause with a home run. Their second-game victory gave the Bisons one game and percentage points over Toronto, idle today.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, July 19th, 1955.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Venture forth and do well today. It 'll be a good period for presenting new, if well thought-out, ideas. Don't object to constructive criticism which may enhance the value of your perception.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Keep eyes open for available opportunities. Take up the slack in your activity, tighten up loose ends in your plans. There is a tendency to be changeable and restless: to flog it at others.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — There is no task too difficult to attempt if it has a worthy objective. Accomplishment may not be with in coming but, when it does, you feel fine. Abuse to your health is needed, yet possess a great love for family and home. You are kind, gentle at a rule but can be aroused by injustices. Association with enterprising people will stimulate your type of output. You make excellent teachers, historians, writers, students of the sciences. You have mechanical ability, too, and in some cases a flair for politics is predominant. A word of warning: Avoid a tendency to jealousy. Birthdate of: John Paul Jones, financier; Khridge Gerry, statesman.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Travel the well-established paths, not unchartered ones. Also proceed directly forward; do not become lost in a maze of non-essentials. Control over temper important.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Watch lest you overindulge in food or liquids. Also, be careful not to alienate good friends by taking offense at fancied slights. Leoites generally have magnetic personal fire. Display yours!

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't dissipate energies on less than noteworthy projects. Furthermore, have patience with "red tape." In certain phases of business it is necessary to deal with it gracefully, speedily.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Irritability and confusion are likely problems now. Sidestep them deftly, decisively. Incidentally, don't over-work just because you feel fine. Abuse to your health

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Don't allow anything to disrupt your better judgment, family happiness. Stars favor research, friendly dealings, handling associates. Be happy.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Move deliberately, carefully, slowly, but ever forward. Extract the best out of day's problems. The latest exercise is a game that consumes all obstacles along the way.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Look to real thinkers to give you aid or advice when puzzled. Review past efforts with a view to improving today's performance. Be alert, take advantage of real opportunity.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — This day's influences encourage business and family matters, the development of new methods to eliminate waste. Associate only with intelligent and conscientious errons. Maintain stability.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Carry out duties quickly, effectively. Introduce a novel twist to routine. Circulate about for fresh ideas, new contacts, interesting discussions. Prepare, decide, act! Your day today under the guidance of Cancer, Head Sign of the Water Triplicity. You are hon-

Mel Parnell Hurls No-Hitter In Bosox Win Over Chicago

BOSTON (CP) — Mel Parnell, one of the greatest southpaws ever to hurl for Boston Red Sox, gained a niche among baseball's immortals Monday night as a no-hit 4-0 triumph over Chicago White Sox.

In a game delayed by rain an hour and eight minutes, and for which the crowd was twice, Parnell faced only 28 batters, one over the regulation distance.

He walked two batters and another reached first on an error. Four of the White Sox struck out and only five of them hit balls to the outfield.

Parnell made no bones about knowing he had a no-hitter as was plainly evident on the last play of the game.

Big left Dominic, as erstwhile teammate, was the final batter, pinch-hitting for Jim Brosnan, a left-handed swinger. Walt swung and drove a hard bouncer right at Parnell who gobbled it and beat Dropo in a race for the bag for the final putout.

As he raced for the bag the Red Sox on the bench swarmed onto the field and then onto the field ran to surround him and congratulate him.

Joe Cronin, Boston general manager and a hard-hitter himself, expressed the club's feelings in a most concrete way—a $500 bonus. The explanation that, to meet baseball law, Mel would have to sign a new contract to accept it.

When asked if he was shocked if he knew he had a no-hitter going, Mel replied:

"Let's not kid around. I knew it."

From the seventh inning on as the crowd cheered each putout inside, I couldn't help but know it."

Parnell's no-hitter is the first in the American League since May 6, 1953 when Bobo Holloman of St. Louis Browns set down Philadelphia A's in a night game.

It was the first by a Boston pitcher in Fenway Park since June 21, 1917, when Ernie Shore blanked Washington 4-0.

The ordinary golfer fouls up a lot of short shots to the green because he tries to scoop up the ball with a flip of his wrists. What he should do is to cock his wrists fully on his short back-swing and have his wrist-hinge in line with his arms as the ball is hit—and never let his left hand get ahead of alignment with his left wrist until well after the ball is 6ft its way. Keep the back of your left hand moving at a right angle to the line of flight as you come into the ball, and not long after that as you can in reaching after the ball, until your wrists begin to roll over naturally.

SEES TWO RECORDS

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungary's Sandor Iharos, returning to competition after a rest and a trip to Australia, bettered two more world records Sunday in the 10,000 metres and six-mile distances.

He ran 10,000 metres in 28 minutes, 42.8 seconds and six miles in 27:43.8, topping the marks established by Czechoslovakia's Olympic triple medalist Emil Zatopek. Zatopek's time for 10,000 metres was 28:54.2 and for the six miles, 27:59.2.

Romanian Star Hurdles Way To Freedom

LONDON (AP)—Ion Oprea, Romania's Olympic track star, has escaped his Communist homeland after making up his mind only 48 seconds before the start of the 120-yard hurdles race.

While 25,000 British sports fans cheered the winner at White City Stadium Saturday, he took a stroll for freedom.

To the crowd, it was just another race. The 27-year-old Romanian athlete, after he had made his decision, said it was a "race to freedom."

The plan to escape his Communist chaperones was cooked up on the spur of the moment, Ion said, while he was limbering up for the hurdles race. He was approached by a man who identified himself as the editor of the Free Romanian Press Agency operating in London.

"I told him simply I wanted to get away," Oprea said.

He finished fourth. Some people felt sorry for him, but Ion wasn't sorry.

"I remember hardly anything about the race," he said. "All I know as I jumped the last hurdle was that the prize for me was liberty."

While the crowd cheered the winner, Metals's P. B. Hildreth, and while the attention of Communist officials was distracted, Oprea put his escape plan into action.

He slipped quietly back to the starting line and put on my blue track jumper—the one I was to have worn at this year's Olympic Games," he said. "Then without speaking to anyone, I hurried to the dressing room for a shower and quick change. Making sure I was not being followed, I made straight for the stadium exit."

There he was hurried into hiding.

SEES UKRAINE FREEDOM

GARDENTON, Man. (CP) Ukrainian people under Communist rule are not going to be enslaved forever, says Immigration Minister Pickersgill. Speaking Saturday to Ukrainian - speaking Canadians marking the diamond jubilee of this community, he said conditions will change and those under Communist rule will have an opportunity to have a free life.

Juveniles Bow To Cannifton By 10-5 Score

Taking advantage of seven Belleville errors in the first three innings, Cannifton Clippers handed the Juveniles a 10-5 defeat in a South Hastings baseball contest here Saturday night.

The city crew could do nothing right in the opening innings of the darkness-shortened affair. They booted the ball twice in the first, three times in the second and twice more in the third. Meanwhile, Cannifton banged out six hits for all ten of their markers.

Belleville netted one in the first and two-in each of the fifth and sixth innings. The game was called after six frames.

Cole was on the hill for Cannifton, scattering six safeties. He struck out four batters while walking an equal number.

Moe Huddleston started for the Juveniles but was chased in the initial frame. Gord St. Louis took over until the fourth when Coach Art Wright came in. Between them they allowed nine hits. Huddleston walked two; St. Louis fanned two and passed four while Wright nipped five on strikes, while walking none.

Moore, Peter and MacDonald followed a pair of walks with successive base hits in the first and aided by the errors took a 3-0 lead. Shaker Baker's double were the big blow in the second while three walks, two errors and Peter's two-bagger closed the starter's scoring.

Pat Wright walked and scored on a passed ball for the Juveniles in the first. A base on balls to Walmsley was followed by Bob Hull's long home run blast to net the first-frame tallies. One error, three walks and Little's double ended the game scoring.

Moore led the winners at bat with a triple and two singles, with Hugh Peirie banging out a double and single. Sheffield singled twice while Baker doubled and MacDonald's singled.

Bob Hull homered and singled to pace the local nine and Gary Little had a double. Singles went to Jack O'Neill, Jim Green and Chuck Kingston.

Detroit Tigers Will Be Sold Today

DETROIT (AP) — The biggest money deal in baseball history will be consummated today with the sale of Detroit Tigers and Briggs Stadium.

Only a radical change of heart by the six-man board of directors could keep an 11-man syndicate headed by Michigan radio executives Fred Knorr and John Fetzer from gaining control of the franchise.

The directors scheduled a meeting at 4:30 p.m. EDT to wrap up negotiations on a $5,000,000 transaction that will swing control of the Tigers away from the Briggs family for the first time in more than 20 years.

FOUR IN RUNNING

Four syndicates, including the Knorr-Fetzer group, remain officially in the running. But insiders say only the combine headed by Bill Veeck has even an outside chance of upsetting the radio executives.

Two other bids of at least $5,000,000 are those by syndicates headed by Toronto sportsman Jack Kent Cooke and Hollywood movie producer Bob Goldstein.

Cole, a magazine publisher in Lansing, Mich., and Fetzer, also is president of Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League. Actor Clark Gable is a member of the Goldstein combine.

Big cash outlays in recent years for major league franchises include the $1,400,000 put up by Dan Topping, Del Webb and Larry Macphail for New York Yankees in 1945, and $3,500,000 reportedly paid by Arnold Johnson and a group of Chicago industrialists for Philadelphia Athletics, who moved to Kansas City.

Nashua, Swaps Fatten Purses

NEW YORK (CP) — Nashua, Swaps and Swoon's Son won three of the richest purses in U.S. racing Saturday. All were favorites.

Nashua toyed with eight rivals for half a mile, then drew away for an easy 3½-length victory in the $114,400 Monmouth Park Handicap and stepped another $78,200 into the bank.

It was one of Nashua's easiest victories, although he carried 129 pounds and ran on a muddy track. The Castle Rock Farm's Mr. First finished second and R. C. Markus' Mielleur was third.

The four-year-old son of Nasrullah-Segula raised his total winnings to $1,258,985, more than $150,000 ahead of the now retired Citation.

Swaps continued his record-breaking by setting a track record to win the $152,100 Gold Cup Handicap. The big California four-year-old led Lasagnites Farm's Mister Gus and Porterhouse Stable's Dedicate in 1:58 3-5, just 2-5ths of a second shy of the world record for 1¼ miles set by the late Charles S. Howard's great Irish horse, Noor, in 1950.

Swoon's Son fortified his bid for three-year-old honors with a six-length stretch drive for a 1½-length triumph in the $158,825 Arlington classic.

The E. Gay Drake's sensational bay colt remained unbeaten for the season in registering his fifth straight victory under the expert handling of jockey Dave Erb.

Second money went to a 20-to-1 shot, Ben A. Jones.

WINS DECATHLON

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) Rafer Johnson won the United States decathlon championship Saturday despite an injured nerve in his left knee that probably kept him from breaking his own world record.

Johnson, a student at UCLA, piled up 7,754 points in the 10 track and field events to beat the three-man team which will represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Melbourne.

The world record, set by Johnson last year, is 7,983 points.

Canuck Cowboys Win All But One Major Event

CALGARY (CP) — The Calgary Stampede, the West's greatest rangland show, closed Saturday night with Canadian cowboys winning all but one major event.

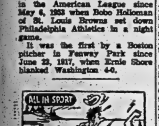
Despite rain on the final two days, $51,271 persons attended, and for the sixth straight year set a Stampede Week attendance record.

Keith Hyland of Black Diamond, Alta., succeeded Casey Tibbs of Fort Pierre, S.D., as all-around open cowboy champion and replaced Wiz Gerstle also of Black Diamond, as Canadian all-round champion.

In the saddle bronc - riding, premier event of the show, was won by Bob Robinson of Calgary.

Byron Wolford of Tyler, Tex., winner of the $1,200 North American all-cowboy championship for the second straight time, was top money-winner in the show with more than $2,000. Wolford set a record of 12.8 seconds to rope and tie a calf, breaking the former mark of 13.3 seconds.

The world championship racing championship was won Saturday night by Lloyd Nelson, 20-year-old High River, Alta., cowboy.



$13,000,000 FOR MINE

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Post says the Happy Jack Mine in southern Utah has been reported sold for between $12,000,000 and $20,000,000—believed to be the largest financial deal in uranium mining history. The mine, located in uranium-rich White canyon, was bought 10 years ago for $1,000.

Worried about Bills?

Not Mr. Peake!

Mr. Peake* was off work for a few months last year. It wasn't his fault and he is now working steadily again at a good salary. But while he was out of work bills piled up and he was constantly worried trying to meet the most pressing obligations and mail the others. Finally on a friend's advice, he dropped in to see us. After hearing the circumstances, our Loan Manager was able to loan him enough to settle all his bills, and on payments he could easily meet out of his income. "Your Citizens was the smartest move I ever made," Mr. Peake says. You'll say so too. If you need money for any useful purpose, come in or call our Loan Manager today.

Two changes Harry Shoubridge is glad to see

"The modern food store is a shopper's paradise," says food store owner Harry Shoubridge. "Self-service has made buying quicker and easier. New departments, such as frozen foods, have brought a wider choice of products. Package designs, store arrangements and lighting have all been modernized and vastly improved."

Another change benefits Mr. Shoubridge and his family in a personal way. Nowadays it's easier to provide financial security for families because life insurance policies are much more flexible. Never before has the range of policies and plans been so wide.

Life insurance representatives, too, are trained to give more competent service in the selection of plans to meet individual family needs. Today, through life insurance, ready funds are provided for emergencies, for education, for safeguarding your home, for your business and for your retirement.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies in Canada are in step with progress . . . bringing benefits to people in all walks of life!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

Life insurance payments to Canadians totalled more than $300 million last year and $200 million of these payments were made to living policyholders.

Model Exposes White Panties And Is Fired

SHEFFIELD, Eng. (AP)—Model Sylvia Frith has lost her job of posing in the nude after she performed a dance in which she exposed her white panties.

A model at the Sheffield College of Art, Sylvia did a slow blues dance at graduation party attended by 70 students. Part of the act was to lift her dress, allowing a brief view of her undies.

"I heard the principal was furious," she said, "and when I phoned to apologize he told me I'd been sacked."

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons' three opposition parties are united in disapproval of the new tax-sharing proposals the federal government has put before the provinces.

Opposition Leader Drew and Social Credit Leader Low joined Monday in saying the government should call provincial premiers back into conference and work out a new agreement giving them more money.

Mr. Drew said the federal proposals will be an improvement on the tax rental agreements they will replace next April 1. But they would not meet the needs of provincial and municipal governments. They appeared to be "a cynical butchery of the federal system."

Mr. Low described the plan as "unrealistic and staggering."

HARRIS OPENS DEBATE

Finance Minister Harris, opening debate on the federal measure by outlining the new agreements, pointed to the estimated $653,000,000 in federal revenues in the first year of the five-year plan.

He said the government feels it has reached the limit in "our ability to dispose of our revenue resources." Therefore, the first-year payments would be 20 per cent higher than under the present tax rental formula and would add an average eight per cent to provincial budgets.

The debate, conducted with few fireworks in a sparsely-attended house, continues today on a resolution preceding introduction of the actual legislation.

COLDWELL CRITICAL

CCF Leader Coldwell criticized the federal plan, but not in the different standpoint than the other two opposition party leaders. He said it departs from the principle of past tax rental agreements that the federal government income among provinces to provide a common standard of social benefits across the country regardless of differences in provincial wealth.

One low-cost province member, Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South), supported the federal stand. His home province of Nova Scotia would receive 20 per cent more than under the present tax rental agreements.

The proposed plan is a two-part affair. One part provides for share-the-wealth payments to the less-wealthy provinces and certain guarantees of revenue stability regardless of what a province does. The other sets out the mechanics for sharing the direct tax fields of personal and corporation income tax and succession duties.

FOOT DRIVER PAYS

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Kenneth Krotz, 20, of nearby Millbank had to foot a $50 bill Monday for driving with his feet. He was fined $25 and suspended from driving for a year after he was charged with guilty to criminal negligence. Krotz drives a specially-equipped car in front seat of his late-model convertible, operating the steering wheel with his toes.

'GREATEST SHOW' PLAYS LAST TIME UNDER BIG TOP

Ringling's Giant Tent Is Down for Last Time

By WILLIAM A. SWARTWORTH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Workmen pulled down, for the last time today, the mammoth tent of Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey circus, ending an era in entertainment that thrilled generations.

But the circus announced it is making plans for next season—without the big top and many other attractions which have been circus tradition for years.

"The Greatest Show on Earth" closed its road tour in a blaze of glory Monday night at nearby Heidelberg. Every performer seemed to put a little extra into his act for the capacity crowd of 10,000.

It was a night of glitter and spectacle, a fitting send-out for the world's greatest circus.

TO WINTER QUARTERS

After the crowd melted away, weary performers and workers packed belongings and gear, and the circus headed for winter quarters in Sarasota, Fla. North, board chairman and president of the circus, abruptly announced the closing of the big canvas shortly before the afternoon show.

"The big top is gone as if now exists is, in my opinion, a thing of the past," North said. "We are preparing plans for the future which may involve as almost completely mechanically controlled exhibition."

But he promised the fifth presentation of the circus will open as usual April 3 at Madison Square Garden in New York and will play the 1957 season in other air-conditioned arenas in the United States.

Labor troubles, bad weather, rising costs and other factors such as television, which cut into attendance, put an end to the tent show.

STARTED IN 1884

The Ringling circus had its start in a tiny museum show in 1884. It grew steadily, and combined with Barnum, Bailey in 1919 to become the largest circus in the world.

John Ringling, last of the five founding brothers, died in 1936 and his estate was plunged into fencing difficulties.

Later troubles forced the circus to close in 1938 at Scranton, Pa., and return to winter quarters for repairs.

Then on July 1, 1944, came one of the big disasters. Fire broke out when a fire started in the big top in Hartford, Conn. One hundred and sixty-eight persons died and 487 were injured in the ensuing stampede.

In the next 10 years the circus paid out about $3,000,000 in fire claims. Some officials went to jail.

TOSSED FROM CAR

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Jessie Blandford, 38, was tossed naked from the back of a car on the Dundas-beth Way Monday. She was found unclothed and bleeding from face and body on the side of the road in the highway.

She was found to have suffered only facial bruises. Questioned by police, she refused to press charges.

Britain Spending Millions to Make Christmas Isle Into New Eniwetok

HONOLULU (AP) — Britain is spending millions to turn tiny Christmas Island into its own version of the United States' H-bomb testing ground base at Eniwetok, it was disclosed today in a statement from Christmas said today.

"In the last six weeks hundreds of British airmen and thousands of tons of equipment" have been poured into the small and low-lying island in the mid-Pacific, it said. He did not want his identity disclosed.

"Christmas Island is about 2,500 miles east and south of the U.S. Pacific nuclear base centre at Eniwetok. It is about 1,200 miles south of Honolulu. Technically, it is only 350 miles from the Honolulu city limits, which stretch all along the coast of the island of Oahu.

The Australian said Christmas Island officials estimated that England is spending "about £150,-000,000 in preparing its nuclear test base there."

He said "at least four big ships" have brought in building and other materials and supplies from Singapore and elsewhere.

Prime Minister Eden has said the tests will be "high air bursts . . . in the megaton range" but he said they will be made "far from any inhabited land."

The main British base on Christmas is being set up at Cassidy Point, on the north side. It is built during the Second World War.

Until the British started arriving in mid-June there were only two white men on the 15-square-mile island—the manager of a copra plantation employing about 50 Gilbert islanders and a radio man for South Pacific Airlines, which flies through both England and the U.S. lay claim to Christmas, the island has been under British administration and its copra plantation is owned by a British firm.

Boxboard Industry Accused Of Twenty-Year-Old Combine

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill to amend the combines investigation act was introduced in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson. He said he will decide later what action to take on the case.

The industry makes the cardboard used in the manufacture of so-called folding and set-up boxes to pack cigarets and toothpaste, drugs, cakes, canned goods and hats, shoes and suits, cereals and chocolates.

The commission, working on evidence given by combines investigator T. D. MacDonald, charged that since 1945 the combine has boxed up fix prices and restrict competition was centrally operated through a trade organization known as Dominion Paperboard Ltd. of Montreal.

It urged this organization be smashed and steps be taken to block certain of its prices and fencing activities.

Later troubles forced the circus to close in 1938 at Scranton, Pa., and return to winter quarters for repairs.

The commission said that in 1938-39 the members of the alleged combine shared the costs of keeping the Toronto plant of Dick Company closed.

This was joint action on the part of members of an industry to limit facilities for producing and manufacturing and must have been intended to restrict production during the period when the arrangements to share the costs of a competitor were in effect," the commission said.

Brothers and Co. Ltd., Quebec City; Northeastern Paper Products Ltd. and Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd., Quebec City.

Galt Company Canada Ltd. Toronto; Hinde and Dauch Paper Co. of Canada Ltd., Toronto; Hoover Wood Fibre Co. Ltd., Thorold; Strathcona Paper Co. Ltd., Napanee; Miller Brothers Co. Ltd., Glen Miller, Ont.; Bathurst Power and Paper Co. Ltd., Bathurst, N.B.; Minas Basin Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd., Hantsport, N.S.; Fraser Companies Ltd., Plaster Rock, N.B.

The combine was reported to have spread across the country, reaching into 24 processors except Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. These three are served by Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd. of Victoria, a subsidiary of the E. B. Eddy Company. Sidney Roofing was not named in the report.

Factories boosted prices seven times in the 1947-53 period. Each time the increases were uniform. Four were initiated by Dominion Paperboard, two by Hinde and Dauch and one by Gair.

Canadian price rises lagged behind those in the U.S. but in the end they reached a higher plateau. They remained high even when U.S. prices declined in reaction to the market. Canadian prices did not ease even when the market weakened.

Govt. Defers Licences on Small Boat Owners to Obtain Views

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans to hold talks with small boat owners and manufacturers before putting into effect its proposal to license operators of Canada's growing fleet of pleasure craft.

Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant to Transport Minister Marler, told the Commons Railways Committee Monday that questionnaires also have been sent to operators to get their views.

Provision for the licensing of small craft is contained in a government bill to amend the Canada Shipping Act now before the committee for detailed study. Once the bill is effective, a licensing operator will need a licence to run a boat. He will also need a permit or a licence to drive his car.

Mr. Langlois said that before the regulations are drafted conferences will be held with interested parties, likely this fall.

Under the legislation, navigation regulations governing operation of motor boats on minor waters will be extended to all Canadian waters. Regulations governing motor boats on minor waters, such as small lakes and rivers, forbid excessive speed on designated stretches.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) and Albert Lavigne (Liberal—Stormont) complained that inadequate lifejackets stamped "government approved" are being sold to swimmers and boaters.

Mr. Langlois said the federal government has no jurisdiction over such sales. The lifejackets stamped with the "government-approved" stamp because they met the minimum requirements of provincial health departments.

Mr. Herridge said this isn't much use to a drowning person. He urged the Transport Department to see that all lifejackets offered for sale. The department now inspects lifejackets used on passenger vessels.

MASONS MEET

TORONTO (CP)—The Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario opened its 101st annual convention Monday. More than 3,000 delegates registered. Closed sessions of the board of general purposes will be held today. Grand Master Archbishop H. J. Wright of Saskatoon and board chairman Harry Martyn of Toronto are supervising the convention.

DISARMAMENT ISSUE SENT BACK FOR STUDY

UN Committee Will Hold Talks in Fall

By MAX HARKELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) The disarmament deadlock has been shifted back to the five-power United Nations disarmament sub-committee for another round of private talks this fall in New York or London.

The sub - committee's parent body, the 82-member disarmament commission, ended a stormy two-week public debate Monday night with no noticeable progress. Its only decision was to call on the sub-committee to resume its efforts and to take into account the various observations and proposals made during the discussion here.

The sub-committee—made up of Britain, Canada, the United States Russia and France—already has been negotiating three years and there is no end in sight. It met last in London March 19-May 4.

DEBATE AT ASSEMBLY

The next public debate on the arms issue probably will take place in the 81-nation assembly, which assets in New York Nov. 12.

The commission's meeting wound up on a sour note when the Soviet delegate, Arkadi Sobolev, called over a compromise resolution Peru presented to avoid a showdown between the Western powers and Soviet proposals.

Sobolev accused Gabriel A. Dromyko agreed to the idea until he saw the text of the Peruvian resolution. He then rejected the draft as pro-Western and voted against it. The vote was 10 to 1, with Yugoslavia abstaining.

OBJECTS TO CLAUSE

Gromyko objected especially to a clause which said "the resolution introduced on July 3 by Canada, the United Kingdom, France and the U.S., as amended, sets forth the principles upon which an effective program for the regulation and limitation of all armed forces can be based."

He said the Peruvian draft completely ignored Russia's proposal calling for a renunciation of the use of atomic weapons and the use of nuclear weapons.

The western declaration of principles had been presented at previous stages under a system of international conferences.

Both the Soviet and Western resolutions were sent to the subcommittee along with a third proposal, sponsored by Yugoslavia, urging action to halt experimental explosions of nuclear weapons.

Two Airplane Smashups Kill 23 Persons

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Twenty-three persons were killed and 10 injured critically Monday in two airplane crashes. A DC-3 liner plunged into a field 30 miles from Argentina.

All 18 persons aboard an Aerolineas Argentinas DC-3 liner died when the craft plunged into a field and burst into flames near Rio Tercero, 400 miles northwest of Argentina.

In the second crash, two Argentine air force jets collided over a Buenos Aires suburb. One then smashed into a hospital, killing four elderly women patients. The other jet plunged into a wooden shack and killed an infant.

Last Day of Sight for 4-Year-Old, Mike Sibole Will Lose Second Eye

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—This is the last full day of sight for four-year-old Mike Sibole. Wednesday he must have an operation that will take his left eye. His right one was taken out two years ago and the cancerous disease that caused its removal has spread to the left one.

X-ray treatments in New York prolonged the days Mike has been able to see flowers, birds, woods, seashore, his mother and dad, his baby brother, his puppy.

"There is no choice," says his father, Rev. James M. Sibole, rector of the Forrest Park Baptist Church.

Mike has seen a lot in his last days of seeing. He had a trip to Miami and many trips around the rolling citrus and lake lands of central Florida.

Today it will be a picnic, his father said.

The boy doesn't know yet that his eye must come out.

"I will tell him either when he is put to bed tonight or when he gets up Wednesday morning—probably just before he goes to the hospital," his father said.

Sibole sat in rear of his church last night and heard sixty members pray for Mike's recovery.

"It is not too late for God to hear our prayers and heal Mike," said Fred Pinson, a deacon, who conducted the meeting.

Quebec Swimmer 1st Canadian Male To Swim Channel

Jacques Amyot Makes Crossing From Cap Gris Nez

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DOVER, Eng. (CP)—Jacques Amyot of Quebec today swam the English Channel from France to England to become the first Canadian male to make the tricky crossing. He also was the first person to do it this season.

The 31-year-old father of three children clambered ashore near St. Margaret's Bay, a rocky, crescent-shaped inlet about four miles north of Dover.

He had set out on the 20-mile crossing from Cap Gris Nez.

Starting conditions were ideal for the powerful 206-pound Canadian, with a water temperature of 63 degrees and favorable tides, but in the stretch he struggled against a sea made choppy by a freshening wind.

WELL OFF RECORD

Amyot's reported time was 13 hours and two minutes—well outside the record of 10 hours, 49 minutes set by Egypt's Hassan Abd el Rehim in 1950.

Channel observers over slippery rocks to become the third Canadian to master the channel.

The others were Lorraine Winkle Roach Lecuyer of St. Thomas, Ont., made her successful swim in 1951 and Marilyn Bell of Toronto, 17 at the time, last summer became the youngest person to make the crossing.

NO PROGRESS REPORTS

Amyot slipped into the water at 2:38 a.m. today (9:38 p.m. EDT Monday) and for hours there was no report on his progress. He was accompanied by a French vessel which escorted the swimmer.

Amyot ran into strong tides about a mile off the English coast and appeared to tire as he battled his way to shore.

He had added about 45 minutes to his swimming time, but he rounded in a strong finishing burst and navigated the last 400 yards in jaunty style.

After a few minutes' rest, he swam back to the fishing smack which accompanied him, and a smack then headed back toward France.

SPOKE TO NO ONE

Amyot, who in the final stages had a big lead over Australian Jim Mage of lobster pots, landed in loneliness at the foot of a 300-foot chalk cliff. This bit of terra was inaccessible and he returned to the escort boat without talking to anyone on shore.

The first Channel crossing was in 1875 when Matthew Webb of Britain crossed to the Continent in 21 hours, 45 minutes. Since then it has been conquered about 73 times.

Sonny year a British holiday firm stages a mass Channel swim from France to England. This year's race is set for mid-August.

3 Deputies Named

LONDON (Reuters) — The appointment of three new deputy foreign ministers was announced by Moscow radio today. They succeed two weeks after Dmitri T. Shepilov took over the post of foreign minister from Vyacheslav Molotov.

Best-known of the three is Valerian A. Zorin, 54, who was permanent Soviet representative to the United Nations from September, 1952, to March, 1953.

Moscow radio also named as deputy foreign ministers Nikolai S. Patolichev and A. V. Zakharov.

Bachelor Monarch Of Iraq Given Royal Welcome

LONDON (AP)—Britain Monday gave a welcome of pomp and pageantry unrivalled since the coronation of Feisal II, king of Iraq, whose throne has become a prize in the east-west power struggle.

The 21-year-old bachelor monarch landed at Dover in his role as the lone treaty ally of the west in an Arab world turning slowly towards neutralism.

Britain and the United States were pledged to finish along the five-nation Baghdad pact of which Feisal's desert Kingdom is the only Arab member. The Russians have sworn to seek the destruction of the alliance along their southern borders.

A smiling Queen Elizabeth led the royal family out in force to greet Feisal soon after his arrival at the Dover train. The warship, which she was accompanied by Prime Minister Eden and other government leaders.

Later tonight, the Queen presided over a glittering state banquet in Feisal's honor at Buckingham Palace where he is staying.

Victim's Widow Says Dog Scared Off Prowlers

HAMILTON (CP) — The 26-year-old widow of small-time gambler Anton Vukmirovic said today her dog scared off two prowlers who may have been linked to the gangland killing of her husband, shot to death four days ago.

Elsa Kuterrosa said the men were at the door of the west-end apartment when the growls of the dog put them to flight early today.

The woman has stayed in the apartment since the discovery of her husband's body, with a bullet in the head, on an Ancaster Town Ship sideroad. She said Anton warned her a week before he was killed that he "wasn't up to anything happened to him "because if they don't get me, they'll get you."

ASKS ROTECTION

Mrs. Kuterroga was reported to have requested police keep under and finally requested police protection. "I know they are going to get me now just like Anton said."

Cheating or indebtedness have been mentioned as possible motives in the killing.

Police said they have no description of the two men who forced their way into the apartment almost an hour before the dog was roused.

Police theorized also that Kuterroga may have been walking into a trap set by syndicate seeking control of this industrial city's dice and poker games.

WAYLAID FROM OFFICE

They believe the Ukrainian-born victim was waylaid as he left the real-estate office where he had worked since May 1, been driven into the country and shot.

Police have not found the .32-calibre pistol that killed him.

His widow said he was not a "big - shot gambler" and was "friendly with everyone." She said the statement Monday from behind the apartment door which she refused to open to reporters.

FEELS LUCKY

TIMMINS (CP) — Jim Hollichuck is looking for anyone with a book of 1956 Irish sweepstake tickets. As Jim rested along the highway in the Timagami reserve on Monday, he noticed a bee landed a four leaf clover—four of them in fact, among the clump was a six-leaf clover.

Interest in the Bay of Quinte and Hastings County as a general tourist resort can be seen in reports just issued by provincial and provincial governments.

Ralph Hamilton, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce reports that since the beginning of January some 234 enquiries have been received by the travel and tourist departments of both governments on the holiday potentialities of this district. In addition nearly 60 letters have been replied to directly by the Chamber, he says. The enquiries come from all parts of Canada, the United States and Europe.

Careless Driving Case Remanded For One Week

James Joseph George, 18, of Dunlop Crescent, charged with careless driving in the death of Oscar Wesley Hall, 68, Dundas Street, was remanded a week in magistrate's court today.

Crown Attorney Donald Pringle told the magistrate an inquest will be held on the fatality next Monday.

Mr. Wannamaker was crossing Dundas St. outside the home on June 30th when he was struck by an automobile driven by George. He was carried nearly 60 feet and died on admission to Belleville General Hospital.

Trenton Edged By Combinettes

Belleville Combinettes squeezed out a 16-14 victory over Trenton last night in a free-swinging ladies' softball battle. The Trenton players walked off the field after the fifth inning, insisting the game be declared umpiring."

Linda Wood pitched for Belleville, allowing fifteen hits, including five home runs. She fanned two and walked the same number. Summers was her receiver.

Donna Drake tolled for Trenton, giving up eight safeties. She had seven strikeouts but walked ten batters. Little was her battery mate.

O'Neil and Drake were the big guns at the plate in defeat, each slamming two home runs. Little also hit for the circuit. Lois Batchelor crashed a home run for the Combinettes.

District Cadets Train for RCAF At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG — Two Ontario Flight Cadets, Raymond J. Hicks, 21, left, and Douglas W. Tufts, 23, team up for mutual navigation training at the RCAF Observer School at RCAF Station, Winnipeg, where they are specializing in airborne interception techniques. F/C Hicks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hicks, of Bloomfield, and F/C Tufts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tufts of Madoc.

They are training with the aid of a Cochrane Trainer, an enlarged model of the screen of a small radar set similar to that used for aircraft interception by the CF-100. F/C Hicks operates controls which trace a pattern on the screen indicating contact with the target.

F/C Tufts, using a tape recorder for recording purposes, records verbal instructions based on his reading of the screen which, in actual operation, would be directed to the pilot of his interceptor aircraft, guiding him to the target.

Patient Praises Hospital Staff For Treatment

Lorne M. Campbell, 31 Cedar Street, has written the following letter to Jack Vanover, chairman of the board of the Belleville General Hospital, following his recent release from that institution.

"Having been a patient of the hospital for a number of weeks, I would like to take this opportunity of thanking the hospital staff for the kind and considerate treatment that I received. I am a veteran of both World Wars and have spent approximately ten years in various hospitals, and that includes four sessions in Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto and your hospital does not have to take a back seat to any of them. The meals as supplied by the BGH are the best yet. (Having an appreciation for food due to over hundreds of meals, including special diets, you people are doing a remarkable job.)

Minor Baseball

In a bantam baseball contest last evening, postponed from last week, the Y's Men scored a 5-2 victory over the Knights of Columbus.

Glen Dalnard and Harvey formed the winning battery, Dalnard allowing four hits. Masterson pitched for the losing cause, giving up five safeties. Mavety was his catcher.

Bill Moxom bashed a home run for the Y's Men.

Three pee-wee games were also played last evening with the Orphans outlasting Belle Haven 18-10 in one of the contests. This game lasted only five innings.

Deacon Quakers downed Lloyd's Little Giants 11-7 while T.P.T.'s whipped Parkdale 12-5.

Chinese Reds Move 100 Tanks Into Lhasa

KALIMPONG, India (AP)—Reports from Tibet said today Chinese Communist forces have moved in more than 100 heavy tanks to protect the Lhasa area from the threat of an anti-Communist revolt.

At the same time advices to this frontier station said tension within the Tibetan capital was heightened by news of continued guerrilla fighting against the Chinese in eastern Tibet and by the failure of Peiping representatives to release Tibetan Resistance party leaders under detention.

Chinese and Tibetan authorities had previously given assurances all three leaders would be released, as demanded by the heads of three Lhasa monasteries who direct a total of 20,000 monks.

District Governor Says Fellowship Basis of Rotary

The all important human element of fellowship is the basis and aim of Rotary, local Rotarians were told here yesterday by the leading figure in the international service club organization.

The speaker was Walter De Geer, Bowmanville, district governor of Rotary, who was starting a tour of all clubs in his area here yesterday.

"The theory behind Rotary is fellowship and that is its fundamental basis and the most vital thing from which all desire for service springs," Mr. De Geer said.

"By joining Rotary a man is contributing as well as partaking in fellowship, he told the club.

"The motivating power behind all the things you have done for your club is that you are doing it with the fellow you like," he said.

"This fellowship is the key to progress in Rotary."

Continued attendance is necessary to the retention and promotion of fellowship, he advised members. "The Rotarian who regularly attends club meetings is the club member who continues to add benefits from the mutual fellowship it inspires," he said.

Held in the main dining-room of the Hotel Quinte, the meeting was considered the most important in the club's year, and a large turnout of members was on hand to hear Mr. De Geer.

Each member of Rotary is classified according to his trade or profession when he enters the club. Mr. De Geer said this classification principle is "one of the cherished possessions of Rotary," and has enabled Rotary to be of the most respected of fellowships in the world.

PREVENTS CLIQUES

Rotary's classification is all inclusive and prevents cliques and social distinctions being drawn.

He also had high praise for the Belleville club and its activities and said it was "one of the better clubs in our district."

He also recommended members of the spiritual side of Rotary in the way it fosters higher standards in business and everyday living among its members.

"You are reminded to put Rotary to work where you work. 'Service is my business' is your Bible," he told the club.

Mr. De Geer also encouraged the club to take a more active part in contributing to the work of the Rotary Foundation Fellowships. This is akin to scholarships which enable students from various countries to travel, observe and study in other lands with a view to promoting international goodwill.

"If we all work as we should I am sure Rotary will be one of the greatest powers for good this world has ever known," he concluded.

He was introduced by President Ernie Gurnell and thanked by past-President Bill Gault.

Illness of Clare Boothe Luce Caused by Arsenic Poisoning

NEW YORK (AP) — A bizarre diplomatic secret was reported Monday: Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce's illnesses of Clare Boothe Luce, United States ambassador to Italy was caused by arsenic poisoning.

The deadly arsenic came from paint on the ornate ceiling of her bedroom in Rome. It rifled down in tiny amounts of dust during the first 30 months she lived there, getting into her breakfast coffee. In hot weather, she inhaled it daily.

The disclosure was made by Time magazine, published by Mrs. Luce's husband, Henry, Jr. The magazine told this story:

After an year's residence in Rome, Mrs. Luce began feeling vaguely tired and ill. Nervousness and nausea followed. In 1954 she came home for a thorough medical check-up. She found no serious anemia and nervous fatigue. After two months, she felt better and returned to Rome.

Soon the symptoms returned but home cures were disturbing. She went to a U.S. navy hospital in Naples. A navy doctor examined her case, ordered a change in her medicines contained arsenic. Navy doctors sent laboratory specimens to the U.S. naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., using a fictitious name to keep the secret from Mrs. Jones.

The report came back: Seaman Jones was a victim of arsenic poisoning.

Within a week the arsenic was traced to the heavy paint on the bedroom ceiling. A little detective work showed that minute quantities of the paint had been sifting down all the time.

The room was repainted with non-leaded paint and the danger was eliminated.

The secret still was kept, however.

Mrs. Luce came back to the United States last May and has been undergoing treatment to counteract the arsenic poisoning. She is to leave this week for a three-week Mediterranean cruise.

Canadian Wins Double Shootoff On Bisley Ranges

BISLEY, Surrey, England (CP) LAC Victor Cook of Mount Uniacke, N.S., today won the Daily Mail trophy after a double shootoff at the Bisley ranges.

LAUNCH ROCKET TO SAVE CROPS

Leaving a trail of smoke, a rocket is launched in Langenlois, Australia, in a new war against hail, which in this area sometimes approaches the size of tennis balls. The rockets, launched when a hailstorm threatens, explodes at 3,000 feet, spreading silver iodide. The chemical is supposed to keep the moisture in the form of rain. Each rocket costs about $8. Queen Is Likely To Visit India After Next Year

NEW DELHI (AP)—An official source said today there is a visit to India by the Queen "almost certainly is on the books" but it probably will be delayed until after 1957.

Rumors that the Queen would visit the big Commonwealth republic circulated recently during the Commonwealth conference in London.

Explaining the likely delay, the source here said 1957 is both the 10th anniversary of India's gaining its freedom from Britain and the centenary of the Indian mutiny in 1857 against the British "not exactly a fitting year for the first visit of a British monarch to the country since the Queen's grandfather (George V) was here in 1911.

Berries Still Plentiful on Local Market

Bowling Notes

Every member of the club will be pulling for Ken Ashley, Bruce Miller, Gordon Watkin and Jerry Hyde, skip, when they take to the greens on Wednesday in Kingston for play in the zone finals. The winners in singles, doubles and rinks from Districts 13, 14, 15 and 18 will meet at the Kingston Club tomorrow afternoon for play to enter the Ontario finals to be held in Galt as was later this month. The winners of the Eastern finals will travel to Vancouver in August to compete in the Dominion finals at the expense of the club. The competition is the toughest of all to win and Belleville is sending a well balanced rink into the zone finals. It is expected a number of the club members will journey east to watch the play which will start in the morning and continue all day.

On Thursday afternoon the women's section held its weekly tournament and Mrs. A. Cooper, Mrs. T. Reid, Mrs. O. Smith with Mrs. M. McBride, skip, won the first prizes, with Mrs. K. Bland, Mrs. W. YOUTH SAVES FATHER, BROTHER AFTER AIR CRASH

When this private plane crashed and burned near Burt River, Ont., on its 2-year-old youth threw over in the crash, ran back into the flames to rescue his father and brother. Jim Mathewson, unhurt in the crash, said the plane started to burn when it hit the ground and though he pulled out Sam Mathewson, 45, and Jay, 25, immediately, they had to be rushed to hospital for treatment of bad burns. The plane, according to Jim, had circled the landing field, then appeared to hit an air pocket and dropped into the trees. (Central Press Canadian).

Neighbors Keep Pact of Silence To Protect Woman

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—Two hundred good neighbors kept a pact of silence to protect a dying woman.

The drama developed this way: Four years ago, Mrs. Sarah Mercer, 49, began having headaches. Gradually they got worse. The pain became almost unbearable. Her husband Harold, also 49, took her to the doctor.

The physicians finally shook their heads. The trouble was cancer and they said Mrs. Mercer didn't have a chance. There were no operations. The pain grew worse.

Her suffering became unbearable for her husband. Early this summer he tried to kill her by giving her a sleeping tablet. When Mercer thought his wife was dying—but out of her pain at last—he tried to take his own life.

Husband and wife recovered. He was arrested and charged with attempted murder. She was removed to the hospital once more. It was at this point that the neighbors made their vow of silence.

Never, they agreed, would Mrs. Mercer know what her husband had done. The doctors performed an operation that eliminated the pain.

Sunday, an ambulance brought Mrs. Mercer home. Her husband was there waiting for her, for the court had put him on three years' probation. Every neighbor knew the ambulance was arriving, but not a single window curtain so much as stirred.

"It's good to be back home," said Mrs. Mercer, "and good to be with you."

With tears in her eyes their daughter, Mrs. Cousin, a brown said later:

"She may die any time now, but at least she is happy."

Buck Requests Public Inquiry

TORONTO (C) — Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party, announced Monday that he has asked Justice Minister Garson to convene a public inquiry into the RCMP's special branch.

The branch is responsible for surveillance over possibly-subversive activity within the country.

Mr. Buck, releasing the text of a 2,000-word letter he sent to Mr. Garson June 14, accused the RCMP of "telephone wire tapping intercepting mail, interference with employment and holding citizens without cause."

In Ottawa, Mr. Garson said: "I have not seen the text of the statement which Mr. Buck is reported to have made at Toronto . . . and until I have seen it I have no comment to make on it."

100,000 SEE PARADE

EDMONTON (CP)—About 100,000 persons watched a mammoth 80-minute parade through the downtown business area Monday, signalling the opening of the weeklong Edmonton exhibition. Twenty bands, pioneer cars, horseback riders, giant floats and pretty girls were all in the procession.

387 Will Be Brought to Trial For Poznan Riot

VIENNA (AP) — Poland announced today that 387 persons will be brought to trial for last month's uprising at Poznan.

Polish public prosecutor Marian Rybicki, in a report quoted by the official Polish news agency PAP, said 323 would be tried on charges of armed attack on public buildings and the public authorities.

Rybicki said another 64 persons would be tried for looting during the three-day workers' rebellion which shook the city.

"So far it has been impossible to determine who opened fire first," the report said.

The report added that another 83 persons under arrest were prison inmates released by the rioters.

Rybicki reported that the "final toll for the uprising is 53 dead and 300 wounded." Poland's state radio previously had put the total at 48 dead, but Western travellers returning from the Polish city gave estimates ranging from 200 to 1,000 dead. Western diplomats reported thousands of persons were arrested as Communist authorities moved to stamp out the uprising.

The prosecution said nine of the dead were soldiers or police, that no women were killed and that the youngest victim was a 13-year-old boy. Travellers had said a number of women and children were shot down.

Kill or Capture 341 Insurgents

ALGIERS (AP)—French army spokesmen said today 341 nationalist rebels had been killed, captured in the last 48 hours by troops striking at scattered points in eastern Algeria.

The latest major clash reported was near Montagnac in western Algeria. Officers said 18 rebels were killed and 37 nationalist war material were seized. French units suffered some losses but army spokesmen did not give the account.

The major fighting in the drives against rebel strongholds was in the Oran and Constantine areas.

In the rugged Aures mountains, French forces surrounded a rebel band, killing 27 nationalists and taking one prisoner to wipe out the group.

Thirty nationalists were reported killed and 175 taken prisoner west of Djimla, in the Constantine area. A series of clashes involving a force of 1,000 French troops southeast of Algiers left 25 rebels dead.

Three Elect Trial by Jury

TORONTO (C) — Three men, accused of swindling Toronto stock brokers of more than $80,000 by buying and selling speculative stocks under 40 different names, elected trial by jury.

Henry Hoffberg, 38, Michael Konefal, 26, and Albert Kitchener, 50, are charged with conspiracy to defraud 58 brokers.

On bail totalling $150,000 they were represented by six lawyers. The hearing which opened Monday, is expected to last at least two weeks.

Toronto police and the Ontario Securities Commission allege that the three tried to boost stock prices during a two-year period by dealing in huge blocks of shares under assumed names.

12 Major Basic Steel Companies To Hold Meeting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Negotiations were resumed in the country-wide steel strike today while industry representatives went over the situation with executives of 12 major basic steel companies.

Before heading to New York for the meeting, John Stephens, vice-president of U.S. Steel Corporation, said:

"We are going to consider this situation from every angle. We will meet with some of our associates whom we have not seen since June 29."

STEPHENS MEET

Stephens has been the top industry negotiator in meetings which have included representatives of Bethlehem Steel Co. and Republic Steel. The two companies, along with U.S. Steel, are the "Big Three" of the basic steel industry.

After the negotiations recessed Monday David McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, said there had been "no new developments."

There was no indication that the industry or the union have changed their positions since 650,000 USW members shut down 80 per cent of the basic steel industry in the U.S. July 2.

The industry has offered a 32-month contract which it says would provide a package hourly increase of 17 2-3 cents an hour during the first year of the contract. McDonald values the offer at 14 cents an hour. His 650,000 strikers averaged $2.46 an hour before the strike started. He has said a 32-month "contract is too long.

First Piece Of Pipe Laid

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP) The first piece of pipe for the western section of the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines project was lowered into a ditch in this southwestern Saskatchewan area Monday.

The construction crew working on the second spread of the 576-mile western leg of the all-Canada line started to put down the first section of 34-inch pipe in the Leader area, 18 miles north of Swift Current.

The crew has cleared and graded approximately 52 miles of right-of-way, pipe has been strung almost 16 miles, and 10 miles of ditching has been completed.

Peter Morrison Pays Penalty On Gallows

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — Peter Morrison, 23, of Windsor, Ont., walked calmly to the gallows at Lethbridge provincial jail early today and was hanged for the murder of Norman Guy Yenny, 22, of Gaspert, N.Y.

Warden Herbert Hall said Morrison trudged the 20 feet from the death cell to the scaffold "firmly and without any visible trace of emotion."

The trap was sprung at 12:16 a.m. MST (3:16 a.m. EDT) and Morrison was pronounced dead at 12:29 a.m.

Maj. Douglas Church of the Salvation Army, who had spent most of the day with Morrison, walked with him to the scaffold.

Morrison was convicted in Calgary on the May, 1955, robbery-shooting of the New York man. The two had been travelling by car to Alaska when Yenny was shot and killed on the Banff Coach Road, five miles west of Calgary.

Labor Hearings For 3 Companies Will Be Held

TORONTO (CP)—The influence of the United Auto Workers union will be the theme of labor hearings among three companies and their unions this week.

Conciliation board hearings are scheduled to begin Wednesday in Hamilton between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and the Steel Company of Canada. Union officials regard the outcome of these talks as the key contract in Canadian steel.

The steelworkers union has charged that the company is stalling the outcome of the U.S. steel strike before reaching agreement. Union officials say they will press for an agreement. Rank-and-file members have authorized strike action.

Marmorastan Mining Co. of Marmora and Union Drawn Steel Corp. of Hamilton are scheduled to go to the Ontario Labor relations board in Toronto Wednesday and Thursday with applications to have their employees' strike declared illegal. Both firms are subsidiary companies of U.S. firms and their Canadian employees have struck in conjunction with the U.S. steel strike.

P.S. Board Discusses Paint Jobs, Ventilation

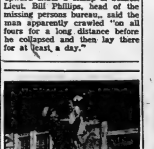
CAMPBELLFORD — The Campbellford Public School board met for a short session this week with four members pregent.

Tenders for remodelling a basement room for classroom purposes and for installing steps were opened the contract for the work was given to Mr. William Fry, at a price of $494.90.

Arrangements were made for completing some paint jobs in inside the school, and for repairing plaster in classrooms. A new cupboard will be built in one room.

Extra help will be provided to assist the janitor in cleaning after both schools, and arrangements were made to hire extra help.

The long-discussed contract for rectifying the present ventilation installation was finally settled, when it was studied again and the members were assured that sufficient guarantee was behind the contract.



The contract was given to Burgis and Ford, who have made a thorough study of the entire system, under the direction of an engineer from the Fesss Foundry company.

Find Naked Man Unconscious in Montreal Woods

MONTREAL (CP)—A mystery man about 30 struggled for life today in hospital where he was taken after being found naked and unconscious in the thick, moss-covered bush in Rosemount Monday.

Police said they are baffled by the case and have been unable to find the man's clothes in a thorough search of the area where he was found by three boys. He was still unconscious.

The man was found lying face upward under a clump of bushes. Lieut. Bill Phillips, head of the missing persons bureau, said the man apparently crawled "on all fours for a long distance before he collapsed and then lay there for at least, a day."

Strict Security Watch After Diamond Theft

LONDON (Reuters) — A strict security watch is in operation at all ports and airfields in Britain today following Monday's daring daylight snatch of diamonds estimated to be worth £100,000 from a car stalled in a London traffic jam.

The robbery, which took place shortly before lunch time, was the biggest haul here since the unsolved theft of £328,000 in bank notes from a mail truck five years ago.

The diamonds were carried in a suitcase by a woman employee of the diamond firm of M. Wijnberg. She was taking a 10-minute car ride to the firm's offices after picking up the gems in Hatton Garden, centre of London's jewelry trade.

As the chauffer-driven Rolls-Royce was held up in a traffic jam, a man wearing blue overalls wrenched open a rear door and snatched up the bag of diamonds from the floor of the car.

Five Injured In Violent Storm

DETROIT (AP) — Violent rain and hail storms, accompanied by 70-mile winds, battered scattered areas in central Michigan Monday night, injuring at least five persons and causing widespread damage.

Damage was heaviest in the Jackson and Ionia areas where winds uprooted homes and barns, snapped power and telephone lines and uprooted hundreds of trees.

MASS AUDIENCES AND THE CREATIVE WRITER

The central theme of the Pen Club Congress recently attended in London by 750 leading writers from all parts of the world was "the effect of mass media on the author and the changed relationship between the writer and his public".

Elmer Rice, an American playwright, stole the headlines when he expressed "concern with the advent of the mass audience and above all with the tycoons who manipulate the writers for this market".

A director of the American Civil Liberties Union, he said: "There is an entirely new, dangerous and insidious form of censorship. It comes from the pressure groups inside and outside of the huge monopolistic industries that own the radio, television and film media.

"These groups are professional, political or religious. While they are always minority groups, they are always very influential and exert an influence on the writer which can be fought only by counter-pressure, publicity and by other minority groups in defence of free expression."

There was also general agreement that with an audience numbered in millions, the pressure is to debase art to the average science of this mass audience.

While both fears expressed by this creative group concerning pressure to debase art to a common denominator may have cause to grow rather than abate for some time to come, we think this trend will eventually evolve to favor a higher rather than a lower standard of creative effort.

Our reasoning is basing on the fact that all media of mass communications, such as newspapers, magazines, radio, television, movies, etc., have had a tremendous effect in helping great masses of people to realize potentials mental abilities which had lain dormant and unstimulated in the past.

The improved taste and discernment of this mass audience is reflected in the box office score which shows a gradual but growing public acceptance of higher creative works which would have fallen flat on their face in the "good old days".

A perfect example of this culture for the masses was the recent television showing of Richard III which was seen by more people than had ever seen this classic on stage throughout history.

Mass communication, rapid travel to all parts of the world and time to think are stimulating the mind of man as never before.

As long as people retain a healthy desire to know the truth, writers will have an audience to reach and subjects to inspire them.

LEISURE AND PLEASURE

"Combine leisure with pleasure of your own making."

That is the admonition of an advertisement by a big department store.

That sentence, of course, was designed to help promote the sale of a variety of articles, but it can also serve as the subject for several essays.

In the first place, there is a recognition that pleasure-seeking is desirable. There are those who frown at the mention of pleasure, as if it were an evil thing. Yet they have never been able to make it unpopular with the common people, a state of affairs which enhances appreciation of the sound judgment, of the average man and woman.

Secondly, the sentence clearly implies that leisure and pleasure are not synonymous terms, a fact which is frequently overlooked. Leisure without pleasure can be one of the most trying experiences which a man is called upon to face. Work without pleasure is merely work; but leisure without pleasure is boredom, a hundred times harder to bear than labor.

Thirdly, the last four words of the sentence point a way to bring pleasure into a proper relationship with leisure. Indeed, one might be pardoned for thinking that the only times when the two words merge into a pleasant union are of only a fleeting nature. Pleasure in the form of one's own making is merely amusement, which is entirely different from real pleasure, a mere filling up of the vacuum of boredom without any lasting beneficial results. Amusement in the memory sometimes for years, but yesterday's amusement is as sour as last month's cream.

There will be those who will dispute this fact and will point to a dozen forms of "amusement" as providing lasting satisfaction—that 'ride on the ferris wheel, the Saturday afternoon at the ball game, last week's hilarious comedy at the movies. But those were not what we term "amusements," those who enjoyed them made their own pleasure by bringing to the activity a yearning for thrills, the ball game an appreciation of the sport, to the movie a sense of humor. What may merely amuse one person will provide real pleasure for another. But there are some pastimes which are never more than mere amusement, because they make no demand whatever on any of the talents of the individual, not on his intellect, his physical skill or his imagination.

For some pleasure comes easy, because they have the right temperament to enjoy their leisure or their work; for others, no amount of equipment which a store can sell will ever do more than provide temporary and fleeting amusement.

THE GARDEN WALL

Around his garden he built a wall,
To shut all its splendor in.
But the climbing roses grew straight o'er all
And they would not stay within.

They were fair to their blooms they grew
On the outer side for the throng to view;

The lilies peeked through the lattice gate
And the vines climbed over the wall;
The lovelier things on that vast estate

Would not be imprisoned at all,
And those who passed on their way to town
Saw wisteria robed in her purple gown.

I talked with a guard as he walked about
And he said, with a knowing grin:
"I can hardly keep all the strangers out,
But I can't keep the roses in;
The more madcap blossoms we never stop
Till they've climbed that wall to the very top!"

Radio Signals From Venus

(Montreal Star)

According to an Ottawa dispatch government scientists are pooh-poohing the report from the University of Illinois that radio signals have been picked up from the planet Venus.

The radio and electrical engineering division of the National Research Council, in Ottawa, with its super atmosphere branch with jurisdiction over such matters as communications and one of its specialists has ventured to say that there is nothing that radio signals are being generated by intelligent life. It is much more likely, these Ottawa astronomers believe, that the signals are noise and static originating in the planet's atmosphere.

Presumably their pronouncements are intended to dispel any surge of uncertainty concerning the balance of power rids as Mr. Orson Welles, with the aid of some local radio signals, improvised his pre-war Martian invasion.

But that was in another era, lacking in the present-day refinements for our own destruction. It's doubtful if the Martians on the next planetary power, well beyond the range of the United Nations Disarmament and Mr. Dulles, would command such awe today.

Nevertheless, we doubt throw a mockery wrench into Frequency Modulation and there probably are clauses against it in the Broadcasting Code, but it seems a pity that the Martians can't be used as fill-ins ed in by the ordinary five-tube set, or, preferably, by the transistor. As jockeys, if there are any, a much more democratic form of Hooper rating.

After all, we should not be highly embarrassed should the other waves, at least not until the Fowler Commission has given us a clean bill of health.

To put the whole thing in perspective, we consider the vague form of a Venusian monitor, ear (or antennal) pressed to the wireless, pronouncing judgment:

"I've picked up something from Earth that sounds like a radio signal, but, of course, it doesn't give any indication of intelligent form of life."

Canada May Supply Israel With Jet Fighters

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may yet supply, through western collective action, Sabre jet fighter planes to Israel.

Informants said Monday Canada is prepared to enter into a consultative agreement among western nations to ship arms to Israel, which early in April asked this country to sell it some two dozen Sabres.

Thus Canada might be able to accomplish through collective action what it does not want to do unilaterally.

It is stressed here that no definite agreement has yet been worked out and that there is still a possibility that there will be flat negotiations have been in progress for some time and if a decision is reached it may come before the end of this month.

Except for Canada, it is not clear what countries would be prepared to join in the collective arms supply agreement. Other countries which have been particularly involved in the issue are Britain, the United States, France and Italy. But other European countries might also enter an agreement.

Prime Minister St. Laurent made it clear in the Commons last month Canada will not, by itself, supply arms to Israel at this time. The Israeli ambassador has been receiving weapons from the Communist bloc and St. Laurent acknowledged that there is an imbalance of arms in the Middle East.

The prime minister said, however:

"There are still conversations and discussions going on about the possibility of doing something that would not be an exclusive thing but a supply of certain arms to Israel. These discussions are still in progress."

The term "consultation" to be the first public statement in any western nation that some kind of collective action to help Israel was being discussed.

Manitobans Take New Liquor Act In Their Stride

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitobans appear to be taking the comparatively radical changes of their new liquor act in their stride.

The first phase of the new law, in particular a one-hour supper-time closing of beer parlors, started Monday with no apparent objection. Parlors closed between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. and police said Monday night they heard of no trouble.

The new act went into effect three months after it was approved by the provincial legislature. It followed inquiries and hearings by a royal commission headed by former Manitoba premier John Bracken.

Only certain sections of it, however, became effective immediately.

Regulations which came into force on the first day included: sale of beer in three-bottle packages as well as in six, 12 and 24; Sale of beer in licensed golf and curling clubs; permission for families to drink on licensed premises.

Other provisions were: permits for serving of liquor at special functions and also sale of liquor at these functions under strict supervision; giving liquor as a gift with limits of 2 bottles of wine or spirits and 12 dozen bottles of beer.

Changes still to come—on July 30—will provide for sale of sandwiches, fruit juices and soft drinks in beer parlors.

At their civic elections Oct. 24 Winnipeg residents will also vote on a liquor referendum to accept or reject one of five new types of outlets provided by the act, including cocktail bars, beverage rooms, licensed clubs, cabarets and dining rooms.

Similar local option votes will be held in other Manitoba communities.

SPANISH DUKE DEAD

MADRID (AP) — Luis Jesus Fernandez de Cordoba y Salabert, 15 Duke of Medinaceli and holder of one of the oldest titles of Spanish nobility, died Friday from a heart attack. He was 79. He was eight times a duke, 17 a marquis, 15 a count, and four a viscount.

IMPROMPTU EFFORT

TORONTO (CP) — William Hayes, 21, jumped into Lake Ontario after he announced to two friends that he was going to swim the lake. He was cut a quarter-mile before his bewildered companions caught up to him and brought him back. Police, waiting on the shore, warned three swimmers to stay out of the water.

SUCCEED IN DARING ESCAPE ATTEMPT

A fierce battle inside a Hungarian plane thousands of feet in the air resulted in escape from the Iron Curtain by five daring Hungarian conspirators. The five, shown here, took over the plane by hitting other passengers over the head and disarming a Red agent. They then manoeuvred the plane to land at the NATO airfield of Manching, Bavaria, and asked for political asylum. Two other of the plane's passengers, who were not involved in the conspiracy, have asked to remain in Bavaria also. (Central Press Canadian).

CAMPBELLFORD

Hands of PUC Tried With Respect To Selling Power to Rural Lines

CAMPBELLFORD—The Campbellford Public Utilities Commission met in the council chambers on Thursday evening when a number of rural consumers questioned the commissioners as to why the commission had notified them that it could no longer supply power to the rural lines.

In a notice mailed to all rural consumers a few weeks ago, the Public Utilities Commission said that due to the increased demands for power by citizens of the town, and due also to the fact that the town was at present purchasing power from the HEPC to tide it over peak loads, the commission found that it would soon be unable to supply power to rural lines and suggested the persons affected would have to look elsewhere for their power.

On Thursday evening, commission board chairman, A. C. Newman, explained to the consumers that the hands of the commission were tied, as far as supplying power outside the corporation limits was concerned. The Hydro Act prohibited the PUC from purchasing power from the Hydro and reselling it to rural lines.

The town power plant is unable to carry the present demand at peak load periods, and the town must now purchase a block of power, or negotiate some other form of contract with the HEPC.

There are two or three plans under which the town can obtain power from the HEPC and a great deal of study has gone into which plan to choose.

The town now buys power from Hydro, and this is necessarily sold to rural consumers, but the present plan is only a temporary one, and will cease as soon as a contract is negotiated with the town and the HEPC.

WANTS THIRD GENERATOR

Commissioner R. J. A. McGregor said that he still favored the idea of installing a third generator at the town plant, saying that he had a graph showing the operation of one particular machine, which he claimed would increase the capacity of the town plant by one third.

After some discussion, Chairman A. C. Newman explained that the idea of a third generator had been repeatedly discussed, a professional engineer had been brought in from the United States, and that the advice had been obtained from the HEPC and it was definitely decided that a third generator would not help.

Mr. Newman said he doubted if Mr. McGregor's generator would increase the capacity of the plant by more than 10 percent. The cost, quoted by commissioner McGregor, would be about $350,000 installed. Debenture costs would put the figure still higher, and with installation costs increased since the $350,000 figure was quoted, the generator would probably run to nearly half a million dollars before the board was through paying for it.

Added to this is the fact that in another few years, even with a third generator, the town would find itself in the same situation, due to the steadily increasing demand for power.

EXHAUST EVERY AVENUE

The commission chairman explained that the board had exhausted every avenue of investigation in the hope that it could find a solution to the power problem. He said the entire commission board was up to the top men of Hydro with an offer to purchase No. 11 power-house, owned by the HEPC and located just north-east of the town. Hydro said they would not even consider selling No. 11 power plant and confirmed their decision in a letter a few days later.

It all boils down to the fact that Campbellford needs more power. The only place they can get it is from the HEPC and they will have to abide by their regulations set down by the combined members of eight municipalities.

After the meeting, one member gave this example: "I used one row, and you were the only one home; I could sell you milk as long as I had enough. But if suddenly I needed more milk myself, I couldn't very well buy another cow just to supply you."

Mr. Newman explained that at the present time the town is buying power from Hydro, under a special rural rate agreement, selling it to consumers at less than it cost the PUC. Rural users would like to remain customers of the PUC due to the cheaper rate they enjoy.

If Hydro takes over the rural line which is only a matter of time, probably a few months, the rates will likely be increased considerably. Mr. Newman did not know just how much when questioned on this.

WILL SUPPLY SERVICES

Other routine business was discussed at the meeting. Mr. Peter Barnes asked the board, stating that he intended to improve his tourist property on Crowe Valley Trent. Mr. Barnes said he intends to build 10 more cottages and erect a ten-unit motel, double the dining space at the present main building, erect a tennis court and install a swimming pool.

He wanted the PUC to run a water main to the project. Only about 200 feet would be needed. The board left the matter over until they could learn the level of the land, in order to make sure the venture would be feasible. The town council, which operates completely separate from the PUC, would be responsible for installing the sewer, and levels will be taken by the town engineer in the near future.

If it is found the project can be completed, the commission went on record as saying they are willing to co-operate with council in supplying water and sewer services to the proposed motel.

Mr. Charles Lee of Honeycomb Structures also addressed the board, asking if the power line had taken over the property on Elmore St., known as Bailey's Mill. The town council had signified their willingness to supply sewer service to the building and Mr. Lee asked if the PUC would run water mains in at the same time.

The board said they would again co-operate with council when levels were taken and a decision will be made to enable the PUC and the council to charge a fair amount who wants to connect on to the lines in the future.

In matter of the purchase of a new truck and the repair of their present truck, it was all report at the next meeting.

It was decided to ask Mr. Sidney Lee, a Toronto land commissioner, for a rental of $15 per month for the house which is now vacant on the town power plant. This rental will hold for one year, after which the rent will be higher again for the succeeding four years, on a five year lease.

Mr. Lee wrote to the board, offering to rent the house, stating that he intends to set up a bait manufacturing business.

WEDDINGS

BEAGLE—McCULLOCH

CAMPBELLFORD. — A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, when Lois Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Seymour West, was united in marriage with Gerald Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beagle of Hoard's. Rev. A. Z. Toombs officiated.

The church was decorated with ferns and summer flowers and Mr. Albert Hazell supplied the wedding music. Mrs. Ernest Rudson sang "I'll Walk Beside You" before the ceremony, and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white lace over bridal satin with a bodice of pleated tulle and a matching lace jacket, with a Peter Pan collar trimmed with pearls and sequins. Her fingertip length veil was of embroidered nylon net caught to a tiara of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Bridesmaid was Muriel Beagle, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Denise McCulloch, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Kathryn Sine, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. The bridesmaid wore a floor-length gown of light blue net with a tucked bodice and jacket and the junior bridesmaid and the flower girl had similar dresses of pink and blue embossed nylon with ruffled underskirt. All wore matching headdresses of nylon tulle and the bridesmaids carried cascades of pink and white roses and the flower girl carried a basket of summer flowers.

Best man was Mr. Neil McCulloch and Messrs. Evan McCulloch and Garth Sine were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother received in a figured blue and white crystalette gown with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother who also received, wore a gown of figured blue and green nylon with white accessories and a corsage of yellow mums.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip to points north and east. For traveling the bride chose a two-piece medium blue dress with white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

On their return the couple will take up residence on the bridegroom's farm at Hoards.

WEDDIGOFF—CAMPBELL

Of interest is the marriage which took place early this month in Morgan Memorial chapel, Queen's University, Kingston, when Miss Shirley Agnes Campbell, became the bride of Mr. Ronald Murray Wendorf.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl John Campbell of Kingston, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Murray Wendorf, Tuxedo, Man.

Canon W. J. Minto Swan officiated at the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Miss Lorne Black, and Mr. Alphonse McCue was soloist.

Mr. Campbell gave his daughter in marriage. She took her vows in a gown of white Chantilly lace, the very full skirt falling into a chapel train topped by a tight-fitting bodice having a high round neckline and pointed sheath sleeves. Her chapel veil fell from a close-fitting headdress and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bride was attended by Miss Athoula Karis and Miss Roberta Williams, both of Kingston. They wore ankle length bouffant gowns of yellow organdy with off-the-shoulder necklines, and carried nosegays of white shaggy mums with yellow centres.

Mr. Keith Cameron of Belleville, was best man, and the ushers were, Mr. Harry Jowett of Dundas, and Mr. Frank Campbell of Kingston.

The guests were received at the British American Hotel. The bride's mother was gowned in periwinkle blue nylon with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown of pink lace with white accessories.

The young couple honeymooned in the Muskoka. The bride left in a pink lace sheath dress with matching silk duster and white accessories. They will reside in Sault Ste. Marie.

Out-of-town guests from Toronto, Montreal, Dundas, Winnipeg, Belleville, and Rochester, N.Y., attended the wedding.

LAUNDRY—BENEDICT

Tall standards of white and pink flowers interspersed with ferns adorned the chancel rail in Picton United church on Saturday, July 14, at 2.00 p.m., for a lovely summer wedding when Norma Lois Benedict, of Belleville, R.R. 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Benedict, became the bride of John Ronald Laundry, of East Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Laundry. The Rev. F. Whitley Greene, pastor of the church, officiated.

The Andrew Benvie, church organist, rendered the wedding music and was followed by Miss Gordon Fox, the soloist, who sang before the ceremony "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle, featuring a molded bodice with "V" shaped neckline, and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt was of floor-length. Her bridal headdress band of white and silver leaves, and fingertip veil of tulle was trimmed with French lace, and carried a white Bible, crested with red roses.

Mrs. Jack Culcliffe of Picton, attended the bride as matron of honor, attired in light blue taffeta gown with satin bodice and matching bolero, and skirt of net over taffeta in three-quarter length.

Miss Dorothy Benedict, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, was gowned in pink in style identical to that of the matron of honor.

Both were floral headdress of Briarcliffe pink roses and Shasta daisies, and carried Colonial bouquets of white roses and Pinnochio pons.

Mr. Bernard Wright of Bloomfield, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Douglas Manlow of Picton, and Mr. Mervan Laundry of East Lake, were ushers.

The reception was held at Bloomfield, where the bride's table was appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier pink, white and blue wedding cake topped with pink roses. The wedding bell and streamers cascading from it. Pink lent an added bridal touch.

The bride's mother for her daughter's marriage, wore light blue crepe dress with matching hat and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother chose silk crystalette in white accessories with red and yellow decorations.

For the wedding trip to Burlington, Vermont, and other points in the United States, the bride travelled in a blue linen ensemble with white trim, white accessories and corsage of red roses. Upon their return, the young couple will reside at East Lake.

Guests were present from Windsor, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Picton and for her marriage, Mrs. H. Fletcher of Picton, entertained the bride to a miscellaneous shower.

HELP GRAPE CLUBS

TORONTO (CP)—A cash grant of $500 by the Canadian Wine Institute to help finance projects undertaken by Ontario 4-H grape clubs was announced Monday by G. M. Kavanagh, president. The clubs are in Beamsville, Louth, Grantham and Niagara townships.

City Selection

By ALICE ALDEN

The soft well made dress of sturdy but lightweight fabric that is handled with an unusual degree of excellent choice for the traveller who plans to spend some time for city stopovers. Nettie Rosenstein is responsible for this one, an excellent choice for smart daytime wear in the warm weather season. The fabric is a soft silk tweed softened by a lace-frilled white organdie collar and cuffs. The skirt is worked with deep, unpressed pleats in front and back.

Women's Activities

CENTENARY W.M.S.-W.A.

The July meeting of the Centenary W.M.S. was held in the church hall on Thursday at noon. Mrs. H. Hancock opened the meeting in the usual form with Mrs. Percy Sutherland in charge of the minute book.

The usual items of business pertaining to the work of the coming year were discussed.

Mrs. Hancock presented a quilt entitled "A Work Camp in Europe" in which was told the story of the building of international friendship while building a Christian worship centre called 'Agape' in Northern Italy. This project is under the guidance of the Youth Department of the World's Council of Churches. Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mrs. Fred Aikens, Mrs. Elzer Ray, Mrs. W. Shortt, Mrs. C. A. Carlton and Mrs. Percy Sutherland represented people from Italy, Holland, Germany, United States and Canada in the quilt. The meeting was closed with prayer.

W.A. MEETING

The members of the Centenary W.A. met in the church hall for their July meeting. Mrs. M. Jeffery was in charge of the meeting with Mrs. F. Aikens acting as secretary. Mrs. D. Hollis gave a contribution to the birthday and "Happy Birthday" was sung for her.

During the worship service, Mrs. Percy Sutherland read the Scripture lesson from John 4: 1-24. Mrs. N. Noyes gave a reading "Book of Life". Mrs. C. Carlton gave a reading entitled "He Who Rises Quickly".

Meeting was made of the bazaar to be held in the late fall.

Mrs. Fred Allison and her group served refreshments and a social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

WMS Entertains M.B., Baby Band, Mothers

RAWDON — Last Wednesday, the annual family party was held at the church hall with Mount Pleasant Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society entertained members of the Sunbeam Mission Band and their leader, Mrs. Burton Sharpe; members of the Baby Band and their mothers and the assistant R.B. leader, Mrs. James Hoard, with over 70 in attendance.

There were 20 W.M.S. members, 13 adult visitors and approximately 40 children and babies in attendance.

Bouquets of roses, delphiniums and other blooms were used as decoration. A display table held the variety of food which the Band had for sale also the surprise 25 cent-parcels which had been donated. Tables were set for the close of the meeting and realized $4.50 which was equally divided between the two Bands. The loose collection was also divided which gave $2.13 each, so each band realized $3.32.

Mrs. Milford Wrightman opened the meeting with "Once Again, Dear Lord, We Meet", "Thanks for Children Far Away", and offered prayer, for all missionaries. She also welcomed the visitors, gave the special guests, and the members of the Baby Band.

Mrs. John Holmes officiated at the piano.

Monthly members answered the roll call. Mrs. Percy MacMullen read the Scripture.

The offering was gathered by Mary Hoard and Diane McAdam and was dedicated by Mrs. Roy Thrasher.

The corresponding secretary read a letter of thanks from Mrs. MacMullen for flowers and cards and individual cards sent by members during her recent bereavement.

BABY BAND SERVICE

Mrs. James Hoard, assistant Baby Band secretary, passed out eight enrollments to new babies: Janet Spencer, Paul Sharp, Franklin Hubble, Randall Scott, Joan Jeffs, Gillian McAdam, Mary Summers and James Sharp.

The attic boxes were also distributed to the new group.

Three children were promoted to the Mission Band: Donnie Potts, Brenda Campbell and Glenn Spencer.

Dianne McAdam presided for the Mission Band program, and Kaye David officiated at the piano. Twenty-two children sang "We Are Little Sunbeams" and "Build Your House Upon a Rock" with Mrs. Burton Sharpe as director of the group.

The Mission Band children repeated "The M.B. Purpose" in unison. Carol Sharpe read the Bible lesson and Barbara Williams read a prayer after which everyone sang "Saviour Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

GUEST SPEAKER

Dianne McAdam read a message of thanks in verse form to the W.M.S. members and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Doris Donnan. At this time, Mary Ellen David presented Doris with a lovely corsage.

Doris told the children in her group singing with the Mission Band leader at the piano. They sang, "Jesus Loves the Little Children of the World," and "Who Jesus Is?"

The speaker then gave a flannelgraph story which was a real missionary message based on the Bible. She pictured the maid who spoke for God, and advised the captain to see Elisha, who advised him to go down to the River Jordan and there to bathe seven times and so be cured of his leprosy. The captain received the prophet's message and so this little maid was a real missionary.

The second verse of the hymn "Jesus and His Disciples" and the command to them to "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel." She closed with a visual story of various ways to help others. Children can use their feet, hands, tongues; they can write notes inviting other children to Mission Band; they can save their pennies for foreign mission work, and above all they can offer prayer.

The closing songs, under the direction of the speaker were, "We Must Go and Work and Pray" and "Try to Be Little Messengers for Jesus."

Allen Fletcher expressed thanks to Miss Donnan for her splendid message, to Carol and song, after which Mrs. Burton Sharpe pronounced the benediction.

The W.M.S. ladies served an abundance of sandwiches, cookies, fruit punch and all enjoyed a social half hour.

SUMMER GLAMOR NOTES

Flowered costume jewelry complements summer costumes; perks up wilting spirits.

Has summer heat got you down? Spirits wilted? Sure that no matter how you try, you can't possibly look glamorous in this weather? Well, guess again, honey. You really can—if you'll just make up your mind, that for the time being, you're going to be utterly, utterly frivolous. It may cost you a little money, but then what woman's spirits aren't perked up with a little spending—especially for items that make her look more feminine, more beautiful and, yes, just a little bit "different"?

With this idea in mind, we'll give you some spirit-lifting ideas to keep in mind while prowling about your favorite department store. Let's consider flowered jewelry, for instance. Why not have a pretty new necklace? Or a bracelet with matching earrings? Or a whole set if you can afford it? In a rainbow of summer colors, sprinkled with twinkling rhinestones, these accessories are perfect with low-necked, short-sleeved frocks. The necklaces accent a pretty decolletage, bracelets call attention to graceful, beautifully manicured hands; earrings provide dramatic overtones to a lovely upswept coiffure.

Hate to wear hats in summer? Well don't, if that's the way you feel about it. But how about a charming little frivolity to make your evenings more glamorous? The shops are full of millinery fads and fancies that will perk up your spirits in a moment. Pretty frilled caps in gold or silver and studded with fake gems that sparkle like precious stones under a starlit sky; midsummer caps with flirting feathers that sweep forward like graceful swans and are dusted with pseudo diamonds; for garden parties—sisters of fruit . . . cherries, tiny apples, peaches and raspberries . . . to be worn like a crown over curly locks. Try some of these and we'll ask you again! So you still hate hats? No woman could resist them!

Want something fancy for beach wear? How about pretty anklets adorned with tiny gold bells? They're the latest from Paris and what they do to accent a summer tan your grandma would never know! And for teen-agers—yes, her spirits can wilt on dog days, too—there's another lovely idea from Paris—dceskin skirts, with colored flowers worked in around the hem. Grand for car, motorbike or bike traveling.

Midsummer madness? Of course! But a little luxury now and then perks up the spirits—again and again!

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DO YOU WANT A HUSBAND, YOU DON'T TRUST?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 21 and have been going steady for about six months with a fellow 25. We are planning marriage in the very near future.

We see each other four nights each week and on the other nights he claims he stays at home. But I have heard from several people that they have seen him out on different occasions with girls. When I question him about this, he tells me they are lying.

How can I find out if he is telling me the truth? Should I go ahead with my plans for marriage, or should I wait?

Barbara A.D.

Dear Barbara:

Do you want to marry a young man you're not certain is a truthful person?

What kind of life would you have with a husband whose word you didn't feel you could trust? If there is not sure this fellow is telling you the truth now, you can count on it that you'd never be any surer after you were married.

I advise you to make no plans for marriage until you find a young man about whose word you have no doubts.

GIRL'S STORY FALSE

WHITEHURST, Conn. (AP) — Patricia Curtin, 13, did the carving herself, say police who spent several hours investigating her complaint that two girls cut letters into both of her arms with a razor blade. Det. Sgt. INVITATION TO WEDDING ANNIVERSARY DINNER GIVEN BY CHILDREN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We need your help so very much! Our mother and father will have their Golden Wedding Anniversary next October, and we—their five sons and three daughters, all married—are planning to give a dinner to celebrate the occasion. In a hotel suite, for greater convenience and space.

1. How should the invitations be worded? (We all think they should be formally worded.)

2. Must these invitations be engraved, if they are formally worded, or may they be printed?

3. We have not yet talked over our plan with our parents. If they prefer to have the invitations sent out in their names (as they may do, since they are very conventional), even though we children will divide all the expenses among us, then how should the invitations be worded?—One of the Daughters

1. Here is a charming form of invitation appropriate for these circumstances:

1906 - 1956

In honour of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane
their sons and daughters request the pleasure of your company
at a dinner
on Tuesday, the ninth of October
at eight o'clock
in the Rose Suite of the Park Hotel
R. s. v. p.
Mrs. Arthur Brown
123 Davis Avenue
(Note: "Honour" should be spelled with the "ur.")

2. It is, of course, best form that such formal invitations should be engraved . . . they are treasured as souvenirs of this wonderful occasion. But this is rather expensive, if a budget is to be considered. They should not under any circumstances be printed. However, they may be handwritten on large white cards, heavy-stock, perhaps gilt-edged. The invitation may be written in gold ink . . . or those significant dates (1906-1956) may be written at the top of the invitation in gold ink.

3. When the invitations are issued in the names of the couple:

1906 - 1956

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lane
request the pleasure of your company
at a dinner to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage
on Tuesday, the ninth of October
at eight o'clock
in the Rose Suite of the Park Hotel
R. s. v. p.

(Note 1: The words "to celebrate" are used when the invitations to the anniversary dinner are sent in the couple's names. When the invitations are sent in the names of the children (or other hosts), the words "in honor of" are used.)

Note 2: The dates . . . in this case 1906-1956 . . . may or may not be used at the top of the invitation.

Fashion Flashes

A late entry in the warm weather fabric field, but already a huge favorite is a blend of orlon, acetate and cotton. Nicely done up in a lightweight, pretty dress with plenty of white embroidery edging the sleeves and the demure little collar, the white contrasting with pale gray.

Lovers of the sun are glad to find their favorite bra-and-shorts swim and beach suits in a jersey supply. White acetate faille with elasticized threads for figure-fit is woven with embroidered straw flowers in shocking and black. Bra straps may be halter tied or tucked away. Shorts come high in the waist but still leave plenty of bare midriff.

Easy but disciplined is the fit of most suit jackets. Black and white pinhead tweed for a small, the jacket softly bloused, self-belted with a curved-stand-away collar and push-up, cuffed sleeves.

Acid Indigestion? use SODA

Just ½ teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda in ½ glass of water brings prompt relief from discomfort of acid indigestion — safely and effectively. Bicarbonate of soda (baking soda) neutralizes excess acidity and helps relax stomach.

Lady in Waiting

By TRACY ADRIAN

Co-ordinated separates can make any lady in waiting for a blessed event feel and look well-dressed and pretty during the warm weather.

This cotton costume is as appropriate for lounging as for active sports and can be worn in a variety of ways. The multi-color striped blouse features a wide collared cowl neckline which may be worn turned up, as shown, or cuffed, to display a white linen manadrin neck dickey that is a separate part of the costume. The pedal pushers are a solid black with a stripe bound slit on the side.

Icebox Wonders

By Mary Moore

My mind and my hands and my refrigerator were busy with icebox desserts when I received a request for an angel pie recipe.

It is such a comfort to be able to answer immediately with something that is in works when the request arrives.

We are having guests this weekend and wanted to be in a state of readiness. So I made an angel pie and put it at the back of the refrigerator to chill, so nobody would catch a glimpse of it or have any hint about our dessert plans.

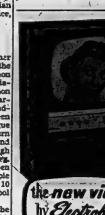
But where this pie really shines is at a dessert party. What I plan to do while Marianne is home is to invite her nursing school friends to a dessert party and serve the raspberry version of it and the Pineapple Bavarian Cream, so they can have a choice, or some of both.

ANGEL PIE

(With variations)

The Meringue — Beat together until frothy 3 egg whites (the yolks may be used in the lemon filling if you choose that variation) with 1-4 teaspoons lemon juice or 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar. While you are beating gradually beat in 1 cup sugar. When sugar is all added beat meringue until very stiff and glassy. Turn into 8-inch glass pie plate and spread meringue in it with high edge. Bake 1 hour at 275 deg. Fahr.—a very slow oven, then turn off oven heat and allow pie shell to remain in oven for 10 minutes longer to dry out. Cool without removing from pan.

Note— Louise tells me that she washed her glass pie plate with detergent in the dishwasher and insure easy cutting of meringue.



FILLINGS:

(1) Lemon—2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup water, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 4 egg yolks beaten, 1-4 teaspoon almond extract, 2 cups heavy cream. Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add water and lemon juice. Stir until smooth. Add beaten yolks. Mix well and cook over low heat until mixture is thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add almond extract and chill. Whip cream until stiff. Fold half of the whipped cream into the filling. Pour into meringue shell. Top with remainder of whipped cream. Let stand 24 hours in refrigerator before serving. (2) Orange Filling— Substitute orange juice for lemon juice in lemon filling, but let 1 tablespoon of that juice be lemon juice. (3) Raspberry—Sprinkle 1-4 cup sugar over 1 pint fresh raspberries and let stand 1 hour. Drain off juice and to it add 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Cook stirring until thick, then over low heat for five minutes. Cool. Combine with berries and grated rind and juice of 1-2 lemon. Chill. Pour 2-3 into shell. Reserve 1-3 to decorate top after whipped cream is spread over.

Another summer beauty is

PINEAPPLE BAVARIAN CREAM

Heat 1 cup pineapple juice. Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold water for 5 minutes. Then stir it into the hot pineapple juice to dissolve. Also add 1-2 cup sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup crushed pineapple, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Cool. Stir occasionally until mixture partially congeals. Beat well then fold in 1 cup heavy cream whipped until stiff. Turn into well-oiled 1-quart mold. Chill at least 4 hours. Unmold on large serving dish and garnish with large fresh raspberries.

Judge Promises Decision Soon in Divorce Case

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The bitter story of domestic difficulties between a Canadian-born Presbyterian minister and his wife ended Saturday in Dade County circuit court.

Rev. Thomas G. Northcott, 36, is seeking a divorce from his wife, Phyllis, 34. She has asked for separate maintenance and custody of their three children but does not want a divorce.

Testimony from each side was completed and Judge Ray Pearson promised to make a decision as soon as possible.

LOOKED WITH WIDOW

Mrs. Northcott charged that her husband had once lived "as man and wife" with a wealthy Staten Island, N.Y., widow, Mrs. Zenaida Peck, during a visit to Toronto. He was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church on Staten Island until he resigned in 1954.

Mrs. Northcott also testified that a housekeeper at their home at Trenton, N.J., became pregnant while she herself was living at a cottage the Northcotts own in Minden, Ont.

She did not specifically accuse Northcott of being the father of the woman's child but testified that he "took care of her, hospitalization and everything."

The minister, last witness called during the five-day hearing, denied what he called the "innuendos" of misconduct that came up during the hearing.

He said the housekeeper was pregnant when she asked him for help in July 1952 or 1953. The child was born a few months later and he has paid the costs, he said.

Northcott's divorce petition alleges extreme cruelty but his lawyers asked the judge today to consider "desertion" as another basis. The couple, married in 1941, separated at Christmas, 1954.

Mrs. Northcott admitted that she once agreed to accept a house in exchange for freeing her husband to marry Mrs. Peck.

The Staten Island widow was not a witness at the hearing, although Northcott's lawyer issued a supoena for her.

In answer to Northcott's charges of cruelty, Mrs. Northcott's lawyer said there were no grounds to support that accusation "the only evidence of cruelty being that she threw a cup of tea on him." That bit of testimony was produced early in the hearing.

Northcott moved to Miami several months ago to apply for the divorce, bringing with him their three children, Graham, 13, Jennifer, 8, and Marshall, 5.

He has admitted that Mrs. Peck is helping pay his living expenses but said he intended to repay her as soon as he is gainfully employed again.

Southern Birds Moving North

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Ontario Museum said Mon. it has uncovered the "most important bird-life discovery in Ontario in at least two years" and added to evidence that southern birds are moving north into Canada.

The find was the interbreeding of two related but different birds —the blue-winged warbler and the golden-winged warbler.

They were found and photographed with four young, nesting at Milton, 20 miles west of Toronto, by a joint museum-Audubon Society team headed by James Baillie of the museum staff.

Mr. Baillie said the find is important "because it is further evidence that southern birds are moving north. . . ."

He added:

"Some believe that changes in the weather are responsible, while others claim that the birds move farther north as the brush is cleared and farmlands open up."

SABRES FOR WEST GERMANY

Seventy-five Sabre jet-fighter planes, similar to those shown in a fly past at Montreal, have been given by Canada to West Germany. The Mark V Sabres, worth $32,700,000, will come from Canada's air division in Europe. The division now is being equipped with Mark VI models. The planes are built at Montreal by Canadair Ltd. Madoc

D.V.B.S.

MADOC — The daily vacation Bible School opened at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church with an average attendance of 75 boys and girls enjoying music, handwork and Bible Study. The school will continue throughout for two weeks.

The staff are as follows: president, the Rev. M. W. Heslip; secretary, Marilyn Johnston; pianist, Mrs. E. Reid; teachers, the Rev. B. Johnston; Mrs. R. John son; Miss Blanche Trotter; Mrs. H. Stickwood; Miss Jean Baulim; Mrs. Jim Bronsdon; Miss Enid Wannamaker, and supervisor, Mrs. Jack Smith.

Miss Elizabeth Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker was among the students from Toronto, who left last week for Europe where they will tour the British Isles, and European countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scrutton, Linda and Bob, left this week for a visit of relatives in Western Canada.

Miss Minnie Ferguson, of Hamilton, called on old acquaintances in Madoc on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., spent the week with the latter's sister, Mrs. Sue Gordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Stephen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parks, and other relatives, left on Saturday for their home in Calgary, Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Krier, of Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Comerford, and family, in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Herrington and daughter Louise, of St. Catharines, spent their holidays with Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Naylor. While here, Don, accompanied by R. H. Naylor and A. Arthur, spent a day fishing at Moira Lake and was fortunate enough to land a 16-pound muskie, length 34 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart, of Detroit, are visiting the former's brothers, Messrs Fred, Will and John Stewart.

CAMPBELLFORD

Town Council Discusses Garbage Situation

CAMPBELLFORD — Matters of routine business occupied a comparatively short session at the regular meeting of the Campbellford Town Council. Most of the discussion concerned the garbage situation and Deputy Reeve Rutherford took the stand that it is not possible to keep the dump in good condition without supervision, for which it would be necessary to employ a full time man.

Campbellford Honeycombs Structures, represented by Mr. Charles Lee, requested sewers, and a water main to their premises on Kinsmen Street. It was decided to service this street with a view to recovering part of the cost from future developments in the area.

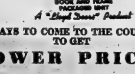
Mr. J. E. Ayrhart, who purchased Lots 13 and 14, Rannoy Street, some years ago, asked for a deed in order that the property may be transferred. The legal matter will be taken care of, the costs to be borne by Mr. Ayrhart.

Council decided to purchase a cup for the Little League Baseball.

August and September council meetings are to be held on the second Monday in these months because of the Civic Holiday and Labor Day. The Mutual Aid Fire By-Law was passed.

Thanks were tendered to Mayor R. J. and Mrs. Locke for their part in the Old Home Week activities, to the P.U.C. for lights and the Mayor's jewel of office; to the town employees for their faithful and strenuous efforts, and to Earl Craighead for providing receptacles for garbage at the points where the picnic tables were placed.

Mr. James Parcels was named dog-catcher and the cost of a traffic light at Bridge and Doxsee Streets is to be investigated by the clerk-treasurer.



Mayor Locke thanked all for their help and co-operation during the Golden Jubilee celebrations.

QUAKES INJURE MINERS

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Earthquakes shook Chile Friday and one person at Copiapo died of shock as the population panicked. An undetermined number of copper miners were injured, some seriously, when caught by shifting earth at Huantema.

Coal Tar Dyes In Food May Cause Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee says that some coal tar dyes used in foods, cosmetics and drugs may actually be poisonous or cause cancer.

The committee added that it may take the Food and Drug Administration another 25 years to determine whether 116 dyes now certified as safe under U.S. law really are harmless. It said the research program should be strengthened.

The group was named by the national research council of the National Academy of Sciences at the request of the Food and Drug Administration. It is headed by William Darby, Vanderbilt University biochemist.

The investigators said the present FDA research program is good, but "the size and scope of the program are inadequate, owing primarily to budgetary and space limitations."

Only 15 of the 116 dyes certified under the 1938 Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act have been studied to any great extent, the committee said. These 15 are used in foods.

Among the 15 coal tar derivatives which have been studied, the committee said, 10 resulted in some harmful effects on experimental animals.

"Several are distinctly toxic (poisonous) when fed to rats at levels as low as one quarter of one per cent of a standard diet," the committee said, adding:

"The demonstration that laboratory animals may develop cancer after being exposed to the action of some dyes is an important observation and should not be ignored in evaluating the safety of the dye for human use."

'Cavemen' Return To Modern Living With Relief

CARENNAC, France (Reuters) —Nine French "cavemen" have returned to modern living with relief after two weeks of existence on prehistoric menus in the style of their ancestors thousands of years ago.

Weakened physically and mentally by their life at prehistoric standards, the nine had breakfast in bed Sunday after spending their first night since July 1 in modern beds.

Then, after shaving off their beards, they told about their struggle to find food. The fight for survival now was said to be more difficult than it was for the men they were imitating.

Unlike the ancient cavemen who lived in a nearby cavern, the modern cave-dwellers had no wild horses or bulls to hunt for meat and little smaller game. They managed to kill one rabbit and also caught and grilled a hedgehog, biggest delicacy of the two-week survival experiment.

The rest of the diet consisted chiefly of snails, nettles, wild berries and one grass snake.

Medical examination indicated that apart from losing 10-12 pounds weight each the experiment was not harmful to any of them.

Breach Between Salsberg And Executive Healed

TORONTO (CP)—A breach between Joseph B. Salsberg, former member of the Ontario legislature and the national executive of the Labor - Progressive (Communist) Party concerning Russia's treatment of Jews has been publicly healed.

In a statment in the Canadian Tribune, the party newspaper, it is acknowledged that Mr. Salsberg was right and the executive wrong.

Mr. Salsberg, former Labor-Progressive member of the legislature for Toronto St. Andrew, was dismissed from the party executive over the disagreement.

He had been a member of the executive from 1924 to 1954 and was reinstated last May.

Mr. Salsberg complained that the dissolution of Jewish cultural institutions in Russia and action against prominent Jewish writers had been carried out by crude administrative means.

The Canadian Tribune story says:

"Viewed in the light of recent events and on the basis of facts now available it is clear that in the original difference . . . J. B. Salsberg was right and the majority of the executive wrong."

U.S. EQUIPS DANES

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) —The Danish air force is to get 10 RF-84 Thunderflash jet fighters equipped for photographic reconnaissance from the United States under the mutual defence assistance programme. The planes will be delivered at the rate of three in July.

TAX-SHARING PLAN

Mr. Harris said any province wanting a greater amount is "entirely at liberty" to levy whatever tax it wishes, without losing the equalization and income-stabilization payments. He conceded—it would result, however, in some double taxation.

CALLED MAKESHIFT

Mr. Drew termed the plan "only another makeshift" and said a new tax conference, with municipalities sitting in, should work out "a lasting solution" to the tax-sharing problem.

Mr. Harris said no final solution is practicable.

The federal government was spending 40 per cent of its budget for defence. Almost $500,000,000 a year was spent on social welfare measures. There was constant pressure to boost federal spending in provincial fields of jurisdiction such as health, highways and university and vocational training.

Mr. Drew said the new plan will do nothing to reduce the heavy tax load and will lead to an increase in double taxation. The government was reaching into tax fields belonging primarily to the provinces under the constitution, and claiming a moral right to 50 per cent of the income tax field.

Mr. Coldwell, however, said the central government cannot provide the provinces with the money to maintain a proper level of social services if it steps out of part of the tax fields.

NIGGARDLY, SAYS LOW

Mr. Low described the plan as "a niggardly settlement of tax fields that belong as much to the provinces as to the Dominion." There should be a real effort to work out an acceptable agreement instead of ramming the new formula down the provinces' throats.

Two Quebec members crossed swords over the scheme.

Leon Balcer (PC — Trois-Rivieres), national president of his party, said the government acted in its usual centralising way by calling the provinces and handing them its proposals, then saying it would go no further. That would not solve the constitutional problem, nor would the payments to Quebec meet that province's needs.

Alexis Caron (L—Hull) said he wonders whether Mr. Balcer would sell Quebec's autonomy if the price was right. He described the equalization payments as gifts which could not threaten provincial rights.

Harry O. White (PC—Middlesex East) said municipalities face more serious problems than either of the two senior levels of government. They could do nothing to expand their tax base.

TO BE EAST'S LARGEST

TOKYO (Reuters) — A Tokyo building firm has announced that a new nine-storey office building to be built in central Tokyo will be the largest in the Far East. Planners say that the 6,000,000,000 yen ($15,600,000) building will contain 1,200,000 square feet of floor space and will be completed in 1958.

CAMPBELLFORD

Northumberland H. S. Board Names Teachers

CAMPBELLFORD — The regular meeting of the North-East Northumberland District High School Board was held in the Campbellford High School on Friday evening, with all members present.

Conforming to the recommendations made by the Principal of the Campbellford High School, the Board designated Mr. R. J. L. Smith as a teacher of mathematics in Campbellford High School.

Mr. E. E. Darling was appointed supervising principal of the North East Northumberland District High Schools, and Mr. Jack Chynoweth was appointed acting Principal of the Warkworth High School.

Vincent Farrell, chairman of the Property Committee, reported that the roof of Campbellford High School is in need of repair and that he had investigated the cost of materials. It was decided that the Property Committee be authorized to purchase the required materials and make arrangements to have this work done.

It was decided that a back stop shall be provided for the girls' ball diamond on the grounds of Campbellford High School.

Mr. E. E. Darling reported that the probable enrollment in Campbellford High School for the academic year 1956-57 term will be 300 students.

It was unanimously agreed that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. Fred G. Meek, expressing to him the sincere appreciation of the Board for his services in instructing classes, particularly Grade XIII, and marking papers, at a time when his assistance was greatly needed due to the illness of the Mathematics teacher in the Campbellford High School, and that a copy of this letter be sent to the Department of Education.

The accounts presented at this meeting were approved for payment, and the meeting adjourned.

Meet the NEW boss of the family!

Are we proud of our new Pontiac? You bet! Every time I think about this Pontiac's superb performance I want to get in and start driving. And style! . . . comfort! . . . real luxury! Well, just look at it! And when you get your Pontiac you'll say it, too. It's great—simply great!

Being a woman, I'm naturally attracted to color and style . . . and this new Pontiac of ours—as well as all the others we see on the roads—is teaching me lots of new tricks with color and design. Pontiac's trim good looks make it easy to "dress up" to.

Isn't it divine . . . I mean really! Absolutely everybody is proud of our new car—and not just because it's another Pontiac. It's because . . . well, it's a little hard to explain, but I guess it's because Pontiac this year is the most—a real cool car. I mean . . . really!

Gee whiz! I'm the most popular guy on the street—all the kids want rides in our new car. Dad's new Pontiac is even better than the last one . . . and he's been getting Pontiacs for a long, long time. When I'm old enough to own a car, it'll be a Pontiac, too!

HEAVYWEIGHT TITLES?

The tub-thumpers in the camps of Archie Moore, world heavyweight champion, and James J. Parker, British Empire heavyweight title-holder, are ballyhooing the upcoming fight between the pair as being for the "heavyweight championship of the world."

Since when did Moore become the reigning heavyweight? Rocky Marciano, heavyweight king, who retired undefeated, is said to have mentioned Moore as his logical successor, but the boxing brass of the NBA thus far have not announced Moore, nor any other fighter as filling the "Brockton Blockbuster's" shoes.

If so, why are they holding elimination contests among various heavy contenders?

Not only are the publicity boys distributing reams of handouts anent the forthcoming "heavyweight championship battle" but one of them claims it is the second time a heavyweight championship bout has been fought in Canada.

The incomparable late Frank Menke in his "Encyclopedia of Sports," more commonly known as the "sports-writers' Bible," and rightly so, has no record of such a scrap.

Here's an excerpt from one of the Parker-Moore camp press releases:

"While the coming heavyweight title match between Champion Archie Moore and Canadian-British king, James J. Parker, scheduled for the Maple Leaf Baseball Stadium, in Toronto, Monday night, July 16, is the first official world's heavyweight title affair to be staged anywhere in the Dominion, delving into the record books brings out the fact that there was another fight staged back in 1913 when a heavyweight title was at stake.

"That was in the days of the white hope era. The result of the elimination tournament found Luther McCarty, the Nebraskan managed by the late Billy McCarney, winner and new champion. Those were the days when Jack Johnson, the champion, was in trouble with the U.S. Government and matters in the division stymied, with the result that an elimination tournament came up, presenting the best men among the Caucasians.

"McCarty, a 6 foot, 4 inch giant, scaling 285 pounds, never broken in stakes and thirsty gaining recognition as king when he stopped Al Palzer, the Tom O'Rourke protege, in eighteen rounds at Vernon, Cal., was matched with the Canadian, Arthur Pelky, of Chatham, Ontario, for the championship at Calgary, Alberta, on May 24, 1913. Naturally, like Parker is for the coming fight with Moore, Pelkey was the underdog but emerged the winner and champion on a one-round knockout. That was one of the biggest upsets of all times for it was acknowledged that if McCarty had not met with the mishap that cost him his life he would surely have become the most terrific titleholder of all.

"The truth of the matter is there has never been a heavyweight title bout fought in Canada. Noah Brusso of Hamilton, ever, Ontario, whose ring name was Tommy Burns, was the only Canadian to hold the title, winning it from the champion, Marvin Hart in San Francisco on February 22, 1906.

On December 25, Christmas Day, 1908, Burns, defended his title against the famous Jack Johnson in Sydney, Australia, for a purse of $30,000, a record sum at that time. Johnson whipped Burns so badly that police jumped in and stopped the fight in the 14th round.

Johnson held the title until April 5, 1915, when he was knocked out in that famous Havana, Cuba, fight by huge Jess Willard in 26 rounds., Johnson was killed in an automobile accident in 1946.

There is no mention in the official record of Pelkey winning the title in 1913. In fact the only mention Pelkey and McCarthy get in the records is their won, lost and what-have-you figures.

Pelkey fought forty bouts, winning 21, losing six, three were drawn affairs and ten went to no-decisions. McCarthy fought 25 times, winning 19, losing one and getting eight no-decisions.

Along about that time there were "white hope" eliminations when public feeling ran high against Johnson and his alleged out-of-ring behavior. But there is no record as far as this corner can unearth of the Pelkey-McCarthy fight, nor of Pelkey being declared champion.

However, outside of this, the Parker-Moore fight is the biggest thing to be staged in Canadian pugilistic circles in years, if not for all time. The Canadian is said to be at his peak, full of confidence and showing no sign of fear of his famous opponent.

Nor is there anything but confidence exuding from the goatee'd Moore training quarters. In fact the forty-year-old light-heavy champ does not appear to be worrying too much over the outcome. The guarantee of $40,000 plus $5,000 training expenses hasn't hurt any, either.

It could be that Moore is ruling his younger Canadian opponent lightly. If by any chance he is defeated, he will have a hard time explaining his way out of it.

As much as we, like every other sportsminded Canadian, would like to see the powerful youngster win, we doubt if he has the experience and ability to overcome the crafty, wily, hard-punching negro. However, if he can land one or two of those bone-crushing rights to a vulnerable spot, ring history might be written on July 25.

London Lords Drill Fifty

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — More than 50 candidates turned out for the first field drill of the London Lords, new entry in the senior OHTJ, Monday.

The 1½-hour workout was supervised by playing coach Indian Jack Jacobe, aided by two of his U.S. imports, Edgar Dearmon and George Elliott. The latter was with Winnipeg Blue Bombers last year.

The club announced earlier it had signed 16 homebrews to CRU certificates.

222,325 AT WOODBINE

TORONTO (CP)—A total of 232,325 paid customers attended the races at the New Woodbine race track during a 28-day racing meet which ended Saturday, it was announced Monday.

Spectators bet a total of $11,380,236 in pari-mutuel play.

Phils Take Three From Cards As Cincy Repeats on Giants; Lemon Wins Behind 17 Clouts

By ED WILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the St. Louis Cardinals who lugged Harvey Haddix "Jinx Kitten," but since trading him to Philadelphia, the stubby southpaw hasn't done much pussy-footin' around against his old mates. He's whipped them in three of four tries.

Haddix, who picked up the nickname because his mound motions resembled those of former Redbird lefty Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, stuck it to them straight over the Cards Monday night, 2-0, as the Phillies continued to make things rough for the National League's first division clubs.

They took the series from the fourth place Cardinals 2-1, following a three-game sweep that knocked Cincinnati from first place and a four-game split that side-tracked a drive by third-place Brooklyn.

The defeat again put St. Louis at .500 and left them nine games short of the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who stretched their overall win row with a 3-1 decision over Pittsburgh as Hank Aaron's home run. Cincinnati remained two games behind with a three-homer, 10-4 decision over last place New York. Brooklyn, five games back, got only token help as Don Bessi Chicago Cubs 4-1 as Roger Craig pitched a two-hitter in a rain shortened, six-inning game.

TAKES STRIKEOUT LEAD

Haddix, who was 1-0 when traded to Milwaukee for the pitcher deal May 11, won his eighth and fourth straight against three defeats and his only loss. He fanned eight to take the league strikeout lead with 97. He also got the Phils going with one of his two singles. Richie Ashburn followed with a double and Mary Blaylock then doubled them home in the only third inning against Willard Schmidt.

The victory put the Phils only a half-game behind Fifth Place Pittsburgh.

Stan Musial upped his league-leading average to .329 with two hits.

Aaron's 11th home run broke up a 1-1 tie at Milwaukee as Bob Buhl won his 11th and Don Kline lost his 10th. Frank Thomas' 16th home run had tied it in the second for the Pirates who clinched their chance in the eighth as Buhl got Lee Walls on a pop up and fanned Dale Long with two on and one out.

THREE HOMERS

Frank Robinson hit his 19th homer, Gus Bell his 17th and Ed Bailey his 16th as the Redlegs who swept the three-game series from the Giants. Robinson and Bailey drove in three runs in the 14-hit barrage against loser Johnny Antonelli and three relievers. Art Fowler won his sixth with a nine-hitter, including a homer by Bill White, who drove in three runs.

Gil Hodges' 19th home run followed two walks in the first inning for manager Walt Alston's "gutless" bunch as Craig won his ninth. A walk, a single and two infield outs gave the Cub run in the third inning. Junior Gilliam's triple and a Carl Furillo single scored the other Brook run in the fifth off Sam (44) Jones, who struck out six, but walked seven.

Arena Body To Operate Club In Senior A League

The Belleville city arena commission at a closed meeting with the city council Monday night, decided to operate a team in the Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey league this season.

The decision, however carried certain concessions, which included, the advertising value be sold to a sponsor and that certain privileges be obtained from the league. These privileges were not disclosed to a statement issued to the press this morning by commission chairman Alderman Claude D. Tice.

The statement included; a city resident will be named manager of the club and an experienced hockey promoter will be engaged to secure new players. These players will be on hand when the training season opens in the first week of October.

Another meeting will be held in the near future to complete arrangements following which a press conference will be held when full details will be made available to the public.

The commission felt that the advertising value to a sponsor would be in the neighborhood of $1,500.

The decision to operate the hockey club was made by unanimous vote of the commission.

Commission chairman Tice and secretary Drury Denyes were formally delegated to attend a meeting of the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey League slated for Kingston in the immediate future.

BROADCASTS JAMMED

NEW YORK (AP)—The armed forces radio changed its frequencies for sports broadcasts Monday for the second time in five weeks in an effort to avoid jamming from behind the Iron Curtain.

The armed forces radio sends play-by-play accounts of selected major league ball games daily plus other special events. Listeners among the armed services in Europe reported the broadcasts were inaudible due to jamming recently.

Purchase Of Detroit Tigers Biggest Money Deal In Baseball History

11-Man Michigan Syndicate Acquires Club for $5,500,000; Toronto Bid Among Rejections

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—A pair of baseball unknowns parlayed a record price and a promise into control of Detroit Tigers.

An 11-man syndicate headed by Michigan radio man Fred Knorr and John Fetzer swung the biggest money deal in baseball history Monday in the $5,500,000 purchase of the sixth-place American League's club.

Although the bid was $280,000 higher than any of the other seven submitted, the fact that the new owners promised to continue the "sincere and dignified" policies that have characterized Tiger management for more than 30 years was regarded as an influencing factor.

Those were the type of policies employed by Walter O. Briggs, Sr., who died in 1952 and his son, Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., and four daughters.

BRIGGS STAYS ON

Spike Briggs, president since 1953, will stay on—as was his wish—with the new organization as executive vice-president in charge of operations. Knorr and Fetzer say they will operate their "run the club."

Among the rejected bids came five for $5,180,000 from a syndicate headed by Toronto radio station owner Jack Kent Cooke, part owner of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International-Pro baseball League.

Cooke said last night in Toronto: "We're quite disappointed.

"I feel like I'd been born in Detroit or was a citizen it would have been the same thing and we might have got the franchise."

FIRST MOVE SOON

Insiders say although the Knorr-Fetzer syndicate—which includes crooner Bing Crosby—will not officially take over until Oct. 1, the first action may take place next week. They say manager Bucky Harris, who has been openly criticized by Briggs, and general manager Muddy Ruel will be dismissed shortly.

The new owners refused to comment. They said there will be a meeting next week of the new board of directors to discuss several things."

Four trustees who control the estate of the late Briggs are certain to approve of the new owners and Commissioner Ford Frick announced immediately after the decision by the Tigers' board of directors that all members of the syndicate "are perfectly acceptable."

Other members of the syndicate are Dexter Keaton of New York and Hollywood, R. F. Woolworth of New York; George D. Coleman of Miami, Okla.; Joseph P. Thomas of New York, Harvey R. Hansen and William H. Scripps of Detroit, Paul A. O'Bryan of Washington and Carl Lee of Kalamazoo, Mich.

BEAT YEECK BID

The Group beat down a spirited bid by Bill Veeck, who had owned St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians and controlled the Tigers "more than anything else in the world."

Veeck's combine offered $5,250,000. Although the directors, who voted six to two for the Knorr-Fetzer group, said they did not discuss the other bids, it is known they frowned on Veeck's unconventional methods of promoting the sport.

The new owners will pay out $1,000,000 by Aug. 1 and another $2,400,000 by Oct. 1. The remaining $800,000 will be paid over a five-year period.

No other financial dealing in the sport approaches the Tiger transaction. August Busch paid about $4,500,000 for St. Louis Cardinals and old Sportsman's Park; Dan Topping, Del Webb and Larry Marshall shelled out $2,400,000 for New York Yankees in 1945 and a group of Chicago industrialists led by Arnold Johnson paid an estimated $3,500,000 for Philadelphia Athletics, which they transferred to Kansas City.

In the purchase, the Knorr-Fetzer syndicate gets what is regarded as one of baseball's best franchises and one of its finest parks. Briggs Stadium is a beautifully-kept place that seats nearly 53,000 fans.

STOLEN BASES

WATERVLIET, N.Y. (AP)—All the bases were stolen in Watervliet's Congress Park — but not during a baseball game.

And the thief apparently found it's use for his loot. Police found it dumped in a street in Troy, across the Hudson River, Sunday.

Dutchies Hurler Tosses No-Hitter

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dean Finkbeiner, a University of Michigan student, pitched his way into the Intercounty Baseball League's senior records Monday night with a no-hit, no-run conquest of Oshawa Motors.

Finkbeiner, who joined Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen last week and after starting this season with Sudbury in the Nickel Belt League was in command all the way. On the rare occasions he was in trouble his teammates came through with sparkling fielding.

The Dutchmen scored all their runs in the sixth inning for their 4-0 win. Shorty Miller drove home what proved to be the winner with a bases-loaded single. Bob Sealby had four singles and a walk in five trips to the plate.

At London, St. Thomas Elgins belted the league-leading Majors 9-2 to climb out of the Intercounty cellar. The visitors combed three London pitchers for 13 hits, including four doubles. Chuck Garivaltis took 8 wickets for 58 runs and Lock 4 for 41.

Australia leads by one victory in the first-match series. One match was drawn.

Papers Made Lot Of Team Talk Says Alston

CHICAGO (AP) — Brooklyn manager Walt Alston says his "little meeting" with his players at Milwaukee last week was "greatly exaggerated" and he'd like to have his side of the feud story told.

Before departing for Cincinnati Monday, Alston said "it's something that has happened before, will happen again and probably happens with every major league team."

Alston has been dissatisfied with the way his world champions have been fumbling around and told them so after losing a game to the league-leading Braves. Some of the players later were anonymously quoted as being insulted with Alston.

"I don't keep having told them off but it's all greatly exaggerated and out of proportion," said Alston. "I've had the team in concerned nothing has been said about it since. But the papers have been making a big thing out of it.

"Stories like that usually get a big play, but when I go around giving players credit and trying to build up their confidence, no one ever pays attention."

"We were going bad and I just wanted to try something else, so I had a change-up. On two or many occasions our pitchers have been behind on a batter and on the next pitch the ball goes sailing out of the park.

"I'm not a good baseball, but I don't go around raising a lot of hell. They can make mistakes just like I can make mistakes. And when an 0-2 pitch goes over the fence, as a rule, the pitcher should know he's made a mistake. I don't have to tell him."

Aussies Halt England's Bid In Test Match

LEEDS, England (AP) — Australian batsmen Keith Miller and Neil Harvey defended stubbornly Monday and saved Australia's bid for victory in the third cricket test match.

Only one day's play remains—and England's hopes of victory rest on the weather, state of the pitch today and spinners Tony Lock and Jim Laker.

The Australians were all out for 143 in their first innings, 125 behind England's first innings total. That meant the Australians were forced to follow-on and England soon had them struggling in their second innings.

Fast bowler Freddie Trueman bowled opening batsman Colin McDonald only 9 runs on the clock board. Peter Burke was bowled by Trueman for 10. Then came the Harvey-Miller stand. The two Aussies kept their bats straight, smothered the spin and lashed out only at the loose balls. They stayed together for an hour and a half and at the close of play Australia was 82 for 2 in the second innings, still 89 runs behind England's first innings score.

Laker and Lock skittled Australia in the first innings. Laker took 5 wickets for 58 runs and Lock 4 for 41.

Predict Moore-Parker Battle May Out-Color Cup Classic

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A sports spectacle—mooted as Canada's greatest since the 1895 Grey Cup final—is scheduled here July 25 when Archie Moore and James W. Parker meet in what is called a world heavyweight boxing title bout. It may surpass the football classic in color.

"We want to put on a production that Canadians will long remember," Andy Niederreiter of Peterborough, promotion director of the 15-round fight, said in an interview Monday night. "It will be something that even Americans have never seen in the fight game."

Production costs are estimated at $20,000, Niederreiter said, but associates figure it is money well spent. They are planning a big day and they candidly confess their preparations are modelled along the lines of big-time fights staged in England.

MAY HAVE PARADE

Niederreiter will have models as bikeriders at the start of a minimal red carpet for $30-a-seat ringside patrons. They may get a Royal Canadian Mounted Police, powerful revolving searchlights, a bunting-draped ring, Canadian and American flags on the ring posts, flags ringing the stadium and possibly a parade from downtown Toronto to the stadium in the southwest section of the city.

The 458 persons in the first three ringside rows will be dressed to the teeth—the women in evening gowns, fur stoles and jewelry and the men in tuxedos or white dinner jackets.

"Every person who bought a seat in these rows agreed to go to the fight all dolled up," Niederreiter said.

As a bonus, the promoters will present the ring—a circle covered with flowers. The women will be given corsages; the men carnations.

Even the press-row occupants will be asked to go formal.

"We'll appeal to the newspaper boys and others to dress up for the occasion," Niederreiter said. "Of course, we'll supply the suits for these gents."

Moore and Parker enter the ring. The referee will be asked to stand in the centre of the ring and he will be clothed in a white dinner jacket.

The stadium lights will then be dimmed, the national anthems of the United States and Canada will be played and a spotlight will shine on the two boxers in the ring.

And that's not all. RCMP in full-dress will be stationed around the ring. Between rounds and after the fight they will take up positions to make sure that no fans get into the ring.

"I've been in the boxing game more than 40 years and nothing like this has ever been done in North America," Niederreiter said. "We've got the biggest fight Canada has ever staged and we must go big-league with it."

Bedard, Fontana Favored in Quarter Finals

OTTAWA (CP) — The men's singles quarter-finals highlight today's play in the Ontario lawn tennis championships.

Canadian champion Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., top seeded in the championships, will meet Jim Bentley of Toronto in one match, while second-seeded Don Fontana of Toronto will play Gerard Du-Platt in another.

Bedard and Fontana, who also reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles, are favorites to capture Canada's gold in the Davis Cup playdowns.

Bentley-Bedard, which is pitted against the United States in the North American zone final at Milwaukee July 27-29, will be selected at the conclusion of the Ontario championships today.

Henri Rochon of Montreal, third member of the 1955 team, failed to show up Monday and defaulted to Fred Fennell of Montreal who will meet Fontana in another of the quarter-final match.

Montreal's Val Hariri won the right to meet Paul Willey of Vancouver in the last quarter-final match of Canada's ace in the hole, K. H. Gan, a native of Indonesia now working in New York.

The women's singles section was turned inside out when first and second-seeded players Mrs. Hanna Sladek and Mrs. Shirley Hart of Montreal failed to show up for quarter-final matchers.

In today's semi-finals, monopolized by four Toronto entries, Mrs. Benita Senn meets Mrs. Louise Brown and Mrs. Nilda Polachecki tangles with Ann Fraedhoff.

Leafs Win Two Take Top From Beaten Royals

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When a team is hot, it can't do anything wrong, and that's why Toronto Maple Leafs are in first place in the International League today.

Two months ago the Leafs and Buffalo Bisons had a game stopped by Toronto's Sunday curfew with Bisons ahead 5-1 in the last of the seventh. The game was completed Monday night, and the Leafs won it, 6-5.

Leafs had the bases loaded and none out when the game was halted. Three singles and a walk gave the Leafs the victory with none down out.

Then Toronto went out to win the regularly-scheduled game, 1-0, while Rochester Red Wings were whipping Montreal Royals 6-0.

The Leafs, who have lost just two percentage points ahead of the Royals in the red-hot race, with the Wings another half game back.

In the other scheduled game Monday night, Columbus Jets turned back Havana Sugar Kings 4-3.

Dutch Rosenberger got credit for the 5-3 victory in the relief role affair, Eddy Blake posted his 10th victory and sixth in a row. He held the Cubans to three hits and struck out eight. The Leafs scored in the first inning and the run stood up all the way.

MACKINSON STOPS ROYALS

Johnny Mackinson, a veteran right-hander, seems to have the Royals' number, defeated them for the fifth time this season. The victory broke a seven-game home losing streak for the Wings. Mackinson scattered six singles and Gene Green hit a homer and two singles.

The Jets were ahead all the way in their game with the Sugar Kings, leading 4-0 in the top of the ninth, which put them ahead 4-2, turned out to be the deciding one because Havana notched one in the bottom half of the ninth.

Imports Will Make 56 Season Biggest In Football History

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Things are warming up to another four months of football fever for Canada's nine big-league teams. The 1956 training campaign crunched into gear this week with scrimmages at most of the camps from Montreal to British Columbia.

Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats were the last clubs to start serious workouts. Ottawa Rough Riders and British Columbia Lions have been at it for a couple of weeks.

In one respect, this season will be the biggest in history.

The flow of imports—an estimated 300—is at flood proportions. Joining some American holdovers and a few more pros tackling the Canadian game for the first time in a big hand of U.S. college stars.

Many U.S. College top players who journeyed north were good enough last season to be on the 1956 draft list of the National Football League. At last count, they numbered 56.

All clubs are training in their own backyards except the British Columbia Lions and Calgary Stampeders. Lions MVs share camp at Kelowna and Stampeders are working out at Nelson, B.C.

Preseason exhibition games are two weeks followed by the exhibition games will unveil the 1956 league.

Two reasons underline the American desire to play football in Canada. Most will receive more money than in the U.S. where there are more players fighting for jobs. And a total of 106 imports will be eligible to play with Canada's nine big-league clubs this season, a greater number than ever.

The Big Four—Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton—increased its import to 12 from 10, bringing them on a par with the five teams in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Here are a few of the prize catches:

Hamilton: University of Kansas halfback Gil Reich, second draft choice of Pittsburgh Steelers; Calgary: Halfback Aramis Dandoy, University of California at Los Angeles, third pick of Cleveland Browns; Toronto: Ohio State guard Francis Machinsky, fourth draft choice of Philadelphia Eagles;

Hamilton: Clemson tackle Benjamin Lee, fourth draft choice of Baltimore Colts; Winnipeg: Texas guard Herb Gray, Big Ten's fifth draft choice; Ottawa: Texas Christian back Ray Taylor, sixth choice of Pittsburgh Steelers, and Miami University of Ohio halfback Threl Burton, sixth pick of Philadelphia.

Ottawa: Centre Dick Gaspari of George Washington, seventh choice of Pittsburgh; Edmonton: Half back Jim Decker, 11th pick of Los Angeles Rams.

BANS NEGROES IN SPORT

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Governor Earl Long signed a bill Monday banning inter-racial athletic contests and social activities in Louisiana. The bill takes effect Oct. 15.

The new law will prohibit Americans to play football in Canada. Most will receive more money than in the U.S. where there are more players fighting for jobs. And a total of 106 imports will be eligible to play with Canada's nine big-league clubs this season, a greater number than ever.

The Big Four—Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton—increased its import to 12 from 10, bringing them on a par with the

You are endowed with common sense and a knack for managing others; use these great assets sagaciously.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Don't dally with things you can accomplish, nor rush to the straining point. Guard health, nerves and rightful independence. Be sensible in eating and drinking habits.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Without realizing it, you may override others' rights and privileges. Be on guard against this. Don't strain eyes.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Children and the elderly are favored now. Give proper regard and love to all responsibilities, and feel happy as always afterwards. Good deeds will pay big dividends.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Manufacturing and handling new items, science, invention, research can advance notably now. Let your humanitarian instincts guide you. This day can stand some diplomacy and discretion.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Please note Aquarius. Your day is very similar. Travel, renewing old associations favored. Don't ignore "hunch" as intuitional touch then comes into personality and plans alter as wholly as day and night, but whatever you do, it is in a personable, interesting way. You can become expert at conversation, entertaining, planning get-together. See to it that you have only good friendships. Also, don't constantly wonder if others mean to oppose or work against you — a feeling you have at times. Do not be too variable in feelings. You are truly sympathetic and gentle, when living on the higher plane — are a wonderful home-person; probably a witty talker. Birthdate of: Wm. Makepeace Thackeray, famous writer.

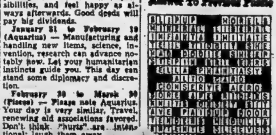
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Inject the right spirit and confidence into day's endeavors and a greater part of the battle will be won. Be content with what you should. Be eager to learn.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't brood over setbacks or disappointments. Everything can work out for the best if you take it rightly and keep doing your best.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A good period for new ideas, giving novel twists to old routines, enthusiasm for progress. You can achieve much.



June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Give proper time and effort to essentials, not neglecting any details. Drawing hasty conclusions and repeating rumors (or even truths which should not be divulged) are this day's temptations. Do not yield to them.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Restrictions are excellent character builders if accepted in the proper spirit. Today deserves your best, and that means in disposition, too. Ask, do not demand, and you will gain increased respect.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Less tension, more ease, calm distribution of energies are vital to success and contentment now. Keep abreast of events and enjoy some good reading.

2000 WELL-WISHERS GREET MARILYN AS SHE ARRIVES IN VICTORIA

Youngest and smallest challenger of the perilous Juan de Fuca Straits, Marilyn Bell, right, received a rousing reception from 2,000 spectators as she arrived in Victoria to train for her swim. Among the well-wishers was Amy Hiland, left, 23-year-old California housewife who swam to within a mile and a half of completing the 18-mile Juan de Fuca Straits on July 13. She is shown, centre, being pulled out unconscious, her left arm paralyzed and her eyes temporarily blinded by salt water. Marilyn will train for a least six weeks in the 50-degree water before attempting the gruelling swim. Bert Thomas is the only one of scores of swimmers ever to conquer the straits. (Central Press Canadian).

How Provinces Would Share If Tax Plan Is Approved

OTTAWA (CP)—Quebec would get $49,585,000 of the estimated $158,185,000 the federal government would distribute next year in tax-sharing formula.

The estimate was contained in a table submitted to the Commons by Finance Minister Harris Monday.

The new formula would set in motion a three-pronged tax-sharing system to replace the federal-provincial tax rental agreements which expire next March.

One portion would provide federal equalization payments to the provinces — without strings attached. These payments would be designed to bring the per capita income of the less wealthy provinces to the average of the two highest—Ontario and British Columbia.

Another provision would allow taxpayers to deduct up to 10 per cent of the federal personal income tax, nine per cent of corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties to cover provincial levies in these fields.

The central government also would put a floor on provincial revenues in these fields, guaranteeing they would get 95 per cent of the average of the two preceding years.

Mr. Harris estimated that in the first year of the scheme an estimated $653,000,000 would be available to the provinces, $115,000,000 more than would have been available if the rental schemes had been extended.

Of the $653,000,000 total, $155,185,000 would be provided in equalization payments. They would be distributed in the following way:

Quebec, $49,585,000; Saskatchewan, $22,230,000; Alberta, $18,670,000; Nova Scotia, $17,130,000; New Brunswick, $14,705,000; Manitoba, $14,360,000; Newfoundland, $12,120,000; Prince Edward Island, $3,285,000; British Columbia, $3,070,000.

Ontario would get nothing. The province's income is considered to be the highest on a per capita basis.

Here is the latest estimate of total revenues that would be available to the provinces under the new scheme, with probable revenues if the old rental agreements had been extended in 1957-58 in brackets:

Ontario $223,870,000 ($179,290,000); Quebec $185,675,000 ($146,620,000); B.C. $53,430,000 ($53,330,000); Alberta $46,350,000 ($37,980,000); Saskatchewan, $36,145,000 ($30,010,000); Manitoba $34,235,000 ($29,020,000); Nova Scotia, $27,635,000 ($22,865,000); New Brunswick, $22,645,000 ($19,210,000); Prince Edward Island $4,340,000 ($4,270,000); Newfoundland $18,740,000 ($14,890,000).

The bracketed figure for Quebec is an estimate based on what it would have received had it been a party to the old rental agreements. Quebec has consistently refused to rent the direct tax fields to the federal government, being the only province to levy its own taxes. Federal officials said Quebec's own levies actually are less than the amount it would have received as federal rent.

Canada Is Seen As Sensitive to Supply of Steel

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's economy passed the mid - year mark in high gear but its pace in the second half of 1956 will depend on the outcome of the United States steel strike negotiations.

This is the analysis of the investment house Greenshields and Company in a review issues Monday, Canada was particularly sensitive to the steel supply because of a "significant" change in the pattern of business activity since last year.

"While last year demand mainly originated from consumer spending, residential construction and exports, now it is the capital expenditures program which is the dominant factor."

Heavy outlays for industrial expansion have caused increasing consumption of steel, cement and other construction materials, taxing domestic production facilities to the limit. These materials, as well as machinery and equipment, have had to be purchased in increasing quantities from abroad . . .

AFFECT INDUSTRIES

The review adds:

"Inevitably the pace of business in the second half of the year will depend on the outcome of negotiations for settlement of the steel strike in the U.S. An interruption of shipments of steel and machinery would affect many Canadian industries and would delay execution of the capital expenditures program which has been, so far this year the main impetus to economic activity."

HAMILTON GAMBLER "TAKEN FOR RIDE"

Death of Anton Kuternoga, right, well known gambler of Hamilton, Ont., has led police to suggest he gave too many IOU's and was killed in gangland style. His body was found in a ditch outside Hamilton and he had been shot twice through the head. Examining the tire tracks that led to where the body was found, above, police discovered that he was taken on his death ride in his own car, found later a few blocks from his home. (Central Press Canadian).

Marilyn Bell Opens Training For Long Swim

VICTORIA (CP)—Marilyn Bell and Gus Ryder go to work today.

The famous swim team from Toronto—Marilyn swims and Gus coaches—swing into the start of a six-week training session, ready-ing for the battle against the Juan de Fuca Strait.

At the end of the training period Marilyn will make her bid against the strait in an effort to swim the 18.3 miles between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Forty-seven attempts have been made. One person, Bert Thomas of Tacoma, Wash., was successful.

Marilyn and a friend from Toronto, Maria Brenk, toured and rested yesterday after their arrival Sunday from Toronto.

Tomorrow Marilyn and Gus may have a chance to see an assault on the strait. Anita Long, 17, from England, will be the youngest person to try the strait when she enters the water at 2 a.m.

Meanwhile, other swimmers are poised and ready to go, awaiting only what they consider the best conditions—Amy Hiland, Thomas, Bill Muir and Ben Laughren.

FLOODS IN GERMANY

FRANKFURT (AP)—Torrential rains in the last 48 hours sent West German rivers on a rampage Sunday, flooding low-lying areas and disrupting communications. Crop damage was estimated at millions of dollars. At least six persons were reported killed by lightning or were drowned.

QUAKES IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA (AP) — Two mild earthquakes were reported Sunday from widely separated points in the Philippines, but no damage resulted. A 12 - second shock was recorded in Cotabato province, on southern Mindanao Island, just before dawn. Two hours later a four-second tremor was felt at Basco, on northern Batanes Island.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds plates more firmly and add more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odour" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

A troupe of European acrobats brought along with them, to "support" them in their U.S. circus tour, a 66-foot tapered aluminum tower. Atop the centre is a 26-foot, motor-driven ladder, on which they go through their aerial routine.

If we were in their tights, we know we'd make darn sure that everything holding us up was plenty strong. No doubt that's why they chose aluminum. It's the fact that this light metal would make such easier work of erecting the contraption. We're pleased that they, like so many other people, found just what they wanted in this light, strong, versatile metal.

Israel Renews Charges Arabs Stirring Up War

Says Egypt, Jordan Persist In 'Warlike' Propaganda

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel today renewed her accusations that Egypt and Jordan are "persistently in warlike propaganda." The charge came on the eve of United Nations Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Middle East.

A foreign ministry spokesman announced Israel has complained to the Egyptian-Israel and Jordan-Israel UN mixed armistice commissions of "continued violation" of the armistice agreement article prohibiting warlike threats.

Premier David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Myerson were expected to take up the complaints with Hammarskjold. The UN official is due here Thursday from Lebanon. He will also confer with Jordan officials in their sector of Jerusalem before a return to Cairo to talk with Egyptian leaders.

Jordan delegates returned Tuesday to the armistice commission which they had walked out of Sunday in protest against a vote calling on their government to prevent border bodkdown. The Israeli group includes two Israeli and two Jordanian members and a neutral UN chairman. This time the UN official there will be Israeli.

Israel refused to ask the commission to censure Jordan for the killing of an Israeli mechanic near Lydda airport four nights ago. An Israeli spokesman charged infiltrators from Jordan with the slaying but added, "Israel sees no sense in renewed censure of Jordan when Jordan is not heeding previous condemnations by the commission."

Surgeon's Knife Leaves Boy, 4, Blind for Life

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A surgeon's knife today left little Mike Sibole, aged 4, blind forever.

It was a matter of blindness or death.

The tragic operation took 41 minutes.

Cancer caused removal of his remaining eye—the left.

Cancer has been working at Mike's eyes for some time. The right eye was removed two years ago.

At that time doctors hoped the disease knew technically as retino blastoma, would spread in the left eye. But it appeared there later.

Doctors found that in similar cases removal of the eye saved the patient's life. The disease is hereditary, in the opinion of most doctors who have studied it.

Mike's doctor, who asked to remain anonymous, said the boy is an adopted son of Rev. and Mrs. James M. Sibole and that Sibole let him be operated on because the natural mother had both eyes removed because of the disease.

Mike's vision had been fading for six weeks. At times there were hemorrhages in the eye and he could see nothing. In between he could distinguish objects.

During the last few weeks the Siboles have received many pressured from around the country to seek the aid of a faith healer or just do nothing and trust that their son would be cured. They have received thousands of phone calls and letters.

Most were sympathetic. Sibole said, but some criticized the parents for permitting the operation.

Ceylon Will Sell Broadcast Time To Communists

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Foreign ministry spokesman said today Ceylon hopes to sell Russia broadcasting time on its radio station the Voice of America gave Ceylon's government five years ago.

There were reports in April that Voice of America broadcasts from Ceylon to Asia might be banned, but the spokesman said today the Voice would share time with Red broadcasts.

The ministry source said the radio is trying to sell time to Russia and the Soviet's embassy in London will contact the embassies of eastern European Communist regimes about the deal.

He said delegations visiting Moscow and Peiping have been asked to try to sell radio time to the Communists. All broadcasts —American and Communist—will be censored by Ceylon officials before they go on the air.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Fine cool weather will continue today and Thursday in nearly all Ontario. A large area of high barometric pressure centred northeast of Lake Superior is responsible for this fine weather, and is moving southeast at a leisurely pace.

Next rain will likely hold off until Thursday night or Friday at the earliest and the rain then should be expected only in western sections of the province.

Punch Served Had Wallop

SEOUL (AP) — A punch served at a reception for U.S. Ambassador Walter Dowling really packed a wallop, so powerful it made some of the American and Korean guests violently ill.

Most of the ailing had recovered by today.

The reception for the newly-arrived ambassador was given by the U.S. charge d'affaires Carl Strom and U.S. economic coordinator C. Tyler Wood at the army-operated Chosun Hotel. Nearly 500 attended.

Two punches were served, but the ill effects appeared to come from a concoction of rum and lemon. An army medical officer who investigated said he couldn't analyze the punch. None of it was left.

Child Now Normal

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) — A three-year-old boy born with a hole between the lower chambers of his heart is normal life for him to live a normal life as a result of an operation performed in the United States, his father said Tuesday.

Robert Pinchak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pinchak, was operated on to correct the heart defect April 26 in Boston.

Before the operation, the child's life span was expected to be about nine years.

Lost Cowboy Hat Only Flaw in Trip Through West With Grandfather

By ERWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Hay girl with dark brown eyes and light brown hair missed her white cowboy hat. She has cowboy boots but she lost her hat.

The incident occurred when Susan Massey, seven-year-old granddaughter of Governor - General Vincent Massey, stood in the observation car platform carrying the regal party from Calgary to Jasper. Susan's hat blew off when her hat overboard.

Then began the only unhappy episode, however, for Susan and her sisters Janet, 7, and Evva 6, since the governor - general left Ottawa July 7 on a tour of Western Canada.

Asked the high point of their visit so far, three sets of eyes—all brown like their mother's Mrs. Lionel Massey - closed reflectively.

"I liked the way they marched in the parade," said Janet.

"So did I," chimed in little Sue. Susan suddenly decided the three got the children spent in Prince Rupert, B.C., with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Massey accompanied Mr. Massey on a tour of the Queen Charlotte Islands province's first grant exclusively.

It was a crab-gathering expedition. The governor-general went on with five others.

They got their buckets full of crabs but only Susan, the baby of the group, was venturesome enough to do her own gathering.

"I picked them up with my fingers," she said.

And then Jane remembered that at Prince Rupert she caught a dogfish in a jigging line.

"But we had to throw it back. It was poisonous."

NEW TAX-SHARING BILL RECEIVES FIRST READING

Opposition Did Not Force Vote on Measure

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons gave first reading Tuesday to a major piece of legislation—a bill to put flesh into new financial arrangements proposed to the provinces by the Dominion government.

First reading followed nearly two full days of debate on a preliminary resolution. A succession of Social Credit and Progressive Conservative members made critical speeches but did not force a vote.

Today the Commons renews debate on the $1,375,000,000 spending program in the current fiscal year.

On the new tax-sharing proposals, Conservative and Social Credit members drew up a persistent but unspectacular barrage of criticism. The Social Credit Party has fifteen seats in the House of Commons.

MAIN THEME

Main theme of both parties was that the tax arrangement will continue to centralize power at Ottawa. They urged decentralization —a return of more spending power to the provinces.

The proposed five-year agreements would allow them to present tax rental agreements which expire next March 31.

They would allow deductions from federal taxes of 10 per cent of personal income tax and 9 per cent of corporation income and 50 per cent of succession duties to provinces which levy taxes in these fields. Provinces could levy their own taxes, however, or have Ottawa do it for a fee. Or they could rent the tax fields to the federal government, receiving rentals equivalent to the 10-9-50 federal reductions.

The plan would also provide unconditional share — wealth equalization payments to the less wealthy provinces to bring their per-capita income up to the national average. Ontario and British Columbia.

Social Credit Leader Low, closing the debate, said his party wasn't trying to kill the bill, which he called "another move ways" to previous tax agreements.

WANT CONFERENCE

But the speech of Social Credit speeches had been made in the hope of persuading Finance Minister Harris to call a federal conference with the provinces in a further attempt to reach a more acceptable settlement.

The provinces and municipalities face serious problems and Mr. Harris could have "lifted them from a critical situation."

Margaret Aitken (PC — York-Humber) urged changes in the constitution to provide equal schooling opportunities for all children.

She said amendments to the constitution, comes under provincial scope and should be done there. This that should not stop the central government from "giving a helping hand." Ottawa has also a provincial affair, but there was no reason federal has over federal health grants.

HAMPTON, N.B. (CP)—Edward Patmon Hall, 21, of Saint John was charged with murder Tuesday and ordered committed to hospital after a preliminary hearing. The principal of the Southampton railroad siding was accused of murdering his wife.

Algerian Rebels Cut Throats Of Abducted Postal Workers

ALGIERS, Algeria (Reuters) — Attacks.

Three post office workers, two Europeans and one Moslem, who were kidnapped by terrorists last Thursday near Laghouat, 250 miles south of Algiers, have been found with their throats cut, according to reports reaching here early today.

Their bodies were mutilated.

The wife of one of the Europeans and another man, who were with the others when they were held up in the hills, were allowed to go free by the kidnappers.

Tuesday night an explosion in Algiers wrecked the hall of the building formerly occupied by the pro-Communist newspaper Alger Republicain.

Another bomb caused heavy damage at the newspaper's printing plant in an Algiers suburb. There were no casualties in the

Hunt Three Masked Killers Who Slew Airman in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A full-scale search continued today for three masked killers who burst into a suburban Nicosia home Tuesday and shot down a British airman who was visiting the house in civilian clothes.

The airman was Sgt. Ernest Alton, 28. He was the fifth British soldier killed since terrorism became part of the Greek-Cypriot campaign with-Greece campaign 15 months ago.

Meanwhile, Lord Radcliffe, sent to Cyprus by the British government for preliminary work on a "liberal constitution" for the island colony, said in a radio interview that his present mission "does not depend on negotiations with anyone."

He said he to study the situation and draw up recommendations for a constitution for the new which might take "some months."

There was answering statements by various members of the island's Greek-Cypriot majority that they were not prepared to negotiate with him. Most Greek-Cypriots want the return of Archbishop Makarios, exiled by the British government, as a preliminary to negotiation.

'Childish Bickering' Is Blamed As New York Girl, 14, Slain

NEW YORK (AP)—A 13-year-old girl stabbed a 15-year-old girl to death in a Brooklyn subway station Tuesday night in the climax of a series of brawls involving a score of girls from 13 to 17.

Evelyn Orr died of multiple wounds of knife wounds—one in the heart.

Seventeen girls were arrested.

Most of them, including the slayer, were charged only with juvenile delinquency. Names of the children, all Negroes, were not made public because of their ages.

Police said petty, childish bickering—rather than gang rivalry—apparently led to the violence.

Campney Hits Back at Simonds For Criticisms

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Campney today hit back at Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, former army chief who has criticized defence department policies.

Mr. Campney said in the Commons that Gen. Simonds' comments in a recent magazine article are expressions of opinion and not necessarily statements of fact, though General Leslie Mr. Drew had tried to give that impression.

Mr. Drew had charged that Gen. Simonds has alleged a conspiracy between the government in the defence department and that has statements, "amounts to a damning indictment of the whole defence."

NO FREE LIAISON

Gen. Simonds has said that the chiefs of the armed forces are prevented from placing their views before the defence minister and that the Canada-United States permanent joint board on defence blocks free liaison between the Canadian and American chiefs of staff.

Mr. Campney, resuming a defence debate, said the chiefs can always see him and do frequently. Views of the heads of the armed forces were given before the fullest consideration.

The chiefs were members of the joint chiefs of staff committee and of the defence council and attended meetings of the two bodies in countries and that it has an excellent record of achievement.

He said he is surprised that anyone would criticize the board in view of its "yeoman service."

Any Canadian chief could meet whenever he wi h a chief with his American counterpart and such meetings were frequent. No relationship could be closer than that between the Canadian and American service chiefs.

Arms Cuts Should Be Part of Pact Is Canada's View

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent has told Soviet Premier Bulganin that reductions in armaments must be part of any agreement providing means to ensure "that the reduction measures will be carried out."

In a letter sent to Moscow Monday he said Canada's "satisfaction" with the Soviet announcement in May of a 1,200,000-man cut in the Soviet armed forces "is somewhat tempered by the reflection that these reductions would have been more timely 10 years ago, when the Western powers demobilized their forces and they had brought together in the Commission for Conventional Armaments."

A Soviet Union still would have more divisions in Europe than the Western powers have combined.

Mr. St. Laurent's letter, which was tabled in the Commons, was sent to Britain, the United States, France, West Germany, Italy and Turkey, and that Canada's reply was made after "full consultation" with her NATO allies.

100 Families Forced to Leave Tenement Bldg.

MONTREAL (CP) — Fire that today destroyed a three-storey warehouse in Montreal's east end and caused the evacuation of about 100 families from nearby tenement houses, No one was injured.

Destroyed in the blaze, believed started by an explosion, was the brick building housing the Audet Refrigeration Company. Officials estimated the loss at $150,000.

Most of the families were later allowed to return to their homes.

METROPOLITAN OPERA CANCELS COMING SEASON

Management Squabbles With Musicians' Union

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera, famed old queen of American musical companies, has cancelled the 1956-57 season because of a labor squabble.

Opera lovers hoped for a change of heart on both management and union sides. They remembered a similar cancellation in the summer of 1948.

The glittering opera house on Broadway's Times Square fell silent winter that year because of a wrangle with A musicians union. Still differences were patched up after the cancellation and the curtain rose for the season three weeks late."

DISPUTE ABOUT HERMAN

The cancellation announced Tuesday night came in an argument over dual jobs held by Robert Herman, 32-year-old son of former Brooklyn Dodger baseball executive Hyman Herman.

Young Herman is an assistant stage director and also an assistant to the labor negotiator. He is a union member in the first job but not in the second.

He served as secretary to the management in long negotiations with the American Guild of Musical Artists earlier this year. The guild recently filed with the labor charges against Herman for acting on behalf of management.

The guild replied that it would cancel the 1956-57 season if Herman was signed by Sunday night both a contract and an agreement to drop charges against Herman.

The union, representing 200 singers and members among the 200 employees, said it made a last-minute proposal to sign the contract and continue talks on the Herman issue later. But the company said no.

The Met's statement said:

"The association has taken the position that AGMA cannot insist that everyone who does an AGMA job must join AGMA union shops and at the same time challenge the right of management representatives to be members of AGMA."

The opening of the new season, a gala social event each year, was scheduled for Oct. 29. The Met, where famed lyric soprano Lily Pons and others have sung, has struggled through many labor and financial crises in its 73 years.

Only last spring the Met threatened to cancel the season unless there was agreement on a new contract with AGMA by June 1. Negotiations were extended, however, and on June 6 the company said the dispute was settled.

Rushing Relief To Mandalay Area

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Reports reaching here today said rainstorms and floods ravaged the Mandalay and Sagaing in central Burma. Thousands were being rushed to the stricken area.

More than 30 shocks rocked the area, besieging it with overwhelming several pagodas and other buildings in the city of Mandalay, west of Mandalay across the Irrawaddy river, was said to have suffered heavy loss of rubber.

The Avie bridge spanning the Irrawaddy collapsed five inches as a result of the quakes, disrupting rail traffic.

"JULIET" SEES FATAL DUEL

BRINDISI, Italy (Reuters) — Police are seeking a 15-year-old boy accused of killing another boy in a duel with swords from the balcony of a girl they both claimed as a sweetheart. Police said the girl, 14, watched terrified as the boys fought for her in the street below.

How Fast Was Vehicle Travelling When it Decided to Take to Ditch?

JOISINGTON, Kan. (AP) — Trooper Dee Doughty of the Kansas highway patrol worked with his tape measure and reported a car:

Ran along the right shoulder 342 feet.

Careened across the highway and ran along the left shoulder 387 feet.

Decreased to the right shoulder and ran 105 feet.

Skidded sideways off the highway 138 feet.

Sheared off a utility pole 10½ inches thick.

Leaped 43 feet through the air, landing on its top.

Rolled 96 feet, hit a fence, rolled 40 more feet, finally stopped on its top and burst into flames.

Walter Crick, 42, was severely cut, scraped and bruised in the accident Tuesday. So was his passenger, A. J. Thompson, 46, who also has a broken collar bone. They managed to crawl out of the wreckage.

U.S. Army Imposes Curfew On Troops In West Germany

Attempt to Curb Incidents Involving G. I.'s, Civilians

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Army imposed a curfew today on its 250,000 troops in Germany in an effort to curb crime.

An order issued by Gen. Henry Hodes, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe, requires soldiers to be in their quarters by midnight on evenings prior to duty days and by 1 a.m. on evenings prior to non-duty days.

This command has been increasingly disturbed in recent weeks by unfortunate incidents involving American soldiers and German civilians," Hodes said.

"These incidents, with the attendant widespread publicity, constitute a threat to the splendid relationship between the U.S. Army in Europe and the people of the Federal Republic of Germany."

He said the curfew was ordered to help cut the incident rate to a bare minimum.

Mother Held Responsible for Three Drownings

LRRAINVILLE, Que., (CP) — A coroner's jury Tuesday night declared Mrs. Ida Bergeron was responsible for the drowning recently of her three infant daughters in Lake Timiskaming at nearby Ville Marie.

The 38-year-old farmer's wife is to face a murder charge today at a preliminary hearing.

Hundreds of residents jammed the parish hall for the inquest. They heard Dr. Jean Godard and Guy Burrelle, both of Ville Marie, testify they asked Mrs. Bergeron July 9 how her children, Paulette, 5, Andre, 3, and Jo-Anne, 3, were drowned.

Both quoted her: "They didn't fall in. I threw them in."

Police contend Mrs. Bergeron drove the children to the lake from her home at nearby Lorrainochere.

Mrs. Bergeron did not testify at the inquest.

Reptiles, Lizards And Dogs Found In Parked Car

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — A dog sat a puppy on the front seat of an auto attracted the attention of harbor guard H. E. McMahon.

He poked his head into the car and then sprang back.

In the back seat were 13 live rattlesnakes and a chuckwalla, a desert lizard in cages. Fifteen horned turtles were crawling on the floor.

The car was traced to Jasper Mark, herpetologist and jewelry worker. He said his hobby wouldn't let him explain it.

Humane society officers turned the pup over to Marie's wife, put the dog in the custody of a harbor guard over the car until Marie can find a place for the reptiles.

GETS FORTUNE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jacob Paley, co-founder of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Tuesday won another court tilt in his $40,000,000 fortune. Superior court ruled against the son of his ex-wife which, as executor of the estate left by Paley's late wife, Mrs. Goldie Paley, was entitled to half interest in the executive's personal property.

Central Region For Gold Coast Is Seen Assured

ACCRA, Gold Coast (Reuters)—The government Convention People's party today was assured of victory in the Gold Coast's general elections.

Latest partial returns show the party already has won 53 of the 104 seats in the colony's assembly.

The opposition Northern Peoples' party and the National Liberation Movement each have won eight seats.

Prime Minister Dr. Kwame Nkrumah has himself been re-elected.

The election is for a government to determine the type of constitution the Gold Coast will have when it achieves independence.

The ruling Convention People's party wants a centrally-controlled government. The opposition National Liberation Movement wants considerable power at three local provinces each with a good degree of regional autonomy.

Tito, Nasser And Nehru Will Hold Conference

BIONI, Yugoslavia (Reuters) — The leaders of India, Egypt and Yugoslavia gathered here today for talks described as a meeting of the champions of "third force for existence" in three continents.

Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia will sit down with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Prime Minister Nehru of India at this summer resort island in the Adriatic for two days of informal discussions.

Tito and Nasser have been having advance talks here. Nehru is flying over today.

The political discussions are expected to cover East-West relations and such topics as Palestine and North Africa.

An Indian source said that like the recent Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London, it would not attempt to reach set decisions but would be a free exchange of opinions.

Dozen Douks Stage Nude Demonstration

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP) — A dozen Sons of Freedom, members of the Douk religious sect, staged a nude demonstration Tuesday and a subsequent battle between Glade and Shoreacres, about 15 miles northeast of here in southeastern British Columbia.

The demonstration was orderly and no violence was reported. The Freedomites, a fanatical splinter group formed following a schism in the Canadian Orthodox Church last century, have made terrorist attacks on railway track set fire to their homes during nude protest marches. The incident was the first reported in the area in more than a year.

The children by the Freedomites, who had their backs to the train, followed their parents at the Castlegar station where a Doukhbbor choir greeted 125 members of a six-coaching party study group from Texas with traditional hymns.

Two of Eight Hurt Released From Hospital

BANFF (CP)—Two of eight persons injured Sunday in a bus accident in Banff-Jasper Highway 105 miles north of here, were released from hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. Lena Goest of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was killed when the bus went out of control, hit a large rock and rolled over on its side.

Officials of the hospital reported that the six injured still in hospital were in "good condition."

Their names were not released at their own request.

Workers Strike As Pay Period Change Is Made

TORONTO (CP)—The thirteen hundred employees of the John Inglis Company, Ltd., a large machinery firm, went home today, the upshot of a row with the workers over their pay schedule.

The United Steelworkers Union of America (CIO) announced it will notify the staff before deciding to pay every two weeks by cheque instead of once weekly in cash. It said the men will be paid on their own time under the new scheme.

The workers first struck Monday when the firm company refused to discuss the issue. Those on the night shift followed suit strike were suspended until today.

But when they showed up today they were refused to go back to work until assured the matter would be discussed. The company promptly suspended them again until Friday—the first day of the annual two-week holiday shutdown.

The 1,300 walked out in line with a bargaining deadline Tuesday night not to work until the company agrees to talk about when and how the men are to be paid.

Boy, 15, Drowned Diving for Motor

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Hazel Eadie, 15, of Flint, Mich., was drowned Tuesday at Echo River, 16 miles east of here. He had been diving in 13 feet of water trying to recover an outboard motor which had fallen from his boat.

After several attempts he appeared to become exhausted, police said, and did not surface. His body was recovered later.

APPROVE NIAGARA PACT

TOO FAR TO WALK

TORONTO (CP) — A suburban Scarborough mailman, charged with illegally parking letter delivery, pleaded Tuesday that he cannot cover his 10-mile route twice in two hours. However, he was given a suspended sentence for the offence.

African Drums Given as Cause Of Break-Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A scientist's wife testified at her divorce trial that her husband's African drums were the only things that took his mind off mathematics.

"He begins working calculus problems in his head as soon as he awakens," Mrs. Mary Louise Feynman, 33, told superior court Tuesday. "I couldn't talk to him or get his attention. Even if I was interrupting his work. He did calculus while driving his car, while sitting in the living room and while lying in bed at night."

Furthermore, his drum playing "made a terrific noise."

The court gave her the decree on cruelty grounds and awarded her alimony, property and a cash settlement.

Richard P. Feynman, 38, physicist at California Institute of Technology, keeps the drums.

RCMP Launches Follow French Vessel on Trip

CARDINAL (CP)—The French freighter Marquette, cleared from Montreal Tuesday, headed down River port during the night bound for the open sea but the RCMP kept silent on why a police patrol boat has been dogging her since last week.

There were unconfirmed reports that the RCMP suspects the Marquette is carrying narcotics and that she will be under escort until the clears Canadian waters.

The RCMP patrol boat Cutcliffe H out of Kingston took up the escort job Tuesday, relieving the cutter that had followed the Marquette from Montreal.

The vessel, owned by the Fabre Line of Marseilles, has been the only remaining Canadian port of call is Montreal.

City Manager Special Guest At Kiwanis Club

Belleville Kiwanis yesterday heard the first public address here of Dennis Gold Herring since his recent appointment as city manager.

The bulk at Mr. Herring's address was given over to an outline of the duties of a city manager.

Among the advantages of city manager administration, said Mr. Herring, is that "it is generally conceded that the council-manager plan permits a stronger continuing policy through the years."

In planning, what is needed is something akin to a five-to-ten year plan, instead of planning on only one day, Mr. Herring noted.

This facilitates a better appreciation of what is needed together with the cost of a scheme and what can be done with funds available.

In financing there could be a certain improvement such as a build-up of reserves. For example, he put into each year's scheme five years hence a financial reserve will be built, up each year. Such reserves however, would not lie dormant, but could be loaned to citizens, being at interest, Mr. Herring said.

Mr. Herring was thanked by Alderman John Stock and thanked by James Musgrove.

Miniature Radio Homing Beacon Works Perfectly

LONDON (CP)—A British-designed miniature radio homing beacon, which is expected to go into operational use with the RCAF later this summer, has successfully passed its first "live" test.

Called Sarah, which stands for search, rescue and homing, the equipment consists of a transmitter which sends radio impulses to guide rescuers to airmen down at sea or in rough land areas.

Tuesday a spokesman for the through dense fog off Flamborough Head on the east coast of England to rescue the pilot of an RAF Hunter jet fighter after he had been forced to eject from the plane.

An RAF spokesman said the equipment worked "perfectly."

Last February the RCAF placed a $600,000 order for Sarah equipment through Canadian Aviation Electronics Ltd. of St. Laurent, Que., a subsidiary of British's Ultra Electric Company.

He said tuberculosis is attached to the parachute or flotation gear of service pilots.

Many Hay Crops Are Damaged By Heavy Rains

TORONTO (CP) — Rains throughout Ontario have delayed or halted harvesting of hay crops and in many areas of the province damaged, the weekly report of the agriculture department issued today.

Almost all of the 15 regions monitored reported the delays and many reported varying degrees of damage. Crops were reported normal or better than normal except in Essex, where hay fell when it is rusting and much of the crop is still down and unharvested. Yield is said to be.

Many regions reported that cut hay lying on the ground is bleached and rotting. Up to two-thirds of the hay crop is still in the fields.

The grain and pea crops in most areas are reported good or better than average. Harvesting of peas is completed or well under way.

Flesh-Colored Lace Dress Spoils Marilyn's 'Secret' Visit to Theatre

LONDON (Reuters) — Marilyn Monroe was "smuggled" into a London theatre Tuesday night to see a play with husband Arthur Miller.

It was supposed to be secret, but it took a decoy car and four busloads of extra police to get her out through the crowds that packed the theatre exits and the news of the star's visit leaked out.

Marilyn was wearing a sensational flesh-colored lace dress. Everywhere in the theatre necks craned to see where the dress ended and Marilyn began.

The play she chose was South Sea Bubble, a comedy starring Vivien Leigh, actress wife of Marilyn's latest movie partner, Sir Lawrence Olivier.

Marilyn and her husband sat with Olivier. Afterwards they left in the Olivier limousine from the front entrance while Marilyn's own car waited at the stage door. An draw off some of the smiling

Insurance Firms' Deposits Raised

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Tuesday night gave final approval to government bills increasing the initial deposits of life and fire insurance companies operating in Canada.

Under an amendment to the Foreign Insurance Companies Act all foreign companies will be required to increase their deposits from $100,000 to $200,000.

Canadian and British insurance firms must increase their deposits from $50,000 to $100,000. These firms also are required to deposit to put up $200,000 for incorporation.

Both bills previously were approved by the Senate and now require only royal assent to become law.

Adult Hooligans Blamed for Fires In Service Station

DURHAM, Ont. (CP) — A gang of "adult hooligans" is believed to have set two fires during the last two nights in a service station owned by a constable on Durham's three-man police force, police said today.

Ollie Monk, owner of the station in this community 30 miles south of Owen Sound was taken into the force recently to combat a wave of vandalism, hoodlumism and arson which had broken out during the last several weeks.

Police chief Louis Berger said, "a group of adults are openly defying the processes of law and order."

Chief Berger said that until this week the gang has terrorized the town with wild shenanigans, culminated by an uncontrolled display of firecrackers in a restaurant during the weekend.

After Monk was sworn in as a part-time constable at a special council meeting the vandals singled him out for "special treatment."

FIRE MARSHALL CALLED

Monday night a gang broke into his service station, tried to set fire to a storage room in the loft and jammed the gasoline pumps. Monk was unable to serve gasoline to his customers all day Tuesday.

Tuesday night the garage was raided again, another fire was set in the loft and the gasoline lines slashed.

Chief Berger said an Ontario fire marshal has been called in to investigate the arson attempt. He also said charges are pending against "a dozen or more" men in connection with the firecracker melee.

Chief Berger is Durham's sixth chief of police in less than four years. Last October Chief Elmer Hutchinson resigned less than 16 months after he took over the job. He said that he resigned because he "was tired of working seven days a week and being on call 24 hours a day."

Chief Berger said the situation in Durham goes back "many years" to a certain group of local residents who have resisted attempts to establish order.

SEE LARGER WARSAW

WARSAW, Poland (Reuters)—A master plan for the rebuilding of Warsaw, devastated in the Second World War, envisages a population of 1,400,000 people within 10 years, Adolf Ciborowski, newly-appointed chief architect of Warsaw, said here. The pre-war population was 1,200,000 but it now is just under 1,000,000.

Repudiation Of Friendship Causes Tension

TORONTO (CP)—A top Canadian Mason said today tensions in the world are the result of repudiation of friendship centred in God.

Most Rev. W. L. Wright, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario and Anglican Archbishop of Algoma, told its 101st convocation that friendship can help build up needed friendships. About 2,000 are attending the meeting.

"I believe that, underneath all the sectarianism of the modern time, and in spite of the Iron and Bamboo Curtains, men want to be friends," he said.

"I believe if we knew what is going on in the hearts of men, we would discover that their deep hunger is for a greater friendship for each other.

"This friendship must be centred in God. It is because this principle has been repudiated that there are tensions in the world scene. A man's first duty is to God."

The world needed nothing more than "the making of friends among men."

"Freemasonry can supply that need."

Retired Servants Get Backing From Geo. Drew

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition leader Drew said Tuesday night the government should take action at this session to increase pensions received by retired civil servants and armed forces and RCMP pensioners.

During Commons debate on a government bill amending the Public Service Superannuation Act he said present pensions are inadequate to allow pensioners to maintain a decent standard of living.

The bill widens the scope of the act to include persons not covered by the existing pension plan.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) urged the government to pay supplementary benefits especially to those retired civil servants and their widows now receiving less than $30 a month.

The principle of adjusting pensions had been recognized in Britain and in the United States and some Canadian provinces. Some large Canadian industrial concerns like the CN and International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd., also provided supplementary benefits.

FOOLISH WATER PRANKS

Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant to Transport Minister Marler, told the House of Commons railway committee on Monday of this week that the government plans to hold talks with small boat operators and manufacturers before putting into effect the proposal to license operators of pleasure boats. Under the proposed legislation, navigation regulations governing operation of motor boats on minor waters will be extended to all Canadian waters.

The decision to consult those most interested in the proposed regulations is commendable. The government, though, will have to do something more than draft reasonable regulations. It will have to discover some way to enforce them, too. Judging from one exhibition witnessed on a recent weekend, regulations which forbid excessive speed and dangerous operation on minor waters are unknown to some boat operators.

Several outboard boats were racing around an inland lake, presumably a pastime which their operators found pleasant. If so, there was no reason why they should not enjoy it.

But these boats were turning in fairly close proximity to a beach where people, including children, were swimming.

They were speeding between a dock and a floating raft anchored offshore for swimmers.

One boat, an comparatively small boat, proved that you do not have to own a 25 horsepower motor to be a 25 horsepower reckless fool. Despite two passengers in the bow, it waved in the air. So he promptly left the stern and stood up amidships, to level the boat off. What would have happened if a swell from one of the other racing boats had toppled him overboard can be better imagined than told. The boat could have been running wild amid the swimmers before either of the passengers in the bow could have reached the controls.

As another attraction, a speck not long ago a woman got a painful rope "burn" about the neck when caught by a rope released by or wrested from the hands of a water skier.

CIRCUS BOWS TO TELEVISION

Did you see the "Greatest Show on Earth," the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus, when it was in Belleville last year? If you did, you may have also missed your last chance to see these performers "live," certainly your last chance to see them under the "big top." The world famous circus, in the conventional outdoor form, is now a thing of the past. Its closing marks the end of an era.

In announcing that the mammoth tents had folded for good, John Ringling North gave a peek into the future when he said "We are considering plans which may involve an almost completely mechanically controlled exhibition."

These plans are in keeping with the unfolding of the mechanical age which will relegate to the sidelines many current forms of entertainment and recreation depending largely on human endeavour, rather than on machine and blending with the greater range and communicative power of the machine.

In this case as in many others, television is the instrument sounding the death knell of the travelling, non-mechanical circus.

People who can sit comfortably in their homes and watch outstanding circus shows every week for nothing simply will not pay good money to attend "live" performances.

The tendency to stay at home when the circus comes to town has upset the delicate balance between unionized wages, higher expenses and the sale of more tickets at higher prices to offset ever rising operating costs.

The 1,000 circus performers out of work by this evolution will now compete for spots on live shows which will be filmed and shown to millions on television throughout the year. While the number of performers must exist other means of livelihood, the survivors will be richly rewarded for playing to the greatest circus audiences of all time.

HUNGRY STROLLERS

In recent years, some of Toronto's more rampant teenagers have been starring in the hoodlum league with both impudence and impunity.

The verdict has finally been reversed.

Trouble enough, the two teen-agers concerned on this occasion were of all things innocent. One threw a ball to the other and the muffed pitch went on to strike the leg of one of a group of 13 men who were passing by.

This chummy group, apparently believing all the nasty things they have been reading about the budding generation, showed perfect teamwork in pinning the erring ball players to the ground where they took turns in biting their victims.

Police said the men bared their teeth "like a pack of wild dogs."

Apparently the voracious strollers had gone without their Dr. Ballard's for several days and were acting strickly from hunger.

We were glad to hear these hungry pals were not given their just desserts or even a second helping. The sight of a dog leading 13 mumbled men down the promenade on a leash is just too much for even an admirer of teen-agers to contemplate.

CRITICISM

I'm not the man to say
To my neighbor 'cross the way
What he should or shouldn't eat or drink or do.
If I stand here by the stile
And I puff my pipe awhile,
I've no right or duty to him he shouldn't chew.

I'm not here to criticize
Him or how he dresses,
Or to make him take my view of right and wrong.
While I dip my cup of tea
I've no right to say that he Shall not drink his cup of coffee clear and strong.

Till I've put in my faults away,
I've no right to think and say
That my neighbor from all blemish should be free.
I've no right to be severe
With my brothers dwelling here
And not show the same severity to me.

Trade Makes Good Living

(Montreal Gazette.)

Sir Anthony Eden had a good phrase in his Lancashire speech on Britain's foreign trade. He said we "there is no international welfare state."

What he meant is that no one will pick up the pieces for those who lose out in the battle for markets. Whatever ideas a nation has about a good welfare state, those standards of living, the market-places of the world in open competition with other traders. Standards of living, in short, will not begin at home. They begin in successful foreign trade.

It is a thought worth considering in Canada. For in Canada the deficit on foreign trade for the first five months of this year amounted to $484 million. For the same five months of 1955 it was only $84 million.

This is not to say that the demand for exports is falling off; it was never stronger than it is today. The difficulty is not that we cannot sell what we buy but that the difficulty is that they are able to sell to us. Competing demand has been accompanied by a wider choice.

One of the competitors in the market-place Sir Anthony says: "They will force their relentless way out to get regard to any who slip back in the race." It is a great error to believe that foreign trade is manned is expanding, the customers are softening. Competition is expanding too. Demand is growing, but it is growing in a buyer's market.

There is always a danger for a country to believe that it can, as it were, lift itself by its own bootstraps. But the conclusion in the final analysts, cannot be brought about by legislation. The cost of the welfare state is not paid for in the end by the people in the country lives by trading it: It is paid for by the customers abroad who buy what it has to sell and goods. Their willingness to pay for it, or the necessity of their doing so should not, by any means, be counted upon.

That is the economics more than ever true of the willingness to work. It is often said that the main reason for the being about the gradual reduction of the working week, while maintaining and even raising the rate of weekly pay.

This may in itself be a pleasant objective. But it must always be remembered that the readiness for work, like all other things, enters into competition once it reached the markets places of the world. It then becomes a question whether other countries, as customers, are materially willing to pay Canadians more for doing less.

The situation will become the more keen the more new lands enter into the trade of the world. For reports from Russia indicate that the will, or compulsion, to work is very strong in that country, and the technological production are reaching high levels. This is already being felt in the market-places, and the pressure seems likely to increase.

The argument is raised that automation will increase the need for work. But automation must be allowed to be introduced, and not delayed by antiquated "make-work" policies. And it may be true that automation, in the first instance, will create more work, will only change its pattern. The unskilled or relatively unskilled worker will have to become the skilled worker.

Automation is not something new. It has been going on actively for a century and a half, and so far from diminishing jobs it has multiplied them. And it is not a question whether the insistence upon using improved machinery to increase leisure rather than production has not inflated prices. The effect of such pressure at home has been serious enough. Its effect upon prices that other countries must pay in international market-places may become critical.

* * *

As Prime Minister Eden has put it: "There is no international welfare state." The goods that won't sell won't be sold. And on country lives by having its citizens take in one another's washing. It's a hard world, that must be satisfied, in the midst of rapidly increasing competition for its requirements.

When he has the power of choice, he will not, any more than he can help, pay for the easier life of his neighbor even when it is to him. His interest, primarily, is in the easier price.

That is quite a different thing. And there is little use in arguing that the buyer is not right.

Firms Seek Modern Towns

(Milwaukee Journal)

It is not enough for a community to wish out loud for industrial growth, or even to have a development corporation or a chamber of commerce and offer to build factories under lease-purchase arrangements.

Over and over again, at the recent Green Lake conference, committees of businessmen leaders of Wisconsin were reminded that even a corporation that is ready to go to town that's good for people to live in — clean, progressive, efficient communities.

Pennsylvania's director of community development, Robert Smith, made the point most graphically with a story about a small town, approved the proffered site and the property owners, found the labor supply satisfactory, finally questioned a local official thus:

Question: "We noted your traffic congestion and our difficulty in getting traffic moving. What are you doing about this?"

Answer: "Well, nothing at the moment. I guess we should do something."

Q. "Why don't you have a bypass for through traffic?"

A. "The Highway Department had plans for one, but our merchants were afraid it would hurt business."

Q. "How about your schools?"

A. "I guess they'll have to build some new ones, but there has been a wrangle over the site."

Q. "Any good recreation facilities?"

A. "We were going to build a park and swimming pool, but took the site for this factory instead."

Q. "What are you doing about city planning?"

A. "Well, we used to have a Planning Commission, but the city council decided we didn't need it. But our garden club is planting some flowers at the city limits."

Needless to say, the manufacturer went away moving and never came back.

Officials of each Indiana city, Pikin also related, asked a large manufacturer to tell frankly why he had rejected its plans for a branch plant there. He did, thus:

"Your housing appeared as if they had not been painted for 25 years. Water supply came from one river; raw sewage went into another near where they joined. Not enough beds in hospitals, restaurant and hotel facilities. Deteriorating bridges evidenced lack of civic pride. Business districts looked like wide vistas. Shortcomings in traffic control, schools, hospitals, zoning, planning.

Negative Record Good

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

There is news — of a sort — from the Strouds' Creek and Muddiety Railroad, refreshing news in these hot-moving days. A dispatch to the New York Times from its newly - established public-relations department admits frankly that nothing much ever happens on this line.

"On the other hand," it says, "we have a fine negative record, that we have had more trains derailed by Indian rats. We were not the first railroad to introduce the diesel locomotive.

It concludes on this reassuring note: "We're not the first road you'll be among the first to know."

This West Virginia twenty-one-miles line is operated by the Baltimore & Ohio. It runs between Strouds Creek and a place that is actually called Muddiety.

* * *

So an essential and large part of a proper program to attract industry is just good civic housekeeping in general, both by City Hall and by individual businessmen and householders. It runs down to a job, you look and act your best. So does a community that really wants new business to come and live in it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IDENTIFY YOURSELF

Identify Yourself. A tree does—so does every creation in life. Every individual can, but many never take the trouble to do so! We identify ourselves with those we leave ourselves outside. A friend of mine wrote a little booklet called "In Giving Yourself Away." An excellent idea, for immediately you identify yourself with a person or a good cause.

History is the story of great men and women who so identified themselves that their names long live in an inspiration to all mankind. Gladstone, Washington, Lincoln, Wilson, just to name a few. The late William Allen White so identified himself that he could build a small Kansas town and be admired and loved all over the nation as a good part of that town.

Thomas Watson, who recently died, so identified himself with his business and with great enterprises that his useful life will be long remembered. From a modest beginning he built one of the greatest businesses of its kind in the world. His magic touch was felt by all with whom he associated. Such a life leaves a glow in the sky of life long into the years.

Identify yourself as a man or a woman first of all. Then reach out and help another up! Serve fame is not personal good, enacted simply and modestly, is as the ripple of a pebble cast upon the waves. We are only important as we identify ourselves with things. And we don't have to do big things. They follow the little things.

Identify yourself as a person of character. This will spread you with true influence and personal happiness. Acquaint yourself with the great writers and world leaders. Read them in their books and public service. Read, and as you read, think. Our thoughts are forerunners of what we most want to be.

Mrs. Arnold of this city is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Adams and Col. Adams in Toronto.

Zion Hill Former Pupils Renew Acquaintances. Classmates, who attended Zion Hill public school many years ago renewed acquaintances and recalled cherished memories of school life yesterday when Miss Lillian M. Hamilton of Washington, D.C., was hostess at a reunion luncheon held at the New Queen's Hotel. Eleven guests were present and included not only school chums but a teacher who had presided at Zion Hill School in the person of Mrs. (Dr.) Moore of this city. Those present were Mrs. Frank Sills of Chicago; Mrs. Florence Lloyd of Toronto; Miss Margaret Ross, Mrs. Herbert Casey, Mrs. Annie Lowery, and Mrs. Rose of Holloway; Mrs. Jack Sprague, Mrs. H. Hyde, Mrs. Will Dafoe, Mrs. Clinton Sherry and Mrs. Moore of Belleville. After luncheon the guests enjoyed several hours of reminiscing at Victoria Park and the reunion, the first the classmates had enjoyed together in many years, was a very happy occasion for the hostess and guests.

Dr. Orme's Beautiful Gardens. Among the many beauty spots in the city are the grounds surrounding the residence of Dr. Emma Connor at the corner of Bridge street and Campbell Streets. The grounds are a mass of beautiful shrubbery and flowers of almost all in bloom. The boulevard, which was a mass of low trees years ago, has been reclaimed by Dr. Connor and is now gorgeous with a mass of continuous blooms from early spring until late fall.

Strawberries are still being sold on the market in considerable quantities at prices from 20 to 25 cents; cherries are selling at 10 cents per box or three boxes for 25 cents; new potatoes at 30 cents per dozen; butter brings 45 cents per pound and chickens are sold at $1.40 a pair.

Plan Canadian Dictionary

(Edmonton Journal)

An interesting note from Eastern Canada is that a group of scholars are now preparing the first strictly Canadian dictionary. As one of them explained to the Royal Society in Montreal, it is time that our varieties of French and English are understood by other peoples." The main purpose of the work, presumably, is to show how the Canadian form is spoken and written in this country, rather than specifically drawn or used elsewhere.

This sounds like an interesting enterprise, but it may prove a rather frustrating one. As regards the pronunciation of the French of Quebec and the French of France, the distinguishing points are qualified to speak. However, English as used in Canada does not differ strikingly from the same language in Britain and the United States. The dialect forms vinces, particularly Newfoundland are the only sections where any thing like real dialects have developed. Elsewhere; few distinctively Canadian words or expressions are used. The only exceptions which come to mind are a few names for animals and plants and weather phenomena peculiar to Canada. In writing and formal speech, Canadians wavver rarely use expressions like British and American usage. In popular speech and slang, we generally follow the American West of the St. Lawrence, at any rate, rather Englishmen or Americans need an interpreter.

Perhaps the most interesting problem the compilers of the new dictionary could tackle is to determine where they should follow English speech, and where American — and why.

She Means It!

A woman will put on a golf dress and she can't play golf and wear a bathing suit when she can't swim, but when she dons a wedding dress she means business.

Personal Health Talks

Translating Modern Medicalese

Since the practice of medicine was converted from a profession to a business, as it is now, it, many new terms have crept into the language and many old words have acquired new meanings. Such terms as shots, check-up, basal metabolism, ulcer, high blood pressure, clinic, cholesterol and iritis. Some of these terms are new; others do not have the same meaning they had when medicine was a profession. Clinic then meant an institution associated with a hospital or medical school, where physicians examined and treated charity patients before classes of medical students. Clinic now means—oh, well, lets' say it is not associated with charity or teaching, just the business of separating money from their loose change.

Arthritis, derived from Greek and Latin words meaning joint inflammation, meant just that yesterday, inflammation of joint or joints due to infection (invasion) of joint lining by a specific germ—streptococcus, pneumococcus, tuberculo bacillus, brucellosis (undulant fever) germ, typhoid bacillus, gonococcus or other germ.

What does "arthritis" mean today? Presumably, it means lame, stiff, painful joints, whether linked joint or joints, but in the great majority of cases of joint disease of long standing it is definitely not neither inflammation nor infection and hence it is misleading to call the trouble "arthritis." It is worse than just stupid to monkey with medicine, when that empirical use makes drugs, that purport to be good for "arthritis."

To distinguish this common slow insidious joint disability from the comparatively rare arthritis, I call it rheumatis (not rheumatism. If you please, the rheumatis as medical authorities are beginning to realize and admit, is physical degeneration of joint tissues, the inevitable consequence of nutritional deficiency through the years and early childhood to breakfast to-morrow morning.

Degeneration, the wearing out and wilfering away of cells, goes on throughout life. We don't mind it as long as new cells are produced to replace the old. Production of new cells is generation or regeneration. How long generation or regeneration shall keep pace with degeneration depends primarily on nutrition.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

MERCY TO THE DISOBEDIENT

If you need anything to make you feel that life is worth while indeed, take a look at the world round you.

It might be a terrible and awful place in which to live. As a matter of fact, in spite of the sin and mistakes, the world is a beautiful place in which to live. No beauty man ever created can equal to the beauty of the landscape. There is inspiration in the sunset, in the quiet of twilight, in the brooding stillness of mid-forenoon that can lift our lives to new heights. If we will allow them to do so. Every flower has its message. Even under a cold of winter, the budding of spring, the warmth and consequent outdoor living of summer, and the gorgeous tapestry colors of autumn. There is probably little practical reason for the presence of flowers in the world, of singing birds, of clumps of forest with their green crowns of majesty and loveliness. It might be a terrible world for us, to make us happy.

Yet the world as it appears to operate completely under the providence of God, human personalities are disobedient and God is patient with their disobedience. His response to our disobedience to the creation of a world of beauty in which the disobedient may live. He could do nothing else in matter with the world as God has made it; but remember that the matter with it as we have made it. And over the chaos our sinning has produced, a outdoor living of summer, and the gorgeous tapestry colors of autumn. There is probably little practical but happy.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Many a man earns a reputation for being a stumblebum and a stubborn individualist by acting in a contrary, a very shrewd and cagey individual. By deliberate intention, he avoids everything he is asked to do, with the result that he is rarely asked to do anything. This is typical in the domestic field. In the modern world, a handy man around the house is becoming little more than a displaced or misplaced housewife. It is with considerable chagrin that we older men perceive the way the young husbands of today are expected to share in the household duties such as not merely drying the dishes but washing them, and only shepherding the children to bed, but bathing them and even preparing them for bed. In many instances, young fathers are capable of preparing the children's food and even of cooking them. They cannot only change diapers, but wash them.

In my father's day, which was around 1900-1920, it was a common saying that "a man who was any good in the kitchen was not much good anywhere else." This did not prevent him and his generation from scrupulously drying the dishes after supper, provided the kitchen hilnds were absent. It was on evenings when his wife was out of sorts that he might unbend to the extent of drying the dishes for her, chummy in the kitchen.

But if he kept his wife at all, he muffed the job. He broke a dish or two. He put them away on the shelf sticky. He acted very clumsy, making his wife laugh at his awkward fumbling with the dish towel. He would end up on the top of every shelf, so that it looked all awry to the next day. He was not and often asked to help with the dishes. He was more nuisance than help. A man's place in the home was in the sofa, after a hard long day wage-earning.

It may not be too late for the present generation of young fathers to break in the traditional scheme of things. Be a stumblebum. Muff all jobs around the house, other than those requiring a hammer, pliers, or a screwdriver.

For nothing is sweeter than the appreciation of a chummy man attempting to invade the lawful province of womanhood, to wit the kitchen, surgery and washtub.

Remember, it is pretty hard to be clumsy with an automatic washer and dryer, and it is also too hard to be tricky to opening a can of baby food.

Maybe we have made housekeeping too complicated. Maybe that even a man can handle it.

How Come "Royal?"

FEARS SLAYERS ON HER TRAIL

Mrs. Anton Kuternoga, widow of the Hamilton gambler who was "taken for a ride," gangster style and shot in his own car, has asked for police protection. Fourth Body Washed Ashore Near Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The body of one of five persons who were drowned when a storm capsized two sailboats on Lake Ontario July 1 was found washed ashore at Durand-Eastman Park Sunday night.

It was the fourth body recovered and the third in three days.

The body was identified as that of Joseph Donato, 37, of suburban Greece, who was in a boat with Samuel Kapp 42, Rochester, when it capsized. Kapp's body was recovered Sunday at nearby Webster.

Still missing was the body of Mrs. Jean Bamann, 37, of Rochester, one of three persons drowned when another sailboat capsized. Her husband was the only survivor.

The body of Bamann's rother, William, 38, as found Tuesday at nearby Irondequoit. Miss Marilyn 23, of Rochester, was recovered the day after the storm.

BERGMAN TO RETURN

NEW YORK (AP) — Film star Ingrid Bergman is returning to the United States after 7½ years of self-imposed exile, television star Ed Sullivan announced Tuesday, "and will probably stay here for some time." Miss Bergman has signed for a personal appearance on the Sullivan Sunday night show "Sometime in October or November."

REEVE FACES CHARGE

SUTTON, Ont. (CP) — Reeve George Lamont of Sutton was charged Tuesday with causing bodily harm to storekeeper Daniel Ellis, 56, the result of a fight on the town's main street Monday night. Police said a summons is to be issued to the reeve, based on Mr. Ellis' sworn complaint.

Ellis told police the reeve punched him and broke two ribs.

Former Marines Flock to Assist Accused Sergt.

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—Ex-Marines flooded this training centre with telephone calls Tuesday night and early today volunteering to aid the defence of Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

McKeon, who is facing a general court martial, was the drill instructor who ordered 74 Marine recruits on a night march into a tidewater marsh April 8 "to teach them discipline." Six were drowned.

The 31-year-old sergeant from Worcester, Mass., pleaded not guilty to the two major charges against him — involuntary manslaughter and oppression of recruits.

On the two minor charges—drinking in barracks and in the presence of a recruit — he said nothing. As a result, the court ordered the court martial board to proceed as if he had pleaded "not guilty."

Gainesville, the prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier of Jacksonville, Ill., said that today the government would call its first witnesses. He said they would be "non-controversial."

Telephone calls jammed the limited communication facilities here after defence lawyer Emile Zola Berman of New York asked former Marines to rally to Mc-Keon's defence.

He asked for testimony on how they were trained and whether that training was similar to that practised by McKeon.

Calls across the U.S. kept the Marine base's two operators busy and within two and a half hours Berman received 72 calls. There were in that time 60 calls awaiting completion. He also received 40 telegrams.

PROBE EXAM LEAK

WINNIPEG (CP)—The University of Manitoba is investigating rumors that students in the 1956 graduating class in pharmacy were allowed to see examination papers before they wrote them. Dr. H. H. Learn to recognize poison ivy—avoid it in open places—eradicate it from home grounds. Poison ivy is a shrubby climbing plant usually identified by three glossy, rather oval, pointed leaves, the centre one growing on a separate short stem. Under side of foliage is slightly hairy. Poison ivy bears small green flowers followed by greyish berries during fall and winter.

SULMES—COULTER

Multicolored delphiniums, snapdragons, and other summer flowers, in tall white standards adorned the chancel rail of Scott's United church, Sidney township, on Saturday, July 14, at 2.00 p.m., for a pretty summer wedding when Violet Edaline Coulter, of Frankford, R.R. 2, was united in marriage to Gordon James Sulmes of Belleville, R.R. 2. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coulter, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bulmer. The Rev. J. McMullen of Belleville, officiated.

Mrs. Ross Dafoe, organist, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Avery Martyn, who sang "The Lord's Prayer", and "O Perfect Love".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Robert Coulter, the bride was lovely in a ballerina-length bridal gown of white rose nylon crinolette fashioned with molded basque pointed at the front with scalloped neckline in boat shape, and scalloped cap sleeves, and bouffant skirt. Her waist-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a headress of orange blossoms. She wore white sandals and carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses.

Miss Jean Frost of Belleville, R.R. 2, attended as maid of honor, gowned in deep mauve crystalette made on similar lines to that of the bride, the skirt of white picture hat, white gloves and sandals, and carried a nosegay of deep mauve and white flowers.

Mr. Bruce Holton of Belleville R.R. 2, attended as groomsman, while Mr. Cameron Coulter of Frankford R.R. 2, and Mr. Ron Mongraw of Peterborough, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining hall, where 49 guests were received by the bride's mother, who was attired in salmon pink crystalette with white accessories and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, wearing navy and white with crewskirt of navy sheer, white accessories, and corsage of deep pink carnations, assisted.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with pink and white streamers, with a three-tier wedding cake centring the white damask cloth. Red rosette vases, and the bridal bouquets completed an attractive setting.

For the wedding trip to Manitoulin Island and the Georgian Bay district, the bride chose a coral dress with matching jacket, white accessories and white carnation corsage. Upon their return the young couple will reside on the Trent Road, Belleville, R.R. 2.

Guests attended from Ottawa, Pembroke, Peterborough, and Wellington.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the honored guest at a kitchen shower held by Miss Jean Frost of Belleville. Both the bride and bridegroom were also honored by the presentation of a sterling silver tea service by the friends and neighbors of the bridegroom.

Successful DVBS Closes With Parents' Evening

A most successful Vacation Bible School has just been completed in the Carmel Church Hall. Over 80 children attended from the four churches on the Camnifton charge of the United Church of Canada.

The week's program included worship services, conducted by the children of each church, chorus singing, flannelgraph Bible talks, games and handwork. The central theme was "The Christian Walk".

The Rev. and Mrs. R. J. McCrea, who organized the school, were ably assisted by Mrs. G. Brenton, in the intermediate department; Mrs. P. Reynolds, Mrs. W. Rodgers, Mrs. C. Huffman and Miss Ann Chatten in the junior department and Miss I. Embury and Mrs. R. Ritz in the primary department.

The week's activities were concluded on Friday by a "Parents' Evening." The church hall was filled with parents and children.

A program was given by the children of the school. Mrs. McCrea conducted the chorus singing and Mr. McCrea was chairman. The handiwork of the children was exhibited and 83 certificates were presented to children for regular attendance and good work.

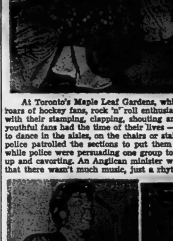
Mr. McCrea, in expressing his thanks to the leaders of the school, said that without them the school would not have been successful.

An unexpected gesture came at the close of the evening when Mrs. G. Brenton read an address of appreciation to the minister and his wife for their leadership, and Mrs. R. Ritz presented them with a beautiful bed lamp on behalf of the other leaders and the children.

W.I. Exhibits For Belleville Fair Listed

A feature of the Belleville Fair will again be a display in the women's building, to which all branches of the W.I. in East Hastings, West Hastings and North Hastings, as well as Prince Edward District, are invited to contribute.

Each branch is allotted a card-table-size of space, and each display will consist of the following articles: a knitted article, an apron (adult), a hand-made shopping bag, bedroom slippers, hand-made rug, an article in crochet, a floor centre decoration, two pot holders, a guest towel and a hand-made toy.



Each W.I. will provide its own identification card; will place its own exhibit; with one free entry ticket to the person bringing it in. This is not in competition, but the fair board is giving $5, to each W.I. making a display, which must be in place by noon on the first day.

All ranches intending to display, please write to Mrs. Harry Hollins, secretary of Women's division of Belleville Fair. The address is 343 Foster Avenue, Belleville. This is necessary in order that space may be reserved.

HOT SESSION FOR ROCK 'N' ROLL FANS

At Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, which often vibrates with the roars of hockey fans, rock 'n' roll enthusiasts had the pillars shaking with their stamping, clapping, shouting and whistling. In all, 13,500 youthful fans had the time of their lives — but when they attempted to dance in the aisles, on the chairs or stairs, the lights went on and police patrolled these sections to put them back in their places. But while police were persuading one group to sit still, another would be up and carrying on. An Anglican minister who attended noted the fact that there wasn't much music, just a rhythmic beat.

Typical performer for the rock 'n' roll enthusiasts was Little Richard.

4 H Garden Club Learns Floral Arrangements

Floral arrangements was the topic at the recent meeting of the 4-H Carmel Garden club, held at the home of Mrs. Carman Dafoe. Mrs. Percy Ray, Halloway, gave the Gardenettes an informative address and demonstration on the preparation of flowers for bouquets.

After a discussion on the topic each member of the club practised the points demonstrated by Mrs. Ray by arranging bouquets themselves.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Dafoe.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Home again with all the farewells and good wishes ringing in our ears, five meetings such as the International Congress of B & PW Clubs terminate without aftermaths. There are the reports to be given which will squaint all members with the work of the Congress; there are the contacts and friendships made, streaching out to the future, some in taper off, some to grow stronger.

One of the most interesting consequences of the Congress is the coming to Belleville of Miss Patricia Perking of Tasmania, Australia. Miss Perkins made the long trip from home a few weeks ago and first attended an international conference of physiotherapists in New York. After a two week refresher course, she accepted a position with the Arthritis and Rheumatism Society of Belleville. We welcome Patricia to this community and to the local B & PW Club, and we hope she will be very happy here.

While in Canada, the overseas visitors are being given a chance to see a wide slice of the country as possible through specially arranged bus tours after the close of Congress. The Canadian members could avail themselves of this service too. The special Ontario tour for visitors were welcomed by the sister clubs of the various districts.

The Owen Sound Club had arranged months before to have four women from the British group spend a week with them in Owen Sound. One of these is Miss Winnifred Powis of Wolverhampton, England, who brought, as a gift to her hostess, a beautifully worked cloth with rose, thistle, shamrock emblems, made by her mother, an expert needle-woman.

Miss Jeanie Robertson of Perth, Australia, head of the Australian delegation, is making a visit to Scotland to meet her cousin who is the mayor of Ayr.

Mrs. Aagia Rossel of Sweden, who acted as Deputy President due to the illness of Dame Caroline Haslett, has been invited by the Soviet Union to tour and inspect the working conditions for women in that country. Mrs. Rossel is on United Nations committees and will go to Russia only if it is agreeable to the United Nations.

Another Swedish woman, a Miss Lane, has been asked to teach Swedish at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Hilda Doudney of Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, is going to lecture those of Canada to help pay for the delegation's expenses.

In this way or that, it will take many moons to see all the delegates home again.

The always welcome Monthly Letter (July) of the Royal Bank of Canada was especially interesting to us since its title was "On Writing Briefly." Here is a pertinent quote: "John Evelyn, the 17th Century diary writer, told the story of Monmouth's rebellion in 50 lines, and he included all essentials and color. Homer condensed ten years of adventure into his epic Odyssey, and Aristotle made a digest of it in 79 words. Lincoln's address at Gettysburg used only 266 words. The Ten Commandments use 297. The United States Declaration of Independence has 300. By contrast, said Walter Winchell of the United States columnist, a U.S.A. order to reduce the price of cabbage uses 26,911 words."

This all adds up to something which should be important. In the meantime, T & T hopes to give briefly the value of "quotations" whereas many ideas expressed by many women in a few words, were collected into a whole to convey a single thought. Although, in aggregate, there were thousands of words spoken and recorded at the International Congress they will be reduced into a composite that will in time be evident in the improved status of women around the world and the influence of womanhood in the interest of peace. We have not counted the number of words that have been, and may be, used by T & T, but we hope that our previous sentence sums up modestly in a few words the aspirations and the endeavors of the many thousands of members of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in at least two score and ten nations throughout the world.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOUNG MOTHERS NEEDN'T BE COMPLETELY TIED DOWN

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My husband and I seem to quarrel over every little thing. We have an eight-months-old baby and if I ever ask my husband to take me out, he says: "Who will baby-sit for us?" As a result, we never seem to get to go out together any more.

I am jealous of everything my husband does. When he even wants to go down to American Legion Headquarters for awhile, I tell him he would rather be there talking to the fellows than staying home to talk to me.

How can we stop arguing about everything and make our home happy?—Mrs. A.T.

Dear Mrs. A. T.:

I would think it likely that your whole trouble stems from the fact that you are tied down completely with the baby and never have a chance to get away for a little recreation. If you were able to have time off two or three times a week, to go places and think about something else besides the home chores for awhile, I feel sure thing would be better.

No doubt the reason you are jealous of what your husband does is because he goes out and you can't, and it's perfectly natural you should feel this is quite unfair. You resent it, and I don't blame you. Your arguments come from the same cause, plus the fact that you get overtired and nervous from never getting away from responsibility and relaxing.

Haven't you or your husband any family nearby so that some one of your relatives could baby-sit for you occasionally? If not, couldn't your husband afford to pay someone now and then for doing the job?

I suggest that you try this plan: Instead of getting into just another argument about your problem, choose some time when your husband is in a good mood, and you yourself are not tired or upset, feel irritable, and ask him quietly and pleasantly if you can't talk things over together and see if some arrangement couldn't be worked out so you could have a little time for yourself occasionally. It also, so you and he could go out together sometimes. Tell him that you know you are often cross and ocurrsome, but that you are sure if you were able to get out and enjoy yourself a reasonable number of times each week you'd feel so much better you wouldn't be that way.

If you talk with him reasonably and affectionately, you might get him to agree that you should have a night out each week when he would baby-sit, and then he could have a night out while you stayed with the baby. Then if you could have a baby-sitter one night a week hiring one if you have no relative who would do it for you, the two of you could go out and have fun together with friends that night. And why not have friends in at least one other night?

I'd suggest, also, that you and some of your girl friends who have small babies themselves put your heads together and your wits to work, and see if you might not cooperate in planning a way to have good times together.

For example, one afternoon each week the girls might take turns being hostess to the others, who would bring their babies along. Make it a "Young Mothers' Club" and do your sewing together, or play cards, or take up some hobbies. Serve simple refreshments at the end of the afternoon, and it would not be a fuss to do this.

Again, wouldn't it be possible for you girls to take turns watching all the babies one afternoon a week so that the others could go shopping, or to the movies, or do anything they wanted to do?

It goes without saying that you can't have small children and, at the same time, all the freedom you want when you want it. But there are all sorts of ways a reasonable and regular amount of free time can be arranged if young mothers and fathers would just get together and plan it.

So, see what you can do—and let me know.

Mona's Mother's Fishface

By Mary Moore

Marianne has some friendly neighbors with whom I became acquainted during my visit in Calgary. Mona has an enviable reputation of being a housekeeper par excellence, so afternoon when I was talking to her on Rita's front steps the talk inevitably turned to cooking and she offered me her mother's recipe for Fishface — a Fish Mousse reclining for haddock.

There is one sentence in this recipe that may give cause to impatient Canadian cooks. "... continue to beat in one direction only for at least 1-3 hour." You girls with electric beaters will not be stumped by this admonition for you can turn it on low and between additions of a Fish Mousse recipe for haddock.

There is one sentence in this egg white, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1-4 tsp. pepper, pinch of nutmeg, 1-3 tespoon cornstarch, 1-3 cup heavy cream, 1 cup milk. Put fish through grinder. Add 1 egg white and grind again. Add second egg white and blend with electric mixer. Add seasonings and cornstarch and continue to beat in one direction only for at least half an hour, adding milk and cream gradually. Pour this fine paste into buttered mold, place in pan of hot water and bake, covered, for 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr. The mousse should be dry and solid enough to slice. Serve cold, or hot with

LOBSTER SAUCE

(Note—This sauce would be delicious over many plain boiled, steamed or baked fishes.) One tablespoon butter or fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup fish stock or milk, 1-2 cup 1-oz. can lobster, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne pepper, 1 egg yolk. Melt fat and stir in flour. Cook stirring until foamy, then gradually add hot milk or stock, stirring constantly. Add seasonings and lobster meat broken up, and heat thoroughly. Beat egg yolk with a little of the hot sauce then combine carefully with sauce. Keep sauce warm but not too hot after egg has been added.

Those two ideas open up a new field of fish cooking for you. Some of the ingenious girls in this audience will use the basic mousse recipe for other fish such as raw salmon, when it will have a lovely salmon pink tinge.

Demorestville

DEMORESTVILLE — Mrs. E. Edwards, of Big Island, was hostess of the July meeting of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Edna Alton, Evan and Alvin, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Trumble.

Miss Geraline spent Saturday in Picton with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howell and family spent Sat. evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cole.

A miscellaneous shower was held in the hall, on Friday evening, for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coulter.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gallin and Junior, have moved back to Demorestville, last week they visited with her sister, Mrs. Ray Peck and family, of Big Island.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

WEDDING PLANS FOR A SECOND MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I am a widow, just past 50, and in about two months I am to be married. We want our wedding to be in good taste, quiet but impressive. The wedding will be in our church, a double-ring ceremony, on a Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock, after our regular church service.

1. First about attire. I am planning to wear a dressy dress of ankle-length, of a becoming pastel shade, and my only attendant, my sister, will wear a dress of the same type, in a color to harmonize with mine. All right so far? Should we wear hats? Gloves or mitts? Would it be proper for me to carry a small white Bible? Or, should I have my orchid on this, or should I wear it on my dress at the shoulder, or just where? Also my bridegroom-to-be wants me to ask you if he should wear a dark suit, or dark trousers, and white coat?

2. After the service should we greet our guests in the vestibule of the church? We are to have a small reception at a hotel or Club.

3. At this evening hour would this menu be all right: dainty sandwiches, cookies, the Wedding Cake ice cream, and punch?

4. Is a corsage enough to give to the organist and the soloist, or should I give them a gift also? Since this will be our regular church service evening, they would be at the church anyway.

5. Would it be in good taste to put our photograph in our local newspaper, along with the news item about the wedding? (I have lived here more than thirty years, and have many friends.)N.

1. I suggest a dress of smart simple design, rather than "dressy" . . . ankle-length . . . in becoming colors, as you have described. Consider a rich jewel tone, unless more becoming to a mature woman than a pastel. For this ceremony in church, you and your sister should wear hats, perhaps close-fitting "half-hats" for evening wear. Today this pert little hat is so fashionable and popular for so many kinds of late afternoon and evening occasions that, I am sure you will be able to find a most becoming one. Please don't wear mitts, which I think are not always becoming, and are really don't need to wear gloves. I'd very much like to have you carry your small white Bible, with one white orchid on it, to be worn with your going-away costume. Your bridegroom may properly wear a dark (preferably dark blue) suit for this informal wedding.

2. Since you are giving a reception, don't hold up the proceedings by greeting the guests in the vestibule of the church.

3. Yes: an adequate and appropriate menu. (If you wish, you might add hot coffee.)

4. Corsages aren't enough. You should give the organist and soloist their customary professional fees for this service. It makes no difference that they happen to be at the church anyway. Ask your minister what the fees are.

5. Yes! Call up the Society Editor of your local newspaper and ask her about this. I'm sure she will be delighted to have the details of this good news, and the photograph.

Women's Activities

REDNERSVILLE W.M.S.

The July meeting of the Redneysville W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Melvin Pulver with the Baby Band as guests.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. F. Townsend. Mrs. George Roblin, leader of the Baby Band, had a short program, consisting of children's hymns and piano solo by Donna Spencer and Beverley Pulver and a poem "Mother's Prayer" which brought that part of the program to a close.

Mrs. R. Stafford tooup up the Study Book on the part "Education has played in helping to do away with segregation of the Indians and in making them an integral part of Canada."

At first the Indian parents did not wish to send their children to the white man's schools, but later they were anxious to send them and the pupils became overcrowded.

When the government took over the schools the teachers were better paid and the same curriculum was taught as in public schools.

Indian children from public and residential schools attended high schools as well and were welcomed by the other pupils.

Many pupils of the United Church residential school on Vancouver Island are holding posts of honor in parliament and in business.

At the close of the meeting a social time was enjoyed by all.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

KEEP COOL WITH FRAGRANCE

A cologne stick, kept handy in her desk drawer, makes it easy for the career girl to have fragrance touch-ups just before an after-five date.

There's something about pampering herself that gives a woman a feeling of luxury and well-being. So indulge that feeling and you can present a calm exterior to a busy world—even on the hottest days of the year. One of the best methods is through the use of fragrance.

Fashioners have gone all out this summer not only to create spectacular toilet waters, colognes and cologne sticks for warm weather use but to design their bottles with sprays, atomizers and other devices which permit a woman to be constantly surrounded with a wonderful, expensive-seeming perfumed aura at a fraction of the cost of the "gallons of perfume" it seems to imply. Next time you're at your favorite perfume counter, therefore look around and make up your mind to experiment with some of the newer fragrance items.

For a toilet water in which you're interested, look for any one of the well known fragrances now accompanied by their own atomizer tops which fit onto the bottle the moment it is unsealed. The manufacturers of these flacons point out several advantages in spraying their fragrances rather than dabbing them on.

Safer, they say, toilet water that is sprayed on is being applied in the most thrifty way . . . none of the fragrance is wasted in dripping; all of it goes directly onto the skin. Secondly, it's easier to cover the hard-to-reach skin areas when a spray is used. The effect is one of being surrounded in a cloud of fragrance rather than being overpowered with it here and there.

And, finally, spraying is a much quicker operation than splashing since all the body areas from head to toe can, and should, be covered in just a few seconds.

The cologne can now be purchased in pressurized aerosol bottles and sprayed on, too. As a matter of fact, the fabulous Tabu, one of the world's leading glamour authorities, has just told us of the "cologne shower" as a hot-weather picker-upper. Her favorite is a new cologne concentrate which dispenses a fine frosty mist on the skin and adds a cool aura of fragrance to clothing which seems to push the temperature down. Because it is literally bottled in condensed form, it is more powerful and lasting than normal cologne.

Another inexpensive way of acquiring that cool feeling along with a perfumed aura is through the use of cologne sticks. Kept handy in a desk drawer, in the kitchen or in the glove compartment of your car, they can be whipped out at a moment's notice, applied to the temples, nape of the neck inside wrists and elbows and other pulse spots and the effect is immediately refreshing. Career girls will especially like them for the last minute fragrance touch-ups before an afternoon date.

One of the newest, designed to keep you cool, calm and collected all summer long is packaged to actually look like Christmas in July. Its snowy white container, sprinkled with modernistic silver flakes in rainbow shades of red, turquoise, green and yellow is straight transport you into the winter world of frosted windows, hanging icicles and a falling blanket of white. This frosty fragrance is a unique combination of tangy citrus top notes understood with subtle accents of the woody, floral and oriental. The same scent is also available in regular cologne form and in a lovely dusting powder.

So fare yo forth, my lady, and pick up some of these charming new fragrances. Use them lavishly and feel refreshed . . . confident of the haute loveliness . . . assured of your feminine charm.

Mother's Helper

LITTLE cut-ups enjoy their work, but picking up the messages may not be much fun for them—or Mommy. Keep about making a washpaper basket part of the game? They can do their outgoing right over the basket, or at least have it inside them for dropsie-in purposes.

112 DEGREES KILLS 19

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) — A heat wave that sent the temperature up to 112 degrees has killed 19 persons in this area in recent weeks. The victims suffers sunstroke in the high humidity that accompanied the heat.

Leather Jacket

By ALICE ALDEN

Everywhere one goes it's leather all the way, whether in town, in the country, at resorts and certainly in the suburbs because that's where the vogue for fine leather garments really got going. There's no end to the delightful designs, the beautiful colors and the uses for the latest leather lovelies. Samuel Roberts used soft, pliable kid-skin in white or colors, for a new jacket, a short style cut on casual but precise lines, with high poised pockets, slit sides and rimmed self buttons. We can see ever so many uses for this one.

Strait of Juan de Fuca Swim May Be Last Major Effort In Career of Marilyn Bell

By OLI DAUM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, who two years ago gained fame overnight by being the first—and so far the only one—to swim across Lake Ontario, left here for her third big swim serene, unruffled about the great things expected of her at the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Interviewed on the banks of Lake Ontario prior to her last training session before leaving for Victoria, the golden - haired 18-year-old said she is still awed, but not overwhelmed, by the public's reaction to her conquest of Lake Ontario and her feat last year in becoming the youngest swimmer to conquer the English Channel.

Wearing a white terry-cloth robe over her simple black bathing suit the petite, blue - eyed swimmer said she finds it hard to believe that many people regard her as a sort of national heroine.

FACES CHALLENGES

She is grateful for it and tries to live up to what has come to be expected of her. But neither adulation nor the financial rewards are what spur her on.

"It's the challenge," she said. "Juan de Fuca will be hard, I know, but I'm looking forward to it. I won't guarantee I'll make it but I'll do my best. I just want to see what it's like, really."

Just five-feet, two inches, the 124-pound swimmer said that only once has she felt like quitting—in the middle of a swim.

"It was just before dawn during the Lake Ontario swim," she said. "I was tired and sleepy and told Gus I'd had enough and was getting out. He told me it would wear off and that in another half-hour or so I'd be glad I hadn't quit."

Gus Ryder, her 57 - year - old coach, also inspired her conquest of the channel last summer. During the swim he kept her going.

"You're not Canada's sweetheart out here," he said. "You're just Marilyn Bell come to face the cruel ordeal of the English Channel. Nobody can help you here but yourself."

FEET ON GROUND

It's the thought that no matter what triumphs she gains in swimming, she's still on her own otherwise, that keeps her feet on the ground, she said. Her parents also keep her on the right track.

"My parents are pretty level-headed and try to keep me that way too," she said. "They have for as long as I can remember. As far as I'm concerned, just because I've been given a talent for swimming doesn't make me better than anyone else. I'm not so good at other things."

Last year, for instance, she started taking piano lessons but "didn't make too good a job of it." Not that she isn't musical — at Loretto College School, from which she has just graduated, she sang second soprano in the choir. She swoons over Perry Como, Nat "King" Cole and Gleno Miller recordings, but dislikes rock-and-roll music.

Marilyn said she isn't perturbed when people say it must be a cinch to swim a few miles and get a lot of money.

"I expect them to say that—it's the natural thing to think. They don't know the work behind it." But, said Marilyn, she is not swimming in money as some people think.

NOT EXTRAVAGANT

The most recent financial statement of Marilyn Bell Ltd., formed after her first historic swim, shows that until August last year gross receipts were $28,000 before taxes. For the west coast swim, sponsored by the Toronto Telegram and a group of newspapers, she got $20,000 for making the attempt and another $10,000 if she succeeds.

Marilyn, who started work early as a weekend cashier in a grocery store, says she isn't extravagant.

For one thing the winner of 40 medals, 10 plaques, nine trophies and five cups for swimming says the Juan de Fuca swim in late August may be her last major swim effort.

"I'm going to McGill University in the fall and with my studies I won't have time for training," she said. "For another thing, the kids I go out with don't spend a lot of money."

Marilyn, who plans to take up physio-therapy, has mostly the same friends she had before her triumphs. Any that have lost touch with her, she said, have probably done so because her training sessions and homework didn't leave her much spare time.

Twice winner of The Canadian Press annual poll of both sports and women's editors for the year's outstanding personality, Marilyn said she tried not to be overwhelmed by her popularity.

"It was hard sometimes, especially when people stopped me on the street for my autograph," she said. She used to be embarrassed but now has learned to take it—like everything else—in her stride.

Premature Babies Will Be Studied by Doctors' Group

WINNIPEG (CP)—Babies born prematurely may have a slight edge over their normal counterparts in amounting to something later in life.

This at least is what a qualified group of doctors from the University of Manitoba intend to find out in a two-year study of 1,000 premature babies. A dominion - provincial grant of $10,000 a year has been passed to the department of pediatrics at the university for the first Canadian study of premature babies.

The fact that Sir Winston Churchill, Charles Darwin and Isaac Newton were premature babies has given the researchers a theoretical stepping-stone for their investigation.

Members of the group are Dr. H. Medovy, chairman of the department of pediatrics, University of Manitoba; Dr. J. K. Martin, associate professor in the department; Dr. Kenneth Wylie, assistant chief resident doctor at Winnipeg's Children's Hospital, and Dr. David Grawer, pediatrics lecturer at University of Manitoba.

STUDY GENERAL GROUP

The study will be carried out on 1,000 premature babies born in the maternity pavilion of Winnipeg General Hospital between its opening in 1930 and the end of 1955.

Object of the survey, first of its kind not to use selected children, is to get information on physical, mental and emotional development of premature children and discover their incidence of congenital effects, cerebral palsy, hearing loss, visual defects and acute illness.

Few studies of this type have been done before. The two most important were performed in Bristol, England, and Chicago.

One of the Manitoba survey members said medical opinion on premature babies ranges from excessive optimism about their final outcome to doubt in the value of saving the life of such an infant.

"Personally," he said, "I find something rewarding about a two-pounder who turns out well."

Out of 4,000 births a year at the hospital's maternity pavilion an estimated 250 are born premature. About 30 per cent of such babies weigh three pounds or less. Only half of those weighing between 2½ and 3½ pounds are saved and the survival rate of those weighing less is 10 to 15 per cent.

"THEY SHALL NOT PASS" — AND THEY DIDN'T

A determined group of irate housewives in Baltimore, Md., take positions on their garbage-can barricade in protest against a long-standing dust nuisance in the neighborhood. Lining their garbage cans across the roadway, the "commander" seated themselves, sat pat and blocked all traffic. Baltimore county policemen could only look on open-mouthed, eating dust. —(Central Press Canadian.

Montreal Boy Held Responsible for Slaying

MONTREAL (CP) — A 14-year-old Montreal North boy has been found criminally responsible for the June 8 concrete-block slaying of Robert Jones, 9.

The verdict by a coroner's jury Tuesday sent the lad and his father into uncontrollable sobbing.

"I don't understand. What does it mean?" asked the father, pressing his face against his son's. The father had been detained briefly by police during the investigation.

Bobby Jones' battered body was discovered last month not far from his Montreal North home, which he left in the evening to attend a carnival against orders of his parents.

The juvenile held responsible for slaying was not identified in accordance with Quebec law.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medico-legal expert, said death resulted from multiple head fractures probably inflicted by a blunt instrument. One exhibit was a large concrete block which Dr. Fontaine said showed traces of human blood.

END OF ATTEMPT

Amy Hiland, 32-year-old marathon swimmer from Long Beach, Calif., is pulled aboard her navigating yacht Vermarko after an unsuccessful bid to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca. Climbing the ladder is Dr. William Slater who dived into the water to rescue her after Mrs. Hiland became blinded by salt, paralyzed and hysterical. She was in the water 13 hours and 15 minutes. She was just 1½ miles from Victoria. The distance from the Washington shore line to Victoria is 18.3 miles. (CP Photo).

Believe Driver Left Scene, Two Men Injured

SUTTON, Ont. (CP)—The discovery of two injured men—one unconscious and lying in the middle of the highway—early today touched off a police search for a driver believed to have left the scene of the accident.

Edward Fry, 34, and Jack Matthewson, 76, both of nearby Zephyr, were treated by a doctor here then taken to hospital in Toronto, 40 miles south.

Mr. Fry suffered a fractured pelvis and other undetermined injuries but his condition is described as fairly good. Mr. Matthewson, who suffered head cuts, is reported in fair condition.

It is thought the men were driving a truck which was sideswiped from the road by another vehicle. A truck was found in a ditch nearby.

One of the men kept muttering: "Get the license number."

Mr. Matthewson was unconscious in the middle of Highway 48, six miles east of Sutton.

He might have been run over if he hadn't been picked out by the lights of an approaching car, police said.

He was probably there about five minutes when discovered by motorist Kenneth Dutton of Toronto and Charles Crowder of Virginia, who carried Mr. Matthewson to the side of the road and called police.

Mr. Fry was in the ditch near the truck, dazed.

Because of the men's condition police have been unable to obtain a description of any car that might have forced them off the road.

Wheat Exports Highest in Three Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's exports of wheat rose to a three-year high of 234,000,000 bushels in the first 10 months of the current crop year, paring this country's huge stocks to 800,000,000 bushels.

However; the United States still maintained its lead as the world's top wheat exporter, shipping 389,700,000 bushels in the 10-month period, a gain of 35,700,000 over Canada's total, the bureau of statistics reported today in its monthly wheat review.

The U.S. gives away some of its wheat or barters it under its huge "giveaway" program. Federal officials maintain that though the U.S. ships more wheat, Canada actually gets more dollars since the Canadian wheat board works on a wheat-for-cash basis.

Canada's exports had been lagging behind those of last year, but started to perk up in the last few months.

Trade Minister Howe has predicted that total exports for the current crop year ending this month may increase to about 300,000,000 bushels — some 50,000,000 higher than last year.

Canada's exports in the 10 months were 24,300,000 bushels higher than those in the similar period last year. The U.S. shipments were 43,300,000 bushels higher than a year ago.

Many Killed, Heavy Damage In Japan Flood

TOKYO (Reuters) — Forty-two persons were killed, more than 30 were injured, about 20 are missing and more than 41,000 are homeless in areas in Japan wrecked by floods from torrential rains last weekend, police reported today.

Police said the floods are washing 1,000 acres of land, have damaged or destroyed 27,000 houses, knocked down about 400 bridges, caused about 900 landslides and have cut railroad, road and telephone communications in many areas.

Beavers Seem To Be Departing From Banff Park

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The beavers seem to be departing from Banff National Park.

Whether this is due to a shortage of food—tender willow or poplar bark—or to the federal government's programs to blow up beaver dams and rid certain lakes of predators by poisoning, is not certain.

Jim Shaw, chief fishing guide at a big resort hotel here, thinks it's because of the disappearance of normal beaver food. His assistant, Les Zarkos, believes the shift has been caused by the dam-busting and lake-poisoning projects.

AFFECTS FISHING

Norman Luxton, Indian lore expert and operator of a museum at Banff, says the beavers' food is thinning out along most of the rivers and streams in the area.

It may affect the fishing, too. Deep water created by a beaver dam is quiet and better for spawning. Wherever a beaver dam is, there is food fishing, Shaw says.

Asked by Jordan To Leave Country

LONDON (Reuters)—Cairo radio reported Tuesday that Sir Alec Kirkbride, former British ambassador to Jordan, had been asked by the Jordan government to leave the country.

Kirkbride, now retired from the foreign service, has been acting as unofficial mediator in Britain's discussions with Jordan over the recent dismissal of John Glubb, British commander of Jordan's Arab Legion.

Cairo radio, quoting a message from the Jordanian capital of Amman, said "competent authorities" had recommended that Kirkbride, 59, should be asked to leave. The radio gave no reason for this action and offered no comment.

Dams are blown up by the federal government only when there is no other solution to related flooding.

Officials agree it would be a sad day when the beaver might have to be imported into the park just as fish are stocked in lakes now.

British Army Girls Can Wear Any Color or Kind of Panties

By ALVIN STEINKOFF

LONDON (AP) — The British army has surrendered — the girls in its ranks can wear any kind and any color panties they choose. Also bras.

It was a merry fight while it lasted, but today, the secretary of state of war, Antony Head, backed down. He outlined he had incipient mutiny on his hands, and confronting him was one of the most determined of the members of Parliament, Dame Irene Ward.

The girls of the WRAC (Women Royal Army Corps) had been fuming for years over government - issued panties. They are of sturdy material, khaki in color, elastic at the waist, elastic in the region of the knees, and each garment is of a size to accommodate about two girls. The bras fit pretty well if one wears them over a trench coat.

OUT OF DATE AND SHAPE

The trouble was, complained the girls, that the feminine underlings were designed before the First World War by some male quartermaster who seemed to have only the foggiest ideas about the female figure — its dimensions and contours.

Most of the girls used the ponies for laundry bags, and wore undies they bought themselves. But there was always the risk that at an inspection they would be caught improperly uniformed. So they got Dame Irene on their side, and she campaigned for a money allowance and the demobilization of government issue lingerie.

The war department hesitated, saying that with all this disarmament talk in the air it might be hard to find the money for another allowance.

MINISTER CAPITULATES

Head parried and delayed, but when in the House of Commons today he saw Dame Irene glaring at him he rose to announce:

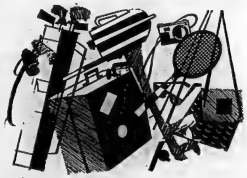
"We are going to change over to an initial allowance for underclothes in the women's services."

Dame Irene, magnanimous in victory, said:

"I think the minister now that the battle has been successfully concluded."

There might be ways to dispose of the panties on hand, she suggested — the girls of the WRAC had a plan. Said one: "Sell the surplus stocks to people who want tents in their gardens."

PRECARIOUS MOORING



SUTTON (CP)—Carioca vacationers finally found out what the strange object being used as a boat mooring here is. Camp Borden army experts said it was a two-foot bomb of undetermined origin and they weren't certain whether it had been defused. The bomb was taken back to camp for study.

Tenant Is Found For Shaw's Home; Not Like G.B.S.

LONDON (AP)—The National Trust, a government commission which owns old castles and picturesque ruins, has finally found a tenant for the vine - covered house of many chimneys in which dramatist George Bernard Shaw lived for so long.

Since Shaw's death in 1950, the 12-room house on four acres at Ayot St. Lawrence has been a drain on the National Trust treasury.

The new tenant is 39-year-old Christopher Casserley, a breezy public relations executive with a wife and two sons.

"Now that I have my family settled I can bend all my energies to becoming a capitalist in the old Socialist's home," Casserley told reporters.

If Shaw's spirit should be hovering about, it probably would find a lot of fault with the new tenant. Shaw hated tobacco, abstained from alcohol, was a vegetarian and opposed formal religion.

"I smoke, drink, eat meat and am a Catholic," said Casserley.

Fight on Plane Brings Dismissal Of Crew Members

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A fist fight aboard a Real airliner in flight has led to the dismissal of three of its crew members.

Passengers rushed up as copilot Julio Caldas and steward Jose Dos Santnos traded punches 1,000 feet aloft after the takeoff. The shifting weight threw the plane into a dive of several hundred feet before the pilot could control it.

Witnesses said radio operator Heli Moreiro joined in the fight, then passengers separated the combatants. All three got the axe when they landed at Sao Paulo. Airport officials reported today the fight started from a practical joke the steward played on the co-pilot.

Past President Of Canadian Press Given New Post

HALIFAX (CP)—R. J. Rankin, immediate past president of The Canadian Press has been elected vice-president in charge of public relations of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Mail-Star, a new post. He had been managing editor of the two papers.

The appointment was one of four executive changes announced Tuesday by the board of directors of the Halifax Herald Ltd.

Mr. Rankin will be succeeded as managing editor of the two dailies by Frank W. Doyle, now associate managing editor.

Eric R. Dennis, former resident parliamentary correspondent in Ottawa, becomes editor of the Chronicle-Herald, the morning paper.

A. K. R. (Alex) Hickerson, former sports editor and editorial writer, becomes editor of the Mail-Star.

Mr. Rankin entered newspaper work in Chatham, Ont., and joined the reporting staff of the Herald and Mail in 1921. He was appointed managing editor in 1925 and continued in this post when the Chronicle and Star were merged with the Herald and Mail Ltd.

He has been a member of The Canadian Press since 1938, was named a director in 1946, and elected president for a two-year term in 1954.

Mr. Rankin is also chairman of the Halifax port commission.

SCOUT USES TRAINING

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP)—Less than a week after finishing a Scout course in life-saving, Stewart Mills saved Bobby Mills, a member of a Cub pack, from drowning. Press Council Condemns Bill On Controls

LONDON (Reuters)—The Press Council, an unofficial organization which studies and pronounces on complaints about British newspapers, today condemned a parliamentary bill which proposes strict controls for the press.

The bill, which was introduced in the House of Lords last week by the Earl of Selborne, calls for a licensed press under the supervision of an official three-man authority. Licences could be withdrawn for a variety of offences.

The Press Council, a voluntary group set up by the profession itself with representatives of proprietors, editors and journalists' unions, described the bill as "misguided and reactionary."

"The measure would not defend but abolish the freedom of the press, one of the proved historic safeguards of the British people," it declared. "In its place would arise a tyrannical or censor empowered with the administration of only the loosest and vaguest rules. . .

"Almost everything listed is the possible violations of the required standard of propriety is so vague as to be impossible to define, such as undue publicity (for crimes of a sexual or sadistic nature), unnecessary exploitation (of human grief), 'unnecessary intrusion' (on personal privacy) and 'unjustified distress' (by publishing photographs)."

It added that a proposed veto on "disrespect or discourtesy to the royal family" could prevent proper discussion on the behavior of male minor royalty even if they acted flagrantly against the public interest.

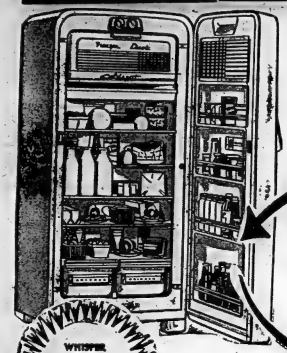
Appeal Against $50 Conviction Reporter Wins

READING Pa. (AP) — The Berks County court Tuesday set aside the conviction of a Reading Times reporter fined $50 for creating a disturbance in connection with a dispute between the city administration and the Reading newspaper.

Charles H. Kessler, Times reporter, was arrested July 9 on the order of Mayor Daniel McDevitt. Kessler was fined $50 by a police magistrate on a disorderly conduct charge.



The reporter was arrested for posing on the city hall steps with a typewriter after the mayor had closed the press room in the municipal building. McDevitt accused The Times of "descending to yellow journalism."

The newspapers said McDevitt's action was prompted by recent news stories which led to slot machine raids on more than 20 places, among them a tavern operated by the mayor's brother. Besides arresting Kessler, the mayor ordered police to arrest newspaper trucks for stopping in no-parking zones to deliver their papers.

Top Canadian Physicist Back From Moscow Says Russians High in Scientific Research

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—A top Canadian physicist just back from Moscow says Canada and the west in general will have to keep on their toes to match Russia's progress in scientific research.

The statement was made here in an interview by Dr. Lloyd G. Elliott, director of the physics division of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., following his return from a conference on high energy physics in the Russian capital May 14 to 22.

Dr. Elliott was one of two Canadian delegates at the conference sponsored by the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R. The other was Prof. J. Stuart Foster, head of the radiation laboratory of McGill University.

SHOW REAL PROGRESS

Dr. Elliott said he was "tremendously impressed" by the Russian achievements in the field of high energy physics, a narrow branch of the science of physics.

"We in Canada knew very little about what Russia was doing in the field before the conference," he said. "We came away realizing that their scientists are making real progress.

"They are certainly doing very well. We've got to keep on our toes in the west to see that we are very serious and their plans are very extensive for placing large numbers of highly technical people in basic research."

However, he did not think the western world was falling behind in research. He merely was suggesting that the west would have to make progress to keep ahead of the Russians.

WELL-EQUIPED

Dr. Elliott spent considerable time in Russian laboratories. Russian machines used in high energy physics research, Canada has no research equipment at the very high energy, but it is understood that Canadian scientists are interested in the development of the high energy field in this country.

High energy machines are used to accelerate protons to high energies such as those existing in cosmic rays. The machines are used to bombard materials to find out the basic facts about nature and the composition of matter.

Dr. Elliott said the Russian machines are well equipped for basic experiments in this field. He was shown "in real detail" current research being conducted on several machines at laboratories with Moscow.

"We found the Russians were willing to show us anything we wanted to see in the high energy field," he said. The international results were described in detail and Soviet scientists appeared interested in any professional comments we had."

CAMERAS PERMITTED

He said there was no indication the Russians were holding back on information sought by western delegates.

"In fact, we were allowed to carry cameras and take pictures in any laboratory we visited."

However, Dr. Elliott said that the high energy field has no obvious application to weapons. It was related entirely to pure physics research.

Dr. Elliott said on his first visit to the Moscow laboratories he saw the high energy machine known as synchro-cyclotron which has an energy of 680,000,000 electron volts. It is the highest energy machine of its type in the world.

He also described a new machine known as a proton synchrotron now under construction in Moscow. It is designed to shoot off particles of energy up to 10,000,000,000 electron volts.

On completion this machine will be the most powerful of its kind in the world. It will compare with a United States machine at Brookhaven, Long Island, New York, with an energy of 3,000,000,000 electron volts and a beatron at Berkley, Cal., delivering about 6,000,000,000 volts.

ENCOURAGE EXCHANGE

Referring generally to the conference, Dr. Elliott said it appeared to be an obvious gesture by the Russians to encourage a exchange of scientific information with the western world.

Asked whether the energy of the machines is important, he said the higher the energy the more details the scientist can learn about the composition of matter. Hence more powerful machines were being planned in both Russia and the U.S.

There was a tremendous amount still to be learned about nature. If the east and west co-operated in this field man's knowledge of nature would be learned that much quicker.

Dr. Elliott said Russian scientists are a privileged class with an exceptionally high standard of living. The Soviet government is a system of honor and reward for outstanding scientific work.

He estimated the salary received by Russian scientists is about 30 times that of unskilled workers.

Govt. Files Lien

BOSTON (AP) — The internal revenue department filed a lien in the registry of deeds Tuesday against John F. Fitzgerald, father of the Boston Post, and his wife, Olga, for personal income taxes amounting to $1,255,107.69 for the years 1949 through 1953.

The action came shortly after a week delay was granted for trial of a suit by Mrs. Helen D. Grace, 54, niece of the newspaper publisher, seeking to block a proposed sale of the 125-year-old morning newspaper.

PROTEST DUKE BAN

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—A decision not to have the Duke of Edinburgh enter the oncoming Australian Olympic Games has aroused a storm of protest from the Australian Olympic Organizing Committee and Olympic Committee chief Avery Brundage. The International Olympic Council ruled that the Duke, who will formally open the games from the royal box, must not enter the arena afterward as had been planned.

Veteran Judge Says Plowing With Horses "Work of Art"

WINTERBURN, Alta. (CP)—Plowing with horses is a "work of art," but a veteran judge says he hasn't seen a three-furrow plow in competitions for many years.

Jim Shearer, who supervises the 1,900-acre spread at the Oliver Provincial Mental Institute in suburban Edmonton, was one of the judges in the Edmonton and District Agricultural Society plowing championships on Alex Zeigler's farm near Winterburn, about 10 miles west of Edmonton.

"You just don't get the good, clean job from the tractor-drawn implement you did when horses were pulling the plow," Shearer said.

"A man, his horses and plow were something to watch. It was a work of art."

The judges walk many miles and theirs is "an exacting job. They scrutinize the crown of the land, the straightness, depth and width of the furrows, the evenness of the top, covering of weeds and how the in-and-out play at the ends has been carried out. Contestants can win 100 points, but 80 is considered excellent.

Plowmen are allowed to go down six inches.

"We allow a half-inch either way." Shearer told a reporter, "but anything outside of that and the contestant begins losing points."

Shearer and the other judge, Len Job, a farmer and city plowman in Edmonton district competitions for many years, agreed the competition is tough and the competitors skilled.

"We try to run the competitions on as classical a basis as possible so that anything outside of a good workaday job," Shearer said.

Job, a former contestant, contended that there's worry about difficult chore than plowing.

"When I started plowing in competitions," Job commented, "I was more worried about myself. Now I have a dozen or so fellows to think about—to make sure I'm judging their work right."

The judges say the contestants don't complain about the results.

"The fellows are very good," Shearer remarked. "They even come squalling to us when the results have been carried out. Contestants can win 100 points, but 80 is considered excellent.

Jewish Lord Mayor of Dublin Is Busy Man

DUBLIN (AP)—Battling Bobby Briscoe, the first Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, says he's planning a double - barrelled trip to America this winter—if he ever gets out from underneath that pile of mail.

"I've had a terrible jot of letters, my boy," he said Tuesday in his rich Irish brogue. "You'd never credit it, but I've three secretaries going at it full time since I was elected last month and the congratulations still come in by the sackful."

Among the first to arrive was a cable from the mayor of New York, Robert F. Wagner, inviting Briscoe to take the salute at the big St. Patrick's Day parade next March 17.

"And then there were other invitations from Americans—so many I've had to plan on taking two trips over there in my year of office."

DAUGHTER IN CANADA

Briscoe said he's looking forward particularly to meeting all the Jewish people in North America who've written asking him to address meetings, open bazaars and be guest at their dinners.

There are so many of them I've had to ask them to get together and combine some of the functions," he said.

"It's going to be a great family get-together," he said.

"We'll be flying in a KLM plane piloted by my son Michael, who's a senior KLM pilot.

"Then, in New York, we'll be meeting my daughter, Joan, who is married and lives in Kingston, Ontario."

Briscoe chuckled again.

"Talking of my daughter Joan," he said,

"I must tell you about the time I used to smuggle IRA messages through the Black and Tans (British guards) tucked inside the folds of her diapers."

202 of 258 Ore Ships on Lakes Now Tied Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United States steel strike has tied up about 202 of the 258 ore ships on the Great Lakes, a survey by the Cleveland Plain Dealer showed Tuesday night.

The newspaper said if the strike will be docked soon.

Shipments of iron ore has been most seriously affected, but coal, limestone and grain shipments also are decreasing.

The strike has stopped shipment of 4,000,000 tons of ore. Only 340,977 tons were hauled in the week ended Monday, compared with 3,068,963 in the same week last year.

Total tonnage for 1958 dropped below 1953 for the first time. Shipments since the season began were 9,000,000 tons ahead of 1953, now they are 3,000,000 behind.

No Special Significance to Meeting - - - Drew

OTTAWA (CP)— Opposition Leader Drew says there is "no special significance" to a meeting here last week with Premier Frost of Ontario and a number of Progressive Conservative members of Parliament.

He was commenting Tuesday on reports that at the meeting the Conservative premier promised the full support of his provincial party organization to the federal party in the next election.

There has always been the very closest co-operation between the federal party and a provincial branches of the party in Ontario" Mr. Drew said. It was customary for him to meet with Mr. Frost when the premie, a former colleague in the Ontario government, visited Ottawa.

West Democracy Called Sham By Khrushchev

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev ridiculed the West and its freedoms at a Kremlin banquet Tuesday night for East German Communist leaders. It was reminiscent of the coldest cold war days.

The party secretary called Western democracy a sham, said its freedom was only for monopoly capitalists to plunder workers "and shear them like sheep," and charged that the Western powers have served monopolists.

Khrushchev said that sh... West "could not struggle us in 1917 and 1918, when we stood alone, how can they do it now?"

"I won't underestimate their strength but on the socialist side the strength is not negligible."

PICKED AUDIENCE

A picked audience of Soviet officials and members of satellite and neutral embassies several times interrupted the 45-minute tirade with appreciative laughter.

A half hour before the reception the Soviet Union and East Germany signed an economic and political declaration tying the two regimes together even closer than before.

A communique issued after talks between East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and Soviet leaders said Russia will send substantially increased shipments of goods to help fulfill the East German seven-year five-year plan.

CUT TROOP COST

Russia also announced a 30-per-cent cut in the troops paid by the East German government toward maintenance of Soviet troops in East Germany.

The cut, which comes into effect next Jan. 1, will reduce East Germany's occupation support contribution by many years, agreed the competition is tough and the competitors skilled.

"We try to run the competitions on as classical a basis as possible so that anything outside of a good workaday job," Shearer said.

Job, a former contestant, contended that there's worry about difficult chore than plowing.

Canadian Airmen, Stranded In North, Will Be There Month

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Twelve Canadian airmen are stranded in the Arctic and may not be able to get out for another month. They are well supplied with food and fuel and are in radio communication with RCAF northern bases.

Six of the airmen are at Arctic Bay and Pond Inlet on northern Baffin Island. Both Eskimo communities and transport department stations, they are about 1,900 miles north of Ottawa. Three men are on Melville Island in the Queen Elizabeth Islands and three near Wager Bay just below the Arctic Circle.

323 to [illegible] Hiller ... 24-month factory covering a 600,000-square-mile Arctic region by the RCAF's No. 408 photographic squadron, based here. They were left behind when the spring breakup made it impossible for ski-equipped planes to land and pick them up.

The airmen are being used to evacuate some of the men but the three on Melville Island are out of helicopter range and have to wait until a float-equipped Canso can take them out some time next month. The three on Melville are Cpl. J. E. Titus, Sarnia, Ont., LAC J. A. Repath, 23, Toronto, and LAC J. J. Latreille, 19, Montreal.

Senior air force officers emphasized that the men are in no danger whatsoever.

Only one man was injured in this year's operation. Cpl. William Buckridge, 38, of Woodstock, Ont., broke his leg in the white fog.

Buckridge said today in an interview that the fox flew at his face suddenly.

bear though he couldn't have weighed more than 10 pounds. He threw my head back and I heard his jaws snap. But he snapped again on the way down and got me by the throat. [illegible] run after that, I kicked him in the face and broke his nose.

Buckridge radioed Cambridge Bay that he had been bitten by a bear which might be infected by rabies. He was evacuated by air and reached Ottawa June 23, seven days later.

"If bevaccine is worse than the rabies, I guess because I just got out of hospital," he said with a grin. He added that he has the fox pelt.

Wider Hearing On Appeals Will Be Given

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is moving to give convicted murderers a wid.r hearing in their appeals to the highest court in the land.

Justice Minister Garson Tuesday night introduced a bill to require that five members of the Supreme Court of Canada — instead of one as at present—must hear applications for leave to appeal murder convictions to that court.

The measure slipped in without comment after one minute of explanation.

The measure on Supreme Court appeals follows Mr. Garson's unprecedented action last May 31 asking for the opinion of the full court on the case of convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin after counsel had rejected Coffin's request for an appeal hearing.

Coffin, convicted of murdering two prospectors in northern Quebec found dead in Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula three years ago, ultimately was hanged last July 10. The courtbad advised the government it would have upheld his conviction if it had heard the appeal.

The bill does not alter the procedure on appeals themselves. Leave would be given by a single member court, but only the presidents would be able to appeal decisions to make the appeal.

It would provide that three judges instead of one, hear applications for leave to appeal criminal convictions other than murder cases. The quorum necessary to hear applications on civil cases would be reduced from five to three.

ROBBS MOVE

KINCARDINE (CP) — Two broods of robins which blocked the moving of a telephone pole here have finally taken to the wing. Workers noticed the robins' nest o a cross-arm and waited until the young had hatched. The arrived to move the pole and found another pair had moved in.They waited again.

Judge Urges City of Ottawa To Prosecute One of Two Men

OTTAWA (CP) — The city of Ottawa has been urged to prosecute either of two officials of a low-cost housing project for a $3,000 shortage in rents.

However, a judicial inquiry has resulted in a finding that an additional $82,000 over-spent on the project was due to inexperience, lack of supervision, inadequate accounting and a gamble on keeping labor on the payroll in anticipation of another project being started.

Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville recommended prosecution of Jean E. Sabourin or Charles B. Young for the rent shortage. Mr. Young was secretary - treasurer of the project, Mooretown Housing Ltd., while Mr. Sabourin was timekeeper-accountant.

Concerning the $3,000 shortage, Judge Lewis said Mr. Sabourin, hired by Mr. Young although he had no experience in bookkeeping or accounting, gave highly unsatisfactory evidence during the three-day inquiry.

The report said bookkeeping records were inadequate, there was no system for accounting for rents, and there was no provision for supervision of operations by the city.

Because the project was labor-sponsored, jurisdictional disputes arose over supervision, the report said.

CCF Member Claims Michener Has "Pecuniary Interest" In Legislation Advanced

OTTAWA (CP) — A slam-bang argument erupted Tuesday night in the dying minutes of a Commons banking committee meeting between a Progressive Conservative and a CCF member.

D. R. Michener (PC — Toronto St. Paul's) demanded that Colin Cameron (CCF — Nanaimo) retract a charge that he has a "pecuniary interest" in small loans legislation now being studied by the committee, Mr. Cameron refused.

The CCF member said Mr. Michener is a director of a company involved in the legislation, which would provide lower interest rates on smaller loans, and that he is doing his best to block the bill.

CALLS CHARGE NONSENSE

"Nonsense," shouted Mr. Michener, former Ontario provincial secretary. He said he is a director of Traders Finance Corp. Ltd., which has no connection with the small loans business. Industrial Acceptance Corp. Ltd., fourth largest small loans company in Canada, is a subsidiary of Traders Finance he added, but he has no connection with that firm.

The Conservative member said he resented Mr. Cameron's allegation and demanded that he withdraw.

"I don't intend to withdraw anything," Mr. Cameron shot back.

LOSES CHAIRMAN

The flare-up began just before the 10 p.m. adjournment when Chairman Gordon Graydon angered by an earlier remark by committee chairman A. W. Hamilton (L—Parkdale), accused the chairman of "continued studied insolence" by CCF committee members. Mr. Hunter had said previously that an "organized effort by the committee emanated entirely from the CCF.

Then Mr. Cameron turned on Mr. Michener. He said the Toronto member is evidently determined to prevent the bill from getting out of committee and back to the Commons. He said he was personally that he must commend Mr. Michener as "quite skilled" when in light of his [illegible] a company involved in the legislation.

Mr. Michener heatedly denied any pecuniary i n t e r e s t in the legislation.

RULED OUT OF ORDER

Mr. Hunter said he ruled Mr. Cameron out of order.

Mr. Graydon left the chair, Cameron and went on talking.

He said he is trying to protect the rights of borrowers and to keep them "out of the clutches of loans (finance company) sharks."

Mr. Michener then gave an account of his business connections and heard Mr. Cameron reject his demand to withdraw.

Mr. Michener said he knows of nothing illegal in Mr. Michener's position. It was a matter for his personal conscience.

Mr. Cameron said he wanted to compliment another committee member—he didn't name him—for having a very frank discussion with small loans because he was connected with such a loan company.

ASKS ABOUT RANCHER

Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said a CCF member who is a rancher is also a member of the Commons agriculture committee. He would not deny that member's right to sit on the committee.

The sitting was adjourned at that point but Mr. Michener went over to Mr. Cameron's desk and the argument continued for a few minutes.

Mr. Michener was heard to ask

REASSURES RUSSIA

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran addresses the crew of a Soviet cruiser docked at Sukhumi, USSR. The Shah is on a two-week visit to Russia. At a Kremlin party in his honor, the monarch said that the Baghdad pact, of which his country is a member, is not a "aggressive bloc" aimed at the Soviet Union.

why Mr. Cameron had brought the matter up.

A moment later, the CCF member was heard to say: "Don't be a damn fool."

Earlier, Mr. Michener asked K. R. MacGregor, federal insurance superintendent, why he had suggested in his brief to the committee that loan companies might spend less on advertising.

"It is a pretty dangerous proposition" for the government to advise business what it should spend on advertising, Mr. Michener said.

Mr. MacGregor said he had expressed a personal observation and that he still thinks loan companies might save money in the advertising field.

Shortage of Cars Denied by CPR Before Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway has denied transport Controller W. M. Mather as being "in error" when he stated that there was a lack of CPR boxcars in the Prairies last spring.

R. A. Emerson, CPR vice-president in charge of operations, said also that Trade Minister Howe was misinformed when he said on some previous occasions that there had been a shortage of boxcars in the west.

The rail operations chief told the Commons agricultural committee Tuesday that the main cause of Prairie grain transportation troubles was the delay at terminal elevators in unloading grain cars.

CLAIMS WHEAT POOL

The "most flagrant and notorious offender," he said, was the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, which in March had kept CPR cars on average of 8.3 days. Other terminal elevators kept the cars for an average of 8.3 days.

The normal time for holding a car for unloading at the terminals is 2.5 days, said Mr. Emerson. Mr. Howe, who sat through the day and evening committee sessions, questioned whether such a low unloading time had ever been achieved. Mr. Emerson said the CPR came close in May and June.

He faced stiff examination by committee members as he defended the system under his charge by Mr. Milner, made before the committee July 6, that the CPR could turn down badly in the March 15-April 30 period when he appealed for more boxcars.

LIBERALIZE IMPORTS

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced Monday it would "liberalize" 50 per cent of its imports from member nations of the European Organization for economic co-operation. Liberalization means removal of import quota restrictions as distinct from tariff barriers.

CHARGE "U.S. AGENTS" AIDED POLISH RIOTS

3-Course Meal In Match Box Is British Plan

TORRY, Scotland (Reuters)—New dehydrated foods that may result in a three-course meal packed into a match box are being made in government research laboratories here.

The foods are being prepared as rations for British servicemen who will be the first to taste them before they appear on the market.

Only water will be needed to prepare the foods for eating.

Scientists envisage soup, meat and a dessert—possibly a fruit puree—being produced on a minute scale to fit in containers as small as match boxes.

They say that although the meal may not be filling, it will be satisfying to eat and just as nutritious as normal servings.

Mandalay Quake Takes 29 Lives

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—At least 29 persons were reported killed Tues. in an earthquake that struck Mandalay and many other towns through the central Irrawaddy River valley of Burma.

A major shock of one minute's duration at 10 p.m. Monday night was followed by 17 other tremors in the next 13 hours.

Inhabitants of Mandalay rushed in panic from their damaged homes and most remained outdoors today for fear of further tremors. All schools and colleges in the affected towns shut down.

A 250-mile area stretching from Bhamo in the north to Myingyan in the south was affected by the earthquake, the Burmese meteorological department said.

Waterloo Will Take Steps to Annex 500 Acres

WATERLOO (CP)—City council decided Monday night to take immediate steps to annex 500 acres of Waterloo Township east of the city.

The move, if approved by the Ontario municipal board, will allow for Waterloo's anticipated expansion for the next eight to 10 years, Ald. Harold Pakin told council.

The combined area, he said, could support a population of between 28,000 and 30,000, Waterloo's population is nearing the 18,000 mark.

Asked for New Clock, May Get New Building

WATERLOO (CP) — The city may get considerably more than it asked for when it petitioned the department of public works for a new post office clock.

Instead of getting a new timepiece, Waterloo may get a brand new post office. Ald. Peter Bierdert told Waterloo council Monday night.

He said that last weekend Norman C. Schneider, Liberal member of Parliament for Waterloo North, told him the department of public works is studying the desirability of expanding present post office facilities here or constructing a new building.

Dutch Baseball Team Enters Global Tourney

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Followers of baseball, which was imported from the United States 30 years ago and encouraged by Canadian soldiers here during the First World War, are all excited because their team is going to play in Milwaukee.

The sport finally made Dutch front pages this week when Holland won the European championship and the right to enter this fall's "global tournament" in Milwaukee. They will meet teams from Canada, Japan, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Colombia and the U.S.

A Dutch fan introduced the game to Holland almost 30 years ago. In 1912, the Dutch Baseball Association was formed, and during the First World War the Dutch clubs played in a league with interned Canadian soldiers.

Enlarged Pictures Of Bad Accidents May Be Used

TORONTO (CP) — Enlargements of horror pictures of fatal motor accidents may soon be placed in Ontario courtrooms as part of a campaign to reduce highway accidents, says Attorney-General Roberts.

Mr. Roberts said Tuesday he is also debating the value of placing albums of these pictures in the hands of magistrates with a suggestion that they be used to make an impression on motorists awaiting a hearing on traffic law infractions.

Object of Ontario's year-long safety campaign is a 50-per-cent reduction in fatal accidents. So far the campaign has resulted in a 16.8 per cent reduction. Mr. Roberts said stronger methods may be necessary to attain the objective.

In the last eight months there were 393 fatal accidents, a drop from 471 from the previous eight months. The number of accident injuries increased to 8,708 from 5,645.

Costly Marriage

TORONTO (CP) — A man and a woman who said they committed bigamy "to make some money from the government," were jailed Tuesday.

Pte. James Johnson, 23, of Camp Borden was sentenced to six months.

He said he had gone through a form of marriage with Mrs. Elizabeth Powe, 22, of Barrie even though he knew she was married already, to qualify for an army family allowance of $205 a month.

Mrs. Powe was given an indeterminate sentence not to exceed five months.

Govt. Officials 'Plenty Worried' Over Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age, weekly trade magazine of the steel industry, says long-range effects of the country-wide steel strike will be "far worse than most people realize."

Despite an official hands-off attitude, government officials are privately "plenty worried," it adds, and "at least two cabinet members are involved in efforts to get the strike settled."

Production losses will be close to 7,000,000 tons by the end of this week and have "already be gun to hurt the economy," the magazine says.

Construction, freight car building and other dependent industries have been hit by shortages and "now big and rod users are beating the bushes for what they can dig up," it adds.

On Monday Mrs. James won a second divorce on the grounds that Humphrey had misbehaved again — with Miss Mansell.

Bulldozer Hits Kitchen Walls, Floor Falls In

TORONTO (CP) — A bulldozer blade clicked against a house wall Tuesday, causing a kitchen to cave in and two persons to scramble for their lives. Part of the floor fell 20—feet into an excavation.

James Anderson, 90, and his daughter, Anna Brown were watching television in the kitchen when the walls started to crack.

"Let's get out of here," said Mrs. Brown, grandmother of eight children.

Down went the wall, part of the kitchen floor, the kitchen table and the water heater. The kitchen stove barely managed to hang on.

Mr. Anderson said it was the first excitement he has had in a long time. He added: "Where's my tin of tobacco?"

Will Try to Still Worker Unrest In East Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Russia promised new economic aid to Communist East Germany today in a move that seemed aimed to overcoming widespread worker unrest in the satellite country.

The official East German news agency, ADN, said the pledge of Soviet assistance came at the end of the two-day Moscow conference between leaders of Russia and East Germany.

ADN quoted East German premier Otto Grotewohl as "thanking the government of the U.S.S.R. for aid in further developing the economy of the German Democratic Republic and for raising of the material welfare of the population."

The talks began Monday after an East German delegation arrived for what the radio described as "important negotiations."

UNIFORMS RULED OUT

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener police committee has turned down a request that the police association fastball team be allowed to wear cut-down old uniform pants as part of their playing uniforms. The commission agreed Monday that police uniforms should not be used for any purpose outside of regular police work. The association was granted $35 for sweaters.

Baseball Booming on Prairies Race Close in Western Loop

EDMONTON (CP)—Baseball is booming this season on the western prairies.

At mid-July, only 1½ games separated top from bottom in the six-member Western Canada Baseball League.

"It is safe to say," said John Ducey, Edmonton Eskimos' general manager, "that throughout organized baseball, no league can boast as close a race as the WCBL."

The tight race is drawing the fans into the ball parks in increasing numbers. The Edmonton entry had an average attendance of 2,043 for its first 19 games.

Ducey reported that attendance is up from last year at both Lloydminster and Moose Jaw in Saskatchewan. Saskatoon's attendance is about equal to Edmonton's. Regina and North Battleford are the other teams in the circuit.

Edmonton's total attendance this season probably will not equal the 85,000 of 1953 when baseball was in the Class A Western International League. But the average attendance per game is up. Edmonton has only 33 home dates this year compared with 56 in 1953.

CALGARY KEY

Although baseball is booming, Ducey is looking forward to Edmonton's return to organized ball from the present Independent status and he stresses that Calgary is the key.

Calgary, which left the WIL early in 1954 because it lacked a proper baseball park, would revive the great inter-city rivalry with Edmonton, Ducey says.

Ducey says an alternative to raising the six WCBL cities to organized baseball status, requiring "considerable" improvement in parks, would be formation of a Pacific northwest loop to include Seattle, Portland, Vancouver, Spokane, Wenatchee, Calgary and Edmonton.

Ducey argues that formation of such a league is not as far-fetched as some think but is dependent on two developments.

1. San Francisco and Los Angeles changing to major league status.

2. Provision of proper stadiums in Spokane and Calgary.

Spokane already has begun construction of a baseball park that would meet requirements. Ducey said it is common knowledge that Mervyn (Red) Dutton, Calgary Stampeder Football Club president has agreed to build a stadium to be used for both baseball and football.

"Calgary has tremendous baseball potential," Ducey said. "Given a modern, first-class park with good facilities including parking accommodation, Calgary could be a great baseball franchise."

Ducey noted that a person would have to pay $6,000 a month for the defunct WIL club, to obtain the Calgary territorial rights. If his roots in Edmonton were not so deep, he said, he would not hesitate to go to Calgary to try to establish baseball on a sound basis.

The 66-game schedule ends August 26 when the playoffs begin. The WCBL champion will represent Canada in the second annual Global World Series at Milwaukee Sept. 7-12.

England Wins Third Test Match

LEEDS, England (Reuters)—England defeated Australia by a wide margin in the third match of the test cricket series Tuesday to even the count at one victory each with one draw. The fourth match will be played at Manchester starting July 26 and the 5th match at the Oval in London Aug. 23.

The Englishmen routed the visitors by an innings and 42 runs in the five-day third match—and incidentally also beat what is known in cricket as "the Headingley hoodoo."

It is the first time in 11 tests England has beaten Australia at the Headingley cricket ground here. Australia has won there on five occasions.

Final scores were: England 325, Australia 143 and 140.

Australia started needing 88 runs with eight wickets in hand to avoid an innings defeat. But they failed to combat the guile of England's top spin bowlers Jim Laker and Tony Lock who snapped up wickets on an awkward pitch. The Australians lost their remaining eight wickets for 97 runs, the last five falling in the space of four runs.

Western Junior League Folds, Called "Tragedy"

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Perhaps "tragedy" is a strong word to describe the folding of Western Junior Hockey League this week, but there are many observers in hockey in Western Canada who feel no word can be too strong.

"It was by far the most glamorous amateur circuit in the west after the old Western Canada Senior League gave way to the professional Western League in 1951.

Certainly, the WJHL was a major source of player talent for the professional leagues, particularly the WHL which in the last five seasons has drawn about 70 per cent of its new players from it.

The Quebec, American and National leagues also have drawn a heavy quota of players from the WJHL, and it is the pros who many observers believe will feel the seriousness of the league's collapse.

With the collapse of the WJHL, there are at least four major hockey areas in Alberta with no amateur hockey in which to develop players — Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and the Crow's Nest Pass. Only Edmonton and Alberta will retain a junior A team in the 1956-57 season.

Alberta will not retain a junior A team in the 1956-57 season.

Trenton Hands Point Anne Second Defeat

Trenton Legion Juniors mapped their nine-game losing stream last night in the Belleville and District softball league at the expense of the Point Anne Canoemen. The Hubbers took a 9-8 decision in eleven innings in a battle of home runs.

The Canoemen banged out three home runs and Trenton two in the free-swinging affair. It was the league-leaders second defeat of the season.

Point Anne grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first only to have Trenton pull even in the fifth. Each team tallied two in the ninth and equalled that performance in the seventh for a 7-7 score. The visitors broke the deadlock in the top of the 11th when Jack Elliott slammed a bases-empty homer but they could not hold the lead.

Willy Kennedy opened the Junior's winning rally with a base hit and Wellman and Wannamaker followed with the same to fill the sacks. Doug Alexander won the contest with a double, plating the tying and deciding markers.

Ron Wannamaker and C. Dyer were on the hill all the way for their clubs. Wannamaker gave up 13 safeties in gaining his win. He showed good control in walking one batter and fanning three.

Dyer absorbed his second loss of the schedule with 11 hits charged against him, whiffed five and passed an equal number. The loser's bobbled three times and Trenton twice.

Howard Cole and Sonny Fogary each rammed homers for Trenton each with a man on base. Roger Mallory and Doug Jones blasted circuit clouts for Point Anne, both in the ninth, as well as Elliott.

Roger Drake tallied a run for Trenton in the fourth when he singled and circled the bases on the loser's three errors, one at each base.

Wannamaker backed his own pitching with the lumber, slashing out three singles to lead his club. Don Willman had a brace of singles and Alexander had a game-winning double. Guy Austin, Roger Drake and Willy Kennedy also hit safely.

Pete Green had a big night with the swiftest for Phil Lott's nine, banging a double and three singles. Roger Mallory homered and singled while Jake Wade had a pair of base hits. Pat Gilmour doubled with John Batchelor and Dyer getting one-baggers.

Today will see Trenton receiver while Pete Green was Dyer's battery mate.

Umpires were C. Ellis and S. Ellis. The game lasted approximately two hours.

League Approves Detroit Sale

DETROIT (A)—The American League has unanimously approved the 11-man syndicate that purchased Detroit Tigers for $5,500,000.

The league advised the club's current president, Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., in a telegram Tuesday that all club owners approved the group headed by Fred Knorr and John Fetzer, Michigan radio executives. A Knorr-Fetzer bid of $5,500,000, a record price in baseball, was accepted by Detroit club directors Monday. Baseball commissioner Ford Frick quickly gave his approval to the group.

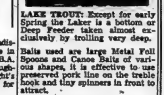
The sale still must be approved by trustees of the estate of the late Walter O. Briggs Sr., but that approval is a foregone conclusion.

Minor Baseball

Stewart-Warner took over undisputed possession of first place in the midget section of the B.M.B.A. last evening by whipping Vaughan's 13-3. Previous to last night's tilt, these two teams were tied for the top spot.

Jack Elliott sweated the route for the victors with Dave Coe catching. Elliott allowed Dave Coe struck out six and walked three. Gord Vaughan was on the hill in defeat, allowing 12 safeties, fanning nine and passing two. Brenan was his catcher. The winners scored eight runs in the second on six hits.

Dave Coe topped Stewart-Warner at the plate with a double and two singles while Keith Dickey had a trio of hits. Elliott and Ralph Boomhower each poked a double and single and Norm Rushlow a triple. Pat Asselstine homered in a losing cause.



MARILYN DIPS

VICTORIA (CP) — Gus Ryder, coach of distance swimmer Marilyn Bell, was satisfied after the 18 - year - old Toronto swimmer's first practice dip in the Juan de Fuca Strait Tuesday.

The swim marked the start of six weeks of training for Marilyn's attempt to swim the 12.3 miles of changeable water separating Vancouver Island from the Washington state coast.

She swam a good stroke and the swim will help wash out all those travelling kinks," said Ryder.

She said "the water was cold but very refreshing."

Kitchener Youth Wins Junior Golf Crown

TORONTO (CP) — Kitchener again has proved its worth as a spawning bed for fine young golfers.

Seventeen - year - old Gary Cowan's victory in the Ontario Junior championship at Toronto Scarboro Tuesday gave Kitchener its sixth title in the last 12 years.

The young Kitchener Rockway whiz potted a 36-hole score of 145 to emerge atop the field of 100 teen-agers entered in the medal-play event and win the Lady Eaton Trophy. He put together rounds of 72 and 73 on the par-71 course for the winning score. No golfer broke par.

In the junior division Norman Goldman, 17, of Toronto Oakdale placed second with 154. Third place went to J. Tyers of Toronto Islington with 156.

PANAGUK TOPS JUVENILES

Bob Panaguk, 14, of Windsor Ojibway golf course, honors with 148, second best score of the day. He had rounds of 74 and 73. Second-place finisher was Bob Slatter of Hamilton with 158. Two strokes behind him were Phil Brownlee of Scarboro and Charlie Jacobs of Toronto Islington with 160 each at 15.

In the bantam class, where the youngsters played 18 holes, Jeff Greenfield, 13, of Simcoe, took the event with an 82. He shades Peterborough's John Kindred. Gary Black, 12, of Foothill placed third with 82.

The junior players also competed for spots on a team to compete against United States players in Washington later this summer. Cowan and Goldman made up the 36-year-old team. The 16-year-old team is made up of Cathcarines' Bill Bevan and Brantford's Don White.

Slatter was top choice for the 15-year-old group. Brownlee and Jacobs fought it out in a play-off match to decide who would complete the team. Brownlee won. The 14-year-old team is made up of Panaguk and —Hamilton's Bob Borbiwick.

McGill Stadium Seating Upped

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football League have announced that the seating capacity of McGill Stadium, where all home games are played, will be increased by 3,000 for the coming season.

Two thousand temporary bleacher seats are being erected at the west end of the field and 1,000 permanent bleacher seats will be built in the northeast section.

The seats will increase the seating capacity to about 21,000.

The club announced that tackle Herb Capozzi has been claimed on waivers by Ottawa Rough Riders. Before coming to Montreal three years ago, he played with Calgary Stampeders of the Western union.

Ray Ciccia, the rugged "little flower" of the Montreal Alouette line for six seasons, announced that he's dropping out of football for a year to allow his broken arm to heal properly. The guard broke it last September against Hamilton.

Former Buddies Pay Respects to Odie Cleghorn

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 300 persons turned out to pay last respects Tuesday to Odie Cleghorn 63, one of professional hockey's finest stars.

Odie and his brother Sprague, 65 created hockey legends in the old days as teammates. Sprague died last Thursday from injuries suffered in a car accident and Odie was found dead in bed early Saturday, the day of Sprague's funeral.

Among the mourners were four surviving members of the Montreal Wanderers with whom the brothers Cleghorn starred in the early days of professional hockey —Jack Marshall, Ernie Russell, Dick Boon and Harry Hyland.

"Just go ahead an' bat, Daffy. I see no reason to delay the game simply because the catcher's good enough to be excused for a few minutes!"

HOCKEY!

According to reports from Western Ontario the senior "A" hockey picture up thataway "ain't what it used to be." In fact in some quarters it has reached the stage of gloom.

Chick (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Appel, writes the decision in his city "is more dismal than ever and a decision will have to be reached soon." There seems to be a trend in the belief of some that Stratford should concentrate on a Junior "B" team or possibly a senior "B" club. The main stumbling block for senior "A" hockey here next season is the expense which promises to be higher than ever before, since it is known that Windsor and Kitchener of the OHA and Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury and North Bay of the NOHA are making some attractive offers to new talent."

And Chick adds: "Even Kingston of the new Eastern Ontario senior OHA group is said to be going into the open market with handfuls of lettuce."

He goes on:

"There are those in this neck of the woods, long connected with hockey, and should know whereof they speak, who predict that the western senior "A" OHA group could be reduced to two teams before the next season ends. They express the belief that neither Owen Sound Mercurys nor Chatham Maroons will be able to survive in a competition expected to be dominated by the Dutchmen and Bulldogs, become they, like Stratford, have smaller arenas and even if all seats are sold for every game they would still be the losers. That is also the belief of many about the Stratford picture, if Kitchener and Windsor, to say nothing of Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury and North Bay, are actually taking off the shackle on the bankroll, as it is rumored.

There has been a new iron tossed into the fire since the announcement that Belleville will enter a team in the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league.

The meeting of the league originally scheduled for Kingston tonight has been cancelled by OHA vice-proxy Lorne Howe. Instead the three clubs involved will meet, at the time of announcement, Kingston, Whitby and Cornwall, have been invited to attend a meeting in Toronto tonight at which the western Ontario group will be present.

One of the matters to be discussed, the announcement said, will be a possible interlocking schedule arrangements between the two groups.

Secretary Drury Denyes of the arena commission, said he would contact Cook and advise him of the entry of the Belleville club. This may cause a change in the original plans as the OHA might not relish the season on an interlocking schedule if the eastern group is comprised of four clubs.

Besides the commission representatives desire a meeting of the eastern group since certain matters must be threshed out before the Belleville entry becomes a reality. . .

WRESTLING

Lord Athol Layton is the latest wrestler to cast longing eyes on that one-thousand dollar bill that is firmly plastered on the chest here at the Pick Station. Many have tried to get a half nelson on the "grand," but thus far all have failed, even the mighty Whipper Watson. And just to clear a table, the nightmare is the fourteen stone six ten within twenty minutes in the first fall. He can flip him in five in the second or third but all bets are off by that time.

His Lordship will endeavor to enrich his blue-blooded exchequer here on Friday night when he tangles with the tough American. Hutton, of late, has resorted to the more rugged, villainous type of wrestling, especially if he comes within a tag or two of losing his discern in the fateful payoff first fall. But Athol is no pushover. There's no saying what his famous judo chop can do to the Hutton chops if they are properly applied within the prescribed time limit. He is an extremely popular favorite here, while Hutton of late has been missing the kudos of the faithful.

Popular Sammy Berg, "Mr. Montreal," will make his 1956 debut here and will tangle with none other than that master of villainy, one Roberto Pico. Pat Flanagan will take on another tufty, Oina Brogni, in the opener.

Mix Merrily In Free-For-All, Williams Hits 400th Homer; Unbeaten Lawrence Wins 13th

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ringling Brothers may have folded but the National Baseball League opened a circus of its own Tuesday night.

In the main ring was a two-man fuss between New York's Ruben Gomez and Joe Adcock of the Braves that ballooned into a free-for-all at Milwaukee. The ball-end Giants, who had lost seven in a row, won 8-6 in 11 innings, halting Milwaukee's winning streak at seven.

The defeat trimmed the Braves' league lead to one game over Cincinnati after the Redlegs had knocked off third-place Brooklyn 4-3. In that game unbeaten Brooks Lawrence won his 13th, Frank Robinson tied the major league record with his 20th home run and Duke Snider was hauled into a Cincinnati police station.

2,707TH FOR STAN

Stan (The Man) Musial, got his 2,707th hit, one more than Ruth got for leaguers, but St. Louis Cardinals lost to Pittsburgh 4-3 in 12 innings. Bob Friend, the all-star game winner, snapped his five-game losing streak with relief help from Pirates' six-game slump. But Musial's hit gave Rhoden's string of 32 scoreless innings against the Cardinals that stretched back to last year.

In the only day games, Chicago Cubs finally beat Philadelphia 3-2 in 16 innings—with a total of 22 strikeouts in the game.

The Gomez-Adcock brawl erupted in the second inning. Gomez hit Adcock in the wrist with a pitch. Joe (6-4 and 210 pounds) made for the mound. Gomez (5 foot and 175 pounds) threw another ball at Adcock, hitting him in the leg, and ran for the dugout. Joe and the rest of the Braves followed.

Even the national anthem, played by the park organist, failed to halt the free-for-all, finally put down by the umpires, who ousted Gomez and Adcock.

MAYS HITS DOUBLE

Willie Mays' double broke a 5-6 tie in the 11th against losing pitcher Gene Conley. Mays scored on Hank Thompson's single to tie it for relief-pitcher Antonelli's ninth victory. Jackie Brandt, Bill White and Dusty Rhodes homered for New York and Red Schoendienst scored his 1,000th run. Only Brooklyn's Pee Wee Reese and Musial have more. Hank Aaron hit a three-run homer for the Braves.

The Brooks and Redlegs were tied 3-3 in the seventh when Lawrence led off with a double against Sandy Koufax. A sacrifice moved him to third and reliefer Clem Labine then purposely walked the bases full to set up a double play and face Ted Kluszewski — who singled to load it up.

SNIDER IN FIGHT

Snider, the Dodgers' centre fielder, got involved in a post-game fight with a fan, whom the Duke said called him "gutless." The fan showed up with two false teeth he said were broken by a Snider blow. Duke said he'll file an assault charge, claiming the 33-year-old fan swung first.

Musial's big hit, a double, scored the Cards' first run in the third inning and gave him 1,060 extra base blows—11 shy of Mel Ott's National League record. A two-out two-run double by Dick Groat beat Herm Wehmeier and gave Friend his first victory since June 16—when he beat St. Louis and Wehmeier. Friend is 12-8, with four triumphs over the fourth-place Cards, who once again are below .500.

Don Hoak's third double of the game and Gene Baker's first hit of the marathon, a single, beat the Phils. Erron by Hoak and Baker gave the Phils their runs in the seventh. Two in the ninth, one on Hoak Landrith's pinch homer, tied it for the Cubs. Starter Don Kaiser of the Cubs fanned nine, the Phils' Ron Negray whiffed seven.

St. Kitts Extend Lacrosse Lead

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics scored four goals in 37 seconds of the third period Tuesday night to defeat Hamilton Burners 13-11 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game.

The teams battled to an 8-8 tie by the end of the second period. Burners took a two-goal lead in the final session but were overpowered by the four-goal outburst. The victory gave Athletics a first-place lead of four points over the second-place Burners.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

"It was a long time coming," said Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams of a 430-foot blast Tuesday night which made him the fifth player in major league history to hit 400 home runs.

Williams did not appear happy about reaching his personal goal. Maybe it was relief more than anything.

Ted, the 37-year-old veteran who lost some of his most productive years due to two service hitches, smashed Tom Gorman's first pitch in the sixth inning 15 rows into the rightfield bleachers over the visitor's bullpen in Boston's 5-1 decision over Kansas City. The Sox last captured the pennant 10-0 on Tom Brewer's four hitter.

"It hit a fastball," said Ted in the dressing room afterward.

Williams still remained well behind his four predecessors in the achievement. Babe Ruth clubbed 714 homers in his major league career, Jimmy Foxx 534, Mel Ott 511 and Lou Gehrig 493.

SIXTH OF SEASON

Williams' homer was his sixth of the season and first since July 8. He had gone 99 games, until June 8, before hitting his first in 1956.

The home run blast, in the sixth inning, was off Tom Gorman and it broke Bob Porterfield's consecutive loss string which had run to 10.

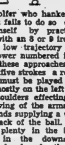
In the first game Brewer extended his All-Star string over the Athletics to 38 innings, starting last season. His middle pegs for three runs and Billy Klaus and Billy Goodman two apiece in the opener. Pinch-hitter Klaus also smacked their fourth homers.

The sweep lifted the Red Sox into third place, but still 13½ games behind New York. The Yanks' lead held by percentage after winning there 11th straight — tying the major league high this year — as young Johnny Kucks beat Detroit 4-0 to become the first 12-game winner in the majors this season.

WHITE SOX DROP

Chicago's White Sox fell from third to fourth, losing twice to Baltimore by 5-3 scores that stretched their losing streak to 10 games—matching the longest slump in the Baltimore club's history. The Phillies lost 10 in a row earlier this year.

At Washington, rain idled the Senators and runnerup Cleveland Kucks, who has lost four and will be 23 next week, didn't give the 35,500,000 fans at his shindig the fifth inning. The Yankees nailed southpaw Billy Hoeft for three runs in the first as they matched the 11-game streak run up earlier this year. Kucks and York now has won 18 of the last 20, and 25 of the last 29 games ahead of Cleveland's record 111-victory pace in 1954. It's the Yankees' best streak ever since winning 13 in a row in '34.



Rookie Don Ferrarese joined the White Sox with a three hitter in the opener as George Kell and Bob Nieman, back on-the-job, RBI doubles in a three-run third that chased Jack Harshman. Bill Wight gave Chicago six hits in the nightcap with Gus Triandos driving in three runs with a home run and single.

Many a golfer who hankers to break 90 but fails to do so could surprise himself by practicing pitch shots with an 8 or 9 iron or wedge, and low trajectory chip shots with lower numbered irons. Mastery of these approaches can save four or five strokes a round. These shots must be played with the weight mostly on the left foot, with the shoulders effecting a pendulum swing of the arms and with the hands supplying a sharp precision smack of the ball. The wrists cock plenty in the backswing, but in the downswing should never bend so far that the club face gets ahead of alignment with the left hand until well after the ball is hit.

Lumsdon in Atlantic Swim

ATLANTIC CITY N.J. (AP) — A group of 32 marathon swimmers from six countries take to the ocean today in the third annual 35-mile world championship race around Absecon Island.

Thirteen men, including two-time runner-up Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto, were scheduled to plunge off the steel pier to challenge Tom Park, former Hamilton resident now living in Lakewood, Calif., and winner of the two previous races, in a quest for the $5,000 first prize. Park holds the record of nine hours, 31 minutes and 42 seconds for the distance.

Two women are competing for the $1,500 first prize in the distaff division. The women's mark is 10:27:38 held by Marilyn Ball of Toronto.

Finish is expected about 3 p.m.

Veteran Trainer Picks Parker Claims Moore Has 'Weakness'

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Morris (Whitey) Bimstein, who hardly needs an introduction in the fight game, says boxing's Jimmy Parker can beat Archie Moore in the title 10-round bout here next Wednesday.

Whitey, of course, could be biased. He is in Parker's corner.

The white-haired trainer from New York, who has been in the boxing business for more than 40 of his 60 years, arrived here early today. He will go to Parker's camp tomorrow and probably take charge of the final days of training.

"Look," he said in an interview. "There are so many short-enders coming home these days that a young and hungry guy like Parker could take Moore."

The 26-year-old Parker meets Moore, who admits only to 39, at Maple Leaf Gardens in a ballyhooed by promoters as for the world heavyweight title.

"I saw Rocky Marciano knock out Moore in their title bout and I'll tell you this: Moore has a weakness. Naturally, I'm not going to go around shouting about what it is, but he definitely has a weakness although he is a tremendous fighter.

"He can learn. He can fight. He's got a punch. But, I tell you, he's got a weakness."

Whitey said he hopes he can develop Parker to the point where he can take advantage of Moore's "weakness."

Bimstein, who has handled numerous world champions, including heavyweights Gene Tunney, Max Baer and Jimmy Braddock, lightweight Benny Leonard and middleweight Rocky Graziano, said condition is all that Parker needs. He has a good punch and lots of natural ability."

Gomez, Adcock Chief Actors In Frenzied Baseball Fracas

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A bowling crowd, of 33,228 saw one of baseball's wildest scenes Tuesday night as the Giants' Ruben Gomez and Joe Adcock twice with a bat —once as Adcock charged the mound and then bolted like a gun-shy rabbit for his dugout, the angry Braves' slugger in hot pursuit.

The Braves' dugout emptied in a swirl of players, racing behind Adcock toward the Giants' dugout. There a stream of Giants piled off the bench and met the onrushing Braves at the top step.

Five Giants surrounded Adcock and held him as he tried vainly to wrench free and chase the 28-year - old Puerto Rican right-hander up the ramp and into the clubhouse.

Del Rice, Braves' catcher, and outfielder Jackie Brandt met head on at the top of the dugout steps and tumbled down onto the concrete floor. Giant players ran in from the field and joined the milling mob which for a time appeared to need only one more spark to explode into a player riot.

NO ONE HEARD ANTHEM

After it was over the players said they hadn't heard the National Anthem being played by the organist. There was too much melee and excitement, they said. The four umpires and six or eight uniformed policemen restored order in about three minutes.

Later, umpire Lee Ballanfant indicated he would not recommend suspension for either Gomez or Adcock in a report the umpire must file with National League President Warrens Giles.

"They blew up, that's all," Ballanfant said. "We don't think for a minute that Gomez's pitch was meant to be a baseball."

The pitch that set in motion the melee in the second inning was an inside curve that nicked the 31-year-old Adcock on the right wrist.

Adcock, holding his wrist, walked toward first. Adcock and Gomez exchanged a few words, then Adcock turned abruptly and ran toward the mound.

Gomez, who by this time had a new ball, flung it at the onrushing Adcock from 25 feet, and hit Joe on the left thigh. The 175-pound pitcher then raced — his back hunched over as if he expected the worst—for the Giant dugout. The 210-pound Adcock was right behind.

GIANTS DISGUSTED

Both Adcock and Gomez were ejected from the game.

Six detectives escorted Gomez back to the Giants' hotel "for his own safety."

"He'll never hear the end of this," said one Giant player, referring to Gomez' pitch. "Adcock will really get on him now."

Giant manager Bill Rigney when asked what he thought of Gomez's rapid retreat, said:

"What would you have done with that big guy coming at you? Probably run, too."

Rigney said he planned no disciplinary action against Gomez.

REJECT U.S. PLAN

LONDON (AP) — The British Professional Golfers' Association Tuesday turned down an American suggestion that the Ryder Cup matches should be staged over three days and consist of four-ball foursomes.

At the present the trophy winner is decided in two days and competition consists of Scotch foursomes and singles. In Scotch foursomes players take alternate strikes at the ball.

Five Finals Ontario Tennis Played Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Five finals were scheduled today in the Ontario tennis championships.

Champions will be crowned in the women's singles and doubles, the men's doubles, mixed doubles and senior men's doubles.

Mrs. Hilda Deleschell and Mrs. Loudon Brown, Toronto meet in the women's singles final and Deleschell and Doug Ellinpoit meet Ron Cooke and Ben Freedhoff in an all-Toronto final for the senior men's doubles, only to meet over 45.

The mixed doubles final was scheduled tonight.

In today's play, Bedard took the measure of Jim Bentley of Toronto 6-0, 6-0, 6-3, Barclay defeated Montreal's Fred Fennell 6-0, 6-2, 6-3, Fontana downed Don Platt of Toronto 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 and Willey edged out Val Harit of Montreal 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Bedard and Fontana reached the doubles final with a 6-1, 6-4, 6-4 win over Austin MacPherson and Bentley. Barclay and Willey defeated Harit and Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., 6-3, 6-4.

Makeup of Canada's Davis Cup team, which meets the United States in the North American zone final at Cleveland July 27-29, will be decided Friday.

Red Wings Tops As Royals Leafs Beaten

The International League pennant scrap, which has developed into a four-team affair after appearing to be a breeze for Montreal Royals, saw had a new leader in Rochester Red Wings.

The Wings, winner of the 1955 Little world series, took over first place Tuesday night by defeating the Royals 1-0 as Duke Markell unfurled his second straight shutout. Toronto Maple Leafs lost a chance to hold on to the top rung when they dropped a 9-3 decision to the last-place Buffalo Bisons.

The Wings have a half-game margin over the Leafs and Royals, who are in a virtual tie for second place. Miami Marlins, on their game with Richmond rained out, trail the leaders by only four games.

Hardy Mizarchi also turned in his second successive shutout, barring a two-hitter in Havana's 4-0 triumph over Columbus.

Markell, who blanked the Royals last week in Montreal in his second start since being released by the Milwaukee Braves, gave up only four hits Tuesday night.

Successive singles by Allie Reynolds, Eddie Phillips and Mel Nelson after two were out in the third inning produced the lone run of the game.

Ed Mierkowicz was the big gun in the Bisons' defeat of Toronto. He drove in five runs, including three with a home run as the Bisons faced five Leaf pitchers and garnered 11 hits. Outfielder Bill Wilson pitched the ninth for Toronto, striking out two and holding the Herd to one hit.

In challenging up his 10th win against five defeats, Mizarchi ran his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 19. The Sugar Kings had to go to nine innings by Dick Tyler, wrapped up the contest with three runs in the seventh.

Pitching: Johnny Kucks, Yankees—Shut out the Tigers 4-0 on six hits to become first 16-game winner in majors this season as Yanks won 11th straight and opened their American League lead to 10½ games.

Hitting: Gus Triandos, Orioles—Drove in four runs with four hits in seven trips, including his eighth homer, while playing first base in opener and catching in nightcap as Birds won twi-night pair by 5-3 scores to extend White Sox losing streak to 10 games.

FAILS TO RUN, PAYS $25

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Danny O'Connell's failure to run out a routine ground ball against Pittsburgh Pirates Monday means the Milwaukee Braves infielder's next pay cheque will be $25 lighter.

The fine was levied by manager Fred Haney after the Braves' 3-1 victory, O'Connell is the first player to be penalized for a mislead on the field since the Braves moved here from Boston three years ago.

Negro Couple Earned $74,000 In Quiz Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Because he trusted his wife, Steve Rowland has won what may be the biggest net earnings in the history of radio-TV jackpots.

Tuesday night Steve and Dorothy Rowland came to the end of a fabulous string of victories on the CBS TV show "Do You Trust Your Wife?" For 24 weeks the Negro couple won the quiz show, earning 14 years of $1,000 a week. Their total, including the $1,000 on the qualifying round: $74,000.

Their earnings surpass the $64,000 Question" winners and even the hundred-granders on The Big Surprise. The reason is obvious: The Rowlands can spread their income tax over a 14-year period. They stand to clear $37,952 at present tax rates. For winning $64,000 they would have cleared $24,232 and for winning $100,000, $27,286.

"I felt just as happy the night we lost as I did the first night we won," said Rowland, Tuesday night's show was filmed five weeks ago.)

Eight-Run Rally Wins for London

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors staged an eight-run rally in the ninth inning of an Intercounty Baseball League junior game at Brantford Tuesday night to defeat the Red Sox 8-6.

The victory moved London within one game of first place in the Nickel Belt League, defeating the leading Copper Cliff Redmen 5-1.

In another Nickel Belt game at Sudbury Frood Tigers downed Creighton Indians 3-1 to strengthen their hold on third place.

Niagara Falls Cataracts stretched their lead in the Niagara district loop to two games as they defeated Welland Swimmers 2-0 at Niagara Falls.

Dutch Perkins was credited with London's victory after relieving starter Roy McKay in the eighth inning. Spud Shaw, who relieved Danny Wooden in the ninth, was the loser.

TRADE BALDY MacKAY

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League have traded left - winger Calum (Baldy) MacKay to Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League for left - winger Joe Lund and defenceman Tom Williams.

Frank Selke, managing director of the Canadiens, said no cash was involved. MacKay played last year for Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League.

Both Williams and Lund probably will be assigned to the new AHL entry in Rochester. The club is to be sponsored jointly by the Canadiens and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

82 FOR PGA PLAY

TORONTO (CP) — Sixty-five players are expected to enter the 54-hole Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship here this week. Eighteen holes will be played Friday and 36 Saturday.

Al Balding of Toronto Credit Valley will be on hand to defend the title he won with a record-breaking 204 last year. The prize will be shooting for $4,175 in prize money. The winner will get an invitation to compete in the United States Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga., next April.

Harris Remains Tiger Manager

NEW YORK (AP)—Bucky Harris' job as manager of Detroit Tigers is safe—at least for the 1956 season.

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, the Tigers' outgoing president, sent Harris the following telegram from Detroit Tuesday night:

"To scotch any and all unconfirmed rumors, I am happy to inform you that the Detroit baseball club has no intention of making any change in management for 1956. This is with the full approval of the new ownership."

The Tigers Monday were sold to a Detroit syndicate for $5,500,000.

As soon as the sale was completed it was rumored Harris would not last out the season.

AT THE CAPITOL — Romance — Kirk Douglas and Bella Darvi are the romantic couple in "The Racers", the new Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production in De Luxe color, the next attraction at the Capitol Theatre starting Thursday. Their tender love story furnishes a vivid contrast to the speed and action of Rene Roesch's novel about sports car racing from which "The Racers" was adapted. Douglas plays a champion race driver and Miss Darvi is a French Ballerina, who forsakes her art to travel the race circuit with her man. Henry Hathaway directed and Julian Blaustein produced this thrill-packed drama —On the same program in CinemaScope and Technicolor "The Left Hand of God", starring Humphrey Bogart and Gene Tierney with Lee J. Cobb.

Hollywood Reaches to Orient For Two Actresses of Ability

By BOB THOMAS

—HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In its search for international talent, Hollywood has reached to the Orient for two actresses on unusual beauty and ability.

One is Machiko Kyo, leading actress of Japan, who has been enlisted to appear opposite Marlon Brando and Glen Ford in Teahouse of the August Moon. The other is Li Li-Hua, top actress of the Hong Kong movie industry, who has been signed to a contract by Cecil B. DeMille.

Miss Kyo has an eastern look, with an almond-shaped face, high cheeks and long hair arranged traditionally for her role as a geisha girl. Miss Li wears her hair in an American-like curl. Both speak little English and require interpreters most of the time. Both would like to live in America.

First, Miss Kyo. She's the star of the post-war Japanese films that Western audiences know best —Rashomon, Gate of Hell and Ugetsu. Now almost finished with Teahouse, she is amazed at the lavishness of American production.

"You have so much more time to make pictures here," she said.

"Here the equipment is all mechanized. But in Japan, every light must be moved and turned on individually. So much time is taken by the technicians that the actors do not have time to rehearse. We step right in the scene, have two takes and it's in."

Li Li-hua told me that the Hong Kong industry pours out more than 200 features annually and pauses endless to be the world's fourth producer (behind the United States, India and Japan.) This is an amazing total, considering the audience consists of 20,000,000 Chinese in Hong Kong and Southeast Asia.

Explained Richard McCarthy, state department official who is recording her in this country: "The Chinese Reds won't allow the Hong Kong pictures in China for fear of spy code names. They would make the Communist pictures look bad. Most of the good picture-makers went to Hong Kong after the Reds took over. China itself produces only 17 features last year and will probably have 30 this year."

"I would like very much to live and work here," Miss Li said. "It's probable that she will, since she entered the U.S. under the immigration quota. DeMille has indicated that she will appear with Yul Brynner in his musical remake of The Buccaneer.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlok is, according to the stars:

For Thursday, July 19th, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A good outlook for interests and activities of a personal nature, for home, music, travel, everyday routine. Industrial trades, mechanics, work matters generally under fine Sun aspects.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — An excellent day for hard work, trades; handling machinery, tools; building masonry and similar matters. Day stimulated by benefic Sun and Saturn aspects.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Fine Mercury and other aspects to encourage wholesome and useful endeavors. Caution urged in water sports, handling chemicals and medicines, travel.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — An even disposition and tact are necessary now. With these, you should have an agreeable, fruitful day with generous returns for your efforts.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Encouraging Sun, Saturn and other planetary aspects to set you on the productive path and keep you there. So it is up to you and your schedule. More than just the ordinary can be accomplished.

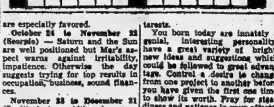
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Mental activity, analysis of varied subjects, research, science, medicine, nuclear physics are strongly favored now. Be ambitious, acquisitive.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your Venus advises to put general interests and personal desires now. You won't lose out by this. You will gain in many ways. New interests and activities are especially favored.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Saturn and the Sun are well positioned but Mar's aspect warns against irritability, impatience. Otherwise the day suggests trying for top results in occupation, business, sound finances.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Although a promising period, be sensibly cautious in investments, finances generally. Don't neglect family interests as you proceed in other affairs.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Invigorating and friendly influences to help you forward in both familiar matters and new activities. Be determined but not stubborn. You have push ability, cleverpess; let no fault defeat them.



January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — While not an entirely favorable period, you can fill in the weak spots by giving closer attention to details and by providing for your own next injury needed. Don't procrastinate. Good results for good efforts!

February 20to March 20 (Pisces) —Neptune stresses a need for care in water sports, handling liquids, chemicals, etc. Day on the whole has promising indications; you can benefit again in occupational matters.

You born today are innately artistic, interesting personality; have a great variety of bright, new ideas and suggestions which could be followed to great advantage. Control a desire to change from one project to another before you have given the first one time to show its worth. Pray for rigidness and patience in your efforts. You can sell, entertain; would be able at law, politics, any profession or business you really like and for which you fit yourself.

Birthdate: Samuel Colt, Amer., inventor.

VOTE FOR CHLORINATION

HAMILTON (CP)—Five council-lors of seven voted Tuesday night for chlorination of the water supply following a pro-test meeting about contaminated water.

CANADA

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "TENDER FOR OTTAWA BUILDING, HATLEY, ONTARIO," will be received in the office of the Secretary, until 3.00 p.m. (E.D.S.T.) WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22nd, 1956

Plans, specifications and form of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Architect, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, Ontario, the District Architect, 393 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont., the Post Building, Cornwall, Ont., the Post Office, Peterborough, Ont., and the Post Office, Sudbury, Ont.

To be considered each tender must be accompanied by a security in the form of a certified cheque or bonds as specified in the form of tender and made on or according to these bonds as specified in the general conditions of contract.

The Department, through the Chief Architect, will open publicly, in the presence of the tenderers who may attend, and read aloud the amount of each tender received after the time set for the opening thereof.

Tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms supplied by the Department.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

ROBERT FORTIER,
Chief Architect and Director of Services,
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, July 18th, 1956.
